Oakland Woman Dies Wednesday In Collision

A young Oakland woman died yesterday in a vehicle accident in Kingwood, W.Va.

Brenda S. Uphold, 20, was killed when the vehicle she was driving crossed the center line while rounding a curve and collided head-on with a National Guard dump truck, said a spokesman for the Kingwood Police Department.

The operator of the truck, Clarence R. Rutherford, Buckhannon, W.Va., was reportedly not injured.

The accident occurred at 2:00 p.m. on Route 7 near the Kingwood Shopping Plaza. Police said Uphold's vehicle was considered a total loss, while the National Guard vehicle sustained minor damage.

The cause of the accident is still under investigation.

Born June 3, 1967, Miss Uphold was the daughter of Henry Clay Uphold and Nancy J. (Welch) Uphold, Oakland.

She was a 1985 graduate of Southern High School and a graduate of Goethe Institute, Braemann, Germany. She had attended Garrett Community College and was enrolled at Frostburg State College.

She was employed as a part-time secretary for the Don Nemith Construction Company, Oakland.

In addition to her parents, she is survived by one sister, Mrs. Laura L. Eckert, Hagerstown; two brothers, Steven C. Uphold, Richmond, W.Va.; and Allen W. Uphold, at home; one foster sister, Mrs. Judy Carter, Mechanicsville, Va.; and her maternal grandmother, Margaret Weich, Oakland.

The Stewart Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements, which are incomplete at this time.

Woman Killed In Rt. 48 Mishap, Pa. Man Charged

A two-vehicle accident near Finzel last Friday claimed the life of a young Frostburg woman, resulting in a Meyersdale, Pa. man being charged.

Amy S. Niemiec, 22, was pronounced dead at the scene of the accident by Dr. George Stoltzfus, Garrett County Medical Examiner.

State Police at McHenry said Richard E. Friend, 39, was charged with driving while intoxicated, failing to keep to the right of the center line and homocide with a motor vehicle while intoxicated.

Police said Niemiec was a passenger in a 1985 Ford EXP operated by her husband, Frank M. Niemiec, 22, which was southbound on Route 546.

The Friend vehicle, a 1975 Ford truck, was traveling north when it crossed the center line into the path of the Niemiec vehicle. Niemiec then steered

Rolling Ridge Expansion Project Approved By Zoning Appeals Board

At a special meeting of the Deep Creek Watershed Board of Zoning Appeals last Thursday, the board approved (5-0) the proposed expanison of the Rolling Ridge Joint Venture for a hotel and conference center located on Marsh Mountain near the Villages of Wisp.

Rolling Ridge Joint Venture is a subsidiary group of Rachuba Enterprises, Inc. The proposed facilities would include a 150-room hotel, a ballroom, restaurant, lounge, swimming pool, tennis courts and a number of conference rooms.

The Zoning Board made their decision two weeks prior to the deadline. That decision was made with several conditions, though, and with the benefit of legal counsel. Some of the conditons would have fallen under the scope of the zoning ordinance even if they had not been mandated by the board, but the board felt they had to be stressed.

One condition is that the developers must comply with the sign regulations mandated in Article Seven of the Deep Creek Ordinance. Another condition is that Rolling Ridge must install all recreational amenities as shown on the development plan. This would include the limitations of access to Deep Creek Lake. Four dock slips are now permitted for the facility, although the group has a total of 82 slips available because of the acreage owned in that area. It was stressed that the developers, in their advertising, highlight the amenities which must be completed before the first guest stays in the hotel. They are also to push other activites not involved directly with the Lake.

The Zoning Board also stated that Rolling Ridge must make a good faith effort towards the interchange alignment, supporting rights-of-way and surface improvements.The board felt that was the main consideration in their approval.

First Rabies Case Of '88 Reported In Garrett Co.

The first case of rabies in Garrett County for 1988 was confirmed by Health Department officials this week. The confirmation came after a fight between a dog and a raccoon was brought to the officials' attention last Wednesday.

The raccoon was found on the property of Ellis Crowe, of the Avilton-Lonaconing Road near St. Ann's Church in the northern end of the county. The raccoon reportedly ran under the porch of Crowe's house, when a dog owned by Ronald Lipscomb (being boarded by the Crowe family) went under the porch after it. That dog was restrained without contact with the raccoon, was revaccinated, and will be watched closely for three months.

While Lipscomb's dog was being restrained, however, Crowe's own dog went under the porch and fought with the rabid animal. That dog had not received a rabies vaccination, and had to be destroyed.

Environmental Health Official Rodney Glotfelty stated that this Avilton area is the general area where rabies was first found in the county in 1983, and gives credence to the theory that rabies travels in a cycling pattern every five years — declining for a while then reappearing.

May has been proclaimed Rabies Vaccination Month in Maryland, and in response to that and to the confirmation of this first case of the year in the county, rabies clinics have been scheduled for all areas of Garrett County from May 23 through 28. A complete rabies clinic schedule and the story of Rabies Vaccination Month appears elsewhere in today's issue of The Republican.

Annual County Spring Clean-Up Set May 21, 22

Once again, the Board of Garrett County Commissioners have earmarked two days for the Annual County Spring Cleanup. They have established Saturday, May 21, and Sunday, May 22, for disposal of bulk-type items.

All county refuse collection sites including the Round Glade Landfill will be opened and staffed to accept bulk items from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on both days.

There are a variety of items that the county is prohibited from accepting because of State Health Department regulations. Those prohibited items include: liquid, sludge, commercial, septic/sewage, industrial, pathological and petroleum waste products; controlled hazardous substances; automobiles, friable asbestos and dead animals.

Automobile tires will be accepted if they are split. Drums and tanks will be accepted if both ends are removed.

"All citizens are encouraged to participate in keeping Garrett County beautiful," said a spokesman from the commissioners office.

George F. Comp Jr. Is Selected National Fireman Of The Year

A Deer Park man received national honors this past week for his many years of active volunteer and professional service to fire departments and civil defense in Garrett County.

George F. Comp Jr., a founding member of the Deer Park Community Volunteer Fire Department who served that organization for 35 years as secretary, an instructor for the Maryland Fire and Rescue Institute, and retired director of Garrett County Civil Defense, was named National Fireman of the Year for 1987 by the National Volunteer Fire Council. He received the award, and numerous others, at a surprise banquet in Vienna, W.Va., Friday evening.

Besides being named National Fireman of the Year for "honor and distinction above and beyond the call of duty," Comp also received a citation from President Ronald Reagan; a citation and pin from Maryland Governor Wm. Donald Schaefer naming Comp an Official Ambassador for the State of Maryland; a Certificate of Special Congressional Recognition from Congresswoman Beverly Byron; a resolution from Thomas M. Miller Jr., president of the Maryland Senate, sponsored by Senator John Bambacus; a clock trophy from the Allegany-Garrett Volunteer Firemen's Association; a plaque including patches of 16 local fire departments from the Garrett County Firemen's Association; the West Virginia State Seal, a citation and Seal of Treasury of West Virginia, presented on behalf of Governor Moore by West Virginia State Treasurer A. James Manchin; a badge of the Texas State Firemen's and Fire Marshal Association, presented by a firefighter from Deer Park, Texas; a Michigan State Firemen's Association patch and badge; and a cup souvenir and bust from the Vienna Fire Department, which hosted the banquet for the National Volunteer Fire Council.

"I was in a state of total shock," Comp said. "Receiving a local or a state award is one thing, but a national award is quite an experience."

Nearly 50 fellow members of the Deer Park Community VFD were present for the ceremonies, as well as several firefighters representing other Garrett County and Allegany County departments. Also present were Comp's wife, Frances, who has been an active member and officer of the Maryland State Firemen's Association Auxiliary; Rocco Gabriele, Maryland State Fire Marshal, Tom Tharp, state representative for the Maryland Volunteer Firemen's Association; Bob Cumberland, president of the Maryland State Firemen's Association; Craig Moe, executive assistant to Gov. Schaefer; and Robert

Oakland Citizens To Decide Fate Of Fluoridation

The Mayor and Town Council of Oakland has decided to allow the citizenry decide whether or not fluoridation of the town's water system should be resumed.

Mayor Asa McCain announced that there will be a program held Tuesday, May 10, at Dennett Road School, beginning at 7 p.m., after which a vote will be taken by those present to determine the fate of the proposal. Conducting the presentation will be Dr. Alvin Friend, representing the Garrett County Dental Society, and Rodney Glotfelty and Dr. William Pope, of the Garrett County Health Department.

McCain said that the presentation will last one hour and then about one-half hour will be spent for questions and comments from the public. Persons in attendance will be required to sign in and one vote per household served by the Oakland Water System will be permitted. Voting will be accomplished by paper ballot and a simple majority will rule.

Oakland had fluoride in its water until 1985 when the system that injects the fluoride into the water failed and could not be repaired. McCain stated that funding is available to the town for the installation of new equipment.

Charles Morris Will Spearhead Habitat Campaign

Garrett County Habitat for Humanity has named Charles O. Morris as chairperson of its 1988 Fund Raising Campaign with local businesses and individuals. Morris, a resident of Oakland, is a member of the Board of Directors of Habitat. He also serves on the Board of Garrett County Memorial Hospital and Department of Social Services.

Morris will direct the campaign to solicit funds from businesses. He stated that the campaign will start on the first of June with a goal to raise $25,000 by the end of August. He said he hopes to contact each county business as well as individual residents to seek contributions and pledges.

According to Morris, county residents and businesses contribute about a quarter of the money needed by Habitat to meet its objective of constructing three houses each year. Morris praised local businesses and residents for the past support given Habitat by Garrett County. He pointed out that going into Habitat's fifth year, over a quarter of a million dollars has gone into building 14 new homes.

"If Habitat builds another three homes in 1988, it will be very close to being able to build one house per year out of the cash flow created from the house payments of homeowners," he said.

Morris explained that this will eventually lead to the goal of being able to build three homes per year out of the money collected from the house payments.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT NURSES HELP WITH KINDERGARTEN REGISTRATION — Garrett County Health Department's Child Health staff of nurses and technicians are assisting the Board of Education with its registration of children for kindergarten. Parents whose children will be five years old by December 31 may register their children for kindergarten by making an appointment with the Garrett County Board of Education at 334-8939. Parents need to bring their child's birth certificate, social security number, and immunization record. The child's immunization record will be reviewed during the registration visit by a health department nurse. If the child requires any vaccinations they can be administered by the nurse free of charge at that time. Health Department Child Health Staff of nurses and aides helped with registration of kindergarten students at Route 40 School recently where Natalie M. Rabies Vaccination Month Proclaimed; Clinics Scheduled For Cats, Dogs

Governor William Donald Schaefer proclaimed May 1988 "Dog and Cat Rabies Vaccination Month" in the state of Maryland during a ceremony featuring his dog Willie at a Baltimore City rabies clinic.

"Rabies is a serious health problem here in Maryland," Governor Schaefer said. "Through rabies clinics such as this one, each dog and cat owner can help build a barrier to the spread of this disease to family members."

Maryland has been in the midst of a rabies epidemic since 1981 when the disease entered the wildlife population in Western Maryland from West Virginia. The disease has been spreading steadily eastward since that time to all of Maryland west of the Chesapeake Bay. During the past several years, Maryland has led the nation in the number of rabies cases reported.

The state Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (DHMH) is currently involved in a project with Delaware to keep the disease from spreading to the Delmarva Peninsula. Started last year, the "Delmarva Rabies Initiative" involves the trapping, tagging and vaccination of raccoons within a 100 square mile area south of the Chesapeake and Delaware (C&D) Canal as a means of forming an "immune" biological barrier to the spread of the disease.

The DHMH and local health departments co-sponsor low-cost rabies vaccination clinics for dog and cat owners throughout the state during the spring and fall to take advantage of the pleasant weather. The cost for a rabies vaccination at these clinics varies according to jurisdiction, but doesn't surpass four dollars.

"As important as dog and cat vaccination is to reducing the risk of rabies in people, it is also necessary for everyone, especially children, to understand that wild animals and stray dogs and cats must not be touched, handled or encouraged to come around the home," Governor Schaefer said. "It is these animals that are most likely to have been exposed to rabid wildlife."

Last year, 450 cases of rabies were reported in Maryland, compared to a total of 683 in 1986. As of March 31, 1988, 91 cases have been reported, compared to 117 the same time last year.

The rabies clinic schedule for Garrett County is as follows:

Monday, May 23, Bloomington Fire Hall, 5 to 6 p.m.;

Tuesday, May 24, Friendsville Elementary School, 5 to 6 p.m.;

Wednesday, May 25, Crellin Elementary School, 5 to 6 p.m.;

Thursday, May 26, Garrett Community College, McHenry, 5 to 6 p.m.

Friday, May 27, Grantsville Elementary School, 5 to 6 p.m.;

Saturday, May 28, Broadford Elementary School, 10 a.m. to noon.

The cost at all sites is $3 per vaccination.

Hear The Facts . . .

A special program will be held next Tuesday at Dennett Road Elementary School that will have a major influence on the dental health of Garrett County residents.

The Mayor and Town Council of Oakland has called the meeting for two purposes: to educate the public on the benefits of fluoride in the water system and to give the citizenry of Oakland and others who are served by its water system the opportunity to decide whether or not Oakland's water should be treated with fluoride. The presentation preceding the vote will be given by Dr. Alvin Friend, representing the Garrett County Chapter of the American Dental Society, and Dr. William Pope and Rodney Glotfelty, of the Garrett County Health Department. (See newsstory for further details.)

Over 90 percent of this nation's public water systems currently include fluoride, and for good reason. In every single case study, it was discovered that tooth decay declined dramatically when the water serving those areas was fluoridated. It is estimated that an average of $250 per person per year in dental bills is saved when water systems contain fluoride.

While it is true that pure fluoride is extremely poisonous, the risk of using fluoride in water systems has virtually been wiped out. With the present technology and system of safeguards, one is far more likely to be struck by lightning, or perhaps even by a meteor, than to become a victim of fluoride poisoning.

We believe that the outcome of Tuesday's meeting will have not only an obvious effect on the future of Oakland's water system and dental health of its customers, but also will set the pattern for fluoridation, or continued non-fluoridation, in all of Garrett County's municipalities.

It is past time to put behind us the out-dated ignorance and sensationalized horror stories concerning the fluoridation of water, in order to give our children every opportunity for good dental health, plus save ourselves a whole lot of money in the process. We hope that persons from all areas of the county, and not just Oakland, will attend Tuesday's meeting to become better informed on this issue.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

On May 10, all beef producers are eligible to vote in a referendum on the future of our Beef Checkoff Program.

Not only are people from all segments of our industry supporting the Checkoff, they are running the program.

The Checkoff provides a stable source of funding for the research (scientific and consumer), promotion and advertising programs to make sure that our product will meet the competition at the market place.

Vote on May 10 . . . and please vote "yes." The Beef Checkoff is working. It's our program and our future.

On behalf of Dean Wilson, Paula Seaman, Shirley Buckingham and myself, we would like to thank Pam Ashby and Craig Phillips for the well-written article and photographs they did on Day Care Providers. The article, we hope, showed people we are more than just "babysitters." Our jobs, like most, are very much full-time. The only difference being that ours are much more rewarding.

Thanks again Pam and Craig for a job well done.

To the Editor:

Recent events have caused me to reflect back on one of your editorial page President's Columns. Can there be some significance in the fact that the one Central American Country not lined up at the "Great American Trough" for military and economic aid is Costa Rica which also just happens to be the most thriving stable democracy in that region? Frankly it has been surprising to me that lately Arias seems to have so much more influence in Central America than our own President, especially when you consider all the money we've poured into that region.

I do wish that President Reagan would be as resolute about dealing with our enormous drug problem as he has been about kicking the Sandanistas out of power. The fact that we chose to look away from Panamanian President Noriega's involvement in drug traffic, apparently because we thought he was furthering our efforts to establish democracy in Nicaragua, indicates where we put our priorities. In fairness to the President, we have a history of playing footsie with drug interests in order to further what we see as higher goals, for example, Southeast Asia in 1960s — to worsen matters, when the Noriega story broke, we all of a sudden got rightously indignant and precipitously demanded his departure, badly misjudging what it would actually take to force him out and apparently not fully considering how far we were prepared to go to achieve his removal. Now we are in a very ticklish, already embarrassing situation.

Especially in dealing with the Third World, we seem to often overestimate our ability to influence events and misjudge the tenacity and resourcefulness of Third World peoples. The distressing thing is that we never seem to learn.

I have been critical of our Presidents since the early 1960's because I don't understand how, with all our great assets, we can keep backing ourselves into destructive situations guaranteed to do us serious damage or to make us look foolish. Could it be that our mind — set which says: We are a good people! We are a great nation! We have only the best intentions! etc., while having a basis in truth sometimes leads to a deadly mix of arrogance and innocence which causes us to downplay careful study and extensive contingency planning, assuming that positive thinking, "can do" people and our inherent goodness will automatically lead to good results? I wonder about this because we often seem so surprised when things go wrong, as if it shouldn't be possible.

In the 1980's, positive thinking has been perverted and carried to such ridiculous extremes as to actually become a detriment in the carrying out of domestic and foreign policies. While we glory in the prosperity of the 80's and speak of building for out children's future, we are simultaneously borrowing like crazy to keep the prosperity afloat. It only took four or five years for us to go from being the biggest creditor nation to being the biggest debtor. Our unique style of "cover-up" positive thinking has enabled us to ignore the fact that the children we profess so much concern for will be picking up the tab for many years to pay for our 1980's brand of debtor prosperity.

In looking at foreign affairs in the 80's, we have seen several "make a wish up on a star" type operations in which careful consideration and planning seemed negligible. There was a desperate desire for peace in Lebanon in 1983. Even though there was no peace nor any prospect for peace, we sent in what we termed a peace keeping force. It seems we often send in troops when we don't know what else to do and we think we should be giving the impression of doing something. Through our own careless negligence, our marines were exposed like setting ducks for the Ayatollah-financed murderers who succeeded in killing 241 of them. When we finally left, it was apparent that all that blood had been spilled for nothing and we had not even been able to make the murderers pay for their outrageous act.

The Iran arms for hostages deal is another example of relying on the heart without engaging the brain — I can sympathize that the President was put in an impossible position. It's disturbing that the CIA wasn't able to provide intelligence for an honorable rescue attempt. A compassionate man like the President should not have been brought into direct contact with the hostage families. His aides should have realized it might have a negative impact on his judgment. It seems to me that once again, naive Uncle Sam wound up being suckered by everyone he dealt with in this operation.

I only hope that future administrations, whether they be Republican or Democrat can finally learn womething from the mistakes of the past 28 years and not go on blindly repeating them.

Fluoridation Of Oakland Water System Discussed By Town Council

Fluoridation of the water system was one of the main topics of discussion Monday night at a meeting of the Oakland Mayor and Town Council. State Senator John N. Bambacus was a guest at the meeting.

Because of malfunctions of the fluoridation equipment and monitors at both Oakland water treatment plants, fluoride was discontinued at the Oakland Plant in mid-1985 and the Broadford treatment facility in the spring of 1987.

When that fact was revealed some months ago, local dental health professionals and Health Department officials began a campaign to have fluoride put back in the water system.

The Oakland Council welcomed Hal Benson from the Maryland Department of Environment, Dr. Alvin Friend, local dentist; Dr. William Pope and Rodney Glotfelty from the Garrett County Health Department to present facts about fluoridated water.

Benson explained tht he could answer questions about fluoride systems of a technical nature. He also outlined a grant that would provide equipment and training for a new fluoride system.

Dr. Friend then pled the case for fluoridated water in preventitive dentistry. He told council that when he began practicing in the county in the 1950's his first 10 years were spent doing emergency dentistry because of the high rate of carries and gum disease.

Dr. Friend was one of the pioneers in the county to fight for fluoride in the drinking water when studies showed that fluoride did prevent dental carries. He said that for every dollar spent for fluoride that $200 was saved in dental bills.

He pointed out that every major medical and health association approves the use of fluoride to prevent dental disease.

"Everything from allergies to cancer has been linked to fluoride, but there has been no scientific proof to substantiate those claims," he told council.

Benson noted that 91 percent of the U.S. population now consumes fluoridated water.

A public hearing with those attending Monday's meeting will be held next week and Mayor Asa McCain hopes to bring the issue to referendum. (See separate story.)

Tax Rate Set

A public hearing was held Monday to hear comments before the council set the tax rate for this fiscal year. Two Oakland citizens attended for the purpose of that hearing but did not comment.

The constant yield rate for the town had been set at $1.18 per $100 assessed value. The council voted unanimously to set the tax rate at $1.20 per $100.

McDonald's Alley

Council also passed a resolution Monday for the sale of the alley lying parallel to Third Street, between Pennington Street and Center Street, lying directly behind property owned by The McDonald's Corporation.

The town deemed that the alley was not needed for public purposes. Council made their decision based on the probable rejuvenation of business within the town of Oakland and an increased tax base providing additional revenues for the town. They also said it provided a needed and valuable service for the town.

They said the plans for development of the property proposed by McDonald's, utilizing the alley, will make "a far more attractive and beneficial development of the property."

Taylor Resigns

The mayor and town council accepted the resignation of Timothy Taylor who was appointed to fill an unexpired seat on council last month.

Taylor said he regretted making that decision but that his employer, the Farmer's Home Administration, recommended that he not serve on council because of a possible conflict of interests.

Council will likely appoint a new council member at their June meeting and will complete their committee assignments at that time.

Recreation Center

Don Stemple, director of the Center Street Summer Recreation Center, submitted his modest budget to council on Monday. That budget was unanimously approved by council.

Councilman Bob Boal said he felt council should continue to support such a "worthwhile project for the youth of the community."

Stemple requested a budget of $1,563 and asked for some repair work to be done and for the donation of several picnic tables for arts and crafts. Council agreed to those requests.

Aside from Stemple's position, which is state-funded, there are three additional employees at the center, Mary Lou Stemple, Cindy Stem, and a CETA worker selected each year.

ARC Update

Jerry Cox, a local attorney, spoke to council Monday about the "reinvigoration" of the Applachian Regional Commission (ARC).

Cox noted that federal funds for the Western Maryland region have dwindled to one-fifth of what they were in the late 60's and early 70's, "a mere $1.2 million," he stated.

He said that things were "so bad in Appalachia that even the Enclopedia Brittanica cites the economic deprivation of the area."

He asked that the Town of Oakland push for a resolution to "reinvigorate" ARC.

"In conclusion to this presentation concerning economic opportunity, let me say that more economic opportunity is destroyed and more damage is done to the economy by abortion than by any other thing in the country," he stated.

"Abortion is anti-growth and prevents growth and prosperity," he continued. "Abortion results in fewer taxpayers paying more in municipal, county, state and national taxes. Abortion takes money right out of the pocketbooks of individual citizens whether they are poor, middle-class or rich."

Council told Cox they would study his proposal.

Our Turn

Fess Up, Mom
by Susan Alvarez

Okay, Moms out there–as you accept your smudgy, handmade cards and lovingly picked flowers this Sunday, think about some of the low things you've had to resort to this year. Not guilty? Try taking this quick quiz. Give yourself ten points for answering 'yes' in any despicable category. If you score any points at all, then give your kids an extra "thank-you hug" on Mother's Day.

Gluttony - Did you hide away the last three Oreo cookies for yourself, stand at the kitchen sink and finish off what the kids didn't eat, or blame trips to the ice cream stand on the kids needing to get out of the house?

Fabrication and Distortion - Did you claim to have seen one of Santa's elves on or before November 16? Did you spot the Easter Bunny before January 2?

Bribery/Extortion - Did you at any time during the year say, "If you will sit quietly for ten more minutes you can have this candy", or , "If you do not give me that noisy zapper gun right now you will never be allowed out of your room again"? (Add five extra points if you removed the zapper gun's batteries at some point during the night.)

Mail Fraud - Did you ever assure your child that you indeed mailed their application for membership in the 900 Tape LaLa Library of Songs Club when, in actuality, you plan to blame the U.S. Postal Service when the first tape never arrives?

Deceptive Practices - Have you ever hidden the newspaper when the circus is in town? Driven five miles out of the way so the kids wouldn't spot the carnival?

Covetousness -, Have you ever said, "Aw, come on, it's Mommy's turn to play with Snappy the Wonder Robot"?

Pride - Aha! I gotcha on this one!

George Comp

Shimer, Western Maryland Assistant State Fire Marshal and incoming Maryland State Firemen's Association president.

It was in 1950, after a large fire in Deer Park, that Comp and a handful of other citizens met and organized the Deer Park Community Volunteer fire Department. Comp was elected secretary at that time and held that post for the next 35 years.

Comp was far more than just the secretary of his department, however, as he was a key figure in pushing the Maryland legislature to pass tax laws to aid all Garrett County fire departments. He also made sure that the fire tax was equally distributed, using a system that is still in use today.

Through the University of Maryland, Comp became a firefighter instructor and trained hundreds of local volunteers over the years. He still occasionally fills in or assists in local firefighting classes.

Through his teaching across Garrett County, he soon realized the need for a central alarm communications system. Being a ham radio operator, he developed a system whereby the Sheriff's Office would accept fire calls and alert the departments by radio.

In 1964, Comp was appointed by the governor of Maryland to be Garrett County's director of civil defense. With appropriated monies, Comp was able to license his communication system, install a radio console in the Civil Defense office, and move operations from the Sheriff's Department to his office. Dispatchers were then hired to receive and dispatch calls around the clock. The system was the forerunner to what is now the Garrett County Office of Emergency Management, which links all Garrett County and some neighboring West Virginia fire departments and rescue squads.

Comp has represented his own fire department and all Garrett County fire departments on the county, bi-county and state levels and is a past president of the Allegany-Garrett County Firemen's Association. He has served and is still serving on various committees, such as civil defense, insurance, firefighter training, communications, and transportation. He has attended every Allegany-Garrett Association annual conventions since 1951 and all but two state conventions.

Among his many awards received over the past three decades are: Garrett County Fireman of the Year; Allegany-Garrett County Hall of Flame; Allegany-Garrett Association Past Presidents Club; an award from the Region I Maryland Emergency Medical Services Advisory Council for Outstanding Contributions in the development of the Garrett County Central Alarm; a Governor's Citation for outstanding services to the State of Maryland, 1964-80; and numerous appreciation awards from individual Garrett and Allegany county fire departments.

Comp was instrumental in the design and construction of the Deer Park CVFD's present building, which was built in 1971. He also donated the property upon which the station is situated.

A native of Altamont, Comp is the son of the late George F. Comp Sr. and Martha Jackson Comp. He has been married for nearly 52 years to the former Frances L. (Thrasher) Comp. He also worked for many years as a farm machinery and truck/auto mechanic, operating his own business for several years before being named director of Garrett County Civil Defense. He still operates on a parttime basis his own radio communications repair service.

Comp is a member of the Knights of Pythias and is active in church work and radio clubs.

"No man really can accomplish much of anything without the support and assistance of a lot of other people," Comp said. "There are many, many volunteers in Garrett County who have worked hard to make our communities better and safer places to live, and I just want to express my appreciation to all of them for their support and generous efforts."

Our mothers, Homa Sweitzer and Pauline Paugh, sister, Helen Michaels, aunts, Gertrude Wilson and Lucille Stewart, on Mother's Day, May 8, 1988.

Gone are the faces we loved so dear,
Silent are the voices we loved to hear.
Too far away for sight or speech,
But not too far for thoughts to reach.
Sweet to remember, those who were here,
Who, gone away, are just as dear.

THE ANNUAL COLONIAL DINNER, sponsored by the eighth grade of Southern Middle School, is slated for Friday, May 13, from 4:30 to 6:30 at the school. Also featured that evening will be the students' Excellence Fair, for which they have been preparing for several months. A special activity held recently was all-day workshops with various local craftspeople and artists, who donated their time to teach students their particular skill or craft. The students have since made their own items for display. Above, Milton Naylor shows Courtney Moran the art of weaving, while below, Corann Clatterbuck teaches candlewicking to Cindy Beeman and Roy Palmer. Tickets for the Colonial Dinner are available from the students. Proceeds will be used for the eighth grade trip to the Inner Harbor in Baltimore later this month.

WM Bancorp Stockholders Hold Annual Meeting

The Annual Meeting of Stockholders of WM Bancorp was held April 18 at the Holiday Inn in Grantsville.

WM Bancorp is a multi-bank holding company with Garrett National Bank and Liberty Bank of Maryland as the subsidiary banks and Community Finance, Inc. as a subsidiary consumer finance company. Assets as of December 31, 1987 were $278 million. There were 712,825 shares, or 77% of the stock of the Corporation, represented at the meeting in person or by proxy.

The following directors were elected at the meeting to serve for a term of three years: James H. Feaster Jr., M.D., retired physician; Carl R. Fike, manager, Fred E. Beachy Lumber Co., Inc.; Anne L. Gormer, senior vice president and secretary, WM Bancorp, Inc.; John A. Hercher, chairman of the Board, WM Bancorp, Inc.; Thomas J. Johnson, retired; Thomas D. Jones, executive director, Garrett County Economic Development Corp; Harry Kauffman, owner, Cumberland Store; and John J. McMullen, attorney and advisor to the Times and Alleganian.

An amendment to the Articles of Incoporation of WM Bancorp, Inc. to limit the liability of directors and officers to the Corporation, or its stockholders, for money damages to the fullest extent permitted by the law of Maryland, was adopted at the meeting.

Milford E. Beckman, president of WM Bancorp, Inc., gave a brief summary of financial highlights of 1987. Beckman stated that WM Bancrop's financial performance during 1987 represented another year of "solid, profitable growth," net income after taxes for 1987 was $2,608,000, up 5.6% over 1986 levels. Cash dividends declared in 1987 amounted to $1.07 per share, compared to $1.05 per share in 1986. In addition, a 10% stock dividend was declared by the Board of Directors on December 3, 1987, to stockholders of record December 30, 1987, payable January 29, 1988.

It was noted by Beckman that, in the first quarter of 1988, a de Nova data center, WM Data Center, Inc., has been established to engage in the data processing work of the three present subsidiaries.

The annual re-organization meeting was held immediately following the stockholders meeting, at which time the following officers were elected to serve until the next annual meeting of stockholders: John A. Hercher, chairman of the Board; Milford E. Beckman, president; Anne L. Gormer, senior vice president and secretary; David W. Cathell, vice president and chief financial officer; William M. Chesno, vice president and treasurer; George W. Evans, vice president; James R. Moore, auditor; and Brent A. Carithers, assistant auditor.

Quilt Show Set In Friendsville

There will be a quilt show held at Friendsville Elementary School on Saturday, May 14, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., according to Ernest Savage, coordinator of the event.

Savage stated that the purpose of the show is to provide the opportunity for local quilters to display their work. He said persons will also be permitted to sell their items, if they desire.

The admission will be $1 per person, to cover the costs involved. Any additional proceeds will be donated to a worthy charity, service organization or church, Savage said. There will also be a door prize awarded.

Persons with handmade quilts or related items who desire more information may contact Savage at 746-5259. "Or, they can just show up at the school that morning with their quilts," he said.

JTPA Luncheon Held, Employers View Progress

Local contractors joined staff and students of the Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA) building trades program for a luncheon and tour last Wednesday, April 27, at Garrett Community College.

The day provided an opportunity for students to demonstrate the thoroughness of their training which has been offered by GCC in cooperation with the Western Maryland Consortium.

Many local employers took advantage of the occasion to learn more about the students' work and training and to consider them for employment in the building trades.

Students, aged 18-59, began their studies by learning basic math for carpentry, building trade terms, blueprint reading and retail selling fundamentals. After learning "hands-on" frame carpentry, they specialized in either masonry, plumbing, wiring or finish carpentry.

Throughout the 17-week, 555-hour training program, they have been learning building techniques by constructing a small building which is now for sale.

During the luncheon, contrators inspected the building and the construction site and met with instructors and students. They also viewed a video of all phases of the training.

Now that students have demonstrated competencies in all areas, they are ready to join the local work force as carpenter helpers, masonry helpers, electrician helpers and carpet installers. They are also prepared to function in retail sales associated with the building trades and in the manufacturing of building materials as well as in service, remodeling and maintenance positions.

While over half the students have already been hired, a number of "extremely well-qualified" applicants are seeking immediate employment, according to a college spokesman.

Employers who wish to reivew resumes and learn more about the students' capabilities may call Sue at 334-8266.

During the illness and following the death of my husband

MAYOR RUSSELL ALEXANDER

I believe I have fully come to realize what riches really are. The love and support I received both financially and emotionally, no words can say thank you. Our five wonderful children, Russell's mother, his brothers and sisters, my brothers and sisters, Rev. Jonathan Cramer, the congregation of the Nazarene Church, the employees and council of Mtn. Lake Park, the American Legion Post 71 and their auxiliary, and the D.A.V. and their auxiliary; these are people whom without their financial help during Russell's illness, I would have been lost. At his death, many friends, neighbors, groups and churches also gave financial aid, food and flowers.

To the Reverends Bobby Lee and Jonathan Cramer, we thank you for such a heartfelt service.

To Hospice, I've no words strong enough to thank their workers and volunteers; and to Linda Higgins, health nurse, who was always a phone call away. Hospice only needed to hear from her and equipment and supplies were furnished free. God bless them all. Anyone I didn't mention, it is only because there were so many.

Giving Russell up was made so much easier, knowing he was so liked and respected.

Rams Continue Grip On Number One Ranking By Crushing Keyser

The Southern Rams maintained their number-one area ranking this week by mashing visiting Keyser Tuesday evening, 9-1; however, Coach Jim Bosley is anticipating one of the toughest on the schedule this afternoon when the Rams host Allegany.

Zack Gibson went the distance on the mound for Southern against the Golden Tornado, fanning 10 batters and scattering four singles, as the Rams recorded their 10th straight win and upped their record to 11-1.

Southern wasted no time in putting points on the board, as Gibson led off the first inning with a single and Bobby Horner followed with a two-run homer over the leftfield fence. J.R. Bosley then singled, stole second and came home on a single by Brent Sanders, to give the Rams a 3-0 lead.

Keyser scored its only run of the day when Damon Tillman singled in the third inning and scored on a two-out single by Shawn White.

The Rams responded with three more runs in the bottom of the third, as Bosley led off with a single and scored on a single by Sanders. Shawn Nesselrodt then doubled home Sanders and scored on a sacrifice fly by Jamie Colaw.

Doug Nesselrodt singled in the fifth inning before Jason Park stepped up to rap a homer.

The final Southern run came in the sixth as Horner singled, moved to third on a wild pitch and a passed ball, and came home on a fly ball by Bosley.

The Rams finished with 12 hits on the afternoon, with Horner recording a homer and a single and Bosley, Sanders and Colaw each hitting two singles.

The loss dropped Keyser to 12-11 on the season.

"We really played good baseball," stated Coach Bosley. "Hopefully we can do it again this afternoon against Allegany. They are only playing about .500 baseball (7-8), but their losses have come against some excellent teams downstate, such as Martinsburg."

The Rams will get little rest after the Allegany contest, as they are slated to host Valley on Friday at 4:30 and then entertain Central Preston on Saturday in what may be a doubleheader, beginning at 1 p.m.

Southern Tennis Teams Win PVC Title Before Defeating Hampshire

The Southern High tennis teams continued their winning ways this week by capturing both the boys' and girls' Potomac Valley Conference championships at Keyser on Saturday.

The matches were technically hosted by the Rams, but held in Keyser because of weather conditions and the number of available courts.

The Southern boys' team captured 14 points, followed by Petersburg with seven, Hampshire with six and Keyser was held scoreless.

The Southern girls nipped Petersburg, 11-10, in final point totals, while Hampshire finished third with five points and Keyser fourth with one.

Winning singles matches for the Rams were Gary Long, Gordon Savage and Rob Sharps, while Courtney Smith, Patricia Heatherman, and Cheryl Wilt won for the girls.

The teams of Eric Eiswert and Long, Doug Fike and Savage, Sharps and Dan Nordeck, and Smith and Wilt all recorded doubles victories.

The Southern teams also recorded wins Monday afternoon at home against Hampshire, with both teams winning 5-2 over the Trojans.

Eiswert, Long, Savage, Fike and Sharps all won their singles matches, as did Smith, Heatherman, Wilt, and Pam Gnegy. Laura Buckley and Nancy Alvarez won their doubles match for the Rams.

Smith and Heatherman each have individual records of 7-1, while the Southern girls' overall mark is 5-4. The Southern boys lead the area with an 8-1 record.

Huskies Whip East Preston For Seventh Victory

The Northern Huskies returned to the win column this week and improved their record to 7-4 by whitewashing host East Preston on Monday, 5-0.

Danny Sines pitched his third complete game of the year for the Huskies, striking out 10 batters, walking five, and yielding only four hits.

A solo home run by Rodney Lipscomb off East Preston hurler Paul Pritt opened the scoring and was actually the game-winning RBI.

A two-run homer by Sean Jones in the third inning gave the Huskies a 3-0 lead. Jones also smacked a pair of singles to go three-for-three on the day and finish with three RBIs.

The fourth Husky run was scored in the fifth on a squeeze bunt by Todd Wagner.

Leading East Preston's offense were Steve Ashby, who hit a pair of singles, and Andy Selders, who smacked a double.

Coach John Helmick's Huskies were slated to host Valley yesterday, but the contest was postponed because of rain. They are slated to entertain Mt. Savage on Friday and then travel to Oakland next Thursday to take on top-ranked Southern.

Lakers Conclude Season With Tie, One Victory, and Five Defeats

The Garrett Community College Lakers wrapped up their 1988 spring campaign this past week with a 6-6 tie at Cecil Community College on Friday, a pair of defeats against the Community College of Baltimore on Saturday, 9-4 and 4-2, a double loss to visiting Montgomery-Rockville on Monday, 6-5 and 9-8, and a split with CCAC-South on Tuesday, 18-13 and 6-9, also in McHenry.

The Cecil contest, which was called after eight innings because of darkness and rain, included a pair of Laker records, as Jay Baker's pair of home runs gave GCC 36 on the season to tie the mark set in 1986, and Dwayne Hedrick's steal of second was the 100th on the season for the Lakers, four ahead of the record set by the 1982 team.

The Lakers opened the contest with a solo homer by Baker in the first inning, but Cecil came back to score three runs in the bottom of that frame behind a two-run double by Olivere.

GCC tied the game with two runs in the second and then took a 6-3 lead in the fourth, as Eric Watts walked, stole second, and came home on a Brad Sellers bunt. Then with two outs, Baker hit his second homer of the day, this time good for two RBIs.

Cecil came back in the sixth when Mayse walked with the bases loaded and Van Dyke scored on a wild pitch.

Cecil then tied the score in the seventh on a bases-loaded RBI single by King. Laker pitcher Bill Cassella then struck out Van Dyke, who is hitting .583 this season, and forced two more batters to pop out.

In the opener against Baltimore, Darryl Dupert and Kyle Martz put the Lakers on top again in the first inning with RBI singles; but once again, their opponents came back with three runs in the second and two more in the third to erase that advantage. Tom O'Brien accounted for two of the scores with a two-run homer.

Hedrick then set another Laker record by walking for the 33rd time this season, breaking the old mark of 32.

Curt Engle rapped a solo homer for the Lakers, who were out-hit in the first game, 11-5.

Chris Thompson pitched his best game of the season for the Lakers in the second contest, striking out 10 batters, allowing only one walk, and giving up only one earned run, as sixth inning homer to Frank Fairweather. However, it was not enough, as GCC took the lead in the first inning, but gave it up for good in the second.

MANTA RAYS ASSIST McINTEE — The Garrett County Manta Rays swim team recently displayed its support of local Olympic hopeful John McIntee by contributing $150 to the U.S. Modern Pentathlon Association on his behalf for training and travel expenses. Because swimming is one of the five events in McIntee's specialty — the modern pentathlon — he has on many occasions assisted with the coaching of the Manta Rays and has conducted workshops for their coaches. McIntee, who was a scholarship swimmer for the University of Notre Dame, is ranked among the top pentathletes in the nation and will be competing next month for a spot on the 1988 U.S. Olympic team. He is pictured above, center, beside Al Coviello (with the moustache), one of the directors of the Manta Rays.

The Lakers scored a single run in the first when Hedrick singled, stole second, moved to third on a hit by Mike Campbell, and came home on a sacrifice by Dupert.

The Red Devils tied the contest in the second inning and took the lead in the sixth on Fairweather's homer. After Baltimore added two more runs in the top of the seventh, the Lakers managed to score one more in the bottom of the inning when Hedrick walked, moved to second on a single by Baker, and scored on a hit by Campbell.

The losses to Rockville were all too familiar situations for Coach Lawrence Nesselrodt and his Lakers, as Garrett began both with leads and lost both by one run. A dozen of the Lakers' losses this season have been by two runs or less.

The Lakers took a 3-1 lead in the first inning of the opener, as Hedrick walked, stole second and came home on a single by Campbell. Then Dupert doubled, Kyle Martz singled to score Campbell, and Dupert scored on a double steal with Martz.

After two runs were scored in the top of the fifth by Rockville, Rich Goad walked for the Lakers and scored on a two-out single by Baker. Martz followed with his fifth home run of the year to give the Lakers a 5-4 lead.

A homer by Mays in the fifth tied the score and an infield single by Bonner with two outs in the sixth gave Rockville the win.

Campbell was four-for-four for the Lakers with four singles, while Martz added a single to his home run.

Joey Allen hit two homers and Jeff McIntyre smacked one in the second game for the Lakers, but the GCC pitching staff allowed four runs in the final two innings to give Rockville its second win of the day.

The Lakers took a 5-0 lead in the second inning, as Dupert walked and Allen followed with his first homer. Brad Sellers, Warren Hook and Hedrick each singled to load the bases, Sellers scored on an outfield error, and Hedrick and pinch runner Mike Clark worked a double steal for the fourth run. Jay Baker then singled in the fifth run of the inning.

Rockville scored a pair of unearned runs in the third and two more in the sixth on a passed ball and a wild pitch to cut the Lakers' lead to 6-5.

McIntyre responded with his solo homer in the sixth to make it 7-5 going into the seventh.

Rockville tied the game in the seventh as Bonner and Young singled and Thomas followed with a two-run double.

A squeeze play and an RBI single by Young in the eighth gave Rockville a 9-7 lead. Allen led off the Laker's half of the final frame with a solo homer, but a double play ended the contest.

Details of the CCAC-South doubleheader on Tuesday were unavailable.

The Lakers conclude the season with a 18-30-1 record.

Northern Girls Defeat Calvary And Southern

The Northern High softball team continued its quest for a Region I playoff bid by capturing four more victories this past week, sweeping two from Calvary Christian Academy, 14-1 plus a forfeit, and crushing cross-county rival Southern, 13-1 and 25-9.

Coach Bob Yunker's 7-1 squad will attempt to pick up two more wins this Friday against Rockwood.

Northern wasted no time putting points on the board against Calvary, scoring four runs in the first inning. After two walks, Tina Lashbaugh rapped a triple to score two runs and Becky Meyers then singled to score Lashbaugh. Kim McClintock scored the final run of the inning when Diane Fike reached on an error by the Eagles' shortstop.

The Huskies put the game away in the second inning by adding six more runs via three walks, a hit batsman, three errors, and singles by Julie Yommer and Laura Sines.

Northern added four final runs in the fourth frame, as Lashbaugh smacked a two-run single and Becky Meyers followed with a two-run triple.

The Eagles finally scored in the top of the fifth after two walks and a fielder's choice.

Recording two hits for Northern besides Lashbaugh and Meyers was Melissa Beeman. Regina VanSickle earned her fourth victory on the mound by going the distance, allowing only two hits and striking out four.

In the opener against Southern, the Huskies again struck quickly by scoring a pair of runs in the first inning. Yommer led off the frame with a walk, stole second and scored on a single by Vicki Yoder, who later came home on an error by the catcher.

Northern went on top 6-0 in the second behind two errors, two walks and a triple by Lashbaugh.

The Rams recorded three singles in the third inning to score their only run, as Dawson came home on a single by Hawk.

The Huskies came back with six more runs in the bottom of the third on four walks, two errors, and a single. They completed their scoring in the fourth when Karen Wilhelm singled, Yomer followed with a double, and Wilhelm came home on a bases-loaded walk to Lashbaugh.

Lashbaugh finished two-for-two with four RBIs. VanSickle again went the distance, scattering four hits, striking out five and walking two.

The nightcap was a nightmare for Southern Coach Ken McLaughlin's pitching staff, which allowed 22 walks and 10 hits.

Again Northern opened the scoring in the first inning, as Yommer walked, Yoder followed with a bunt single, and Lashbaugh nailed a triple. McClintock then drove in Lashbaugh with a single.

The Rams responded with six runs in the second inning, as Hilton led off with a walk and Evick, Younkin, Hopkins and Ball all singled. DiSimone then rapped a double.

Southern added three more runs in the top of the third to take a 9-3 lead, as Evick walked, Younkin and Hopkins singled again, and, after a fielder's choice, Hawk singled for another run.

But the roof fell in on top the Rams in the bottom of the third, as the Huskies scored a record-setting 22 runs on four hits and 19 walks. Lashbaugh collected three of the hits, including a double and two singles, while Yoder accounted for the other hit.

Lashbaugh finished with four hits and three RBIs, while Yoder was two-for-three with four RBIs. McClintock also drove in three runs and Laurie Stanton added a triple.

VanSickle pitched her sixth win of the season, giving up eight hits, two walks and stiking out four.

SHS Jayvees Win One, Lose Two With Keyser

The Southern junior varsity baseball team faced Keyser three times this past week and came away with only one victory. The Rams won the first game of a doubleheader on Saturday in Keyser, 6-3, dropped the second contest, 10-7, and lost a single game to the jayvee Golden Tornado on Tuesday, 9-4.

In the first game on Saturday, Marshall Pike and Jamie Fletcher each smacked two-run singles for the Rams, while Lambert hit three singles and scored all of Keyser's runs. Pike was the winning pitcher.

Barger, the winning pitcher for Keyser in the second game, aided his own cause with a triple, while Kesecker hit a two-run double.

The Southern jayvees were slated to host Union in a doubleheader on Wednesday, but the games were postponed because of rain.

Coors Company, Lohr's To Give GCC Scholarships

The Adolph Coors Company, which established the Coors Veterans' Memorial Scholarship Fund, will award a minimum of 100 scholarships totaling 500,000 this year to eligible sons and daughters of American veterans, according to Lohr Distributors, Inc., of Oakland, which will participate in the program.

The Coors Scholarship Fund was established by the company to provide financial aid to the children of veterans. Lohr Distributors will supplement the program by awarding scholarships to Garrett County students to attend Garrett Community College.

Since 1985 there have been four local students who have attended GCC with the assistance of Coors Veterans' scholarships.

The fund awards scholarships on the basis of high school and college academic achievement, extracurricular activities, veteran parent status and financial need.

Robert Lohr, president of Lohr Distributors, stated that collection canisters have been placed in various local businesses to give citizens an opportunity to contribute to the fund. Lohr Distributors will match, dollar for dollar, the total monies collected throughout the county, as well as contribute an additional five cents for every case of Coors, Coors Light or Coors Extra Gold beer sold during the month of May.

Persons desiring more information about the Coors Veterans' scholarships may contact Cissy VanSickle, financial aid officer for Garrett Community College, at 387-6666.

Nutrition And Fitness Screening Slated May 11

Dr. Kurt Wolfe and Dr. Fred Surgent, the directors of Frostburg State University's Fitness Center, will be screening individuals for their level of fitness at the Garrett County Health Department Assembly Room on Wednesday, May 11, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

People who call 334-2155 to make their appointment are also encouraged to bring in a complete list of the foods and beverages they consumed on May 10. Their lists will be run through a computer program that will yield a printout of many of the nutrients, including the amounts of saturated fat and cholesterol, that they consumed.

"The purpose for all this", said Wellness Togther co-cordinator Mikal Moomau, "is the lack of physical exercise and a high-fat, high-cholesterol diet are risk factors for heart disease. We want to help people learn how they could safely increase their physical activity and whether they need to modify their diet, based on a typical day's intake of food."

Drs. Wolfe and Surgent will provide information on making healthy changes in exercise and diet at the screening. Wellness Togehter coordinators urge participants in the blood chemistry screening who had high cholesterol levels to make an appointment for the fitness and nutrition screening on May 11. The total cost is $15.

NUTRITION AND FITNESS SCREENING will be available at a nominal charge to local residents next Wednesday, May 11, when Dr. Kurt Wolfe, pictured above right, and Dr. Fred Surgent, below right, come to the Garrett County Health Department Assembly Room. The screening is being sponsored by the Wellness Together program and will reveal the level of fitness of participants, based upon their diets, flexibility, and measurements of body fat. See story.

man of the Zoning Board, stressed that the conditions, especially the one dealing with roads and traffic, were essential in making a decision for the approval.

"We (the board) have an obligation not only to the developers in their requests, but also to the residents in that area who insist, and rightly so, that traffic and safety problems be addresed," stated Dr. Savage.

"Due to the magnitutde of that project," he continued, "it was a special case. We went as far as seeking an opinion from legal counsel to assure the decision made was a correct one. I feel the board made a responsible decision based on the needs of the developers and the citizens."

Savage said the developers have assured the board that the project will have neutral effect on actual lake traffic.

The Zoning Board chairman also outlined some of the stringent conditions made on the recent Honi-Honi Bar decision.

He noted that there are to be limited days of outside entertainment, citing only three holidays during the summer season that would permit a two-day provision.

Also there are to be limited outside hours of operation and limited lighting. Parking is also limited to one side of the road, except in overflow conditions.

"Here again, the board made every effort to meet the needs of the developers and the residents as well," stated Savage.

A more detailed report on zoning decisions will appear in next week's edition of The Republican.

It's Mother's Day, what a happy event, when children tell Mom how much she is loved and why you think she is the greatest.

A day to make her forget all the pain you have caused her through the years. Like the nights she waited by the phone for you to come home, or when you were sick and all she could do was comfort you, or maybe when you needed those new shoes and there was no extra money.

Just a day to tell her she is one terrific lady and you don't know what you would do without her.

Because when you do lose her, you will wish you would have told her every day of her life.

This is to my Mom, Roma, whom I lost March 22, 1987.

Harvey has been a Professor of Bible at Andrew College, and has served as visiting professor and guest lecturer at various colleges and universities.

IN MEMORY OF

NEWTON W. AND CARRIE MAE McROBIE

Since God called you home, Mom, we've all been very sad.
He took the most precious treasure a child could ever have.
We thought that time would ease the pain, but, Mom, that's just not true.
You've been gone a long, long time, and we still hurt through and through.
I know if Jesus gives rewards, you've won them every one.
You were the best Mother to your daughters and sons.
We love you, Mom, more than we can say.
We want to meet you and Daddy in heaven, since Daddy has come home to be with you.
We'll meet you and Daddy on God's beautiful shore, and sing God's praises for evermore.

Commissioners Approve Closing Of Road Section

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners approved the closing of approximately 750 feet of the Old Shallmar Road and approximately 750 feet of Penn Point Road upon the petition of Henry Moomau, Oakland.

The roads are situated in Election District No. 10.

The commissioners personally inspected both roads which are narrow dirt roads that have difficulty accommodating passing vehicles.

Moomau, on behalf of the developers of the Blakeslee subdivision, has constructed a new section of the highway according to the "1987 Specifications for Streets-Roadways for Inclusion into the Garrett County Road System."

"We believe the new section will better accommodate the traffic formerly used by these two sections of road," said a spokesman for the commissioners.

The Board will require the developers to sign and execute an agreement that they will maintain the new section of the road at their own expense for a period of two years. The roads will not be accepted until an inspection of the Roads Department.

The agreement will also permit the public to use the road until it is accepted into the roads system.

The commissioners carefully considered the objections made by Thomas B. Dabney Jr., on behalf of his clients, who desire two public accesses to their property and that the closing of the two road sections will enhance the traffic on Penn Point Road.

The board felt the new sections would better accommodate the public.

Sang Run Road

Also this week the commissioners approved the extension of the Sang Run Road and the enhanced ingress and egress off U.S. Route 219 near the Wisp Resort. That proposal was submitted by Shoreline Joint Venture with Jim Railey and Marty Kandell as principals.

Shoreline has purchased property surrounding both sides of the road in question and are planning expansive development, although they have not yet submitted any concrete plans for zoning approval.

The commissioners said they felt those road improvements would greatly improve traffic flow and safety in that area.

Railey told The Republican Wednesday that nothing definite has been submitted to county officials for approval at this time. "When we have a concrete proposal," he stated, "we will make the announcement of our intentions. It would be jumping the gun to do so at this time."

Yoder Approval

The Board of Commissioners also Tuesday approved the Kermit Yoder farm, Accident, to be included in the Agricultural Preservation Program.

Yoder agreed to meet with the Accident Planning Commission this past week and at that meetng an agreement was reached to satisfy both parties.

The commission was concerned with long-range expansion plans for the town. Yoder agreed to exclude a total of 18 acres from land to be preserved.

TURNABOUT CHEESE CAKE

Turnabout Cheese Cake is worthy of all those special moms. And because it's lower in calories than traditional cheese cake, even the diet-conscious can enjoy "seconds."

1⅔ cups graham cracker crumbs
½ cup butter or margarine, melted
½ cup boiling water
1 package (3 oz.) lemon gelatin
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 cups cottage cheese
1 container (9 oz.) frozen whipped topping

Combine cracker crumbs and butter, mix well. Press into bottom of 9" springform cheesecake pan or pie pan. Set aside. Assemble blender. Pour boiling water into blender container, add gelatin and process at a low speed until gelatin is dissolved. Add lemon juice and 1 cup cottage cheese and process at high speed until smooth. Add remaining cottage cheese and process until smooth. Assemble mixer. Pour into large mixer bowl. Add frozen whipped topping and mix at medium low speed until smooth. Pour over graham cracker crust. Chill until set. (This is ready for serving in minutes). Top with fresh strawberries. Yield: 10-12 serving.

LEMON FLUFF PINEAPPLE

1 large fresh pineapple
½ cup sugar
3 tablespoons cornstarch
1 egg, lightly beaten
2 tablespoons lemon juice, and grated lemon peel
½ cup whipping cream, whipped
¼ cup sliced almonds, toasted

Cut one-third off side of pineapple leaving crown. Remove fruit from both sections leaving shells intact. Core and dice fruit. Chill pineapple 1 hour. Spoon pineapple into large shell. Combine sugar and cornstarch in a small saucepan. Stir in ¾ cup water. Cook, stirring, until mixture boils and thickens. Remove from heat. Stirring rapidly, beat in egg until blended. Stir in lemon juice and peel. Cool completely. Fold in whipped cream. Serve over chilled pineapple. Top with almonds. Serves 4 to 6.

½ cup plus 2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese, divided
2 cups shredded Mozzarella cheese

1 pound lean ground beef
1 jar (15½ oz.) spaghetti sauce

Cook rice according to package directions. Cool slightly. Add eggs and ¼ cup Parmesan cheese. Mix thoroughly. Set aside. Combine cheeses, reserving 2 tablespoons of Parmesan cheese. Mix well. Brown meat and drain off excess fat. Add spaghetti sauce and continue cooking until thoroughly heated. Spoon one-half of rice mixture into 3-quart casserole dish. Cover with one-half of cheese mixture. Top with one-half of the meat sauce. Repeat layers. Top with remaining 2 tablespoons Parmesan cheese. Bake at 375°F 15 to 20 minutes or until thoroughly heated. Serves 6 to 8.

On Mother's Day, the last place mothers want to be is in the kitchen. With this in mind, Mother's Day gifts are a snap. If a tight budget rules out the most obvious choice — dinner at a restaurant — don't despair. There are other ways to keep mom from cooking.

Since Mother's Day is on a Sunday, why not surprise her with breakfast in bed? Or treat the whole family to dinner with mom as the guest of honor. (Don't forget to set the table nicely and decorate with a big bouquet of fresh-cut flowers.)

While mothers everywhere will appreciate being cooked for, there is one strict rule to follow when you decide to do so. If you use her kitchen, clean it up!

American Sampler

Festive Lemon Layer Cake

8 egg whites, at room temperature
1/16 teaspoon salt
2/3 cup sugar
6 egg yolks
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/3 cup unsifted flour
1/3 cup Argo corn starch
Lemon Filling (recipe follows)
1 1/2 cups heavy cream, whipped

Grease 15 1/2 x 10 1/2 x 1-inch jelly roll pan. Line bottom with greased waxed paper. In large bowl beat egg whites and salt until soft peaks form. Gradually beat in sugar. In medium bowl beat egg yolks and vanilla. Fold 1/4 of the egg whites into yolks until well blended. Pour yolk mixture over remaining egg whites; gently fold in. Combine flour and corn starch. Sift over egg mixture, half at a time; gently fold in after each addition. Pour into prepared pan. Bake in 375°F oven 8 to 10 minutes or until lightly browned. Loosen sides. Immediately turn out onto cloth lightly dusted with corn starch. Remove waxed paper; cool completely. Cut crosswise into 3 rectangles; trim edges. Place one cake layer on serving platter; spread half of Lemon Filling. Repeat with second layer. Top with remaining layer. Frost with whipped cream. Refrigerate 1 hour before serving. Makes 12 servings.

Lemon Filling: In small saucepan, stir 1/2 cup sugar and 2 tablespoons cornstarch. Gradually stir in 3/4 cup water until smooth. Stir in 2 egg yolks slightly beaten. Stirring constantly, bring to boil over medium-low heat and boil 1 minute. Remove from heat. Stir in 2 teaspoons grated lemon peel, 1/4 cup lemon juice and 1 tablespoon butter or margarine. Turn into bowl; cover and refrigerate until cool. Fold in 1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped. Makes about 2 cups.

CREOLE RICE WITH TOMATOES AND HERBS

1 cup raw rice
4 cups water
2 tablespoons butter
½ cup finely chopped onion
½ cup ripe red tomato cut into ¼-inch dice
Salt to taste if desired
Freshly ground pepper to taste
2 tablespoons finely chopped fresh basil
1 tablespoon freshly squeezed lemon juice

Rinse rice and drain well. Bring the water to a boil in a saucepan. Add rice. Cook at full rolling boil exactly 17 minutes. Drain immediately and return rice to saucepan. Meanwhile, heat butter in a saucepan, add onion. Cook, stirring, until wilted. Add tomato, salt and pepper and cook briefly, stirring. Add this to the cooked rice and stir. Stir in basil and lemon juice. Serve.

SCALLOPED POTATOES AND HAM

4 large potatoes, peeled and parboiled
1 large onion, thinly sliced
1 to 2 pounds, thick-sliced ham steaks
6 tablespoons (¾ stick) unsalted butter
¼ cup plus 2 tablespoons all purpose flour
3 cups milk
3 cups shredded Cheddar cheese
2 teaspoons powdered mustard
1½ teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
1½ tablespoons dry sherry or dry vermouth
Salt and freshly ground black pepper

Preheat the oven to 350°F. Slice the potatoes medium-thin. Separate the onion slices into rings. Cut the ham into large chunks. Layer the potatoes, onions, and ham in a large casserole. In a heavy saucepan, melt the butter over moderate heat. Add the flour and cook, stirring constantly, until the mixture is smooth and bubbly. Remove from the heat and stir in the milk. Return to moderate heat and bring to a boil, whisking constantly. Cook over moderate heat for 3 minutes, whisking all the time. One cup at a time, add the cheese and stir well until it has melted. Add the mustard, Worcestershire sauce, and sherry and season with salt and pepper to taste. Pour the sauce over the potatoes, onions, and ham and bake for 45 to 60 minutes, or until the potatoes are cooked through and the top is browned. Serves 4.

SPRING VEGETABLE SALAD

For the salad:
½ pound fresh asparagus (5 to 12 stalks, depending on thickness and length)
1 bunch watercress
8 ounces fresh leaf spinach
4 ounces fresh snow peas
4 to 6 pencil-thin spring carrots
For the dressing:
½ cup salad oil
½ cup vinegar
¼ cup water
½ cup watercress stems, chopped
½ cup spinach stems, chopped
1 small bunch fresh tarragon or fresh basil (or a mixture of any two or three of the following: flat-leaf parsley, tarragon, basil, chives, or scallion greens), chopped, about 2 to 3 tablespoons
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
1 cup mayonnaise
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon sugar
¼ teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
Method:

Wash, shake dry, and chill all salad ingredients. Peel asparagus and cut at sharp angle into ovals about ¼-inch thick. Discard end pieces, but chop bottom ½ inch or so of each stalk and reserve for dressing. Snip off ends of snow peas and discard. Depending on size, leave snow peas whole or cut diagonally into a few pieces. Reserve carrots. Add all dressing ingredients to blender except mayonnaise, salt, sugar, and pepper. Blend at high speed to a frothy green liquid with flecks of green in it. Transfer to a bowl and with a wire whisk, slowly fold in mayonnaise, salt, sugar, and pepper. Taste and correct seasoning. Dressing should be pale green. Don't mix vigorously or dressing will be runny. Arrange salad ingredients on individual plates and spoon on dressing generously. Peel and grate carrots on largest hole of four-sided grater and sprinkle on top. Serves 8.

Mother Will Make It Better

As children we always knew that mothers had the power to heal. Which of us has not experienced the magic that happened when Mother kissed our wounds and made the pain disappear instantly.

As we grew older we also experienced her power to heal emotional wounds. When the world outside seemed too cruel to bear she always provided a haven that allowed us to pull ourselves together so that we could face the world again.

As we grow into adulthood a phone call home can put a whole new perspective on our problems. On Mother's Day, let your mom know how much difference she makes. It's the least you can do in return for all the things she has done for you.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THE OBSOLETE COVENANT

May 8, 1988

Background Scripture: Hebrews 8:1 through 10:18.
Devotional Reading: Jeremiah 31:31-34.

In a recent newspaper article I read that someone in Israel was seriously proposing that the Jerusalem Temple be rebuilt and the practice of animal sacrifice be revived there. Even more incredible was the report that this proposal had found some support among various Christians.

The old-covenant-frame-of-mind dies hard. Although we know that Christianity is the creation of the New Testament, some Christians, I find, look more to the Old Testament than the New. Our denominational newspaper recently carried a letter from a reader who sought to garner Christian support for the nation of Israel on the basis of God's promise of this land to the people of Israel. What this reader seemed to forget was that the old covenant with Israel had long ago been superceded by a new one.

OF THINGS AND PLACES

This is the covenant of which Jeremiah prophesied (and the writer of Hebrews quoted): "The days will come, says the Lord, when I will establish a new covenant with the house of Israel "...not like the covenant that I made with their fathers..." (Hebrews 8:8). The new covenant was not to be one of things or places, but of an inner reality: "I will put my laws into their minds, and write them on their hearts..." (8:10). The earthly sanctuary of the old covenant, said the writer of Hebrews, has been replaced with a heavenly sanctuary.

As Christians, we acknowledge that the old covenant is part of our spiritual heritage. The New Testament has grown out of the Old. But that doesn't mean that the old covenant remains in force. Not according to the Epistle to the Hebrews: "...Christ has obtained a ministry which is as much more excellent than the old as the covenant he makes is better...For if the first covenant had been faultness, there would be no occasion for the second" (8:6,7). The writer makes it even more plain when he concludes: "In speaking of a new covenant he treats the first as obsolete" (8:13).

OLD OUTLOOK

So why do we continue to be so "old covenant" in our outlook? Perhaps it is that the old covenant view is more primitive and therefore seems easier. The concept of having to sacrifice something in order to handle our guilt and sin is probably as ancient as the human race. Although the Old and New Testament references to blood mean little to us today, we must remember that blood was the essence of life. Sin was "washed away," not so much by blood itself, as by the life force that the blood represented.

What made the sacrificial system meaningful was the realization that the consequences of sin were great enough to require the sacrifice of life itself. Thus, Hebrews says: "For if the sprinkling of defiled persons with the blood of goats and bulls...sanctifies for the purification of the flesh, how much more shall the blood of Christ...purify your conscience from dead works to serve the living God" (9:13,14).

Every system for dealing with the reality of sin requires some kind of regular repetition of the process. Except one, says the writer of Hebrews: "...we have been sanctified through the offering of the body of Jesus Christ once for all" (10:10). What the priests used to do daily in the temple, Christ has done once and for all on a cosmic scale. "Therefore he is the mediator of a new covenant."

TAKE THE WHOLE PRESCRIPTION

Don't stop taking a prescription drug after you begin to feel better unless your physician approves. This is most important. Often anything less than the full course of treatment may prevent the medicine from completely correcting the condition.

For example, not taking the prescribed amount of an antibiotic allows either the "bug" or your body to become resistant to it. Not enough of the required medicine may be worse than none at all.

New Businesses To Benefit From Lower Wage Tax

J. Randall Evans, Maryland Secretary of Economic and Employment Development (DEED), announced this week that the rate on taxes paid by new Maryland employers to the Maryland Unemployment Insurance Trust Fund has dropped from 2.7 percent to 2.2 percent on the first $7,000 paid to each employee. Evans said that the lower rate, which goes into effect July 1, 1988, places Maryland third lowest of the 39 states using uniform tax rates, and fifth lowest among all 50 states.

"This development is another indication that Maryland's evolving economic development strategy is geared to job generation through the provision of incentives to new business," said Evans. Under the new tax rate, employers paying wages for the first time in Maryland during fiscal year 1989 will reap immediate benefits during the initial stages of their ventures.

Evans said that the progressive lowering of the U.I Trust Fund tax rate is a result of an increase in taxable wages because of an ever-growing work force and a decline in payment of unemployment benefits during calendar years 1983-1987.

"With a rock-bottom unemployment insurance tax rate, we have a competitive edge in attracting new business to Maryland and at the same time encouraging small business start-ups within the state," said Evans. "It is another indirect financial incentive Maryland can offer to companies as they compare our business climate with that of other states," he said.

In a recent telephone survey, DEED's Office of Labor Market Information found that, in addition to Maryland's ranking as the third lowest among the 39 states using uniform rates, the state ranks lower than seven of the eleven states with a variable rate. Compared with a range from the 3.7 percent high in West Virginia to a low of 2.5 percent in Virginia, Maryland's 2.2 percent UI Trust Fund tax rate is the fifth lowest in all 50 states.

Maryland's 1989 tax rate is substantially lower than the 2.8 percent during fiscal years 1985-1987 and the 2.7 percent in fiscal year 1988. The unemployment benefit cost for 1987 was approximately $148 million less than the cost for 1982 benefits, according to Evans.

Linking the tax reduction with Maryland's high employment rate and overall economic vitality, Evans said that the new statistics are another important component of the state's increasing ability to shine in comparison with other states.

"We got promoted to the head of the class in a recent nationwide survey of state economies, and received another set of high marks recently on the competitive status of our small technology companies," said Evans. "We won't be satisfied until Maryland goes to the very top as a result of our revitalized partnership between the public and private sectors," he said.

Maryland was ranked among the top three states in "Making the Grade: The 1988 Development Report Card for the States," a survey published this month by the Corporation for Enterprise Development, a non-profit organization based in Washington that specializes in economic develoment analysis.

Electrical Safety Brochure Available

Because May is National Electrical Safety Month, the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission is again olffering its free 12-page electrical home safety checklist to consumers. The brochure conducts homeowners and apartment dwellers on a room-by-room inspection of the living quarters so that commonplace electrical hazards may be found and eliminated.

CPSC said a home electrical fire happens every three minutes of every day, adding up to an estimated 174,000 home electrical fires each year. These fires claim 950 lives and injure some 5,500 people.

Consumers may obtain a free copy of the electrical home safety checklist by calling the agency's toll-free hotline at 1-800-638-2772 or by writing Electrical Safety, Washington, D.C. 20207.

Directory For Abusers Of Drugs, Alcohol Available

The Addictions Services Administration (ASA) of the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygeine (DHMH) has published a resource directory of treatment units and organizations offering services to alcohol and drug abusers.

The 70-page directory lists addresses, phone numbers and descriptions of services offered for 202 treatment units statewide. Forty-nine hotline and emergency numbers are also included.

"The purpose of this directory is to provide a comprehensive guide to available resources offering special services to alcohol and drug abusers," said Howard Silverman, acting director of the DHMH Addictions Services Administration. "The directory supplies information about all certified Maryland alcohol and drug abuse treatment services units and JCAH (Joint Commission of Accreditation of Hospitals) accredited facilities with addiction services," said Silverman.

The directories are available through ASA programs, health departments and hospital emergency rooms. They are also available free of charge by calling (301) 225-6910 or by writing to this address: Addictions Services Administration, O'Conor Building, 4th Floor, 201 West Preston Street, Baltimore, Maryland 21201.

SERVICE STARS, each of which represents five years of continuous active membership in the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department, were among the awards presented at the OVFD's anniversary banquet, held recently at the Deer Park Fire Hall. Receiving stars were, pictured above left to right, Brian Browning and Mike Saunders, five years each; Phil Rook, 10 years; Sam Meyers, 20 years; and Richard Beeman, five years. Not present for the photo were Harold Cannon, Joe Helbig and Tom Powers, 10 years each. Also recognized at the dinner were the top 10 responders to alarms during 1987. Pictured left to right are: Allen Ridenour, who responded to the second greatest number of alarms; Mike Saunders, ninth; Gerald Wildesen, eighth; Ken DeWitt, fifth; Phil Rook, third; Carroll Deem, fourth; Dave Spurrier, sixth; Mark Durst, tenth; Brian Browning, first; and Bob Rudy, seventh.

THE MILTON FIKE MEMORIAL TROPHY was presented by the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department at its annual banquet to I. Robert Rudy, who is the present chief of the organization. The award, established in memory of the late Milton D. Fike, who was first assistant chief of the Oakland VFD for many years, is given each year to the member of the department who has served "above and beyond the call" in every aspect of service to the department and the citizens it protects. Besides serving as chief for several years, Rudy is also an instructor for the Maryland Fire and Rescue Institute and has trained scores of local firefighters representing most area departments. He is pictured above with Joan Fike, widow of Milton Fike. Also honored at the banquet was John A. Sharps, pictured below, who retired this past year with 41 years of active service to the Oakland VFD. Sharps is a past officer of the organization and was a veteran pump operator until his retirement earlier this year. Unable to be present to receive a similar retirement plaque was Robert Shaffer, who retired this past year with 15 years of service.

Maryland Sells $80,000,000 In Triple-A Bonds

The Maryland Board of Public Works, consisting of Governor William Donald Schaefer, State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein and State Treasurer Lucille H. Maurer, sold $80,000,000 in general obligation bonds Wednesday, April 27, for a low interest bid of 6.598633%. The board also retained the current state real estate tax rate of 21¢ per $100 of assessed value. All revenue from the state real estate tax is used to pay principal and interest costs of Maryland's general obligation bonds.

The bonds were rated triple A by both Moody's Investors Service and Standard and Poor's Corporation, the two major bond rating agencies.

The low bid came from a syndicate headed by Chase Manhatten Capital Markets Corporation. Local members of the syndicate included Alex Brown & Sons, Inc.; Ferris & Company, Inc.; Baker, Watts & Company and First National Bank of Maryland. A total of four bids were received at the Annapolis meeting of the board. The $5,000 denomination bonds are available from brokers and bond dealers.

The triple A rating is the best available, and Maryland remains one of only seven states in the nation to retain the triple A designation from both Moody's Investors Service and Standard & Poor's Corporation.

In assigning its rating, Moody's noted Maryland's strong financial position, the state's record of financial responsibility and control of debt. The state was also praised for its broadbased economy and revenue structure and for its leadership in state accounting innovations.

"This is a very good result for our bond sale, and reflects the confidence of both the rating agencies and investors in our management of Maryland's finances," said Governor Schaefer.

"This low rate is important to every taxpaper in Maryland because both state real estate tax revenues and general fund revenues are used to repay the principal and interest costs of Maryland's general obligation bonds. Continued low interest rates for bond sales and control of Maryland's debt are two reasons why the Board was able to retain the state real estate tax rate at 21¢ per $100 of assessed value for the eighth year in a row," Goldstein said.

"The fact that we received four bids and that the bidding was very close indicates the great interest in Maryland's quality bonds," said Maurer. "The syndicate that won the bid was exceptionally large, and includes banks and bond dealers from across the country, a further indication that we have a quality product."

Proceeds from the bond sale will be used as follows: $51,200,000 for general state construction, $9,000,000 for public school construction and $19,800,000 for a variety of state and local projects, including community colleges, water quality projects and local jail facilities.

SHA Claims Litterbugs Commit Highway Robbery

Motorists who littered Maryland highways last year robbed state taxpayers of $2,900,000. That was the cost of picking up trash from state roads in fiscal 1987, according to the State Highway Administration (SHA).

The money drained from the SHA budget could have been spent on highway projects of more lasting benefit to state residents; instead it had to be used to rid state routes of litter, the SHA said. The problem is growing: since 1983, this expense has nearly tripled.

The task of keeping state roads litter-free requires 200 full-time employees year-round, which translates to 370,000 manhours each year, said Steve Jones, SHA's assistant bureau chief in the Bureau of Highway Maintenance. "We need to make people realize that littering really does have an effect," he said. "We are spending too much money and effort picking up trash."

Cans, bottles, and paper are the most common articles left on highways. They are removed not only for aesthetics, but for considerations of safety as well. Paper may be blown about by the wind and distract a motorist or obscure his vision, possibly causing an accident. Discarded cans and bottles are a serious problem when maintenance crews mow roadsides. They can be swept up by mower blades and hurled toward highway traffic, sometimes damaging vehicles or injuring motorists.

Litterbugs are not the only culprits stealing highway maintenance money. People who fancy themselves as "artists" paint and scrawl messages on Maryland's bridges and road signs which must be removed by the State Highway Administration, Jones said. Highway crews sandblast or paint the offending messages as quickly as possible to discourage the practice.

To further combat the problem, SHA has begun to use new graffiti-proof compounds on noise barriers. After a wall is treated with one of these compounds, most paints or inks will not adhere to it. Those that do can be easily removed.

Another weapon in the fight against this "highway robbery" is a 1987 amendment to the state Litter Control Law that resulted in the raising of the maximum fine that can be imposed on those caught littering from $250 to $1,000.

Motorists can help to keep the Free State litter free by carrying litter containers in their cars, using ashtrays, and disposing of all trash in proper receptacles, Jones concluded.

Listening Team Established For Hospice Workers

Hospice of Garrett County, Inc. held its bi-montly covered dish dinner Thursday, April 21, at St. Peter's Catholic Church Social Hall, Oakland.

Ruth Beitzel, M.S., coordinator of education and training for mental health, Garrett County Health Department, spoke on "Utilizing the Listening Team". The Listening Team is a newly-created team to provide the volunteers a confidential "ear" with whom they can share emotions as they care for their hopsice patients.

Mrs. Beitzel compared an individual's stress level to a basket, with each incidence of stress being an object in the basket. Eventually the basket is filled to overflowing if the stressful situations or emotions are not dealt with and resolved, she said.

"Hospice volunteers are givers" explained Mrs. Beitzel. "You give of your time and of yourselves — you become emotionally involved with your hospice patient and families. Each of you needs to deal with your feelings of grief and loss — you need to 'unload' your basket."

Director of Hospice Volunteers, Sharon King, explained that when a volunteer is assigned to a patient, two listeners will be assigned to the volunteer. The listeners will be available seven days a week, 24-hours a day, should the volunteers need an "ear". The listeners are volunteers such as doctors, nurses, and ministers from both the northern and southern area of Garrett County who are involved with hospice.

YOU'RE WELL EQUIPPED TO DETECT A GAS LEAK.

Fortunately, natural gas leaks are rare. But if one should occur, you have everything it takes to spot the telltale signs . . . the ability to see, hear and smell.

INSIDE
The most obvious sign is the smell. Natural gas by itself usually is odorless, so gas companies add a distinctive odor to gas.
If you smell this telltale odor in your home, don't use matches, electrical switches or appliances. Leave the house immediately, then call the gas company from a neighbor's home or pay telephone. Remain near your home until a gas company representative arrives and checks the cause of the odor.

OUTSIDE
You may detect a natural gas leak anywhere gas lines or facilities are located. Sometimes, the sign may be the odor. But in rural areas, natural gas pipelines may contain non-odorized gas. A leak of non-scented gas means little or no odor will be present. So count on your other senses as well.

Look or listen for these signs. Anywhere a gas line is located, a leak may cause:
- a blowing or hissing sound
- dirt being blown into the air
- water bubbling or being blown into the air at a pond, creek or river
- brown patches in vegetation on or near a gas line right-of-way
- fire coming from the ground or burning above it

If you detect any sign of a leak, follow these steps quickly: 1) shut down any motorized equipment or other sources of ignition in use; 2) leave the area at once, and warn others to stay away; and 3) find a telephone away from the area to call the gas company, and the fire and police departments. DO NOT try to extinguish a gas fire or operate any pipeline valves.

Chances are you'll never need to recognize a natural gas leak. But just in case, we think it's important for you to be able to detect signs of trouble. Together, we'll keep natural gas service safe and efficient.

Actresses from two soaps share a vague resemblance

By Kimberly Redmond

I am amazed at how much Tracey E. Bregman Recht (Lauren Williams) of "The Young and the Restless" and Sandi Ferguson (Amanda Cory) of "Another World" resemble each other. Are they related? – D.T., Millington, Tenn.

Tracey E. Bregman Recht

Despite a slight resemblance, Bregman Recht and Ferguson are not related.

My friend insists that Jeff (Robert Lipton) and Annie Ward (Mary Lynn Blanks) on "As the World Turns," were parents of quintuplets, but I say they had quadruplets. Which one of us is correct? – K.S., Monroe, La.

You are, K.S. Jeff and Annie had quadruplets: David, Joshua, Rachel and Ariana. They were portrayed by real-life quads Lowell, Gregory, Nancy and Maria Goldman.

Robert Lipton

I'm furious that "Another World" is no longer shown in my area. What can I do about it? – J.R., Dixon, Ca.

It sounds like your local station elected not to air "AW" any longer. If this is so, write to the station manager to voice your objection.

Several months ago on "Guiding Light," there was an actor who played the part of Kaz, a man who died of heart disease. I'm sure that I saw the same actor portraying a different role on the show many years ago. Can you tell me if this is so? – L.G., Memphis, Tenn.

You have a good eye, L.G. The actor who played Kaz was Philip Sterling, who also portrayed Sid Harper from 1952-54, and George Hayes from 1963-68.

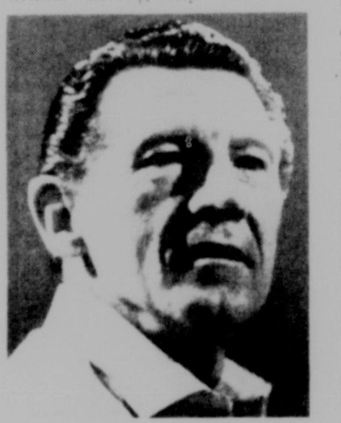
Put aside your snobbery and rock with Showtime

By Connie Passalacqua

Are you a rock 'n' roll oldies purist? Did you spend seventh grade paying more attention to your lists of the radio's top 20 than you did to your teachers? Years later, do you still feel the greatest song ever written is "Whole Lotta Shakin' Goin' On"? Did it infuriate you that a group calling itself the Platters on a Red Lobster commercial was made up of mere replacements? Then you'll certainly thumb your nose at Showtime's "Classic Rock 'n' Roll Reunion" airing May 9 and 14.



Jerry Lee Lewis

If you fit this description, there's plenty to pick on in this show, which was taped at New York's Ritz nightclub. The original Danny of Danny and the Juniors committed suicide several years ago, so of course, that's not the real Danny singing "At the Hop." And yes, that's one of the many groups on the oldies circuit calling itself "The Shirelles" who sing hits like "Dedicated to the One I Love." Bogus, bogus, bogus.

But if you don't care about the little details, or you can loosen up enough to have a good time, then the show is not bad. The audience, consisting of graying hippies and career women who have opted for poodle skirts for the evening, seem to be enjoying themselves. Like them, loosen up and dance.

Probably the most difficult part about oldies shows is seeing all the stars who have aged since their heyday. Lesley Gore might be singing teen songs like "It's My Party," but she is very much into her 40s. Several men have pot bellies, and the women don't look so sleek anymore in their spangled gowns. But, hey, haven't we all gotten older? What's the use of chiding the show's host, deejay "Cousin" Brucie Morrow for needing a toupee, when we might need one ourselves?

Still, there are lots of good performances here. Jerry Lee Lewis does "Great Balls of Fire," and Gary U.S. Bonds sounds uncannily like his juke box incarnation in "Quarter to Three" and "This Little Girl is Mine." Ben E. King sounds great in "Stand by Me," made a hit again by Rob Reiner's movie. So a rotund Lou Christie can't quite hit the high notes in "Lightning Strikes" anymore. No one stays sweet little 16 forever.

In the CBS adaptation of Herman Wouk's "The Caine Mutiny Court-Martial," Brad Davis plays Queeg, the captain who is forced to give up the helm of his ship. The drama airs Sunday, May 8.

Bette Davis: A 'Cosby' role?; Who will play Von Bulow?

By Cindy Adams

Bette Davis wants a shot on "Cosby," her favorite show. She says: "He only has to come up with a good part for a crazy old dame."... Speaking of good parts, Lillian Gish turned down an NBC series. "Too much work." Plus a "Falcon Crest" role. "The woman's too old. She's in her 80s." Gish's passport lists her as born in 1899.

Bette Davis

NY's Bloomie's had a Hooray-for-Hollywood party, where Jaclyn Smith discussed this week's miniseries of Robert Ludlum's "The Bourne Identity": "It's violent. Lots of physicality. No makeup. A departure for me." Jane Seymour in bouffant white talked of her recent TV Duchess of Windsor role: "I had three days to read everything I could get my hands on about her." Joan Rivers was excited about replacing Linda Lavin in "Broadway Bound." Brooke Shields in long black velvet and long brown Shirley Temple curls: "I did these myself. With a curling iron." In red satin came Valerie Harper: "I'm checking on a Broadway show. My husband will co-produce." Martin Scorsese talked about his film with Woody Allen. Lauren Hutton said she's taking it easy. "I'm trying not to work. I want to enjoy it." Fawn Hall promised me she'll be "going on the air."

Claus Von Bulow

Werner Klemperer wants to play Claus Von Bulow in the movie. Claus' ex-mistress Andrea Reynolds says Claus' speech is decidedly English. She likes Sean Connery. Maybe Robert Duvall. Also maybe Max Von Sydow. Werner and I had a hot booth at N.Y.'s Russian Tea Room. As we slid out, a couple who'd been standing in the rear slid in. Charles Bronson and Jill Ireland.

This 'Strangers' actor has an unusual collecting passion

By Toni D'Amato

I'd like to know something about Bronson Pinchot ("Perfect Strangers"), including how tall he is and where to write to him. – N.S., Portland, Maine.

Bronson Pinchot

Pinchot, who plays Balki Bartokomous in "Perfect Strangers," is 5 feet 9 inches tall.

Pinchot broke into films with "Risky Business" (1983). His other films include "The Flamingo Kid" (1984) and "Beverly Hills Cop" (1984). He portrayed Serge, the art-gallery clerk, in the latter film.

When he's not working, Pinchot has an unusual hobby – collecting 18th- and 19th-century painted Scandinavian furniture. Write to him in care of "Perfect Strangers," Lorimar Telepictures Productions, 3970 Overland Ave., Culver City, CA 90230.

Where can I write to Mickey Rooney? – D.P., Vancouver, British Columbia.

Send mail to Rooney in care of Michael Levine Public Relations, 8730 Sunset Blvd., 6th Floor, Los Angeles, CA 90069.

Please give us a brief bio of Bert Lahr, who played the lion in "The Wizard of Oz." – R.A.S., Milwaukee, Wis.

Perhaps best known for the role you mention, Lahr began his film work in 1931 with "Flying High." His career included "Meet the People" (1944) and "The Night They Raided Minsky's," which was released in 1968, a year after Lahr died.

Lahr was born Aug. 13, 1895. His first marriage was to Mercedes Delpino in 1937. It was annulled in 1939, after they had a son, Herbert. Lahr married Mildred Schroader in 1940. They had two children, John and Jane.

Was the man who starred in "Wagon Train" the same man who starred in "Emergency"? – M.A.D., Elko, Nev.

Robert Horton played Flint McCullough in "Wagon Train." Robert Fuller portrayed Dr. Kelly Brackett in "Emergency."

BEHIND THE SCENES

Sitcom mom Joanna Kerns has plans to keep busy

By Frank Lovece

Not only has Joanna Kerns, who plays supermom Maggie Seaver on ABC's "Growing Pains," already written an episode of the show (which airs Wednesdays), but she's directing one next season and, right now, is filming a TV-movie in which she is not only the star but the executive producer. "I've always been a worker," she explains.

Joanna Kerns

"Growing Pains" is one of those TV quirks, quietly rolling along without the critical kudos of a "Cheers" or a "Wonder Years." "Someone once wrote that we were the Rodney Dangerfield of TV shows," laughs Kerns. "We get no respect, but people still like us.

"I'm proud of 'Growing Pains,'" she says. "We deal with small stories about family life that seem insignificant unless you have a family yourself. Then these same things become big stories. I get letters from parents thanking us for what we show. If you can get responses like that, you're doing responsible TV."

Family life is something Kerns knows about. Divorced after 10 years from TV-commercial producer/director Dick Kerns, she's raising an 8-year-old daughter. And she knows intense sibling rivalry first-hand from a long, stormy and eventually conciliatory relationship with her sister, Olympic gold medalist Donna de Varona.

One of Kerns' first roles was as a sportscaster on "The Mary Tyler Moore Show," a role that almost drove a permanent wedge between the sisters. Now, on "Growing Pains," Maggie Seaver has switched from journalist to newscaster. "They said journalists weren't visual enough," she explains.

Kerns is keeping busy. Her CBS movie, "Murder for Tommy," is in the works, and she has written two scripts, one about Olympic swimmers and the other about step-parenting. "I still remember vividly being a struggling actress," she says. "Not a starving actress, since my ex-husband and I always managed to find work, but struggling and having to put up with that constant actors' blow to your self-esteem.

"Now," she says, "I'm going to work as much as possible!"

Middle School Students Travel To Antietam

The Northern Garrett County Middle School Student Council sponsored a trip to the Antietam Battlefield Park, Sharpsburg, on April 15.

At Antietam, students had the opportunity to view exhibits of Civil War paintings, photographs and memorabilia. Students were also given an 11-mile tour of significant sites throughout the battlefield. The tour was led by Thomas Clemens, a professor at Hagerstown Junior College.

The battle of Antietam is known as the "bloodiest day in American history," as 23,000 Americans were killed, wounded, or missing on September 17, 1862, nearly 14,000, more than D-Day in 1944. The battlefield appears today in nearly the same condition as it existed 125 years ago.

Concerned citizens and organizations are raising money to help preserve the battlefield. There is a group of developers who want to build a shopping mall in the middle of this historic site.

The Northern Middle School Student Council has raised $100 to help in this preservation effort. Anyone seeking more information about this cause may contact the Northern Middle School Student Council.

Ms. Pollard Speaks To Voters League

The League of Women Voters of Garrett County held its annual meeting at the Silver Tree Inn, Deep Creek Lake, April 23, with Patty Pollard as the guest speaker. The dinner meeting was attended by 35 members and guests.

Leo O'Neil introduced Ms. Pollard, of Baltimore City, who is the state education chairperson for the League. She reported on a state study that was undertaken this year by the League of Women Voters.

Ms. Pollard listed the following considerations needed for quality education: the appropriateness of curriculum, quality, quantity of material and supplies, and the quality of teachers. Stating that the last is especially important. "Teachers need to be able to set these goals for themselves: adequate salary, the opportunity for professional growth or development, and the potential for leadership and recognition," she said.

National reports in recent years state that the most effective way of improving the education of a student is to improve the quality of teaching, she noted. "To attract and attain high quality educators, we need to change the structure and role of teaching," she said.

Ms. Pollard said Maryland is the fifth wealthiest state in the nation, but ranks 38th in contributions toward education. Teachers' salaries in Garrett County (especially mid-career teachers) are among the lowest in the state. Garrett County has the least amount of money allotted to education.

To help combat this problem, she suggested that a more active role in the legislature may influence what funds are given toward a quality education. "Experienced teachers in the classrooms should be those who design the curriculums and texts," she said. "Test scores in math and writing have increased in recent years in Garrett County, but we need to recognize schools and teachers in this accomplishment."

Other points of interest discussed at the business meeting included adoption of the budget for 1988-89, reports by committee chairpersons, and introduction of the League's board members for 1988-89. The meeting was led by Barbara Flinn.

Kin Of Vietnam Casualties Sought

The Maryland State Vietnam Veteran's Memorial Commission is seeking to identify the immediate next-of-kin and family members of all Marylanders who were killed-in-action, died of wounds received, as a direct result of Vietnam conflict, or remain missing-in-action in Vietnam.

Governor William Donald Schaefer has stated, that "... it is necessary to contact families of these valiant men who gave the last measure of sacrifice in the service of our country and also to insure that the families of these men and the families of those who remain missing-in-action are a vital part of the memorial dedication."

Next-of-kin and other family members are urged to write to the Maryland Vietnam Veteran's Memorial Commission, 118 North Howard Street, Suite 702, Baltimore, MD 21201 and provide the Commission the following information: full name of veteran, the veteran's branch of service, home address at the time of death or when declared as missing-in-action, and the next-of-kin's full name, address and family relationship to deceased or missing veteran.

There are 984 Maryland men known to have been killed or who died as a direct result of the hostilities. There are 32 men currently on record with the Department of Defense who remain listed as missing-in-action.

SPECIAL OPEN HOUSE SLATED — The Red House PTA is planning an open house in honor of Dorothy Spaid, pictured right, and Irene Sigel, left, on Sunday, May 15, from 2-4 p.m. in the school cafeteria. Mrs. Spaid taught at Red House for 27 years, 13 of which were spent as principal of the school. Ms. Sigel taught at Red House for 16 years. Both are now involved with the Chapter I program in Garrett County. Former students with a special memory of something that took place in either Mrs. Spaid's or Ms. Sigel's classes are encouraged by Gary Galloway, principal, to make note of them and send them to the school for inclusion in a "Book of Memories". Card trees will be set up at the reception. Cards and notes received will also become a part of the memory book.

Settlement Noted In Injury Case

A case arising from a motor vehicle collision and which was scheduled for a jury trial on Wednesday, April 27, in the Garrett County Circuit Court was settled out of court. According to the claimant's attorney, Paul C. Sullivan, the claim of Karl A. Hamrick, Mtn. Lake Park, was settled last Friday with Brethren Mutual Insurance Company for an undisclosed amount.

According to documents filed in the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Hamrick was operating his 1977 Chevrolet Vega south on Baltimore Avenue in Mtn. Lake Park when Jeffrey Glen Hinebaugh backed from a private driveway in the path of Hamrick. The 1984 Chevrolet operated by Hinebaugh was owned by Shirley Ann Severe, also of Mtn. Lake Park. Hinebaugh and Severe were represented by Hugh A. McMullen of Cumberland.

Hamrick was treated at Garrett County Memorial Hospital and transferred to West Virginia University Medical Center, having sustained neck, left shoulder and back injuries. Hamrick claimed a permanent earning capacity for which there was a recovery. As the case was settled favorably to the claimant, the defendants are required to pay the costs of the proceedings in addition to the settlement amount to Hamrick.

Summer Jobs For Youth Effort Is Announced

Governor William Donald Schaefer has kicked off the 1988 Maryland Summer Jobs for youth campaign to provide summer jobs for Maryland students.

At a luncheon last week at the Radisson Annapolis Hotel attended by local elected officials, state and local government officials, and leading employers throughout the state, Governor Schaefer encouraged the private and public sectors to work together in this year's campaign by assisting the efforts of local communities in finding jobs for all students who want and need to work and all employers who need summer workers.

Introducing the theme "Be an investor in Maryland's Tomorrow," Schaefer said, "Maryland Summer is one effort which can help prepare our young people, particularly at-risk youth, for the future through work experience during the summer months." He asked the private sector employers to "invest in the future by providing a summer job opportunity today."

"Maryland Summer is the first step in our year-round program called Maryland's Tomorrow which will help ensure today's youth will have the skills they will need to be productive members of Maryland's work force in the future," Governor Schaefer explained.

Last year, Maryland Summer enabled more than 13,000 Maryland youths to be employed. This year the program will not only provide private sector jobs for youth, but will offer remedial education in basic skills, and provide job readiness activities for those youths who need to build their employability skills.

Schaefer stressed that young people need summer jobs, not only to satisfy their immediate financial needs, but also to build a sense of responsibility through the experience of working.

J. Henry Butta, vice president of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company and chairman of the Governor's Employment and Training Council, is serving as chairman of the campaign. He urged the business leaders in attendance to find places for young people this summer and to encourage their fellow colleagues to do the same.

David W. Hornbeck, Maryland State Superintendent of Schools, emphasized the need to address the problem of at-risk youth. An estimated 15,000 young people in Maryland drop out of school each year, jeopardizing their chances of becoming productive citizens in the future. He explained the Maryland's Tomorrow program and how it will work in conjunction with Maryland Summer.

J. Randall Evans, Maryland secretary of economic and employment development, said that Maryland's economic stability is dependent on a strong, well-trained work force and that part of that training can be realized through summer employment. As further encouragement, he said, "Maryland employers throughout the state will be solicited by mail to participate in this year's campaign."

Employers and students seeking information about the campaign should call toll-free 1-800-422-JOBS.

Margaret Beadle County Winner In Writing Contest

Garrett County's winning entrant of the "Why Maryland Is Beautiful To Me" Senior Citizens Creative Writing Contest is Margaret Beadle, Accident, according to the Garrett County Area Agency on Aging.

Mrs. Beadle was born in Coventry, Warwickshire, England. She has resided in Maryland since 1961 and has lived in Garrett County for the past five years.

Speaking of Western Maryland, Mrs. Beadle writes, "I grew to admire the sturdy and independent people who lived through harsh winters and lovely cool summers. Over the years, before and after Revolutionery times, the Lutherans, the Amish and Mennonites and others, had hewn out of the wilderness an area of peace and friendliness. It pleased my sense of history that George Washington had peacefully surveyed up here in the mountains, as well as being militarily involved with, perhaps, some ancestor of mine.

"When my husband died it seemed a natural transition to move from Annapolis to Accident. Here I lead a quiet and peaceful life. I raise a few sheep and enjoy the friendliness of my neighbors. What does Maryland mean to me? Everything! I would not willingly live anywhere else on this earth."

Mrs. Beadle has a small sheep farm which keeps her busy. She is also interested in politics, the welfare of children and animals, and enjoys reading and knitting. Beadle will represent Garrett County at the "Maryland You Are Beautiful" Ceremonial Luncheon on May 24 in Annapolis.

Second and third place winners of the contest are Reah Phillips, Kitzmiller, and Phil Garman, Swanton, respectively.

Ninth Graders Score Well On Writing Test

High school students in Maryland have shown dramatic improvement in their ability to write, according to results of tests given in January to ninth grade students throughout the state.

The pass rate for ninth graders taking the Maryland Functional Writing Test, one of four basic competency tests that must be passed to graduate from high school, rose sharply this year.

More than 40,000 of the 48,759 students, who took the January writing test passed — 82.2 percent. The pass rate for ninth graders taking the test last year was 67.1 percent.

Tenth grade students who failed the test last year were required to try again in January. Among tenth grade students taking the test for the second time, 70.2 percent passed — 10,921 out of 15,554. Among 11th grade students, taking the test a third time, 74.2 percent passed — 5,771 out of 7,777.

The pass rate for ninth graders in 1986 was 68.5 percent and in 1987 jumped to 67.1 percent when the testing date was moved up in the school year from May to January.

Students who failed the test as ninth graders have received special attention from their teachers and from school administrators who have stressed development of writing skills in all classes, not just those relating to language.

Commenting on the results of the writing test, David W. Hornbeck, state superintendent of schools, said, "Teachers, principals, and supervisors in the state have put in a lot of hard work to develop student writing ability since the introduction of the Maryland Writing Test. We have had confidence these efforts would come to fruition over time. It is gratifying to see the positive effects in this year's test results."

Hornbeck said that one of the most effective techniques for developing student writing skills was the concept of "writing across the curriculum" — a teaching process that requires students to write in each of the courses they take.

Hornbeck added that the development of better writing abilities among students in Maryland is directly related to an improvement in their overall thinking skills. There are no direct measurements for thinking ability but, he pointed out, Maryland students have done better recenty on national scholastic measurement tests such as the Scholastic Aptitute Test and the California Achievement Test.

Student performance on the Scholastic Aptitute Test has raised the state average from ninth position among the 50 states in 1982 to third in 1987.

Teachers were supported in developing student writing skills through special training sessions at the state and local levels and by a new Department of Education publication focused on teaching students to write.

Hornbeck said both students and teachers have taken the writing test very seriously. He commended the English Language Arts Supervisors for their "constant commitment" to the development of writing proficiency and said of the students:

"I am especially pleased that the students have become aware of the importance of writing. They should be proud of their test results," he said.

The Maryland Functional Writing Test came in for sharp criticism when first administered as a condition for high school graduation.

The Department postponed for two years the effective date for making the test a requirement for graduation. As a result, the class of 1989 will be the first required to meet all four competency standards established for graduation.

To assure that the test was both fair and an effective measure of student writing abilities, the board convened a panel of national writing experts to review the test and retained the Educational Testing Service in Princeton, N.J., to recommend ways of improving both the teaching and the testing of student writing.

In a letter to Hornbeck last week, Gregory R. Anrig, president of the Educational Testing Service, said that recent refinements in the Maryland Functional Writing Test have made it a "state of the art" test of writing skills.

"The Maryland Department of Education is to be commended for making a substantial contribution to the assessment of writing," Anrig wrote.

Educational Testing Service made seven specific recommendations in 1986 to improve the writing test, including the establishment of a task force of teachers and administrators to help clarify the definition of "Functional Writing" and the goals of the test.

That task force was set up in the fall of 1986.

Other recommendations included improved scoring procedures, more research on test validity and reliability, re-evaluation of students who failed the test, and improved procedures for test administration and security.

All of these recommendations were followed by the Department.

Northern Middle Student Officers Attend Convention

Seven students and three teachers from Northern Middle School attended the Maryland Association of Student Councils annual state convention April 21-23. The convention was held at the Ramada Inn in Hagerstown and was co-sponsored by Northern Washington County middle and high schools.

Those students in attendance from Northern Middle were Audra Speicher, Jon Houser, Sally Shaulis, Carla DeWitt, Paul Edwards, and Stephanie Shaulis. All of these students are either present local officers or have been elected to serve for the 1988-1989 school year. The students were accompanied by Mrs. Linda Youmans, Jeff Jackson, and Carol Shaulis, Student Council advisor.

The students participated in various learning and recreational activities. They saw presentations on topics such as self-esteem and peer pressure. They also attended two dances.

Two students, Audra Speicher and Sally Shaulis, presented speeches to the over 1,000 delegates in attendance.

Board Of Public Works Approves DNR Contracts

The Board of Public Works approved Department of Natural Resources (DNR) contracts totalling $249,473.59 at its meeting held Wednesday, April 27, in the State Capitol in Annapolis.

Two of the contracts, worth $178,402, are for new construction; three are additional funds for existing construction projects, totalling $60,357.65, and three involve property conveyances to the state costing $30,266.

Among the revised contracts is one awarded to Frederick Ward Associates, Inc., of Bel Air, who will receive an additional $11,480 to obtain necessary field survey information to design the renovation of water and sewer systems at New Germany State Park in Garrett County. Originally, the work was scheduled to be provided by DNR's Capital Programs Administration, but current workload priorities precluded the State Survey Party from obtaining the required surveys.

RED HOUSE TALENT WINNERS — The Red House Elementary School recently held a talent show to select its representatives for the Garrett County Council of PTA's competition. From a group of 12 performers, judges selected two winners and an alternate. Pictured front is Chasity Rodeheaver, who was selected as an alternate for her piano solo. Back left is Kista Brown, second place winner for a piano solo, and back right is Holly Stoner, first place winner, for her vocal rendition of "Applejack".

"I Want To Talk With The Superintendent!"

From time to time those seven words send shivers of anxiety into whomever in this office may hear them, for, depending upon their emotional resonance, someone is probably not pleased with the state of our public schools. Likely as not, the subject of that emotion is a concern stemming from the basic educational relationship of teacher and student.

Although one might feel flattered that someone out there has gone to the trouble of contacting the superintendent's office, the more practical reaction is to listen — closely. By the time the other party has had their full say, the inevitable question is, "Have you talked with the teacher?" It's surprising to hear so many respond in the negative.

The above question, however, is not asked in an attempt to avoid being caught up in the concern. It is asked because, in most situations, the real solution to student problems does not lie with the superintendent, the Board of Education, the school building administrator, or any other person who is remotely related to the classroom — it lies with the person who has committed himself/herself to initimately knowing the student over 180 days of a school year — the teacher.

As we all know, the teacher lies at the heart of the teaching-learning process. It is the teacher who is responsible for planning instruction daily, is responsible for delivering that instruction regardless of a myriad number of interferences, is responsible for assessing the success, or failure, of his/her teaching efforts, and as a consequence, oftentimes wistfully watches the fruit of that year's labor walk out the classroom door the last day of school (most probably, never to return).

Yet, somehow, we often tend to lose sight of the fact that when all of the talking is over with the superintendent, or the Board member, or the building administrator the essence of the educational relationship remains with that teacher who is dedicating all of his/her professional energies to the young people in his/her classroom. That dedication is exhibited by the many teachers who are found working in their classrooms during their summer vacation, the language arts teachers who have to grade as many as 150 written essays at least once or twice a week, the fourth grade teachers who accompany their classes on a 16-hour field trip to our state capital, the foreign language teacher who initiates and carries out student exchanges with other countries, those teachers who serve many "extra-duty" hours as coaches, band directors, drama teachers, and, not last nor least, the teacher who sees to it that the less than fortunate youngster has enough money for lunch.

We live in a county blessed with natural resources, the most valuable of which are the young boys and girls in our schools. The job of developing these resources is a responsibility for all of us. Although one might want to think that some one person, like the Superintendent of Schools, is the primary player on the school scene, the basic fact remains that only the teacher can make the real difference which will ultimately nurture these resources.

Northern High Students Design, Construct, Furnish, Decorate, And Market A Dream

"It was a dream, and now our dream has become a reality," says Jeff Montgomery, carpentry teacher at Northern High School. This year, the students and teachers of many classes have come together, using the various skills of their vocational and academic disciplines, to take a challenging and educationally fulfilling project — the design, construction, furnishing, decorating, and marketing of a fully functioning house.

Designed to be a starter bungalow for a young married couple, a home for a retired man and wife, a hunting lodge, an artists get-away place, or a vacation retreat, it represents years of dreaming and months of hard work by Northern High School's classes in carpentry, industrial arts, residential wiring, home economics, retail marketing and even an English class whose members drafted this article.

OPEN HOUSE

The qualities of this attractive little home, which make it competitive in the real estate market, may be judged by the public during an open house showing on May 14, from 5-9 p.m. and on May 15, from 2-4 p.m. The open house is located behind the main high school in the vocational shop building area. A door prize will be awarded, and bids to purchase the house will be accepted both days and through May 21. Bid forms, created by marketing students, Jerry Schlossnagle and Tina Platter, will be available to realtors or members of the general public who may be interested in becoming the new owner of the project.

Everyone interested in the house or in the vocational curriculum at Northern High is cordially invited to attend the weekend open house. Faculty and students welcome your evaluation of their work, which represents a concerted effort by many people over an extended period of time, and many will be on hand to greet you.

THE HISTORY OF THE PROJECT

The project began several years ago as an idea of Montgomery's. Principal Edward Green reacted positively to the idea, and was enthusiastic about its possibilities. Because of the high school renovation then taking place (1985-1986), and his classes' limited facilities, Montgomery had to put the idea on hold. After making some money on utility buildings and docks, built during the first year at the renovated school (1986-1987), the carpentry students expressed a desire to use the money on a different and more challenging project. Considering this, Mr. Green's approval, and the better facilities provided by the renovated school, Montgomery decided that his students were ready to build a house during the 1987-88 school year.

For research, Montgomery took his students to Big Bear Lake in mid-September to look at its model houses. As a result of studying these homes, the students and their teacher decided upon a tentative design for the home they would build.

The first step of the actual design was a draft of the house layout, which was drawn by Heath Martin under the supervision of drafting teacher Scott Stough.

But before the work could begin, Montgomery realized that the project must have funding for supplies. He met with Dave Beachy of Beachy Lumber during the summer of 1987 and told him about the project and the carpentry program's financial situation. Beachy agreed to supply the lumber and to carry an account for the materials until the house was sold at the end of the school year when the project was completed. Montgomery worked out similar deals with Fratz's, Walt's General Store, Butler Carpeting, and G&W Lumber.

The construction of the house was begun in early October by Carpentry classes I, II, and III. The students worked on the house on every day the weather allowed, and on days when they had to stay inside, Montgomery instructed the class in preparation for the next step in construction.

THE HOUSE AND ITS BUILDERS

The finished bungalow is a one-story building of 14'x34' dimensions. It has two bedrooms, a bathroom, and a combined living room/kitchen/dining area. The house is constructed on cinder blocks and is therefor mobile. It can be transported easily by trailer to any appropriate site.

The frame building was constructed with 2x6 rafters and joists, with 2x4 wall construction and a 6x6 girder, all done by Carpentry II and III classes. Installation of ½" drywall, sheathing and insulation was also done by these students. Carpentry I, II, and III students were responsible for siding and roofing application. Cedar-stained lap siding has been applied to the lower half of the bungalow's exterior, and 7/18" stucco board masonite siding covers the top half. In addition to aluminum soffit and fascia, RAINGO vinyl gutter and downspout have been installed. The gable roof is shingled with No. 275 Gable Roof asphalt shingles. On the inside Carpentry III students have completed the finish work, including hanging, taping, and sanding the drywall, texturing ceilings, plumbing, staining, and painting. Carpet and vinyl flooring was done by Carpentry's II and III classes. The finished product is tightly constructed and energy efficient, with R values of 38 in the ceiling, and 24 in both the floor and walls. These ratings are well above the industry standards.

Students involved in this phase of the construction include members of three carpentry classes. Matt Bach, Dennis Bender, Steve Bittinger, Jeremiah Casteel, Charles Hetz, Matt Hoffman, Leroy Nicol, David Sisler, Jim Thomas, Brock Yommer, and Bill Sines participated in the roofing and siding application. John Bowser, Brian Buckel, Aaron DeWitt, Bill Duckworth, Jon Folk, Ronnie Frazee, Greg Iden, Roy Jenkins, Jeff Rounds, Ron Sabatula, Mike Shelley, Darrell Sisler, Nathan Walker, Craig Weimer, Brent Yoder, and Eric Yommer participated in framing, insulation, door, window, cabinet, drywall, furnace duct, and carpet and vinyl floor covering installation. Members of the Carpentry III class participated in virtually every phase of the construction, took on specialized jobs such as plumbing (Brad Conaway), finish and trim carpentry (Eric Bittner, Bill Burow, and Heath Martin), drywall and texturing (Dave Folk and Dale Guthrie), and handmade doors (Rick Sisler), and were, under the supervision of teacher Jeff Montgomery, responsible for the completion of the whole project.

The bungalow is super insulated and equipped with Peachtree thermopane windows and doors throughout. At the front of the house is a 30" exterior entrance, and a 6'x6'-8" glass patio door in the rear provides a beautiful view and easy access to any backyard area.

Heating is provided by a liquid propane gas furnace with a 64,000 BTU capacity and the water is heated by a Speed-O-Matic water heater.

The approved electrical wiring was installed by Brian Bender, Kenton Bender, and Jason Maust, all students in Harold Trickett's residential wiring class. The house is equipped with 100 ampere service. Additionally, it boasts its own built-in stereo system with an AM/FM tuner and amplifier and speakers mounted in the ceiling.

Home economics students, Lisa Fike, Marci Suter, Lohri Sisler and Roxanne Bender, under the direction of teacher Barbara Law, were involved in the furnishing and decorating of the house. They did the interior design work, wallpapering, and general decorating. Home economics students Regina Smith, Tracy Platter, Tina Platter, Tracy Fazenbaker, Tammy Guthrie, Joy Holliday, Tina Lashbaugh, Gloria Broadwater, Stacy Speicher, Shelly Lindeman, Tammy Miller, and Brenda Michaels made comforters, quilts, and curtains.

The light blue master bedroom, like all parts of the house, has hand-made furniture and/or cabinetry built by industrial arts students under the supervision of teacher Eric Perfetti and by several of Montgomery Carpentry III students. This room has a double bed, built by Tim Dolan, Terry Sines, Dale Fazenbaker, and Bill Duckworth, and a night stand built by Mike Bittinger, Pat Buttorf, and Eric Yommer. The wall closet has solid wood doors handcrafted by Rick Sisler. Added features of the master bedroom include access to lighted storage space, a linen closet, and smoke detector.

The extra bedroom, equipped as a bunk room, is painted a light peach color. The bunk beds with built-in storage drawers were built by Heath Martin, Mike Shelley, Craig Weimer, and Jerry Fike. The room has its own smoke detector and is furnished with quilt, curtains, and night stand.

The bathroom, also painted a light peach color, has a full tub and shower, a standard water closet, a sink area, and a vanity and medicine cabinet built by Bob and Mike Glass.

The kitchen has a Tappan electric range and a double basin sink, built into a cabinet made by Greg Iden, Jamie Mason, and Don Calhoun. Other kitchen cabinets were built by Heath Martin, Bill Burow, Tim Dolan, and Rick Sisler. The solid oak dropleaf kitchen table was made by Iden, Mason, and Dale Fazenbaker. Oak chairs were built by Clint Artice, Phil Beachy, Bill Bishoff, Terry Bittinger, Jerry Durst, Blaine Bowser, Joe Fink, Eric Frantz, John Friend, Wayne Jacques, Phil Kisner, Bob Lancaster, Beverly Miner, Mike Sines, Stacy Speicher, Kevin Taylor, Brian VanSickle, Vicki Yoder, and Kevin Orner.

The livingroom area features a love seat and chair, built by Jon Folk, Kelby Kamp, Dave Fratz, and Steve Brenneman, and upholstered by members of the home economics classes. The solid wood end table was built by Bob Glass, Brad Conaway, and John Durst.

DREAM BECOMES REALITY — It has long been a dream of Northern High School carpentry teacher Jeff Montgomery to coordinate the various vocational and academic disciplines being studied by students, leading to the actual design, construction, furnishing, decorating and marketing of a fully-functional house. His dream became a reality this spring, as scores of enthusiastic students and other faculty members — from carpentry to home economics to English classes — all pitched in to do their part. An open house of the bungalow is slated for May 14-15 and bids will be accepted on the house through May 21.

FUTURE HOMEMAKERS OF AMERICA

HOME ECONOMICS STUDENTS were among those actively involved in the house project at Northern, particularly in the decorating phase of the project. The four students at left working on a scale model are, clockwise, Roxann Bender, Lisa Fike, Lori Sisler, and Marci Suter. Pictured in front working on a comforter are Tammy Guthrie and Tracy Fazenbaker. In the background center are, clockwise, Tina Lashbaugh, Shelley Lindeman, Tracy Platter, Regina Smith and Gloria Broadwater, all assemblying a quilt. In the background at right are Stacey Speicher and Tina Platter working on curtains. Overseeing the work is Barbara Law, home economics teacher, pictured far right.

NO HOUSE IS COMPLETE without wallpaper and furniture. Above, Roxanne Bender and Lisa Fike, from their home economics class, work on the wallpaper as Kelby Kamp, of industrial arts, inspects a chair. At right, Jon Folk and Greg Iden, of Carpentry II, and Bill Burow, Carpentry III, check the fit and finish of the kitchen table.

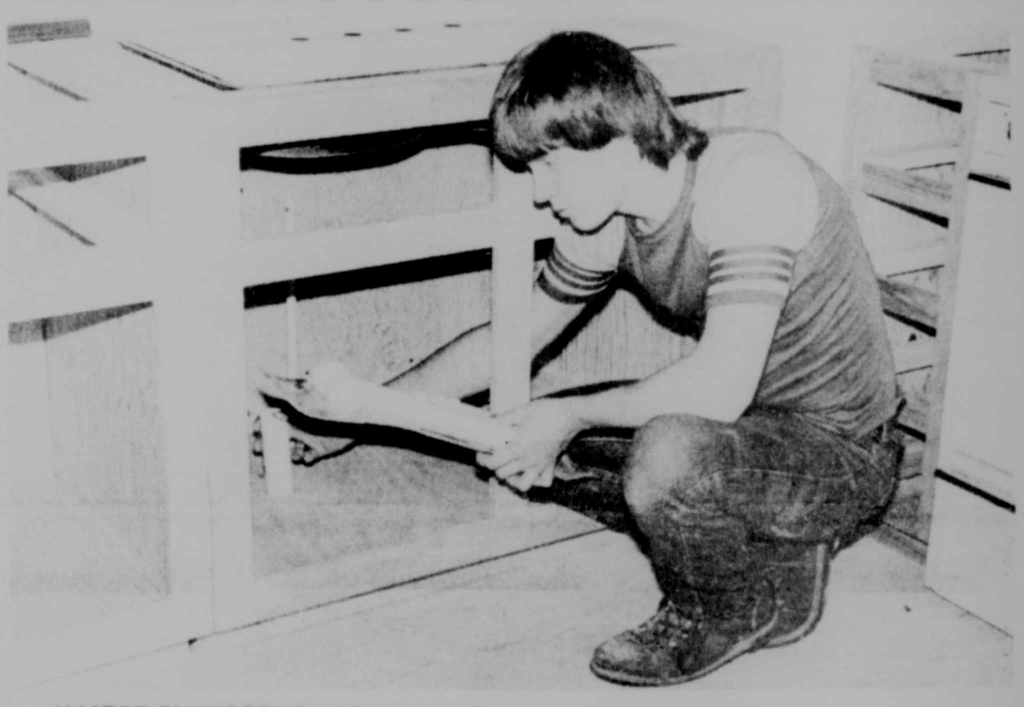
HEAT AND MUSIC ARE ESSENTIAL — Greg Iden installs a heating register, while Bill Burow completes installation of a stereo cabinet he constructed in Carpentry III class.



MASTER PLUMBER? Brad Conaway, a Carpentry III student, checks to see what materials he will need to plumb the kitchen sink. A senior, Brad was responsible for the majority of the plumbing work on the project.

In addition to the actual construction of the house, students at Northern High School have been involved in the promotion and marketing of the project. Typing classes taught by Donetta Nice created a direct mailing to over 60 area realtors and potential customers. Posters advertising the open house were created by marketing teacher Gary Reichenbecher's students Dewayne Noble, Sandy Fazenbaker, Tracy Platter, and Teresa Broadwater. Open house information is being handled by marketing students Sarena Rowe, Crellina McElroy, Peggy Bowser, and Christy Thoman. All financial matters have been organized on computer by Megan Ramsey. English students Alex Hicks, Rodney Frazee, Candy Dolan, Tammy Weimer, Fred Holliday, and others in Dr. Gerry Snelson's class drafted this article.

THE DREAM CONTINUES

It remains only for a few finishing touches, and then the open house, and actual sale of the house to take place. Then what? As proud as he is of this team effort which has united several departments at Northern High School and provided a practical education in a real world application of vocational training, Jeff Montgomery is not one to rest on his laurels. With the help of the school administration and several of his colleagues, he is building a program in his school, and programs depend upon process even more than product. And while this product, which the public is cordially invited to see during the open house May 14-15, is a delightful little bungalow, his current dream takes the shape of a full-sized house, ready for a typical American family to move into and make their home.

A realist, Montgomery knows that another year of building docks and utility buildings will probably be necessary to provide the "seed money." But when financing becomes available, with a classroom full of students he can inspire, he will be ready to start making the rest of his dream come true.

Senior Writing Winners To Be Governor's Guests

In conjunction with Governor William Donald Schaefer's proclaiming May 1988 as "Older Marylanders' Month", winners of the First Annual Statewide Senior Citizens Creative Writing Contest, sponsored by the "Maryland You Are Beautiful" Program and the Maryland Office on Aging have been announced. Governor Schaefer will honor the 24 senior citizen winners, one from each county and Baltimore City on May 24 at 11:30 a.m. during an awards ceremony and luncheon at the Francis Scott Key Auditorium of St. John's College in Annapolis.

Garrett County's winner is Margaret Beadle, Accident (see separate story).

"Seniors from all over the state, from Garrett to Somerset, responded with such enthusiasm to this contest," said Floraine Applefeld, director of the "Maryland You Are Beautiful" Program. "The memories they portrayed and their intimate knowledge of our state's history create images that are part of our heritage as Marylanders." Seniors were encouraged to write on the theme "Why Maryland Is Beautiful To Me" and submit their entries to their local Area Agency on Aging. Adhering to the state guidelines, the counties and Balitmore City coordinated judging and local recognition ceremonies. At the upcoming May 24 statewide awards ceremony the first place winners from each county and the City of Baltimore, their chief elected official and Area Agency on Aging Director, who coordinated the contest, will be entertained by Ms. Senior Maryland, 1988, Cleo Knippenberg of Hagerstown and The Third Time Around Dancers of MAC Inc., Area Agency on Aging in Salisbury, Maryland. A tour of the Governor's Mansion will be offered to the winners and their guests following the awards ceremony.

This contest is among many sponsored by the "Maryland Your Are Beautiful" Program, Governor Schaefer's non-profit, non-budgeted "people pride" program which recognizes positive contributions that citizens have made to their state and fellow Marylanders.

Conference For Forest Managers Slated At WVU

MORGANTOWN, W. VA. — The profitability of the forestry industry in the next century depends on how well the trees growing today are managed. A conference aimed at improving the skills of forest managers and landowners in maintaining the valuable stands of hardwood timber in the Appalachian region will be held May 24-26 at WVU.

"Guidelines for Regenerating Appalachian Hardwood Stands" is sponsored jointly by WVU's Division of Forestry and Cooperative Extension Service, the USDA Forest Service, and the Society of American Foresters.

The meeting will bring together a number of experts on hardwood silviculture, wildlife, and forest industries. Among the speakers are WVU's Kenneth Carvell, a silviculturalist with the Division of Forestry, and Edwin Michael, professor of wildlife management.

Others on the program represent universities from throughout the eastern United States, forest scientists from the Northeast and Southeast Forest Experiment Stations, U.S. Forest Service, and foresters from several private corporations.

All of the work sessions for the conference will be held in the Main Auditorium of the Health Sciences Center (formerly the Medical Center) at WVU. The program will begin at 1 p.m. May 24 and at 8:15 a.m. on May 25 and 26.

For registration information, persons may call William E. Kidd Jr. at (304) 293-4411.

WHY YOU CAN'T CALL ME!

Pretend for a moment that you are selling your home "by owner." You have advertised your home and put a sign in the yard. Let's also say for a moment that I am a potential buyer. I come to your "Open House" and begin asking you questions about your home. To you, I seem interested in buying your home, but end my conversation with "I'll give you a call soon."

Three days, four days, five days pass and I haven't called you. So, you call me.

Before we discuss your call to me, let's make some assumptions. First, if I was not really interested in your home, your call would have no effect on me. But, secondly, if I were interested, your call to me would indicate that you were an anxious seller. Just what I had hoped for. Being interested in your home, I would have taken several days to decide on what price and terms to offer you. Realizing that you were not represented by a real estate company, I would have started by deducting the real estate fee from your asking price. Then I would have waited for your call.

Now, to your call. You say "I was wondering whether you had thought any more about buying my home." To which I answer "Yes, but the price is simply too high." Being put in the position of the anxious seller, you now begin to soften your price. The net result - if I buy your home I will only buy at a bargain price. Your lack of representation left you vulnerable, and I knew it!

If you're planning to sell your home soon and would like information on its current value, give us a call at 387-5303, or come by our office located at McHenry Plaza.

THE 1988 GALAXY PROGRAM this spring at Garrett Community College, in McHenry, had 165 students enrolled in 12 different classes, according to Joan B. Crawford, program coordinator. Because of the success of the program last year and this year, the college plans to make it a regular event each spring, and possibly during the summer. The Saturday morning program offers classes for students of all grade levels and for their parents and other interested adults. Above left, students in the Small Animal Care class learn to feed Jake, the lamb, while Hopper, the rabbit, watches. Students in this class learned about the care and feeding of domestic and farm animals, fish and birds. One Saturday morning they went with instructor Susan Sisler to visit the pet shop. Above right, instructor Bill Pickrel coaches future gymnasts in the Floor Gymnastics class, one of the most popular in the Galaxy Program. Two sections of the class were given, one for kindergarten through second grade students, and one for third through fifth grade students. Below, members of the Basket Weaving class work diligently to construct melon baskets as instructor Nancy Geisler checks their work. During the six weeks of the course, each student made two 10" melon baskets.

Beckman Article Published In Industrial Book

Gary G. Beckman Jr., Pittsburgh, Pa., formerly of Red House, recently had an article published in an industrial textbook, "Programmable Controllers".

Forest Wildlife Habitat Field Day Set For May 14

The Allegheny Mountain Chapter of The Ruffed Grouse Society's Forest Wildlife Habitat Field Day will be held Saturday, May 14, beginning at 9:30 a.m. at the farm of Sonny and Pat Newhall, the 1987 Maryland and Mid-Atlantic States Outstanding Tree Farmers.

The Newhall farm, "Brittany's 'N' Birds" is located on the Fingerboard Road, one and 8/10 mile off the Herrington Manor Road, west of Oakland. Signs will be posted.

The field day will include a walking tour to see completed forestry and wildlife practices and those in progress. Speakers for the day will be Ernest Metz, project forester; Al Bourgeois, wildlife biologist; Mike Rhodes, Western Maryland Fur Trappers' Association; and Chuck Saulers, the Western Mid-Atlantic states representative of The Ruffed Grouse Society.

A topic of discussion will be the Vermont Coverts Project. This is a project to provide sheltering habitat for wildlife (the work covert means a thicket that provides such habitat). This coverts project has been a four-year effort of the University of Vermont developed in cooperation with the Department of Fish and Wildlife, Forests, Parks, and Recreation, and cooperating private woodland owners. The purpose of the project is to improve wildlife habitat through good forest management practices.

The coverts project is intended to show that forest management decisions should be based on two things: the owner's goals and objectives for the land, and the ability of the forest to provide a mix of benefits in proportion to the owner's objectives and interest.

There will be no charge for field day participants, and refreshments will be served. Those attending are responsible for their own lunch. More information can be obtained by calling Sonny Newhall at 301-334-2686.

Herrington Manor Lake To Close For Two Days

The Herrington Manor State Park will be closed to fishing and swimming from 8 a.m. May 17 through 8 a.m. May 19, according to a park spokesman.

During this closure, a limited treatment will be completed in the lake to reduce nuisance weed growth. Left untreated, the lake would soon become choked with water milfoil, the spokesman said, noting that, once this occurs, the lake is no longer desirable for fishing, boating or swimming.

All required permits and approval have been applied for and received by the park from the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, Maryland Fisheries Administration, the Maryland Water Resources Administration and the Maryland Department of Agriculture.

Public cooperation is desired during this official closure, the spokesman said. Persons have questions about the project may call Roger Riley at 301-334-9180.

Bobbi J. Bowser Becomes Bride Of Timothy N. Sisler March 19

Bobbi Jane Bowser and Timothy Nolan Sisler were united in Marriage on March 19 at the Sand Spring Church of God, with the pastor Ron Workman officiating.

Music was provided by Rick Workman and pictures were taken by Jim Eisentrout.

Presented in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a gown of white chiffon, featuring an open sweetheart neckline, fitted waist and long sheer sleeves accented at the wrist with pearls and lace. Her gown was trimmed in Venise lace and pearl accents which fell into a chapel train. Her matching fingertip length headpiece held a veil of silk illusion.

The bride carried a cascading bouquet of white, pink, and hot pink silk roses along with baby's breath and silk beads. All the flowers in the wedding were made by the groom's mother.

Judy Sisler, niece of the bride, served as maid of honor. She wore a pink taffeta gown with pouffed sleeves and matching shoes. She carried a round bouquet similar to that of the brides and she wore a hairpiece of roses.

Katie Sisler, niece of the bride, was the flower girl. She wore a white gown of dotted Swiss with a pink sash, made by her mother, and a halo made of roses in her hair.

Steve Sisler, brother of the groom, served as best man, while Timmie Sisler, nephew of the bride, and Dick Sisler, father of the groom, served as ushers.

Adam Brenneman, nephew of the bride, served as ring bearer. He wore a white tuxedo and carried a heart shaped lace pillow.

The groom, best man and ushers wore dark grey tuxedos with boutonnieres. The groom's was white and the usher's and best man's were pink.

The parents of the bride and groom are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bowser and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sisler, all of Friendsville.

A reception was held at the Friendsville Fire Hall. The wedding cake was baked by Cristy Thomas and the food was served by Goehringer's Deli.

After a honeymoon in Florida, the bride and groom established residence in Friendsville.

Bishop-Hollobaugh Couple United In April 3 Double-Ring Ceremony

Jean (Sharpless) Bishop and Michael Hollobaugh exchanged wedding vows in a double-ring ceremony on Easter Sunday, April 3, at the Terra Alta Town Hall. The ceremony was performed by the groom's uncle, Rev. Lawson Henline.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her brother, James Henderson, Aurora, W.Va. She wore a floor-length white gown of polyester and lace taffeta with a caplet effect, high neckline, V-shaped back and front yokes, and a ribbon sash belt.

She chose a heart-shaped headpiece with simulated pearls, polyester flowers, pouf, blusher and a finger-tip veil. She also wore a bracelet given to her by her late grandmother, Iza Lowers, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Genell Mayle, friend of the couple, was the maid of honor. She wore a silvery-blue gown with a low circular neckline and a white hat accented with a yellow ribbon. She carried a bouquet of yellow daisies.

Flower girls were Stephanie Hollobaugh and Sherry Hutzel, daughters of the couple. They wore white flared dresses with blue flower-print skirts and a rose pin at the collar. They wore white bonnets with white net ribbons and carried bouquets of bright colored mixed flowers accented with a white rabbit.

The groom wore a three-piece navy blue suit, a light blue shirt, striped tie, and a white carnation boutonniere.

Robert Hollobaugh served as his brother's best man. He wore a brown suit and yellow shirt with a striped tie and a light blue carnation.

Jamie Hutzel, son of the bride, served as usher and attendant. He wore a gray suit with a white shirt, striped tie and a light blue carnation.

Adam Hollobaugh, son of the groom, was the ring bearer. He wore a gray suit, and light blue shirt with a striped tie and light blue carnation. He carried both rings in a velvet-lined jeweler's box.

During the ceremony, the groom presented his mother with a pink carnation corsage. He also performed a song, "The Only One", which he wrote for the bride.

A reception was held following the ceremony. Judy Henderson, sister-in-law of the bride; Trish Miller, friend of the couple; and Jennifer Sharpless, sister of the bride prepared and served the refreshments.

The bridal bouquet was caught by the groom's mother, Janet Hollobaugh. Arthur (Festus) Sines, friend of the couple, caught the garter belt.

Following a honeymoon to the East Coast, the couple took up residence in Eglon, W.Va. Both are employed as Health Service Workers at Hopemont Hospital, Terra Alta, W.Va.

We're Hear To Help

by Pamela A. Martin, CCCA

WITHOUT WARNING

It is not uncommon for a person to experience sudden deafness. This problem usually manifests itself only in one ear. While doctors are not totally sure of the reasons behind its happening, there is general agreement that a person with sudden deafness syndrome should seek help immediately. There are indications that sudden deafness may be due to a blockage of the blood vessel that feeds the inner ear. The restricted blood flow may be due to a blood clot or a viral infection. In either case, if normal blood flow is not restored in time, a permanent hearing loss could result. Without proper treatment, the prognosis is not good.

At ALLEGANY HEARING & SPEECH ASSOCIATES you will find the hearing instruments that may make the difference in the way you hear. We have the latest that technology has to offer along with the experienced staff that takes the time to insure a proper and comfortable fit. We know our hearing instruments will be an idea that will "sound great" to you.

The danger in decreased blood flow to the inner ear lies in a deprivation of nourishing oxygen.

ACR Non-Grazing Period Announced

William F. DeWitt, chairperson of the Garrett County ASC Committee, reminds all county producers that the haying and grazing period on acreage conservation reserve (ACR) and conservation use (CU) acreage for payment closed April 30. Farmers participating in the 1988 farm programs are not authorized to hay and/or graze these acres between May 1 and September 30.

Under the wheat and feed grain acreage reduction programs, ACR, or idled cropland, cannot be harvested or grazed during the five principal growing months. DeWitt said program participants who fail to comply with harvesting or grazing restrictions could lose program benefits.

To qualify for full program benefits, DeWitt said producers are required to maintain their ACR and CU land in accordance with acreage reduction program provisions. "These provisions are to protect the acreage from wind and water erosion by planting a cover crop, or establishing various conservation practices as well as carrying out control measures for weeds, insects and rodents." The conservation protection must be established on ACR and CU land as soon as possible after the normal planting period for spring crops.

The ASCS official said producers will be out of compliance if they fail to carry out conservation measures that would protect their idled cropland, or fail to comply with harvesting and grazing requirements on the land.

Objections From Farm Bureau Are Forcing EPA To Reconsider Program

An article in the May 2 issue of "Farm Bureau News" reports that because of the outcry from farmers, the 1990 growing season is the earliest that the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) could implement any endangered species protection program that would affect pesticide use.

Midway through a series of eight hearings on EPA's proposed endangered species pesticide labeling program, it's become clear that EPA and other agencies have much work to do before they can proceed with any program. During the sessions, at which many state Farm Bureaus have testified, EPA officials have acknowledged that they were hasty in pushing previous proposals.

At the very least, EPA and the Fish and Wildlife Service are going to go back and verify or correct the havitat maps that outline where endangered species are supposed to be present. The agencies also will scrutinize the "jeopardy opinions" that assess the risks endangered species face from nearby pesticide use.

Farm Bureau has repeatedly urged such actions, as well as calling for an assessment on the economic impact that any program limiting pesticide use would have on agriculture.

At a Washington, D.C., hearing last week, the American Farm Bureau Federation and three state Farm Bureaus criticized EPA's original proposal and recommended steps that would make the program acceptable to farmers and ranchers.

Nebraska Farm Bureau President Bryce Neidig, testifying on behalf of AFBF, said: "To be successful, an endangered species protection program must be reasonable and fair and be based on sound scientific evidence. It must be respectful of private property rights and consider economic impacts (on) farmers and ranchers. It must be flexible and allow for customizing to fit local situations."

Representatives from the North Carolina, Virginia and Maryland Farm Bureaus pointed out how overreaching and unrealistic EPA's original proposal was. Ann Coan, natural resources director for the North Carolina Farm Bureau, said several endangered species listed in counties in her state haven't been sighted for years.

Similarly, Maryland Farm Bureau's Henry Holloway said that the Maryland darter, a small fish, is listed for protection in his county. He said the fish was seen more than 10 years ago in a stream nearby his farm but "none have been seen since."

Stuart Lane, president of the Caroline County, Va., Farm Bureau, said the small whorled pogonia, a plant, is on the list for his county. "My Extension agent cannot tell me exactly where it is located . . . I feel certain that farmers would do what they could to prevent damage to the small whorled pogonia if they had reliable information as to what and where it is."

EPA Panel Approves Biotech Pesticide Injection Of Corn

Crop Genetics International, a Hanover biotechnology firm, moved a step closer yesterday to its proposed field tests of a genetically engineered pesticide with the approval of a scientific advisory panel of the Environmental Protection Agency.

The tests would involve vaccinating corn stalks on two-acre plots on the Eastern Shore and in Beltsville with an organism genetically altered to kill the highly destructive corn borer. Eventually, the company hopes to create corn seed that contains the organism.

The EPA and the U.S. Department of Agriculture expect to announce their decision on whether to allow the field tests in two weeks. Meantime, the company has begun planting corn at the Eastern Shore site to be vaccinated if the EPA approves the tests, and may begin planting at the Beltsville site next week, a company spokesman said.

Jeremy Rifkin, of Washington, an outspoken critic of biotechnology, has filed a challenge of the proposed field tests with the EPA. Other environmental groups lodged no objection, but said the government should require considerably more information about the potential environmental impact before wider-scale tests are allowed. The EPA scientific committee agreed.

The geographic center of the North American continent is in Pierce County, North Dakota, six miles west of Balta.

Mountain Fresh

PRODUCE

Do you want to become a member of the Mt. Fresh Program? We need growers — small and large!

There is a large market demand in the area for fresh fruits and vegetables. At this point in the Mt. Fresh project, there are not enough producers to fill the market needs. Don't sit back and wait — then it may be too late.

The Mt. Fresh Association will have an organizational meeting on Thursday, May 12, at 7:30 p.m. at the Garrett County Extension Office in Oakland. The agenda will include the election of a board of directors, and reviewing the present status of the project.

Bring your neighbors and come on out. If you cannot attend the meeting but would like to become a member, contact either the Garrett or Preston County Cooperative Extension Services.

Decades-Old American Equipment Loved By Vietnamese Farmers

The New York Times News Service reports that the Vietnamese have unlimited enthusiasm for American products.

All over the country the Vietnamese are making do with decades-old equipment manufactured in the United States, and they never pass up the opportunity to tell a visiting American how durable and well-designed these products have proved to be.

Sen. Larry Pressler (R-S.D.), was given an impromptu demonstration when he recently visited a farming village in the Mekong Delta, near the town of My Tho. As a young Army officer in the mid 1960s, Pressler had been involved in a U.S. aid project that provided small American water pumps for irrigation.

Pham Van Sau, a 40-year-old farmer, was using one of those pumps, a small model made by the Kohler Company of Kohler, Wis. Twenty years ago it was worth less than $50. Sau said he had bought his, second-hand, eight years ago for about $60 in gold. It still works fine — although the fuel system is now a soda bottle and plastic tube, and the frame supporting the motor and water pipe is a locally crafted Rube Goldberg contraption.

So valuable were these small Kohler pumps, Vietnamese say, that the Vietcong stole them to power boats. When the war ended with the defeat of Saigon, most of the pumps went north, where they became part of not just village life but also the Vietnamese vocabulary. Kohler (pronounced KO-lay) is now a generic word for pump.

When Sen. Pressler asked Sau what his pump was worth now, the farmer misinterpreted the question and answered quickly, "It's not for sale."

On agricultural land all over south and central Vietnam, vintage John Deere and Massey-Ferguson tractors are in use. Dodge and International Harvester trucks are the backbone of commercial hauling.

Old DeSoto buses are so highly regarded, one driver said, that "some people paint that name on the vehicles even when they aren't DeSotos." Vietnamese are often surprised and incredulous when told that American products have trouble competing with their Japanese counterparts.

Vietnamese cannot buy spare parts or new American goods because of a U.S. embargo and a lack of hard currency.

Livestock Income Down Four Percent

Maryland: Income from the sale of cattle and calves during 1987 was down 4 percent, at $67.0 million. The average price received at $67.80 per hundred pounds, was up 17 percent. However, the increase in average price was offset by a 20 percent drop in pounds marketed at 109.5 million pounds. Income from the sale of hogs and pigs was up 8 percent, at 37.8 million pounds. The average price of $50.10 per hundred pounds was up 4 percent. Marketings totaled 71.9 million pounds, up 5 percent from 1986.

Alfalfa Weevil

I believe the cold weather that we have been having suppressed the hatching of the Weevil; however, when warm weather occurs you should check your alfalfa fields often for the Weevil larva.

May is Haymaking Month

It is very important to harvest your hay on time. Grass hays such as Orchardgrass should be cut when it is in the boot stage. Alfalfa should be cut at the 1/10 bloom stage. By harvesting early you get a much greater yield out of the second cutting and a higher quality first cutting. Each year I see many farmers let Orchardgrass and Fescue get in full head, and some of it even gets ripe before harvested for hay. This kind of hay fills the belly of the cow but the digestibility is extremely low, and really the total nutrients harvested per acre is lower than if the hay was harvested at an early stage of growth. Don't forget to topdress with fertilizer after first cutting.

Spring is Grass Tetany Season

Cows with young calves grazing lush pastures during the spring season of the year are prime candidates for grass tetany. Don't forget to keep a ready supply of Magnesium supplement before cows at all times during the spring of the year. You are buying insurance by doing so. You don't have to lose but one cow out of 100 to have bought a lot of supplement and not have gotten the value of it. Many producers keep Magnesium supplements before cows throughout the year. Cows should be kept on Magnesium supplementation well into June or longer.

May Is The Time To Fly Tag

If you are going to use fly repellent ear tags on cows or stocker cattle, May is the appropriate time to put those ear tags in. Many producers put them in in April at turnout time, which is actually earlier than is warranted, and probably causes the fly repellent to be less effective toward the end of the season. I have actually seen very little evidence of fly immunity to synthetic pyrethroids that have beenin most of our fly repellent ear tags. You have probably heard of a lot of immunity to such ear tags in some of the states south of us. Many experts are advocating that producers ought to consider using another type of ear tag containing both pyrethroid and organophosphates such as the Max-Con tag. A bolus called Vigilante is being sold to play a role in fly control. Vigilante works as a larvacide and breaks the fly's life cycle. They will have no effect on face flies, only on horned flies. In any event, get started with your fly control program in May.

Maryland Crop Planting Normal: Weather Cool

The week ended May 1, was cool and almost all areas received at least one good shower. An average of 5.1 days were suitable for fieldwork, according to the Maryland Agricultural Statistics Service. An average of 75 percent of the acreage had been prepared for the planting of spring crops, the same as normal for the first of May. Topsoil moisture averaged adequate. Subsoil moisture was 70 percent adequate, 30 percent short. Snow was reported in the mountains. Cool weather slowed and decreased germination of many crops and affected some fields of wheat. Some vegetables may have to be replanted.

Field corn was 25 percent planted, 5 percent ahead of last year. Sweet corn was 20 percent planted, 5 percent behind last year. Spring oats were 95 percent planted, 20 percent more than normal.

Wheat, oats, barley and rye were in good condition, although powdery mildew had infested wheat in most counties. Wheat and oats had just begun to head. Barley was 50 percent headed, 5 percent ahead of last year. The cutting of alfalfa and other hays had begun. Alfalfa weevils had infested most counties. Apples were 55 percent in bloom. 30 percent below 1987.

PEST MANAGEMENT

Alfalfa Weevil populations continue at higher than normal levels according to Dr. Galen Dively. Treatment is recommended at this time if 50 percent to 75 percent of the alfalfa tips are showing feeding injury and there are 2 to 3 larvae per stem. Certain insecticides may be slower to act under the current weather conditions because many larvae are sitll tightly embedded in the leaf buds and may not be feeding activley. Don't panic. Furadan, Lorsban and Supracide have long residual action, so give them a chance to work. As it warms, larvae will feed and move out on the leaves, thus becoming more exposed to the insecticide residue.

WEATHER

Maryland weather during the week ended April 29, was cool with varying precipitation. Temperatures averaged 53.7 degrees, 3.5 percent below the normal of 57.2 degrees. Minimum temperatures were mostly in the mid 30's to low 40's except in western Maryland were minimums were in the high 20's. Maximum temperatures for the week were in the low to mid 70's. It was the third consecutive week with temperatures averaging below normal. Precipitation averaged .76 inch, but ranged from .25 inch at Patuxent NAS to 1.84 inches at Westminister.

Review Period Half Over For Nat. Conservation Program Changes

The 60-day public review period for the U.S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA) proposed changes in the National Conservation Program is half over, Pearlie S. Reed, head of Soil Conservation Service (SCS) programs in Maryland, said.

"Anyone interested in the future of soil and water conservation and the environment should study the changes and make their comments and suggestions before June 4," Reed said.

Changes proposed by USDA may be reviewed in local SCS or Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) offices.

"Under requirements of the Soil and Water Resources Conservation Act (RCA), public participation and cooperation is an integral part of any conservation program formulation," Reed said. "This procedure helps USDA planners prepare conservation programs that are responsive to both private and public interests."

Reed said that the proposed changes place special emphasis on programs to reduce erosion on rural land and measures to protect surface and ground water from contamination.

Comments about the proposals should be in writing and must be postmarked no later than June 4. Responses can be mailed to U.S. Department of Agriculture, Soil Conservation Service, 4321 Hartwick Road, Room 522, College Park, MD 20740-3291. More information is available at local SCS or ASCS offices.

THE "LAMB RING," sponsored by the Preston County 4-H Foundation, offers Preston County 4-H members a chance to practice flock management on a level that will return a profit. The program does this by placing a flock of ewe lambs with a qualifying 4-H member. That member will return to the lamb ring, within two years, one ewe lamb for each ewe lamb they received so that the ring can continue by providing a flock for some other 4-H member. The ewe lambs are quality breeding lambs donated by businesses who have purchased project animals at the Buckwheat Festival and lambs returned to the lamb ring by 4-H'ers. To be eligible, the member must be old enough to take care of the lambs, have a place to take care of the lambs, and have parents willing to help.

A "Lamb Ring" For 4-H'ers Continues To Grow And Prosper In Preston County

by Bernice Kepple

The Preston County, W.Va., 4-H program has a unique "lamb ring" project which has been in operation the last four years and is proving to be quite successful. Two Reedsville teenagers, Rob and Ange Shaffer, took advangage of the opportunities offered by the "lamb ring" last October and began a joint sheep project with a flock of 39 ewes and two rams.

The children of George and Debbie Shaffer, this brother and sister soon had their whole family initiated into the sheep business, as fences were built and a new barn was constructed.

The "lamb ring" project was explained by Preston County Extension Agent Conrad Arnold, who said the idea actually came out of an old publication from the state of Georgia. In that Georgia program, used years ago, it was suggested that 50 to 100 ewes be placed with an adult farmer to make the business economically feasible. Arnold explained that giving an interested 4-H'er only one ewe to start a sheep project was not economical at all because the same equipment and facilities are needed for one ewe as for a number of ewes large enough to provide a profit-making experience.

The Preston County program places a flock of ewe lambs with a 4-H member. These lambs are quality breeding lambs donated by businesses who have purchased market project animals at the Buckwheat Festival sale. After the first year of the lamb ring program, some of the lambs have also been lambs returned to the lamb ring by 4-H'ers in the program.

The "ring" works that way — returning lambs to the ring to keep it rolling. The member who receives a flock returns a ewe lamb for each lamb he or she received. It's those lambs, all of breeding size and quality and returned within two years, that go to other 4-H'ers.

To be eligible, the member must be old enough to take care of the lambs, have a place to take care of the lambs, and have parents who are willing to help. The Shaffers met all requirements, especially having parents (and grandparents, Robert and Rosalie Born) willing to help. "It's really a family affair," said George. "We haven't thought of a name for the flock yet, but we're thinking of maybe 'Shaffer Family Sheep.'"

The lamb ring regulations also spell out other responsibilities the recipients must meet, such as making an annual oral presentation summarizing his or her experiences with the flock including flock performance records.

After the recipient of the flock returns the same number of ewe lambs back into the lamb ring, the flock is his or hers to keep. The 4-H member must keep the flock for a minimum of four years, and should that member decide to drop the flock prior to that, it will become the property of the Preston County 4-H Foundation and the lamb ring.

The member must maintain a flock size equal to the number of lambs received. Culling is encouraged, but the original flock size must be maintained. The 4-H member is also responsible for all death losses of ewes and lambs due to disease, dogs, accident, or mis-management.

The Preston County program began in 1984, and Lori Jackson was the first recipient. She received eight ewes to begin her flock. In the fall of 1985, she returned eight lambs to the lamb ring.

Those eight, plus four more, were given to Mark Utterback in 1985 to begin his flock. He was able to return 12 ewe lambs to the lamb ring by the fall of 1987.

The 1986 recipients were Cari and Sheri Snider. They received a total of 18 ewes from the lamb ring — 10 donated by various businesses from the Buckwheat Festival and eight from Lori Jackson's flock. The Sniders returned five ewes to the lamb ring last fall and will return 13 more this fall.

Rob and Ange Shaffer had no previous experience with sheep, but were experienced with other livestock — feeder calves, baby beeves, and hogs. Rob, who is 15-years old, is an eight-year member of the Mt. Vernon Climbers 4-H Club. In those eight years, he has taken projects in the areas of bicycle, cooking, soil science, Indian lore, teen leadership, charting and livestock. He has raised feeder calves for five years and baby beeves for three years. He has also raised hogs for the FFA Bacon, Ham, and Egg Show and sold them to buyers in the community.

Rob has served his club as secretary twice, vice president twice, and as reporter, historian and recreational leader. He has traveled to the West Virginia State Public Speaking Contest three times, and won in the junior division at state two years ago. He has turned in a national report form for agriculture and public speaking and hopes he will be chosen as one of the state's representatives at the National 4-H Congress in Chicago this December.

"The kids here (in Preston County) have done pretty well. We have had three state winners," said Extension Agent Arnold. "This year, 10 members from the county are in the competition, and I expect several to be picked to go to Chicago," he added.

Twelve-year old Ange is a five-year member of the Mt. Vernon Climbers. She has been a song leader and vice president twice. Among her projects has been cooking, sewing, photography, health, W.Va. trees, and livestock. She has also taken four years of feeder calf projects.

The two applied and were chosen as the 1987 recipients of the lamb ring. They were told they might get as many as 20 lambs, but as the Buckwheat Festival sale continued the number of donated lambs grew and grew. By 5 p.m. the following day, the family had been firmly initiated into the lamb business.

Their Grandmother Born thought the whole farm smelled like sheep, including the house. With 40 sheep to take care of, the family soon learned to give injections, boluses, IV therapy and tube feedings. And when the lambs began coming this spring, the two say they stayed up lots of nights.

Their barn was another family project. It was designed by Grandfather Born, George and Rob, and built with every family member helping. The barn contains box stalls to separate the ewes that have just lambed. A hayrack runs the length of the barn for the ewes and a creep feeder for the lambs is located at one end of the barn.

Outside, a small pen was built to separate ewes that haven't lambed yet. Beyond that is pasture for the ewes and their lambs. So far this spring (in the last 30 days), 27 lambs have been born. The percengage is good so far — about 95 percent. "We're not concerned with the lambing percentage," says Arnold. "We just want them to get through the first year and have some success."

The sheep are penned out of the barn while Rob and Ange put out feed twice a day. They are given a 20-percent protein feed made up of sheep supplement and corn. A good alfalfa/clover mixed hay is fed, with the best alfalfa hay saved for the lambing ewes so they give more milk. The average birth weight this spring has been 10 pounds, and Rob explains that more milk will mean a higher weaning weight for the lambs.

When Rob and Ange have completed putting out the feed, the gate is opened and the sheep rush in and line up to eat. Meanwhile, the lambs go through small openings in a partition at the end of the barn to the creep feeder for their own rations.

Many close friends watched the flocks progress closly this spring. And according to Rob and Ange, two gentlemen at their church kept asking if any twins had been born yet. The two say that, for that reason, when the first set of twin lambs was born, they were named Harland and Herald, after the two gentlemen.

The two 4-H'ers have planned ahead for summer management of their flock, and say they intend to keep the lambs in the pasture close to the house after weaning so they can keep an eye on them. The remaining pasture will be split in quarters and the ewes will be rotated.

They have also planned ahead to be ready for the Preston County Wool Pool on June 18, and intend to have their sheep sheared around the end of May. "We'll have soneone else shear them this year, and learn from that," said George.

"A lot of the lambs that have come through the Festival sale have been through a lot of stress," Arnold said. "The Festival market program helps kids sell market lambs, though, half of which are ewe lambs which go back into the lamb ring," Arnold continued. "The lamb ring is developing into a self-sufficient program."

"Receiving the lamb ring has been very special to us," Rob and Ange said. "If it wouldn't have been for the folks who have supported this ring, we would never have been able to own and operate a sheep herd like we now have."

Below, curious lambs take time out from their dinner at the creep feeder to see what photographer Craig Phillips wants. One ewe lamb will be returned to the lamb ring for each ewe lamb Rob and Ange Shaffer received originally.

In 1985, Americans spent an average of $59 per person for cosmetics and toiletries. That's about the same amount they spent for cheese.

Test Your Pesticide Safety Savvy

Safe, informed application of pest control chemicals helps protect human health and the environment. It is also the key to effective, economical performance from pesticides.

Gary L. Smith, Extension agricultural engineer, University of Maryland, reminds that proper use of pesticides is the responsibility of everyone who works with these products. He says that both employers and employees can benefit by working through the following quiz, which serves as a reminder of some basic pesticide safety standards. More information is available at county Extension offices.

QUESTIONS

Answer true or false to the questions below and check your answers with the correct ones below.

1. Chemicals can enter the body through inhalation (breathing), ingestion (by mouth), and absorption through skin.
2. A skull-and-crossbones within an octagonal border will be printed on the label of a very toxic chemical.
3. It is acceptable to dump leftover pesticides into streams, since this will dilute the chemicals.
4. You only have to read a chemical container label when you require mixing information.
5. The best protection available for handling powdered pesticides is a particulate dust mask.
6. The accepted method of recording the relative toxicity of a pesticide is the Lethal Dose 50% (LD50) value.
7. A very low LD50 value means that a chemical is highly toxic.
8. Herbicides are used to kill insects and rats.
9. You should not wash pesticide-contaminated garments with other clothing.
10. Providing there is no wind, protective clothing is not necessary when spraying pesticides.
11. Harmful quantities of some pesticides can be readily absorbed through unbroken skin.
12. The degree of toxicity of a particular chemical is indicated on the label.
13. Always inspect for leaks before handling pesticide containers.
14. You should wash before using the toilet if you have been handling pesticides.
15. In a majority of cases, leather gloves are satisfactory for handling pesticides.
16. If a nozzle plugs, the safest solution is to shut off the sprayer and carefully blow through the nozzle.
17. Leftover pesticides can be stored in other containers if they are market with the chemical name.
18. If care is taken, treated seed can be stored near feed.
19. Pesticide storage areas must be kept dry, ventilated, locked and clearly signed.
20. Some of the symptoms of pesticide poisoning include: headache, fatigue, skin irritation, dizziness, nausea, and perspiration.
21. Triple rinsing of chemical containers before disposal is recommended.
22. Low cost disposable dust masks provide suitable protection for mixing farm chemicals.
23. Pesticides should not be stored near food supplies.
24. When an individual requires medical treatment for pesticide poisoning, the product label and/or container should be taken along to the hospital.

The Bottom Line . . .

You Can Know You Are Going to Heaven

It is possible to know for sure that you are going to Heaven when you die. If you doubt that, then the burden of proof lies with you, and I urge you to read the rest of this article. The Bible says in I John 5:13, "These things have I written unto you that believe on the name of the Son of God; that ye may know that ye have eternal life . . . ."

The blind hymn writer, Fanny Crosby, wrote of this assurance:

> Blessed assurance, Jesus is mine!
> Oh, what a foretaste of glory divine!

To have this blessed assurance, one must accept what the Bible says and do exactly what it commands. And you may be surprised at how easy and simple it is.

Are you ready to see what the Bible says? Then read on. In the matter of salvation or having assurance of Heaven, we must begin with God. There can be no understanding of or appreciation for the plan of salvation apart from God.

God Says All Men Are Sinners

The Bible states in Isaiah 53:6, "All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way." And Romans 3:23 says, "For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God."

The words come short mean "to miss the mark." How far we miss the mark is not the important thing, but the fact that we have missed it. When I went to high school, your grade average had to be seventy to pass. If you averaged anything less, you had to repeat the grade. Suppose one student averaged sixty-five and another thirty-five. There is a thirty-point difference in their grade averages, yet both are in the same predicament. They are below the passing mark.

When God looks down on mankind He says in the words of Romans 3:22, "There is no difference."

We may ask, "Lord, what do You mean, no difference? Some folks live better than others."

And God explains in verse 23, "For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God."

Suppose I hang a target on the wall and ask each person in the room to take a dart and do his best to hit the bull's eye. Some miss the bull's eye by an inch. Others miss it by a foot. Still others miss the whole target. Not one hits the bull's eye. When all the darts are thrown, I say, "There is no difference."

"Oh," says someone. "What do you mean—no difference? I only missed the bull's eye by an inch."

And I reply, "There is no difference because all came short of the bull's eye." When God looks down on mankind, He sees us all alike as sinners. No one has lived up to God's perfect standard. We have all come short. Some may have lived better than others. But no one has lived a perfect, sinless life.

First John 1:8 states, "If we say that we have no sin, we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us." And verse 10 says, "If we say that we have not sinned, we make him a liar . . . ."

God Says Sin Must Be Paid For

He said to Adam in Genesis 2:17, "In the day that thou eatest thereof thou shalt surely die." And Romans 6:23 says, "The wages of sin is death." God has declared that sin must be paid for. And the payment is death.

This death is more than dying with a gunshot wound or with cancer. It is described in Revelation 20:14 as the second death: "And death and hell were cast into the lake of fire. This is the second death." If we pay what we owe as sinners, then we must die, go into Hell and stay there forever and ever. That's the price God demands for our sins.

The Bible does not say the wages of sin is joining the church. Joining every church in town would not pay what we owe. The Bible does not say the wages of sin is being baptized. We could be baptized by every denomination and church group in the world, but that would not pay our sin debt.

The Bible does not say the wages of sin is turning over a new leaf. Reformation is not salvation, and reforming would not pay our sin debt.

The wages of sin is not performing good works. One could work a thousand lifetimes and never earn Heaven.

The Bible plainly states, "The wages of sin is death." God has one payment for sin, and that is eternal death in the lake of fire.

The only thing we can do to pay our debt is die, go into Hell and stay there forever.

Now that leaves us in a bad predicament. But there is a bright side to the story. So please continue reading.

God Says That We Are Already Condemned

In John 3:18 we read, "He that believeth on him is not condemned: but he that believeth not is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God." Some people have an idea that after death God is going to weigh our good works against our bad works. If the good outweighs the bad, He will allow us into Heaven; but if the bad outweighs the good, He will condemn us to Hell. However, that teaching is not found in the Bible. Those who are not trusting Christ are already condemned. John 3:18 warns, "He that believeth not is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God." The condemned criminal has been tried, found guilty, and sentenced. The only thing left is for him to pay his debt to society. According to what God has said, I am a sinner, my sins demand a payment, and that payment is death—the second death in the lake of fire. This is not a sentence that is going to be given me; it is a sentence I am already under if I am not trusting Jesus Christ as Saviour.

The person who is not trusting Jesus Christ completely for salvation is waiting only for his heart to stop beating; and the moment it does, the soul and spirit leave the body and go immediately to Hell. The rich man in Luke 16:22,23 "also died, and was buried; And in hell he lift up his eyes, being in torments . . . ."

Sin must be dealt with. The sin question must be settled.

How Can an Infinitely Holy God Forgive Sin?

The answer is: God does not forgive sin; He forgives the sinner. Sin must be paid for. The word forgive means "to bear the burden." If someone forgave me of a large debt, it means he bore the burden—that is, he became responsible for the debt himself.

In order for an infinitely holy God to forgive the sinner, someone had to pay the debt, someone had to bear the burden. That is where Jesus comes in! God took every sin we have ever committed and will ever commit and laid those sins on Jesus two thousand years ago. Isaiah 53:6 says, "The Lord hath laid on him the iniquity of us all." And the Bible says in I Peter 2:24, "Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree . . . ."

Jesus Christ actually took all our sins—past, present and future—and bore them in His own body.

God looked down through the telescope of time and saw every sin we would ever commit, put those sins in one big package and laid them on Christ. That is the plain language of the Bible, "The Lord hath laid on him the iniquity of us all." While Jesus was on the cross, bearing our sins in His own body, God punished Him in our place to pay the debt we owe, so that when we die we won't have to pay it.

According to the Bible, God punished Jesus in our place so that we could escape the punishment. That is the meaning of John 3:16 where the Bible says, "For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

How Can We Be Sure That God Was Satisfied With the Payment Jesus Made?

That can be answered in three words—an empty tomb! The prisoner is not set free until his debt to society has been paid. When God raised Jesus from the dead, He said to the whole world, "I am satisfied with the payment My Son made for your sins."

In certain parts of the world, a merchant selling goods displays them on a counter or table without a price tag attached. When someone wishes to buy an item, he lays down some money. If the merchant is not satisfied with the payment, he leaves it lying on the table. Then the person wishing to buy the item adds to the money. When enough is put down to satisfy the merchant, he reaches down and takes it up. He is saying in essence, "I am satisfied with the payment."

When God raised Jesus Christ from the dead and took Him back to Heaven, He said to the whole world, "I am satisfied with the payment My Son made for your sins."

Isaiah 53:10 says, "It pleased the Lord to bruise him . . . ." The word pleased means "satisfied." Isaiah 53:11 says, "He shall see of the travail of his soul, and shall be satisfied . . . ." The death of Jesus Christ on the cross fully satisfied the just demands of a holy God. Now we must either accept the satisfaction that Jesus made to God for our sins, or satisfy God ourselves. If we satisfy God ourselves, we must die, go into Hell, and stay there forever and ever.

That is the payment He demands.

What Can We Do to Let God Know We Are Satisfied With the Payment?

If we try to add anything to what Jesus has done, no matter how good the addition may be, we are saying, "I am not satisfied with the payment Jesus made."

It is not the death of Jesus Christ on the cross—plus baptism—that saves. It is Jesus alone. Acts 4:12 says, "Neither is there salvation in any other: for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved." If I am trusting Christ—plus baptism—then I am not satisfied with the payment Jesus made for my sins.

To show that we are fully satisfied with the payment, we must cease trusting any and everything else and trust Jesus alone. We must cease trusting good works, no matter how good they may be. We must cease to trust church membership, no matter how good the church may be. We must cease trusting our good life, no matter how pure and noble. To trust anything for salvation other than what Jesus did at Calvary is to say to God, "I am not fully satisfied with the payment Your Son made for my sins. I feel I must have something else."

In order to show God that I am satisfied with the payment made, I must trust Jesus Christ completely, Him alone, and nothing else. The Bible says in John 3:36, "He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life . . . ." There is no promise in the Bible to those who partially believe on Christ. The promise is to those who believe. If I trust Jesus Christ ninety percent and something else ten percent, the ten percent destroys the ninety. The ten percent says I am not fully trusting Christ; and the Bible says in John 3:18, "He that believeth not is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God." And John 3:36 warns, ". . . he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him."

Have you let God know that you are satisfied with the payment Jesus made for your sins by trusting Jesus and Him alone for salvation?

How Can You Know That if You Trust Jesus Christ as Saviour, You Will Go to Heaven?

The answer is simple. You have the promise of God Himself. And keep in mind that God is too wise to be mistaken and too honest to deceive us. If God said it, it is guaranteed!

What does He say? John 3:36, "He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life . . . ." God says if you are trusting Jesus Christ alone for salvation, then you have everlasting life. God says in John 3:18, "He that believeth on him is not condemned . . . ." Here He promises that the one trusting Jesus Christ alone for salvation is no longer under the sentence of Hell. He is not condemned. He does not have to pay the sin debt since it has been paid for him.

God says in John 6:37, "Him that cometh to me I will in no wise cast out."

What better assurance can one have than God's own Word? Hebrews 6:18 says it is impossible for God to lie, and Titus 1:2 says God cannot lie.

The worst sin is not trusting Jesus Christ as Saviour, and it is the only sin for which a person will go to Hell. Mark 16:16 says, "He that believeth not shall be damned."

This is how to know you are going to Heaven. Now will you trust Jesus Christ as your Saviour?

If you will trust Him as your Saviour and write to tell us so, we have a free book we want to send that will help you as you set out to live the Christian life. The book contains 15 chapters and deals with the most important things about the Christian life. After reading the book, you will want to share it with friends. 1988-89 Hunting Seasons Finalized

The Forest, Park & Wildlife Service of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources has confirmed the 1988-89 hunting and trapping seasons, bag limits, and regulations for Upland Game, Forest Game and Furbearers.

The Wildlife Advisory Commission, a citizens group that helps state government with policy-making, met last week with Director, Donald E. MacLauchlan, and members of the wildlife staff and natural resources police to discuss proposed dates and limits. Wildlife public hearings had been held statewide earlier in April to solicit public opinion.

All dates, limits and regulation changes passed as proposed except:

•Wildlife officials withdrew the proposal to ban rifles for fall turkey hunting in 1988;

•Spring turkey season, 1989, was proposed to run from April 24 through May 20. Instead, after lengthy review, commissioners and state officials agreed last week to create a standard spring turkey season — from April 18 through May 16 each year, beginning April 18 through May 16, 1989. This change will: 1) avoid zoning, 2) maximize recreation, and 3) promote safety. Note: Because there is no Sunday hunting in Maryland, the season will be modified in years that opening and/or closing dates fall on Sundays.

Both adjustments in regulation proposals were based on comments from hearings and on telephone calls and letters to the Forest, Park and Wildlife Service. "We try very hard to be a responsive, interactive public agency," said MacLauchlan.

Forest, Park and Wildlife Service officials remind sportsmen and women about new regulations that passed recently:

•Anterless deer permits will not be required to hunt deer during the antlerless deer firearm season in Calvert and Queen Anne's counties.

•The 1988-89 muzzleloader deer season is two weeks long.

•Antlerless deer may be hunted with permits during the regular deer firearms season in Carroll County.

•A muzzleloading handgun is a legal hunting weapon for deer only in those counties which allow the use of rifles and handguns.

•Handguns are banned for turkey hunting in the fall.

•Handguns are prohibited to hunt bearded turkeys.

DNR Police Ask For Information On Bear's Death

A reward is being offered to anyone with information about the death of a black bear in Garrett County. Maryland Natural Resource Police Investigating Officer John Milbourne said a bear was apparently illegally killed sometime before last winter on the property of Christopher Tasker along North Hill Road near Deer Park.

The investigating officer said an ear tag was brought to the DNR Police, and search at the scene with a metal detector turned up a second metal ear tag and the jacket from a bullet, which Milbourne said appeared to be a small calber.

According to Milbourne, all that is left of the male bear is matted hair and bones on the open hillside where it died. It is illegal to shoot bears at any time in Maryland.

Anyone with information is being asked to call Catch-A-Poacher at 1-800-635-6125 of Officer Milbourne at 777-7771. Anonymity is guaranteed.

State Bd. Of Ed. Rules In Local Grievance Case

After years of consideration and study, the Maryland State Board of Education has made a decision which is significant in terms of the collective bargaining arrangements which local school boards have with employee organizations.

The decision involved a grievance which was filed by several county kindergarten teachers involving class size. The grievance was not accepted by the Garrett County Board of Education because it was not grievable under their contract, according to Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, Garrett County Superintendent of Schools.

The grievance was then taken before Garrett County Circuit Court Chief Judge Fred A. Thayer, who ruled that class size was a grievable matter.

The Board then appealed the decision to the Maryland Court of Appeals, where the case was viewed with two others from different counties dealing with similar issues. The court ruled that, before a decision can be made, the State Board of Education must make a decision on the issue of scope of bargaining.

The Garrett County Board's attorney, Ralph Burnett, argued the case before the state board this winter. Earlier this month, the State Board ruled that class size is not a working condition, but a matter of education policy. Therefore, the issue should not be bargained, but can be decided by the local school board.

READY TO POUR — Guardsmen from Company "C" of the 121st Engineer Batallion, Maryland Army National Guard, Oakland, worked diligently for two weeks to prepare the forms for the foundations that will support two pedestrian bridges for the 1988 Maryland International Canoe/Kayak Classic and the 1989 World Championships on the Savage River. Precautions had to taken as one of the dead men (foundations) had to be constructed over the Bloomington water line. The line was fabricated for insurance against damage and extra care was taken in pouring the concrete so as not to distrub the line. When completd, the bridges will complement nature's surroundings, according to specifications set down by the state in cooperation with the Department of Natural Resoruces. Company "B" out of Cumberland is putting the bridges into place this week and next. See feature on page A-8. Photo by Craig Phillips

Friendsville Man Arrested, Jailed On 14 Charges

A Friendsville man is being held in the Garrett County Jail on $500 bond after being arrested on 14 charges Tuesday evening.

James L. House, 26, was charged by Dep. Randy Sines of the Garrett County Sheriff's Department and Tfc. R.M. Hershberger of the Maryland State Police following a chase which ended in an accident near Friendsville on Route 42.

According to police reports, Sines attempted to stop House, who was operating a motorcycle, for a traffic violation. House was fleeing from Sines on the motorcycle when he attempted to make a left turn and lost control of the vehicle. The motorcycle skidded and overturned several times, ejecting the driver.

Among the 14 charges against House were reckless driving, exceeding the speed limit in excess of 100 mph in a 50 mph zone, operating an unregistered motor vehicle, driving an uninsured vehicle, eluding a police officer, driving an unsafe vehicle, using license plates issued to another vehicle, traveling at a speed greater than reasonable, and three counts of failing to stop at a stop sign.

House was treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital following the accident.

Bloodmobile Nets 141 Pints During Grantsville Visit

The visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile to Grantsville on Tuesday, May 3, resulted in the collection of 141 pints of blood, according to Lela Bender, chairman of Red Cross Blood Services for Northern Garrett County. The quota for the visit was 130 pints.

Mrs. Bender said there were nine first-time donors. Special recognition pins were awarded to Daniel W. Klotz, Delmar Yoder, and Simon E. Yoder, who reached the five-gallon level; Marvin Beachy, Susie Peachey, and Dorothy Teets, four-gallon donors; Katie Yoder, Louise Hetz, and Alva Rexrode, three-gallon donors; Daniel Brenneman, Randy Green, Linda S. Stanton, and Marlin Bender, two-gallon donors; and Henry Bowser, Dotty Folk, Lyndon Saylor, Phyllis Kyle, Donna J. Gov. Schaefer Announces $51,450 Grant For Garrett County Homeless

Governor Wiliam Donald Schaefer announced Monday that the state has made a $51,450 competitive Emergency Community Services Homeless Grant (ECSHG) to the Garrett County Community Action Committee to help provide essential services to the county's homeless. The federally funded ECSHG program is administered by the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development.

"The plight of Maryland's hundreds of homeless people is tragic — and complex. Temporary shelter helps these people, but they need more," said Governor Schafer.

"The homeless need other services — help in finding permanent homes and jobs, family and personal counseling, childcare, even transportation — if they are to make the transition out of poverty to full, happy lives," the governor said.

"The ECSHG program, in cooperation with local community action agencies, can go a long way toward providing that assistance," the governor added.

Using the $51,450 in competitive ECSHG funds, the Garrett County Community Action Committee plans to lease and equip two motel rooms one in Oakland and one in Grantsville, to serve as temporary shelters for the homeless. In addition, ECSHG funds will be used to provide rent and/or utility subsidies, to help people threatened with loss of their present homes to remain in them.

The program will be coordinated with other local agencies and programs to provide needed food, employment counseling and housing or rental allowances.

Through the ECSHG program the Garrett County Community Action Committee estimates that it can serve 160 homeless people in the area. Authorities estimated that more than 15 people are homeless in Garrett County during a given night.

The ECSHG program is one of 19 federal programs to provide urgently needed assistance for the nation's homeless - especailly the elderly, the handicapped and families with children.

The ECSHG program has three major goals: to provide

Clean-Up Of Deep Creek Lake Area Slated For Weekend Of May 21-22

The Deep Creek Lake Management Program will be sponsoring a drive to clean up the Penelec buffer strip and land around Deep Creek Lake on Saturday, May 21, and Sunday, May 22, according to Eric C. Schwaab, lake manager.

Through a cooperative effort with the Deep Creek Lake Businessmen's Association, Milford Beckman and the Garrett National Bank, the Garrett County Roads Department, and the Deep Creek Lake Property Owners' Association, Schwaab said the Lake Management Program hopes that this will continue to be a yearly effort which will insure the beauty and integrity of the shoreline surrounding the lake. According to Schwaab, the most important contributor to the success of this project, however, will be the efforts of the individual landowners who have property around the lake. It is hoped that all landowners in the lake area will take the time to gather up any trash or debris around the lake shoreline. Individuals can transport items to the county landfill located four miles north of Oakland along the Oakland-Sang Run Road. For this weekend, the landfill will be open on Saturday from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. In addition, another central collection point will be set up by the Garrett County Roads Department behind the Deep Creek Lake Branch of the Garrett National Bank along Route 219.

For those persons around the lake who do not have vehicles

EXCURSION TRAINS will leave the historic Oakland B&O Railroad Station Saturday and Sunday, June 25 and 26, to transport spectators to the Savage River to view the Maryland International Canoe/Kayak Classic Pre-World's Event. This announcement was shared this week by Governor William Donald Schaefer and District I Senator John N. Bambacus, who, along with the Whitewater Committee, have worked with the State Railroad Administration and CSX Corporation for the last five months to come to this agreement for train transportation to the site. This will literally be the only site west of Bloomington which will provide spectators direct access to the whitewater races. The announcement coincides well with plans underway by the town of Oakland to landscape the area around the old station. The train will leave Oakland at noon and return at 5:30 p.m. for the price of $10, with children under 12 riding free. Pictured above in front of the B&O Station for the announcement, left to right, are: Garrett County Commissioner Ernest J. Gregg Jr.; Marvin D. "Jack" Jones, president of the Greater Oakland Business Association; Senator John Bambacus; and Oakland Mayor Asa M. McCain Jr.

Barn Destroyed, House Damaged By Tuesday Fires

A barn located along Jennings Road was destroyed by fire Saturday night and a house on Backbone Mountain five miles west of Bloomington sustained substantial damage in another blaze Tuesday evening.

Firefighters from Bittinger, Grantsville, Salisbury and the air cascade vehicle from Deer Park were summoned at 7:30 p.m. Saturday after fire broke out in a barn owned by Herman Meyers. Upon their arrival, they found the structure fully involved in flames.

Guy Carola, fire investigator for Garrett and Allegany counties, reported that the fire appeared to have started in the basement area, however he has not yet determined the cause. He indicated that he believes it was accidental in nature, possibly related to an electrical problem.

Although there was no livestock in the barn at the time, among the equipment items destroyed were a hay baler, a corn planter and a hay elevator. Carola said the hay and the equipment in the barn belonged to Meyers son, Rodney. He estimated the loss to be around $30,000, and stated that the elder Meyers had only about $4,000 insurance on the building and there was no insurance coverage on the equipment.

Firemen remained on the scene until about 9 p.m. Also responding was the Northern Rescue Squad. There were no injuries reported.

The residence of the Tim Reed family, located along Chestnut Grove Road just off Route 135, sustained heavy damage in a bedroom, the attic and a closet on Tuesday.

Called to the 7 p.m. blaze were the Bloomington, Deer Park, Kitzmiller and Barton VFDs. Upon their arrival, firemen found smoke coming from the eaves of the house and considerable flame in the bedroom. They quickly brought the blaze under control and confined the damage to those areas.

Carola said that one of the Reed children later admitted to playing with matches in the closet. He, his brother and their mother were watching television in the living room when Mrs. Reed noticed smoke coming from the bedroom. They called for assistance and left the house, uninjured.

Carola said the flames burned through the bedroom ceiling and into the attic, where firemen made a successful stop of the blaze. They remained on the scene until about 9:30 p.m.

Oakland Residents Hear Testimony; Vote To Re-Introduce Fluoridation

After nearly an hour of testimony and a one-half hour question and answer period, the townspeople of Oakland Tuesday night voted 46 for and two against re-introducing fluoride into the town's drinking water.

Following that vote, the Mayor and Town Council voted four for and one abstention to pursue a state grant and to proceed with the re-introduction of fluoride immediately into the water system.

If that grant is approved, and local Health Department officials feel it will be, Oakland will again be among the 90 percent of Marylanders consuming tooth-decay preventative fluoride.

The residents of Oakland were not aware that they were not receiving fluoride in their drinking water until late December when The Republican printed the information after learning from Jay Moyer, Oakland councilman and water department employee, that fluoride dispensing and monitoring equipment were in a state of disrepair. He had been urged by the local Health Department to announce the discontinuation of fluoride as a public service — especially to families with children.

During testimony Dr. Alvin Friend, local dentist and pioneer in pushing for fluoride in the area, along with Dr. William Pope and Rodney Glotfelty from the Garrett County Health Department, stressed the importance of fluoride for preventative dentistry. A video on the benefits of fluoride was also shown.

They noted that other towns that had discontinued the use of fluoride in their water systems, had a steady increase of dental problems in just a few years.

Dr. Friend indicated that when he began practicing dentistry in the Oakland area in the 1950's he spent the first ten years doing mostly emergency dentistry. He dedicated himself to preventative dentistry early on and continues to preach the benefits of fluoride, not only in children but in adults as well.

Countless studies support Dr. Friend's argument for fluoride. The disadvantages of carefully controlled fluoridation have yet to be substantiated, according to Dr. Friend.

Following testimony, Oakland residents posed questions to the town council, Dr. Friend, Dr. Pope and Glotfelty.

One mother inquired, "Is the question before us, 'Do we want fluoride or do we want to re-

The Washington Singers, Directed By Paul Hill, To Perform Here May 21

The Washington Singers, one of the country's few fully-professional vocal ensembles, will perform for the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival on Saturday, May 21, at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of Garrett Community College. Directed by internationally-known conductor Paul Hill, the 15-member chorus will sing a varied program of classical music, folk music, and music from the American stage.

The choral group, whose concert home is the John F. Kennedy center for Performing Arts in Washington, D.C., where it does regular performances in the Terrace Theater, performs throughout the mid-Atlantic region. Its members serve as the professional core of the 160-voice Paul Hill Chorale which performs in the Kennedy Center and appears with the National Symphony, the Richmond Symphony, and the Fairfax Symphony. This symphonic chorus has presented concerts throughout the United States and has performed on two European tours.

On the day of the evening concert, two special workshops will precede the performance, both to be held in the auditorium of Garrett Community College. A registration fee for each workshop will be payable at the door — $10 for a group, or $2 for an individual.

The first of these is a choral workshop at 10 a.m. for local singers and choirs who will receive instruction in the development of vocal technique. The second will be a conductor's workshop at 1 p.m. for choir/music directors and other persons interested in improving their directing skills.

Singers who attend the morning workshop will be invited to sing several selections with The Washington Singers during the evening concert. Dr. David Sheets, local musician, will also participate in the evening concert.

Slalom Event Accepted For 1992 Olympics

Sergio Orsi, president of the International Canoe Federation recently informed canoe organizations throughout the world that the Program Committee of the International Olympic Committee has accepted the entrance of the slalom event in the 1992 Olympics to be held in Barcelona, Spain.

This action was strongly recommended by Whitewater Championships, Inc. (WCI, organizers for the 1989 Whitewater World Championships in a recent telex to the IOC from Maryland State Senator John N. Bambacus, president of WCI.

Sen. Bambacus stated, "This action by IOC will have a profound beneficial effect on participation and worldwide interest in the world championships to be held on the Savage River in Western Maryland in June 1989."

It is anticipated that many countries will field teams for next year's event to hone their competitive edge for the Olympics which will heighten spectator and media interest in the world championships.

THE WASHINGTON SINGERS, under the direction of internationally-renowned conductor Paul Hill, will present a concert at Garrett Community College on Saturday, May 21. Based in Washington, D.C., this 15-member chorus serves as the professional core of the 160-voice Paul Hill Chorale, which has performed throughout the United States and in Europe. There will also be two special workshops led by Hill and his singers preceding the May 21 performance. The first is a choral workshop for local singers and the second is a conductor's workshop for local persons who serve as choir/music directors. Hill is a resident of the Washington area, but he and his family have a second home in Garrett County. The workshops and concert are being sponsored by the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival.

A LOVING FAMILY has always stood behind and beside longtime Oakland Mayor H.D. "Hub" Swartzentruber. The former mayor who served his town for 20 years was honored on May 1 as the county observed Hub Day. An open house was held at the Oakland Fire Hall and hundreds of well-wishers attended to honor Hub. Pictured, seated, are Nellie and Hub. Standing, left to right, are their children Lois Ayers, Delbert Swartzentruber and Delores Moyer. Their many children and grandchildren also attended the celebration, but then it is not uncommon for the entire family to gather at Hub and Nellie's house on Woodland Drive for a big, delicious home-cooked meal on a Sunday afternoon.

Mayor H.D. "Hub" Swartzentruber Honored For 20 Years Of Service

"Hub" Swartzentruber Day was observed May 1 in Garrett County honoring former Oakland Mayor H.D. Swartzentruber. Mayor Swartzentruber served his town as mayor for 20 years before deciding to "hang up" his political career.

Hub and his wife, Nellie, also operated a shoe repair and tack shop in Oakland for many years. They remain active members of St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland and both have served their community in numerous ways over the years.

As part of the celebration on Hub Day, town officials sponsored an open house for the mayor where hundreds of area residents turned out to show their appreciation. Through letters, resolutions and plaques, he was honored by the town, the county, the state and the country.

He received letters of commendation from President Ronald Reagan and Congresswoman Beverly Byron, Governor William Donald Schaefer, State Comptroller Louis Goldstein, Senator John N. Bambacus and Delegate George C. Edwards. Delegate Edwards and Garrett County Commissioners Ernest Gregg Jr. and John G. Braskey attended the open house.

The County Commissioners also signed a proclamation honoring Mayor Swartzentruber as did the Oakland Mayor and Town Council. Commissioner Gregg and Oakland Council President Terry Helbig made remarks at the open house. Councilman and local historian Bob Boal reviewed the life of the mayor.

A plaque was presented to Swartzentruber by Chief John K. Sines on behalf of the Oakland City Police Department. A planter, sporting the favorite colors of the mayor, was presented by town employees. Jans Florists helped with the arrangement.

A binder, containing all the letters of commendation and one of the embosed napkins used at the open house, was also presented to Mr. and Mrs. Swartzentruber by City Hall staff.

Because of his recent stroke, newly-elected Mayor Asa McCain spoke on behalf of the Swartzentrubers who thanked area residents and state and national officials for their cooperation during Mayor Swartzentruber's tenure.

Hub and Nellie are featured in the recently published book entitled Garrett County Today.

MAYOR TO MAYOR — Longtime Oakland Mayor H.D. "Hub" Swartzentruber, right, took a few minutes at the open house held for him on Sunday, May 1, to give a few pointers to the new mayor, Asa McCain. Since Hub and Asa reside on the same street, they will undoubtedly chat about the "hot" issues that arise in town government from time to time. Over the years, Hub faced many challenges in his position. He met those challenges with a strong faith, determination and a keen sense of humor.

Friendsville Man "Stable" After Tractor Mishap

A 67-year-old Friendsville man remains in "stable" condition at the West Virginia University Hospital, Morgantown, W.Va., as a result of injuries sustained Sunday when he was run over by a tractor.

Clarence A. Friend was transported to the hospital by the Maryland State Police Medevac helicopter following the 2:51 p.m. accident which occurred on his farm on the Trap Run Road.

According to police reports, Friend was standing in front of the tractor's rear tire when he attempted to start the vehicle, which he thought was in neutral.

However, the tractor was in gear and it leaped forward, ran over Friend, and continued on for approximately 100 feet, coming to rest against a tree.

Friend reportedly suffered fractured ribs and abrasions in the mishap. The Northern Garrett Rescue Squad responded to the accident.

First United, Piedmont Bank Complete Merger

First United Corporation, headquartered in Oakland, has announced that it had completed its merger with First National Bank of Piedmont, W. Va.

Commenting on the completion of the merger, Richard G. Stanton, president and chief executive officer of First United Corporation, said it was a "major event" for his holding company to join with "such a fine bank as First National Bank in making history as the first Maryland financial institution to expand its banking services into West Virginia."

The First National Bank of Piedmont's executive vice president and chief executive officer, C. Spencer Allen, stated that he was "pleased" to become part of First United Corporation so that he could offer a wider range of banking services to his customers while maintaining his local independence with the same employees, officers and directors, and name. Allen indicated that he did not anticipate the bank's customers would see any significant change in present services because of the change in ownership.

As of March 31, 1988, First United Corporation and the First National Bank of Piedmont had total assets of $294,931,000 and combined equity of $25,253,000. First United Corporation now has two banking subsidiaries, the First National Bank of Piedmont and First United National Bank & Trust, with 16 banking offices.

The Sheriff's Department is also investigating a breaking and entering theft which occurred at the F & S Garage, Swanton.

According to Detective L.E. Gnegy, someone gained entry through a side window and removed batteries, tires, and other items worth a total of $560.

Meeting With Commissioners Among Agenda Items For Accident Council

As part of the county commissioners' scheduled annual meetings with Garrett County towns, Commssioners John Braskey, Ernest Gregg and Elwood Groves visited the May 2 meeting of the Mayor and Town Council. Several items of mutual interest were discussed.

Concerning the issue of tax differentials for municipalities, it was the Town's position that the taxpayers of Accident receive numerous services and "invaluable" staff assistance from County government. The Mayor and Town Council indicated they believed this mutual arrangement serves the best interest of its residents and had no basis for requesting a tax differential for the upcoming tax year.

Other items discussed included the Town's need for a public parking lot, improvements to stormwater drainage along the Accident-Friendsville Road, and the mowing of grass along the newly constructed roads in the Central Garrett Industrial Park.

Drane House Project

The Accident Cultural and Historical Society reported that good progress is being made on the Drane House preservation project. Two officials of the Maryland Historical Trust were in Accident on April 28 and met with the members of the Society. An on-site visit of the Drane House property was made, and a discussion followed on the plans for restoration and the administrative procedures for receipt of grant funding from Maryland Historical Trust. A fundraising campaign is presently underway for matching funds.

During the May business meeting, the Council appointed William Aiken of Accident as the newest member to the Accident Cultural and Historical Society.

Comprehsnsive Development Plan

The Accident Municipal Planning Commission, with staff assistance from the Western Regional Office of the Maryland Department of State Planning, have spent the past several months updating the 1971 Comprehensive Development Plan for the Town of Accident.

A public hearing on the draft plan will be held on May 16 at 7:30 p.m. at the Town Hall, Accident Municipal Building. All interested citizens are urged to attend. Copies of the draft plan are available for public inspection at the Ruth Enlow Library, Accident Branch, or from the Town Clerk.

Tax Rate

The Mayor and Town Council set the 1988-89 tax rate at 53 cents per $100 of assessed property value, the same as last year's rate. In efforts to continue to promote economic development within the Town, a tax credit of 50 percent will be granted on inventory personal property.

Cable Television

The Council recently met with Tom Millitzer, president of Charter Cable Systems, Inc., of Cincinnati, Ohio, to discuss the proposed transfer of the cable television franchise to his company and the franchise renewal. The purchase transfer from Laurel Highlands of Pittsburgh is scheduled to take place this month.

All present subscribers will be notified directly of the change by Charter Cable Systems. The Council passed an ordinance consenting to the assignment of the franchise.

Millitzer stated his company plans to add a number of new channels in about six months. The Council requested that consideration be given to bringing a channel from the east that would provide Maryland news.

Sewage Treatment Plant

At the request of the Town, officials from the Maryland Center of Environmental Training, LaPlata, are providing technical assistance in the operation of the Town's sewage treatment plant. Training in process control and sludge management will be provided on-site at least one day a month for six months. The inflow and infiltration problems in the sewage collection lines will also be studied.

Town Parks

Facilites in the Accident Community Parks East and West opened for the season on May 1. The Central Garrett Baseball League games are scheduled for the playing field at the Accident Community Park East.

Reservations are being accepted for use of the large pavilion in the Accident Community Park West. The pavilion contains tables for seating about 60 people. Two smaller pavilions were constructed in the park last fall by the Town's workforce under the direction of Roger Knox. Each of these smaller pavilions seats around 15 persons.

For futher information or reservations, persons may contact Marjorie Fratz, Town Clerk, at 826-8149.

First United Rated Among Best In Nation

Sheshunoff and Company, a Texas-based consulting firm which measures all banks nationally on safety and soundness, has ranked First United National Bank & Trust one of the best banks in America for its performance during 1987.

Richard G. Stanton, president of First United, stated that it was "gratifying" to learn of this recognition. He praised the directors, officers and employees for their "hard work and dedicaiton," which made it possible for the Bank to achieve this high standard. He also challenged employees to continue to strive for high levels of quality customer service.

First United National Bank & Trust operates 15 offices and 12 automated teller machines throughout Allegany and Garrett counties. At year end 1987, the Bank had $270 million in assets, deposits of $244 million, and capital resources totalling $23 million.

The Bank employs 234 persons locally, with an annual payroll of over $4 million.

Commissioners Meet With DCL Business Assoc.

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners met Tuesday with the Deep Creek Lake Businessmen's Association at their request to discuss several issues of mutual concern.

The lake businessmen expressed their support of the increased budget request of the Deep Creek Lake/Garrett County Promotion Council. They also expressed concerns about the accommodations tax and how it will be divided.

The lake group also inquired about the status of the Deep Creek Lake Information Center. They suggested that the Promotion Council be located at that site upon the completion of expansion of that facility.

A discussion also ensued on the airport expansion project. The commissioners told the businessmen that they would soon be meeting State Aviation officials for news of the consulting study.

Lake beautification efforts were also discussed.

Concerns were also aired about the intervention of the Federal Regulatory Commission (FERC) in Deep Creek Lake matters. Commissioner Elwood Groves II agreed, "FERC continues to intervene at their discretion with total disregard to decisions carefully made by county government, Penelec and Deep Creek Lake Management," he stated.

He then cited instances of FERC intervention and called them "an unflappable vacuum."

"They question our decisions, ignore our concerns and cut us off at the knees when they don't even know the first thing about our situation," Groves stated emphatically. "I resent that."

The commissioners felt their meeting with the Deep Creek Lake businessmen was a positive one.

Mishap Results In Injuries, Driver Gets DWI Charge

Two people were injured in a two-vehicle accident last Saturday which resulted in one driver being charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol.

James E. Kent, 37, Kitzmiller, was charged following the 5:15 mishap on the Oakland-Deer Park Road. Both Kent and a passenger,Charles D. Knox, 21, also of Kitzmiller, were treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital following the accident, according to a spokesman there.

Maryland State Police at McHenry said Kent was westbound in a 1981 Pontiac T1000 when it crossed the center line, striking a 1978 AMC Concord driven by Jackey A. Hornby, 35, Accident, in the left front.

Besides the DWI charge, Tfc. D.G. Riggleman charged Kent with failing to keep to the right of the center line and operating a motor vehicle in violation of a provisional license requirement.

The Southern Garrett County Rescue Squard responded to the mishap. Police said Hornby and a passenger, Dusty A. Roy, 16, Accident, were not injured.

A Pennsylvania man was injured last Friday in an accident involving a tractor trailer on Route 219.

Police said William A. King, 58, Adah, Pa., was injured when his 1983 Chevrolet S-10 Blazer collided with a tractor trailer operated by Brit E. Carpenter, 31, Elk Garden, W.Va.

King was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad, where a spokesman reported that he was treated and transferred to West Virginia University Hospital. That hospital reported that King has apparently been discharged.

Police said King was traveling north on Route 219 when he attempted to swat a bee which had entered the vehicle. King lost control and crossed the center line, then attempted to avoid colliding with the truck by steering to the right. However, the two vehicles collided, and the blazer continued on into a ditch.

Tpr. P.R. Brown, who investigated the incident, reported that Carpenter was not injured in the mishap.

A Deer Park man was injured May 5 in a four-wheeler accident on private property near his home.

Reese Tasker, 56, was treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital following the accident, according to a spokesman there.

According to police reports, Tasker was traveling down a slope in a field, and felt that the vehicle's brakes were not adequate. He drifted the four-wheeler to slow down, then attempted to step off the vehicle. However, Tasker's foot was caught in the rear tire, causing a twisted ankle.

Tfc. D.G. Riggleman investigated the mishap.

A 16-year-old Gorman youth was injured Sunday in a two-vehicle accident on Route 90 in Grant County, W.Va.

Joy Lee Uphold was treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital following the 9 p.m. accident.

West Virginia State Police reported that Uphold's vehicle was struck by a car driven by Russell H. Wolfe, 82, Bayard, W.Va.

Tpr. T.L. Shrader, who investigated the mishap, reported that Wolfe was charged with entering the highway in the face of oncoming traffic. Wolfe was apparently uninjured.

HERRINGTON MANOR LAKE CLOSED

The Herrington Manor State Park Lake will be closed to fishing and swimming from 8:00 a.m., May 17 through 8:00 a.m., May 19. Once this occurs, the lake is no longer desirable for fishing, boating or swimming.

All required permits and approvals have been applied for and received by the Park from the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, Maryland Fisheries Administration, the Maryland Water Resources Administration, and the Maryland Department of Agriculture.

We're Hear To Help

by Pamela A. Martin, CCCA

HEAR, HEAR

It is a fairly tricky task for parents to check their newborn's hearing ability. However, those parents with a history of childhood deafness may want to try. Naturally, a newborn is bound to be distracted by anything in its proximity. A loud hand clap, however, at a distance of two feet from a resting baby should elicit a startled response. By the time an infant is six months old, she will begin to localize sound with a turn of her head toward the noise source. At the age of one year and four months, this localization process should be quite specific. A three-year-old's hearing should be acute enough to detect a ticking watch. Of course, much more sophisticated electronic testing is available.

Hearing is a most precious sense that we possess. It is important to our well being and enjoyment of living. ALLEGANY HEARING & SPEECH ASSOCIATES offers the hearing instruments that can help many who suffer from hearing loss. If you have such a problem, we invite you to come and see what we can do for you.

Parents should not try to scare children with loud sounds while "testing" for mild hearing loss.

GT For Everyone . . .

There is a special program which exists in the Garrett County school system that we believe is not only mis-named, but is in great need of expansion into other areas of learning.

We refer to the so-called Gifted and Talented program, which is available to students beginning in the second or third grade who demonstrate superior or accelerated skills in the language arts: reading, writing, language and comprehension.

Now before the GT teachers in the county become enraged with our introduction, we wish to state emphatically that, in our opinion, Garrett County's GT teachers are doing an outstanding job. The education of those students fortunate enough to be enrolled in the GT program is being enriched tremendously because of the skill, creativity and downright hard work of our GT teachers.

Our complaint is that only those students who demonstrate well above average ability in language arts are accepted for the GT program. What about the more analytical student, whose reading and writing skills may be below, at, or only slightly above average, but whose math skills are accelerated? How about the student whose language and math skills are not outstanding, but who is superior in the fine arts? Do not these students, who are also gifted and talented in other areas, deserve the same enrichment opportunities as those who excel in language arts?

We understand that in some of our schools, such as Broad Ford Elementary, there are accelerated math classes because of the efforts of individual teachers and the administration. But we also understand that, while there is a comprehensive language arts curriculum for the Garrett County school system, there is no such curriculum for math and science.

The embarrassing scores in math by students of the United States when compared to those of the Europeans and Japanese are often blamed on the shortage of math/science teachers, or on the competency of those we have. We submit that the real problem is that our top math/science students are not being challenged nor encouraged to develop and utilize their skills.

Reading and writing are certainly important, but so are math and science. For that matter, so are art and music. If funding is the problem, then steps should be taken to secure the extra funding, so all of our truly gifted and talented students are treated equally.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

The Beef Checkoff has received a lot of attention lately, but may be not a lot of understanding by those who benefit from it.

It is important for all of us in the beef industry to understand that everyone pays-even importers. The fact that importers must pay is, in my opinion, one of the things that makes this program equitable.

Up to half of the Checkoff funds are controlled by our State Beef Councils, so there is a very strong element of local control.

We can see that beef is making a comeback. One very important reason is the Checkoff. I hope people will remember that and take the time to vote "Yes" on the Checkoff at their County Extension Office on May 10. The Beef Checkoff is an investment in our future.

Truly your friends

To the Editor:

On behalf of the Garrett County Teachers Association and the approximately 350 teachers in the Garrett County public schools, we would like to thank everyone who participated in Teacher Appreciation Week, May 1-7. Special thanks to the county commissioners, not only for being supportive of education and teachers, but for being cooperative during the "non-traditional" proclamation signing photo; to Board of Ed. A&S personnel and to Dr. Ryscavage for his guest editorial; to The Republican newspaper for media coverage; to the businesses that displayed marquees and posters; and , most especially, to the parents and students for all their kindness.

There is a teacher shortage in this country and it is escalating. Hiring, as well as retaining, well trained, competent teaching professionals is of top-most priority to systems (and teachers) nationwide. The reasons are many. The public often times only hears or reads about the negative aspects of schools. We're pleased to say that we're proud of our schools and our teachers. The positive outweighs the negative many times over. special times, such as Teacher Appreciation Week, can help give well deserved recognition to one of this country's most vital professions. But perhaps, on a more personal level, this public acknowledgement will give an individual teacher that pat on the back or vote of confidence that what he/she is doing is valued and appreciated. Or perhaps it might motivate one more student to consider teaching as a positive career choice.

To all those who took a minute or two and thanked a teacher for a job well done, the teachers say, "Thank you!"

We apologize that not all teachers were pictured in last week's Republican. Absences, scheduling conflicts and other reasons made it difficult to photograph all. We attempted to include as many teachers as possible.

To the Editor:

The Public Hearing on fluoride held Tuesday, May 10 has come and gone and some lingering questions remain on my mind. One being, where were the residents of Oakland and its surrounding area? What they missed was a great presentation by Dr. Alvin Friend on not only the benefits of fluoride, but also the horrors of neglect and improper dental hygiene. Believe me, it was a real eye opener.

When meetings like these are called by the Town of Oakland they are used as a tool for gathering information, not only for the Mayor and Council, but also for the public. In order to make rational decisions on a subject such as fluoride, whether a public official or as a private citizen, one needs to hear the facts, pro and con, to be weighed and sorted. Then, and only then, can a beneficial conclusion be reached.

Please take advantage of these informational meetings. You will only be helping the town make its decisions, but you may also be helping yourself in your daily life.

capable of hauling the larger articles of debris such as barrels or scrap lumber from docks, a group of volunteers will travel the roads adjacent to the lake with suitable vehicles for the pick-up of such articles. These volunteers from the Property Owners' Association and the Businessmen's Association will pick up only articles of debris of a convenient size which can be lifted by the average person. Those items include old dock flotations, separated pieces of lumber from old docks, and empty barrels, provided holes have been punched in both ends of the barrel.

Such articles should be placed on the lake side of roads immediately adjacent to Deep Creek Lake. It should be noted that the volunteers will not pick up leaves, brush, tires, household litter, stumps or driftwood.

The roads that will be followed by the volunteers on Sunday, May 22, include the following: Marsh Hill Road, Deep Creek Drive (old Route 219), Lake Shore Drive, Mayhew Inn Road (Lake Shore Drive to breast of dam), Lake Forest Drive, Skipper's Point Drive, Stockslager Road (along lake only), Shingle Camp Road (lake end), Route 219 between Deep Creek bridge and Thayerville, Rock Lodge Road (along lake), State Park Road (Cherry Creek-Glendale Bridge), John Brant Road, Glendale (along lake), Glen Cove Road (along lake), Beckman's Peninsula Road, White Oak Drive (along lake), Harvey's Peninsula Road (along lake), Clark Lohr Drive (off North Glade Road), Thousand Acres Road (along lake), Sky Valley Drive (along lake), Green Glade Road (along lake), Maybury-Poland Drive (along lake), Hazelhurst Road (along lake), Pine Tree Point Road (along lake), Turkey Neck loop and roads into Yacht Club, Back Bay Colony, and Hickory Ridge, Chadderton School Road, Pergin Farms Road, Penn Point Road, Boy Scout Road (at points bordering lake), and Paradise Point Road (by lake).

Any interested groups or individuals willing to volunteer should contact the Lake Management Office at 387-4111 or 387-4112. Pickup trucks, stake body trucks, and dump trucks with drivers and helpers are in particular need, Schwaab said.

Landowners should be aware that special accommodation has been made for the receiving of barrels at the county landfill for this weekend only.

Lake property owners are asked to make every possible attempt to transport their debris to the county landfill. However, those persons who do not have vehicles capable of hauling larger articles should place them on the lake side of the above listed roads before 5 p.m. on Saturday, May 21, for pickup.

Turney Sentences Oakland Man For Resisting Arrest

An Oakland man was sentenced to three years in the Department of Corrections by Judge Jack Turney last week during a trial held in Garrett County District Court.

David F. Moon, 32, was sentenced for a charge of resisting arrest. Turney then suspended the sentence, placing Moon on 18 months supervised probation and fining him $100.

Moon was found guilty of the charge in an earlier trial, when a pre-sentence investigation was ordered. He was found not guilty of a disorderly conduct charge.

The charges, filed by Detective Larry E. Gnegy of the Garrett County Sheriff's Department, stemmed from a January 10 incident in Oakland.

Moon was represented bv Robert Hesson.

In other cases, Mark E. McDonald, 27, Catherpin, Va., was sentenced to one year in the Garrett County Jail for a charge of unlawful possession of a controlled dangerous substance.

The sentence was then suspended, and Turney placed McDonald on 18 months supervised probation.

The judge had ordered a presentence investigation for McDonald after finding him guilty of the charge in December.

According to court documents, the charge was filed by Tfc. D.W. Broadwater of the Maryland State Police last October when suspected marijuana was found in McDonald's car.

Judge Turney sentenced David H. Ringer, 31, Accident, to one year in the Garrett County Jail, then suspended the sentence and placed him on one year probation with a $50 fine.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered for Ringer when he was found guilty of a battery charge during a March 15 trial.

The charge stemmed from a January 29 incident in Accident, and was filed by John P. Beitzel, Accident. Ringer was represented by John R. Toston, Public Defender.

Edward M. Knotts, 19, Aurora, W.Va., was sentenced to 30 days in the Garrett County Jail for a charge of harrassment. Turney then suspended the sentence and placed him on 12 months supervised probation with a $25 fine. Knotts was also fined $25 for a trespassing charge.

Turney had found Knotts guilty of the charges in a District Court trial in March. The complainant was Cheryl Bittinger, Oakland.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered for Greogry F. Louis, 23, Swanton, after the judge found him guilty of charges of intoxication and resisting arrest.

The charges were filed by Detective Gnegy of the Sheriff's Department following an April 1 incident at an apartment on Route 135.

The judge also ordered a presentence investigation for Joseph P. Graham Sr., 27, Jennings, after finding him guilty of theft.

The complainant was Charles E. Snyder, Cumberland, who filed the charge following an April 4 incident in Jennings involving the theft of cash.

Kenneth L. Stinson, 29, Mtn. Lake Park, was found to be guilty of a charge of destruction of property, and a pre-sentence investigation was ordered.

The charge stemmed from a March 28 incident involving a vehicle in Deer Park, and was filed by Lori Griffith, Oakland.

The judge found Sheldon Sisler, 25, Friendsville, to be not guilty of two counts of theft filed by Robert Ayersman, Oakland.

Placed on the stet docket were five counts of destruction of property filed against James A. Butscher, 19, Oakland.

The charges, filed by Oakland City Police Chief John K. Sines, were the result of several incidents last December involving various residences in the Oakland area. Butscher's attorny was Richard F. Green.

Also placed on the stet docket was a charge of theft against Stanley W. Cosner, 22, Oakland. The complainant was Linda Shaffer, Mtn. Lake Park. Cosner was represented by Toston.

A charge of battery against Frank V. Perry, 38, Mtn. Lake Park, was placed on the stet docket.

The charge was filed by Gloria Burns, also of Mtn. Lake Park, following a March 23 incident there. Perry was represented by Toston.

Also placed on the stet docket was a charge of battery against Lucinda M. Wilt, 23, Accident, filed by William H. Wilt, also of Accident.

Whitewater Signs Recently Erected On St. Highways

Signs have been erected by the Maryland State Highway Administration to direct spectators to the Maryland International Canoe/Kayak Classic set for June 23-26, on the Savage River near Bloomington.

The signs are located on U.S. Route 48, west bound at the one-mile marker of the Maryland/West Virginia state line in Garrett County, west bound on U.S. 40-48 just east of Cumberland in Allegany County; I-70, west bound at the Maryland/Pennsylvania line; and I-70, west bound east of Hancock in Washington County.

Approximately two weeks prior to the race, exit information will be added to the bottom of the four signs to direct motorists to the designated parking/transportation areas.

After the 1988 Maryland International Canoe/Kayak Classic, the signs will be changed to reflect the '89 Worlds to be held in June of 1989. They will remain in place until after those championships.

All signs directing motorists will be consistent with the white on brown and contain the Whitewater Championships logo which is distinctive of a kayaker in red, white and blue.

According to George Small, assistant district engineer/traffic for the State of Maryland and vice president of transportation for Whitewater Championsips, Inc., "Signing is a part of the overall program of the state to direct motorists to the designated parking areas and transport spectators to the race site."

He further emphasized, "No spectators will be allowed to drive their vehicles to the race site; they must use provided transportation."

Designated parking areas are: Big Run State Park; the Allegany County Fairgrounds, located off U.S. Route 220; and the Old Hi-Rock Drive In, on U.S. 220. Bus service will be provided from the parking lots between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. daily. Ticket prices will include parking, bus transportation and entrance to the races.

A "special excursion train" will run from the Allegany County Fairgrounds and the Oakland Train Station on Saturday and Sunday only. Food concessions will be available at the site and various exhibitions and entertainment will be provided during the event.

Opening ceremonies will be held at Frostburg State University stadium on Tuesday, June 21. The United States Navy Band will open the ceremonies with a concert at 6:15 p.m., followed by "The Parade of World Athletes."

An "International Food Fest," catered by Marriott Hotels/Resorts will be held on the FSU campus near Chesapeake Hall from 7:30 to 10 p.m. Entertainment will be provided by "Country Current," a special unit of the Navy Band which features country music.

The opening ceremonies are FREE and open to the public. Ethnic foods and drink may be purchased also.

Additional information may be obtained by calling the Deep Creek Lake/Garrett County Promotion Council at 301-334-1948; Allegany County Tourism at 1-301-777-5905; or Whitewater Championships, Inc., at 1-301-387-4282.

Garrett Co. And Surrounding Area Featured In National Magazine

Garrett County and the surrounding area is featured in the May/June issue of "Mother Earth News," a national magazine that calls itself "the original country magazine."

The article, written by Elizabeth Brown and titled "Cream of the Country: The Southern Alleghenies, A Rich and Rewarding Region of New America," lists some of the most attractive and some of the least attractive features of Garrett and Allegany counties in Maryland, Bedford County in Pennsylvania, and Mineral County in West Virginia.

The author lists such factors as the low crime rate, a lack of urban congestion, the good people, and the beautiful countryside as positives. While negatives include a poor economy and few available jobs.

The article goes into detail about the outdoor pleasures that are available throughout the region which, for many, help make up for the relative lack of high-income employment opportunities. Also listed are details of each county's climate, economy, population, unemployment, per captia income, and education.

As a sidebar story called "Allegheny Tales," the author speaks with several families who moved to the area over the last decade and describes what they found, how they handled what they found in the mountains, the compromises they had to make, and whether they decided to stay full time, work away part time, or move away completely, and for what reasons.

The magazine gives a comparatively truthfull picture of the region, and is available at local newsstands at the price of $3 per copy.

Our Turn

Guess Who's Cookin'?

by Pam Ashby

As I entered the kitchen of some friends' home, I assumed chips and colas were being prepared for our regular Sunday night Pictionary championships. What I saw, though, was a minor miracle — 11-year-old Stanley (alias R.D.) was making Rice Krispies treats with his dad, no less. I learned later that he began the project with his mom, but that she had been rushed to Our Lady of Peace for emergency therapy. What a domestic scene. It was just like home.

Now, mind you, Stanley doesn't cook as a rule. Mostly, he's a couch potato who frequents the kitchen only during half-time or station identification. But here he was, ready to spread that gooey mixture into the well-greased pan with his well-greased hands. Quite frankly, the entire kitchen was well-greased. I learned, as I watched in horror, that Stanley was doing this because he was in the cooking phase of his home economics class.

Before departing for Our Lady, Stanley's mother recounted some of the events that had led to her demise. It seems as though she trusted Stanley enough to read a recipe while she threw in a load of laundry downstairs. That was her first mistake. The recipe had called for 40 large marshmallows or four cups of miniature marshmallows. Something just wasn't right when mom came back to check on Stanley's progress. After threatening . . . er . . . interrogating Stanley, she discovered he had carefully counted out 40 miniature marshmallows. Back to the drawing board (which is where Stanley would have preferred to be anyway.)

A rule of culinary education is to "clean it as you go." I cringed as Stanley did just that. There were utensils and pots in the dish drainer, drying right side up with several inches of water in them and with oil slicks abounding. "Stanley" I foolishly stated, "you might want to wash those dishes with hot water and turn them upside down."

"Naw," he replied. "What's the difference? Water is water." I didn't argue with the budding young chef.

Besides the pots in the drainer matched everything else in the kitchen. I suppose that's why we all kept sliding off our chairs and falling down everytime we walked across the floor. And the gobs of butter on the just-washed tea towel blended nicely with the yellow floral pattern.

Finally, Stanley was ready to cut the treats into neat(?) little squares. As he passed them around and mom took several (aren't moms great?) he came to me and said, "Would you care for one?"

"What bad timing, Stanley," I replied. "I just started a diet yesterday." I wasn't lying. There is a reason for everything and God is in his heaven.

CCC Reunion Slated May 21 At Deep Creek

The second annual state-wide reunion of the Civilian Conservation Corps will be held at Deep Creek Lake State Park, pavilion number six, on Saturday, May 21, noon to 6 p.m.

Garrett County was the home of seven CCC camps from 1933 through 1942 and was responsible for a variety of construction and conservation projects in the area. The CCC was a pet project of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, who initiated the program to provide employment and help the nation out of its great depression.

Each camp consisted of four barracks which housed about 200 young single men between the ages of 17 and 23. There were a few camps for World War I veterans, most of whom were over 40 years old at the time.

All parking by the pavilion has been reserved for the veterans, many of whom are disabled because of age, ailment, or by injuries suffered in World Wars I and II. Activities include country and gospel music by local musicians.

All former enrollees, officers, foremen, and families from all states are welcome. The reunion headquarters are at the Oak-Land Motel, Oakland, phone 334-2171. Further information about the event can be obtained from Dennis Abe, College Park Md.; telephone 779-1137.

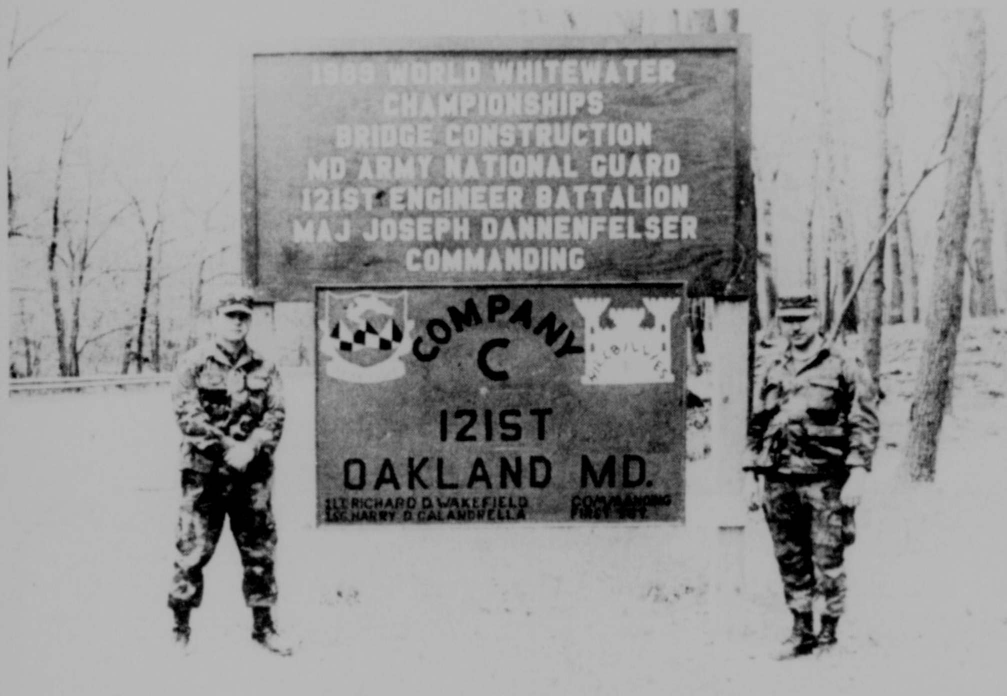
Company "C", 121st Battalion Lays Foundation For Pedestrian Bridges On The Savage River



LOCAL PRIDE — Lt. Rick Wakefield, commanding officer of Company "C", Oakland, and Sgt. Moses Miller took time to pose with the sign recently erected at the Savage River Whitewater Championship site. "I can't say enough about how the men worked so hard to complete a project that Garrett County can be proud of," stated Lt. Wakefield.

by Pam Ashby

It was like pulling onto the set of a M.A.S.H. episode last week when The Republican was invited to join Company "C", Oakland, 121st Engineer Batallion of the U.S. Army National Guard. Lt. Rick Wakefield met us at the briefing tent where a scale model of two bridges was housed. Company "C" was responsible for laying the foundation and anchor systems for two pedestrian bridges.

The unit completed two weeks of summer training last Friday on the Savage River near Bloomington. The two pedestrian bridges begun by Company "C" are being completed this week and next by Company "B" out of Cumberland. The bridges are being built at the request of the state and Whitewater Championships, Inc. for use during the The 1988 International and the 1989 World Whitewater Championships.

Although working on a strict timetable hampered by snow and rain, the 125 guardsmen from Company "C" completed their part of the bridge project in the time alloted.

Lt. Wakefield, who recently took over command of the local battalion, noted that funds for the project were obtained from federal grant monies. Many of the supplies used were purchased in the State of Maryland, up to 25 percent in Western Maryland.

Before work could begin on laying the foundations for the bridges, the men used everything from a front-end loader to a pick and shovel for site preparation.

Countless hours were spent hauling supplies to the foundation sites. "Some days the men began work at 6 a.m. and didn't finish until midnight," said Lt. Wakefield.

"This was excellent training for the men," he continued. "We were apprehensive at first but it all came together. Everyone contributed in his area of expertise — from private to lieutenent. Many of them brought skills from their civilian jobs."

After preparing the sites, which included tree removal and earth moving, the various platoons from the battalion were assigned the duties of building forms, pouring forms and installing special eye bolts and turnbuckles for the bridge cables.

"This was crucial," said Lt. Wakefield. "If they are set at wrong angles, the bridges could collapse. There were stringent guidelines we had to follow."

Those guidelines, more stringent than federal regulations, were mandated by the state.

To get across the Savage, which is growing stronger everyday with the spring rains, the men used makeshift bridges. With everything in place, the 38 yards of concrete were poured into each dead man that would support the bridges and house the special eye bolts.

The idea of pedestrian bridges was a brainchild of Whitewater Championships, Inc., the organization based in McHenry and is responsible for the running of the championship races. The project was boosted by the state and Governor William Donald Schaefer.

The blueprints were drawn, grants were obtained and materials were ordered and the project became a reality.

The bridges, similar to the Golden Gate Bridge with its cable system, were designed by Major Joseph F. Dannenfelser, Major Albert Schweizer and Major William Pulket.

The bridges will include four 30-foot towers and stairs or ramps for access across the Savage River. Company "B" is now in the process of installing the 14 bridge panels they have been constructing over the winter months.

The bridges were designed to blend into scenery at the Savage and designers worked with the Department of Natural Resources in keeping with the landscape.

Company "C" has untertaken numerous projects over the years, but Lt. Wakefield stated that they had never completed a project of "such magnitude."

By the end of their two weeks, Company "C" had poured 70 tons or 48,000 feet of concrete. Families of the battalion were guests at the site last Thursday night to see what their fathers and husbands did while they were away at summer camp.

And camp is what they did. Tents for the mission were obtained from all over the state. The camp was completely self-sufficient, complete with a supply tent, living quarters, the cook's tent and the mess tent. The food looked much better than how Hawkeye from M.A.S.H. described Army food. Aside from their other duties, the men were also assigned K.P. and latrine duty.

It was regular Army all the way as the tour made its way around the bridge site and the encampment. The men were polite and willing to share what their individual duties were. "Morale has been high these past two weeks," said Lt. Wakefield.

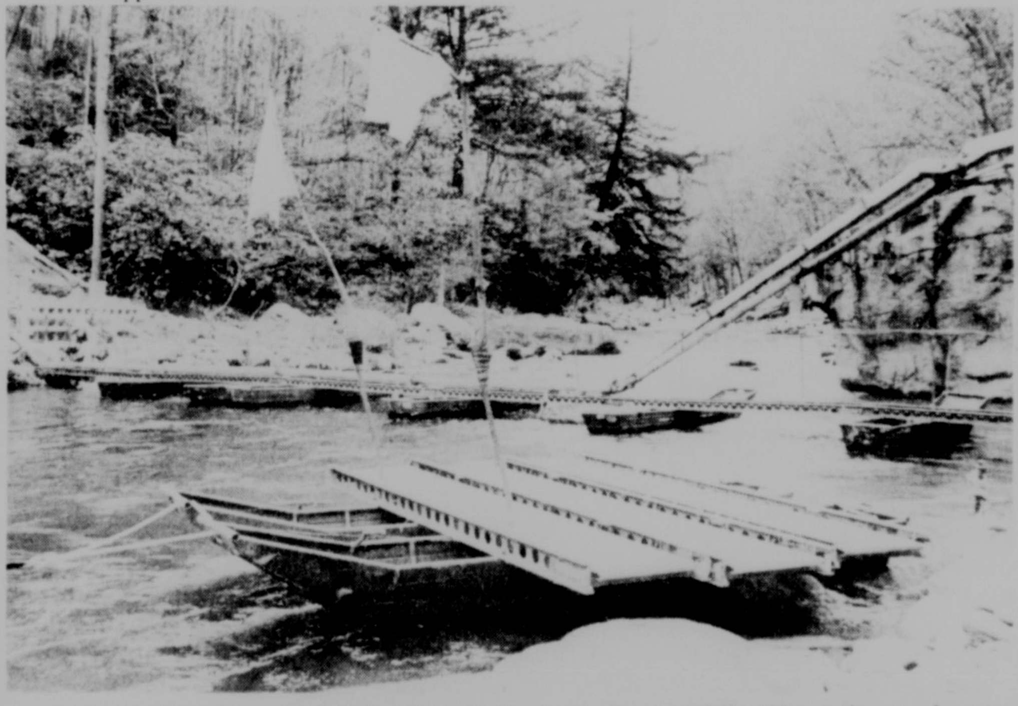
"I'm so proud of these guys," he stated. "Here is a project that Garrett Countians can benefit from. I hope the bridges stay in place so that the residents can continue to use them."

The Bloomington Fire Department also benefitted from the project because Company "C" donated the firewood from the trees that had to be removed from the site.

The Savage pedestrian bridge project will be featured in an upcoming cover story of "Soldier Magazine."

SCHWING 580/23

PIPING CONCRETE across the Savage River was among the many duties of Company "C" last week. Dead men (foundations), below, were formed of 38 yards of concrete and house the eye bolts for the cables that will support the two wooden bridges. Guardsmen from every walk of life brought with them knowledge to complete the task.



THE S.S. KELLEY — Pictured is the "ship" named after one of the 125 guardsmen who were responsible for laying the foundations for the two pedestrian bridges being constructed on the Savage River for the upcoming Whitewater Canoe/Kayak Races. The craft was constructed to haul materials from one side of the river to the other.

Fluoridation

introduce it?' It was my understanding that the town decided it wanted fluoride years ago."

Mayor Asa McCain replied, "We recognize that the town, not by referendum, decided to go with fluoride years ago, so I guess the question is, 'Do we want to pursue grant monies for equipment to re-introduce it'?"

Another citizen asked, "How is it that it has been two years that we haven't had fluoride in our drinking water and didn't even know it? Had I known my children weren't receiving fluoride, I would have made arrangement with my dentist for supplements."

Mayor McCain, who took office only last month, deferred the question to Councilman Moyer who stated, "By law, we only have to asnwer to the State Health Department. We are not breaking the law by not having fluoride. It is not mandated by the state. They do receive reports and we did inform them when each fluoride system broke down."

Glotfelty interjected that the information was not shared with the local Health Department. "When we were informed of the faulty fluoride equipment, we urged them to make a public statement so that parents could provide fluoride to their children by other means. We also told them about grants that were available for obtaining new equipment," Glotfelty said.

When asked about the safety of the proposed new equipment, Glotfelty stated, "The new system provides state of the art equipment. The water will be tested two or three times a day as it is already for other chemicals."

Glotfelty also indicated that Oakland was on the top of the priority list for full funding of equipment which will cost approxmiately $7,000, training expenses for water department employees and chemicals for the first year of operation. Thereafter, the cost of the fluoride would amount to about 60 cents a year for each Oakland resident.

Town officials said they would complete the necessary paperwork to apply for the grant for this fiscal year.

Mayor McCain stated Tuesday night, "After hearing the testimony and seeing the benefits of fluoride in my own children, I am convinced that the town needs to re-introduce fluoride and to begin budgeting for it. It would be one giant step backward for Oakland if we do not."

Glotfelty told The Republican this morning that he was happy with the results of the vote. "I am glad that the town will pursue the grant funding for the re-introduction of fluoride into the Oakland water system. I feel it sets a good example for other towns who are debating fluoride. Fluoride benefits everyone."

He said the Health Department was willing to work with every other town in promoting fluoride for water systems.

Rams Continue To Roll As They Record 51 Runs In Four More Wins

The Southern Rams are on a roll, a steam roll, that is, as they scored 51 runs in their last four games and strengthened their position as the number one high school baseball team in the area. Coach Jim Bosley's squad has now won 14 games in a row, which is a school record, with their latest victims being Central Preston, whom they crushed in a doubleheader on Saturday in Oakland, 10-0 and 18-2, the visiting Valley Black Knights, who were mashed 12-1 on Tuesday, and the Spartans of Bishop Walsh, who were whipped 11-3 Wednesday, also in Oakland.

The 15-1 Rams will face a stiff challenge this afternoon when they host their arch rivals, the Northern Huskies; they will entertain a tough Allegany team on Friday; and they will conclude their regular season at Northern on Monday.

J.R. Bosley struck out seven batters and fired a no-run one-hitter for the Rams in the first game against Central Preston on Saturday, while Bo Butler rapped a homer, a triple and a single to bring home six runs in the second contest.

Southern wasted no time against the Cavaliers, scoring eight runs in the first inning and adding two more in the sixth to end the game on the 10-run rule. Brent Sanders led the Rams' offensive effort with a double and two singles, which recorded four RBIs.

Central Preston opened the scoring in the second game with a single run in the first inning, but the Rams came back in the second frame with seven runs, added two in the third and nine in the fourth to once again end the game early.

Besides Butler's three hits, Bobby Bernard added a pair of doubles and a single and Scott Damon rapped a double and a single for three RBIs.

Zack Gibson and Jason Park combined for a two-hitter, with Gibson getting credit for the win, his fourth in as many starts.

Glenn DeWitt, Brian Metheny (4), Stene Miller (4) and Devall; Jack Gibson, Jason Park (5) and Bernard.

A grand slam home run by Bosley in the fifth inning was the highlight of the game against Valley, in which the Rams avenged their only loss of the season. Southern was upset by the Black Knights in their second outing of the year.

Gibson led off the first inning for Southern with a walk, was singled to third by Bobby Horner, and scored on a sacrifice fly by Bosley.

The Rams added four runs in the second frame, as Shawn Nesselrodt led off with a single, followed by walks to Jamie Colaw and Gibson, which loaded the bases. Horner then reached on an error which scored Nesselrodt, Butler followed with a single to score a run, Bosley walked to load the bases again, and Jason Park followed with a two-run single.

HR: J.R. Bosley grand slam (Southern).

The Black Knights recorded their only run of the game in the fourth inning, but the Rams added six more runs in the fifth to end the game early.

Shawn Nesselrodt led off the fifth with a double, Bernard reached on an error, Gibson singled to drive in Shawn Nesselrodt and Doug Nesselrodt followed with a hit. Butler then walked to load the bases and Bosley ended the game with his grand slam.

Butler gained the win on the mound, going the distance, striking out seven batters, and yielding four hits. The victory raised his personal record to 5-0.

It was the eighth loss in 14 starts for Valley, as Jack Snyder was tagged for the defeat on the mound.

If it weren't for the hitting of the Nesselrodt duo in yesterday's game against Bishop Walsh, the Rams conceivably could have been upset by the hapless Spartans, as Gibson, Horner, Butler and Bosley had but one hit between them. Doug and Shawn Nesselrodt each finished with three hits; however the majority of Southern's runs were unearned.

Three of those unearned runs occurred in the second inning when Bosley walked, Park reached on an error, Doug Nesselrodt reached on a bunt error, and Sanders was walked to force home the first run of the game. Colaw then hit a sacrifice fly to score Park and Nesselrodt came home on a wild pitch to give the Rams a 3-0 lead.

Bishop Walsh recorded a run in the third when Jeff Walter doubled, moved to third on a bunt by Joe Ross, and scored on an error.

The Rams added three more unearned runs in the fourth, when Doug Nesselrodt doubled, Shawn Nesselrodt singled, Colaw walked to load the bases, and Gibson reached on an error which brought home two runs. Colaw then scored on a passed ball.

In the fifth, Doug Nesselrodt rapped a two-out single, moved to second on an overthrow, and came home on a single by Shawn Nesselrodt.

The Rams scored four more runs in the sixth, two of which were again via the Nesselrodts. Colaw led off with a double and, with two outs, Butler singled Colaw home. Bosley and Park then reached on errors to score Butler and the Nesselrodts followed with back-to-back singles to conclude the scoring.

Bosley went the distance for the Rams, giving up four hits, striking out six, and walking four.

"With the score just 3-1 going into the fifth against a team we beat 18-2 earlier this year, I was really concerned," stated Coach Bosley. "Our kids played with no enthusiasm at all and we had a long talk about that after the game. Hopefully it showed them that you have to play every game with equal enthusiasm, regardless of your and your opponent's win-loss records."

Bosley is expected to put Gibson on the mound this afternoon against Northern.

The regional playoffs will begin the latter part of next week, with the Rams most likely hosting an opponent on Saturday, May 21.

A LOT OF FISH FOR A LITTLE FISHERMAN — Four-year-old James Kenner II, son of James and Sharon Kenner, Grantsville, is off to a quick start at becoming a master fisherman, as he recently pulled this 24-and-one-half-inch, four-pound chain pickerel from Deep Creek Lake while fishing with his father. Mrs. Kenner says her son has been fishing since he was able to walk, but this was by far his biggest catch to date.

Lakers Conclude With 36 Hits And A Sweep

It was incorrectly reported last week in The Republican that the Garrett Community College baseball team wrapped up its 1988 spring season by splitting a doubleheader with CCAC-South of Pittsburgh. In reality, the Lakers swept the twinbill with ease, winning the first game, 18-6, and the nightcap, 13-9, as they rapped a total of 36 hits on the afternoon. The victories left the Lakers, a team composed of 15 freshmen and five sophomores, with a 19-29-1 final record.

Final season statistics for the Lakers will appear in next week's issue of The Republican.

Huskies Whip Mt. Savage, 8-1, But Rally Falls Short Against Beall

A four-run rally in the bottom of the seventh brought the Northern Huskies close, but it was not enough as they fell to powerful Beall Wednesday afternoon, 6-5, at Northern.

The Huskies did pick up a big win on Tuesday, however, by rolling over Mt. Savage, 8-1, at the Cove.

Danny Sines provided the offensive and defensive punch for the Huskies against Mt. Savage on Tuesday, as he rapped a home run and a single for three RBIs, while pitching six of the seven innings and scattering five hits.

Aaron Zumpano wasted no time in giving the Huskies a 1-0 lead, as he smacked the second pitch of the game over the fence.

Tony Bittinger led off Northern's two-run second inning with a walk and then stole second. John Sherbin followed with a single and both runners advanced on a double steal. A single by Sines to right field brought home Bittinger and Sherbin.

Northern added four more runs in the fourth inning to take a commanding 7-0 lead, as Todd Wagner led off with a single and moved to second on a bunt single by Tony Bittinger. Roger Bittinger and Sherbin were then both struck by pitches, which brought home Wagner and loaded the bases. Sines then hit a grounder to the shortstop, who overthrew the catcher at home plate and allowed Tony Bittinger to score. Zumpano then reached and recorded an RBI on a fielder's choice and Rodney Lipscomb brought Sherbin home on a squeeze play.

The Indians' only run of the game came in the fifth when Jim Bennett singled home Mike Davis. The Huskies added an insurance run in the sixth.

Zumpano, like Sines, also finished with a homer and an RBI single, as the Huskies finished with nine hits.

The loss to Beall dropped Coach John Helmick's Huskies to 8-5 on the season, while the Mountaineers upped their mark to 12-2. Northern will get no rest over the next several days, as they travel to Oakland today to take on top-ranked Southern, host Valley on Friday, entertain Southern on Monday, Beall on Tuesday, and wrap up the season with a doubleheader against Rockwood on Wednesday.

A sixth inning grand slam by Beall's Greg Carter in yesterday's contest with Beall ended what had been a tough pitching duel between Northern pitcher Todd Wagner and Beall's Brent McKenzie.

After three and one-half scoreless innings, the Huskies took a 1-0 lead in the fourth when Aaron Zumpano singled, moved to second on a sacrifice, reached third on a fielder's choice, and then stole home.

A solo homer by Carter in the top of the fifth knotted the score at 1-1, setting the stage for a five-run effort in the sixth by the Mountaineers.

Brent McKenzie led off the frame with a double down the leftfield line and moved to third on a sacrifice by Shannon McKenzie. The next two batters were walked to load the bases, after which Ronnie Gordon singled to score Brent McKenzie. Carter then followed with his grand slam to give the visitors a 6-1 advantage.

Todd Wagner led off the Huskies' seventh with a single, advanced to second on a passed ball, and then to third when Tony Bittinger and John Sherbin walked. Lee Holloway was then walked, which forced home Wagner, and Danny Sines walked to score Bittinger.

With the score 6-3 and nobody out, Robby Lantz relieved Brent McKenzie on the mound. Lantz struck out the next batter, but Zumpano followed with a two-run single up the middle. David Yoder was then walked and Lantz fanned the next two Northern batters to preserve the win for the Mountaineers.

Zumpano was two-for-three with two RBIs for Northern, while Brent McKenzie and Chris Emerick each hit doubles for Beall.

Moonshine Classic Set For June 18

The Upper Potomac Jaycees of Westernport have announced that the Ninth Annual Moonshine Classic 10,000 Meter Run for the benefit of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation will be Saturday, June 18, at 9 a.m. The race will be held near the Big Run State Park and the Savage River Dam.

The Moonshine Classic will be run along the scenic Savage River Road which circles the Savage River Reservoir. The out-and-back course will be run on hard surface, beginning at BJ's Variety Store which is one mile north of the Big Run camping area. This relatively flat, bending course is mostly shaded and extremely fast.

This is a new Moonshine Classic course. Its starting point is seven miles north of the former course on the Savage River Road, past the breast of the Savage River Dam. The change was made to avoid interfering with Whitewater Race preparations and activities on the lower waters of the Savage River.

A two-mile fun run/walk will be staged simultaneously with the main event. All registered participants of both events will receive a "Moonshine" T-shirt.

Plaques will be presented to the first three finishers in each age division of the 10-kilometer race. A large ceramic "Moonshiner" trophy will be awarded to the first male and female to finish. Merchandise awards will be given in a random drawing after the race at BJ's Store.

A team trophy will be awarded for team competition. Teams must have at least five runners of any age or gender.

AURORA-EGLON NEWS

RESIDENT INJURED, BLOOD NEEDED

An early morning accident on May 3 critically injured Kathy (Bolyard) Moats of Eglon and she remains a patient in West Virginia University Medical Center as a result of those injuries. Enroute to work, she was emerging from a blind driveway onto Rt. 24 near its intersection with U.S. 50 after leaving her children with the babysitter when her Ford Fiesta was struck by a 1983 Ford pickup owned by Seneca Sand and driven by Erwin Stemple of Stemple Ridge, an employee also enroute to work. An EMT, he immediately began first aid and she was flown by Health Med to Morgantown, suffering from various fractures and internal injuries. The Bloodmobile will be in Aurora May 21 in order for people in this area to donate to replace the over 60 units which have been administered to Kathy. Persons are asked to contact Darla Stemple or another member of the squad if they would like to donate to this cause, but have not been contacted.

BIBLE SCHOOL AT AURORA

Parents who want their children to attend Vacation Bible School at the Aurora United Methodist Church June 20-24, are asked to pre-register children by calling either Alma Snyder at 735-6754 or Ressie Conrad at 735-5428. The classes will be for ages 3 through youth and will run from 9 until 11:30 a.m. All children are welcome.

MANSON DEATH

Joyce Fike Manson, Pittsburgh, died there May 4 as the result of a three-car auto accident. She, her husband Steve, and infant son Anthony, were hit broadside and forced into another car head-on which resulted in critical injuries to Mrs. Manson in the morning accident. She died in a hospital there that evening while her husband and son were observed overnight and released.

Joyce is the daughter of Roy and Reba Hauser Fike of Parkersburg where services were held on Monday, May 9. She was the granddaughter of Mrs. Hazel Herker of Osceolo, Iowa, the late Gilmour Fike and the late Homer and Hazel Hauser, all who resided in this area. Some of her relatives here attended the services and burial on Monday.

HOMEMAKERS MEET

Ruth Teets was discussion leader at the May 3 meeting of the Eglon Extension Homemakers for the lesson, "Learning to Live with Arthritis." The most prevalent chronic health problem to face this nation, treatment, exercise, rest and good nutrition can make it less of a threat to normal living, she said. Mrs. Teets displayed illustrations of joints, discussed the parts involved and showed a diagram of related disorders with injection points for medication relief. Exercise sheets were distributed and a quiz taken while Brenda Hartsell showed the difficulty encountered with buttoning by wearing gloves to do the job. A film, "What Is Arthritis," accompanied the lesson.

Opening devotions were provided by Mary Rembold, who read, "Little Boy's Pocket," and Sandra Hauser, who read "A Prayer for Parents." Roll call was answered by naming a flower or vegetable beginning with the letters from National Homemakers Week.

The date set to clean the Memorial Building is May 12 at 9 a.m. Thank-you notes from Mildred Wilt and Avenell Parsons were read by the president, Linda Lewis, who also reminded the group it was "Clean-Up, Fix-Up" week. Because of the rainy weather, that has been postponed, but the request for cleanup of homesteads and roadsides still holds.

Rebecca Teets, Lillian Knotts, Nina Layman and Ardis Teets attended the Area Meeting at East Preston and reported that 105 from Preston County were in attendance. Signs for the rooms and areas were made by Linda and Emily Lewis. There were also six members who attended the Aurora Homemakers meeting on April 19 to hear Janice Roth Snider.

A tour to Kingwood is planned for the week of May 23. A committee composed of Rebecca Teets, Mildred Wilt and Ruth Parks will make plans for the Hopemont birthday party in June, with 23 having birthdays.

Hostess for the afternoon was Sandra Hauser and she showed a painted tree fungus and a white and pink amaryllis as her special feature.

Finger foods and beverage were served to the following after the meeting adjourned with the Homemaker's Creed: Lectie Bonner, Brenda Hartsell, Sandra Hauser, Lillian Knotts, Linda Lewis, Norma McCombs, Mary Rembold, Ardis Teets, Rebecca Teets, Mildred Wilt and Ruth Teets plus three children.

He Makes Quilts, Doesn't He?

by Pam Ashby

Ernest Savage, White Rock, likes to keep busy, especially during the winter months when there is four feet of snow outside his door. So what does he do besides sell insurance and sharpen saws? He makes quilts — but not in the traditional manner.

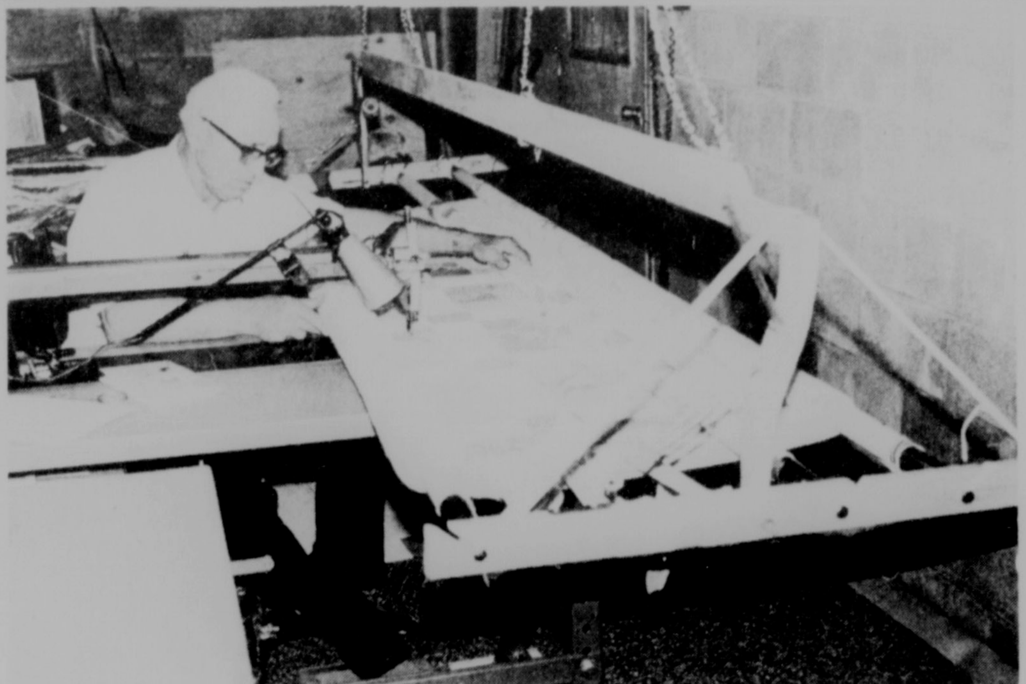
What makes his hobby unique is the fact that he uses a commercial quilting machine. Mr. Savage takes nothing away from the fine art of hand-quilting, rather he has the mind of an engineer who thinks "there's always a faster way of doing it" — not necessarily a better way — an alternative, so to speak.

Mr. Savage owns an Apex quilting machine that he purchased in Nashville, Tenn. He uses it in conjunction with a suspension quilting frame that makes quick work out of a normally time-consuming process.

Not only did he inform his wife, Jessie, that he could quilt faster, he also told her the quilt patches could be cut out faster. So he rigged a band saw with a razor-sharp edge that permits him to cut up to 500 patches in about 30 seconds.

Since the Savages began their machine quilting hobby (Jessie still hand-quilts, too) they have completed nearly 200 quilts. A neighbor, Louella Hinebaugh, also helps piece some of the quilts.

Mr. Savage buys his material at outlet sales. His son, who lives downstate, also keeps his eyes open for material bargains in the metropolitan area. He buys quilt batting in bulk. One of his recent quilts was backed with pieced, plaid flannel. The result was beautiful and the seams were barely noticeable "Well, as I see it," he said, "the quilts are for warmth anyway. Right?"

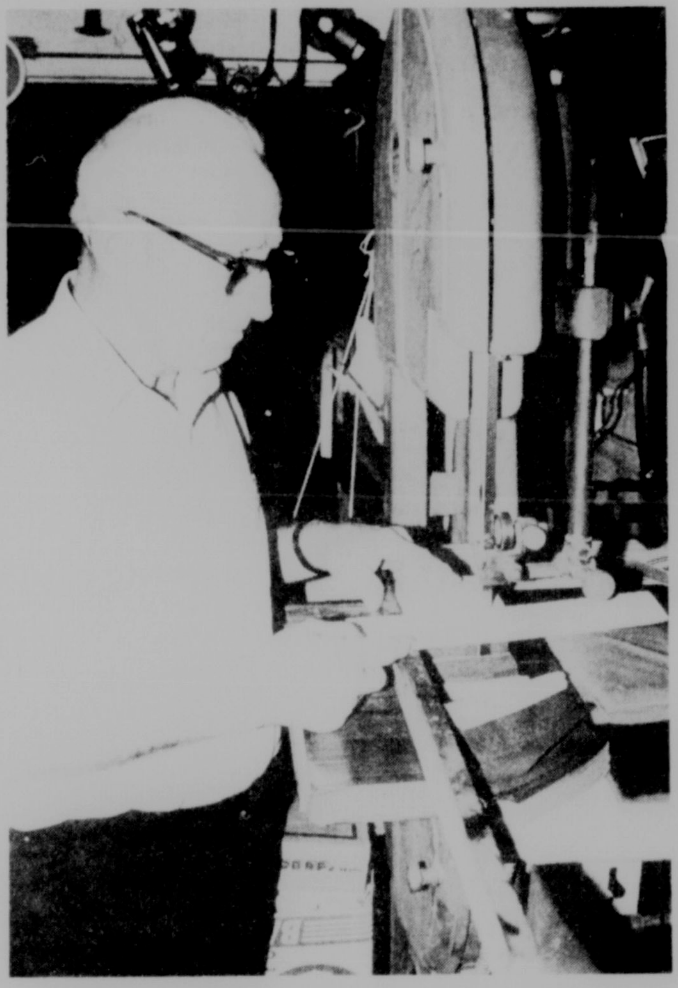


MACHINE QUILTING is the hobby of Ernest Savage. He is shown handily operating his Apex quilting machine that he purchased in Nashville, Tenn. Mr. Savage lives by the rule that "anything can be done faster." He still appreciates the fine art of hand-quilting, though. In his quest for speed, he is shown below cutting out 250 quilt squares with a wooden guide and a specially-designed band saw. No, the fabric does not ravel. Mr. Savage is more than happy to share his skills and time with anyone interested in machine quilting. An opportunity to meet him and his quilts will be provided this Saturday at the Friendville Elementary School from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. One of his quilts will be given as a door prize.

The Savages and Mrs. Hinebaugh are currently working on a Friend family coat-of-arms, commissioned by Hugh Friend. The quilt will be auctioned at the annual Friend seminar in Friendsville on August 6.

The quiltmaker has sold very few of his quilts, but he has provided his children and grandchildren with three or four each. "Making quilts relaxes me," he mused. "If I can't sleep, I'll get up at 3 or 4 a.m. and start quilting. I really like to do it. As far as piecing them together, I have to give the women most of the credit."

Mr. Savage is eager to share his quilting experiences with anyone interested. He says he will give demonstrations to individuals who are interested. He will even cut out fabric patches for serious quilters. "I will even give someone enough patches to make two quilt tops if they promise to give me one of them in return," he offered.



The Savage quilts will go on display and some for sale this Saturday, May 14, from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. at the Friendsville Elementary school gymnasium. A $1 admission fee will be charged but any money collected over the school rental fee will be donated to charity, according to Mr. Savage. The show is being sponsored by the Woodmen of the World, of which Mr. Savage is a member. The public is encouraged to attend.

Persons interested in various quilt patterns should know that Mr. Savage has mastered the following patterns: Little Red School House, Lone Star, Log Cabin, Rail Fence, Star of Bethlehem, Flower Garden, Nine Patch Plaid, Wedding Ring Tile, Fan, Bow Tie, Kaleidoscope Cross, Double Wedding Ring, Orange Peel, Nine Patches, Trip Around the World, Star, Wheel, Lincoln's Platform, Crazy Patch, Tippy Canoe, Rocky Road California, Triple Irish Chain, Spool, Tumbling Block, Oh, Suzanna, Sun Burst and Triple Around The World.

While avid quilters and quilt appreciators may feel the handmade way is a "quilt made with hours of work and lots of love," Mr. Savage's quilts deserve a place in our hearts, too. He may have cut down on the time, but certainly not on the love.

The question mark (?) comes from the first and last letters of the Latin word for question: quastio.

In Memory Of

who passed away in a tractor trailer accident two years ago on May 16, 1986.

Early one morning in the month of May,
The call came in that you had gone away.
You were on your last trip and coming home,
When they said you died, we felt so alone.
It broke our hearts to lose you and the tears still flow,
Because part of us went with you and the pain still shows.
Deep down in our hearts is a picture worth more than gold,
Of your lovely smile and the memories that will never grow old.
You're gone from our lives and no longer in pain,
And some day we know we'll all meet again.
You were always loving, caring and kind,
And left many friends and family behind.
It is so lonesome here without you and we miss you each day.
Life is not the same without you since God called you away.

Loved and missed by all,
Mother and Family

"Garrett County Today" Gives Readers A Memorable Portrait Of Life In The Mountains

GARRETT COUNTY TODAY
a portrait of life in Western Maryland
compiled by Shelby YOUNG / Bob TEETS

An heirloom has been created by Bob Teets and Shelby Young. That heirloom is the book, "Garrett County Today, A Portrait Of Life In Western Maryland, now available at bookstores in the area. The soft-cover book is one that those who live in and love Garrett County will want to pass on to their children as a reminder of the quality life provided here in the mountains for them to inherit.

Contributers to this beautiful book have each given an insite to their own area of the county or area of interest. What makes the book outstanding, though, are the excellent photographs — both color and black and white — which portray all the natural beauty that abounds here.

The 112-page book includes over 100 full-color photos and over 50 black and white shots of the county and its people by contributing photographers Ruthvan W. Morrow, James E. Mattews Jr., James Crabtree, Judith Walls, Craig A. Phillips, and Shelby Young.

Providing a written picture of the county, its towns and their past are local residents, most who are not professional writers, who are able to pass on their feelings about the towns they grew up in or adopted as their own. Those writers include R.O. McCallough, Friendsville; Beth Friend, Oakland; Harry M. Fox, Mountain Lake Park; Alice R. Howard, Bloomington; Marianne Green, Deer Park; Maxine Beachy Broadwater, Grantsville; Mary Miller Strauss, Accident; Margaret J. Fulk, Crellin; Wayne B. Hamilton, Red House and Rosanne Sherwood, "boom" towns in Garrett County.

The history of the B&O Railroad and its importance to the county's growth is related by Shelby Young; Braddock's Road history is told by Robert J. Ruckert; and happenings around Deep Creek Lake are covered by Joan B. Crawford.

Two fifth-grade students, Eric Glotfelty and Leslie Peck, give readers a view of their home, and people, organizations and "outlanders" are discussed by Don Sincell, Pam Ashby, Bob Teets and Iola B. Parker.

Garrett County's Amish Mennonites, the "plain people," are pictured by Ivan J. Miller and Henry Swartzentruber, while farm life is portrayed by Bernice Kepple, and the story of the county's "tall trees" is told by Jack M. Carruthers.

The collection of stories and photos in this book make memorable reading with scenes to enjoy time and time again.

Alcohol, Tobacco Tax Revenue Is Sent To Counties

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein reports that alcohol and tobacco taxes collected during the third quarter of fiscal year 1988 (January, February and March, 1988) will yield $5,146,201 to the 23 counties and Baltimore City. The distribution to the subdivisions declined nearly one-half of one percent from the same period last fiscal year. Only beer tax revenues produced an increase in distribution to the subdivisions.

Beer taxes yielded $921,141 to the localities. That figure is up 1.5% compared with the corresponding quarter of last year. Approximately one-half of the nine cents per gallon beer tax is returned to the subdivisions, based on deliveries to local retailers.

The distilled spirits tax provided $976,994 to the localities, a decline of about 1% from the same quarter last year. The local subdivisions receive approximately one-third of the $1.50 per gallon distilled spirits tax for each gallon of liquor delivered to retail licensees within their jurisdiciton.

Maryland's subdividsions realized $3,248,065 from the cigarette tax, or seven-tenths of one percent less than they received in the same period last year. Distribution of cigarette tax is based on a formula returning approximately three cents of the 13 cents per pack tax to the subdivisions in proportion to their population.

Maryland's subdivisions have received $17,741,109 for the first three quarters of the current fiscal year. This total is slightly less than distributions in the same nine months of last year. While the $3,326,870 derived from the beer tax represents an increase of 1.5% for the nine month period, the distilled spirits tax distribution of $3,603,945 showed a decline of one-half of one percent, and the $10,810,293 provided by the tobacco taxes decreased by 1.4%.

The distribution to the 23 counties and Baltimoire City somewhat reflect the revenue receipts for the first nine months of fiscal year 1988.

For that period, distilled spirits tax revenue totals $9.5 million, down 3.6% from the same period of the previous year. Wine tax receipts amount to $2.8 million, down 7.2% and beer tax revenue totals $6.2 mllion, off 4.3%. Cigarette tax revenue amounts to $44.7 million, a decline of eight-tenths of one percent from the first nine months of fiscal year 1987.

Garrett County received $5,519.67 in beer tax revenue, $16,513.08 in tobacco tax revenue, and $4,061.09 in distilled spirits tax revenue.

Savings Bonds Semiannual Rate Set At 6.90%

The semiannual market-based interest rate for United States Savings Bonds, in effect from May through October 1988, has been set at 6.90 percent, the Treasury Department announced last week. The rate is 85 percent of the average market yield on five-year Treasury marketable securities during the preceding six months, 8.12 percent.

Bonds must be held five years or longer to receive market-based rates. Series E. Bonds, Savings Notes, and Series EE Bonds issued through October 30, 1983, are now receiving market-based yields retroactive to issue date or their first interest accrual date on or after November 1, 1982, whichever is later. The yield on Bonds held since the beginning of the market-based interest program is 8.50 percent.

Yields at redemption are the average of semiannual market-based rates during the time held rounded to the nearest quarter percent and compounded semiannually, or a minimum rate — whichever is greater. The current minimum rate is six percent. EE Bonds held less than five years earn interest on a fixed, graduated scale.

Savings Bonds semiannual rates are changed each May 1 and November 1 to reflect market activity during the preceding six months. The last semiannual rate, in effect from November 1987 through April 1988, was 7.17 percent.

In Loving Memory Of

who passed away 3 years ago on May 20, 1985.

This month comes with sad regrets, the day of the month we will never forget. He fell asleep without a goodbye, but our memories of him will never die. As each day passes, our emptiness grows. Although his soul is at rest and free from pain, our home would seem like heaven if he were here again.

RESA Conducts Geological Tour For Educators

The Regional Education Service Agency (RESA), in cooperation with its Committee for Articulation, recently conducted the second of a two-part study of the Middle Paleozoic Formations and Structures of Western Maryland. Earth science teachers, administrators and guests from across the three counties of Western Maryland participated in the day-long study of Allegany and Garrett County sites. The program provided the participants the opportunity to study rock formations, mineral deposits and fossils of Western Maryland.

Twenty-seven participated in the geological study. The group visited sites at the Cove in Garrett County, Peter's Limestone Quarry, Eagle Rock, G and S Surface Mine, Big Savage Mountain and Mettiki Coal Mine. Formations of particular interest were Kittanning and Bakerstown coals, Mississippian linestone, Pottsville sandstone, Lower Mississippian Pottsville sandstone, arctic glacial carvings, and an abundance of fossils. Numerous other formations were observed. Hundreds of geological samples were collected.

SCIENCE EDUCATORS AND ADMINISTRATORS from Garrett, Allegany and Washington county schools listen to Monty Nock (in suspenders), earth science teacher at Southern High School, describe the geological features and history of Eagle Rock in Garrett County. Nock served as tour guide for a day-long geology field study of several sites in Garrett and Allegany counties. The study also included a tour of the Mettiki Coal Company surface facilities.

Those participating in the geology field study were: H. Monty Nock, tour guide; Robert Twigg, assistant guide; Dr. Walter Hohenstein, University of Maryland; Ms. Heide Hohenstein and Frank Peto, RESA; Doris Porter, Norman DeRosa, Mary Fuller, Alan Hammond, Molly Harshman, Dave Merrill, Ken Metz, Ed Nolan, Bill Richmond, and Patrick Wilhelm, all of Allegany County; Rick Farrar, Gayle Farrar, Marc Farrar, Kathy Newman, Jerry Ryscavage, Mary Ryscavage, Valerie Frazee, Yolanda Michelle Forno, Elizabeth Deem and James Deem, all of Garrett County; Terry McClanathan and Robert Sheetz, Washington County.

Featured presenter and tour guide for the study was H. Monty Nock, earth science teacher at Southern High School and a former geology consultant for the tri-state area. Robert Twigg, a local geologist and international consultant, assisted Nock on the tour.

A highlight of the day was a visit to Mettiki Coal Mine in Garrett County. Dave Berry, safety instructor for Mettiki, conducted a tour of the surface elements of the mine and assisted Nock in explaining the geological features of the area.

RESA is a voluntary cooperative of educational institutions that have joined together to provide enrichment opportunities for the students and educators of the three counties of Western Maryland. RESA member institutions are: Allegany Community College, Board of Education of Allegany County, Board of Education of Garrett County, Board of Education of Washington County, Frostburg State University, Garrett Community College, Hagerstown Junior College, and the University of Maryland.

The historic Mount Washington Tavern at Fort Necessity National Battlefield will again host travelers of the National Pike. As it was 160 years ago, the staff of the tavern is busy in preparation and anticipation for the many visitors who will participate in the National Pike Festival on Saturday and Sunday, May 21 and 22.

During the two-day celebration tavern hosts will try to bring a little of the past alive for modern visitors. Costumed exhibitors will demonstrate early American crafts such as sheep shearing, wool carding, spinning, weaving, quilting, and blacksmithing. Children and adults will be encouraged to participate with toys and games of the past. In addition, special talks will be presented throughout the day on transportation in the 1800's, the history of the tavern, and other topics dealing with the different aspects of the road and tavern.

The National Road or National Pike was the first federally-funded highway to what was in the early 1800's the western frontier. It started in Cumberland, travelled through the counties and mountains of Somerset, Fayette, and Washington in Pennsylvania before entering what is now West Virginia. Thousands of newly-arrived immigrants and others traveled along the National Road to settle the west.

The National Road experienced its "golden era" during the 1820's to the 1850's. During this time expectations for prosperity saw the establishment of new towns and establishments along the road. Many businesses were directly related to the economy of the nation's first "interstate" and as a result life flourishing along the pike. Tavern owners, such as those of the Mount Washington Tavern, were able to earn an excellent income, but not without hard work. The road construction continued until it finally reached as far west as Vandalia, Ill.

All visitors will be admitted free to both the Mount Washington Tavern and Fort Necessity and its surrounding battlefield for the two days of the National Pike Festival. The usual park entrance fee has been waived to encourage more people to take the opportunity to visit the park and learn of its history. Park buildings will open at 10:30 a.m. and close at 5 p.m.

Fort Necessity National Battlefield is located 11 miles east of Uniontown, Pa., along U.S. 40.

Over 677,000 Tax Returns Filed At The Deadline

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein says 677,347 state income tax returns and estimated tax payments were filed at the last minute this year.

The payments enclosed with most last minute returns sweiled gross state and local income tax receipts for the month of April to a near record $484.4 million. "Of course we were also issuing large numbers of refunds during the month," said Goldstein, "so the net state and local income tax revenue totaled $361,382,652 for April, 1988, an increase of about 1.5% over April, 1987. For the first nine months of the current fiscal year, state and local income tax revenue amounts to $2.95 billion, up 9.8% over the same period last year.

The comptroller noted that, between April 11 and April 27, the income tax division deposited 517,261 checks sent in by taxpayers with a total value of $355.2 million.

"Getting that large amount of money into the bank becomes a top priority in the day immediately following the filing deadline and the staff of the Income Tax Division worked extra hours each day, including two Saturdays to get the funds deposited.

"Our check encoding equipment and depositing procedures allow the state of Maryland to earn an entire day's interest on each day's deposit, which is made about 3:30 p.m.," the comptroller said. "When you're dealing with hundreds of millions of dollars in that brief a time period, the interest earnings can be considerable.

With those funds in the bank refund checks are now being processed regularly once again.

As of May 2, 1988, a total of 1,096,026 refund checks had been issued to Maryland taxpayers, with a total value of $313.8 million. "We issued refund checks at a faster pace than last year. Currently we have issued nearly 130,000 more refunds than at this time a year ago," he said. "One important reason is the dramatic increase in the number of standard deduction returns filed by taxpayers under the new tax law. The standard deduction return is both easier for taxpayers to complete and easier for us to process." The average Maryland refund check is currently $285.

Commenting on the recent filing season, the comptroller said, "This was one of the smoothest filing periods we've had in a long time, despite the many changes on both state and federal income tax forms. I appreciate the cooperation of taxpayers, the media and the staff of the Income Tax Division in making it a successful filing season."

Homemakers

fashion shows, cancer prevention, insect control, Rural Women's Short Courses at College Park, quilt exhibits, sending food to a family in Amsterdam, Holland, auction sales, open-house displays, sewing for hospital patients, hooking rugs and chair caning. A chair caning demonstration was given at an open house in 1951 and a photo of Mrs. Edwin Grang was found to prove it.

Oakland Homemakers

The earliest dues for the club members were as little as 10 cents per person. In 1927, dues were 50 cents and the Oakland Homemakers Club was reported to have the most members at that time — a total of 36. The first county-wide committee meeting was held in Oakland in 1927. The Extension agent spoke on "The Responsibilities of Officers." That early training left a good impression that has been handed down through the years and is evident from the photo of the recent Oakland Homemakers Club officers being installed.

Bittinger Homemakers Club

In 1929, twelve women met at the home of C.C. Beachy and began the Bittinger Homemakers Club. The first county picnic was held in Mrs. Beachy's barn and the first cheese school as well. It's reported that Mrs. Beachy and the Homemakers from all over the county got together in 1932 and made some fine cheese. Mrs. Beachy also designed a maple leaf that was used on program covers and bags and is still used by members today.

Kempton Homemakers

The Kempton Homemakers Club became known as the most active club in the county — sewing wise. This club organized in 1930 with 32 members. They all attended a fashion show in which the members of clubs were to make a dress that cost more to make than 50 cents — pattern included. Second-place winner, Mrs. Asa Lewis, paid nine cents per yard for her cotton print material.

Hoye Homemakers
Kitzmiller Homemakers

Both the Hoye Homemakers and the Kitzmiller Homemakers clubs were organized in 1931, the same year as the first Garrett County Homemakers Council meeting. The first county president was Mrs. C.C. Beachy, serving for two years. She was re-elected for a second term in 1933. Ten clubs were reported in the county at that time.

Mars Hill Homemakers

Adding their name to the number of clubs in the county was the Mars Hill Homemakers in 1932.

Deer Park Homemakers

In 1933, the Deer Park Homemakers organized. Daisy Harvey was the club's first president. Some of their projects were a dress school, a gift-making school, and a dry cleaning clinic. They also cooperated with the Alleghany Tableland Association by taking exhibits to the Pittsburgh Fair. Four of the club's first 24 members are pictured on this page.

In 1938, a new organization was introduced — The Farm Bureau. That same year the State Council of Homemakers was organized. A Mrs. Glotfelty attended the state meeting to represent the county. The county Council president has carried on this duty every year since. This year Homemakers will celebrate 50 years of the organization of Maryland Extension Homemakers Council.

To celebrate this anniversary, 400 Extension Homemakers attended a 50th anniversary luncheon at Hunt Valley Inn on May 2. Elva Hill and Edith Jenkins were featured speakers. Exhibits of memorabilia and a quilt made by member councils were on display.

Two Wye Oak trees were planted at the National Agricultural Library at Beltsville on April 26, with a program and reception as part of the event. This is part of the Maryland Homemakers "Living Legacy to the United States Constitution" project. Maryland Homemakers have been studying the Constitution and this project is a culmination of their efforts.

Homemakers' Future

Since 1938 many clubs have organized, disbanded, and/or reorganized for a number of reasons, but today the total is 17. They are: Accident, Bittinger, Bloomington, Casselman Valley, Cove, Deer Park, Flatwoods, Friendsville, Loch Lynn, Mars Hill, Meadow Glade, New Germany, North Glade, Route 40, Sunnyside, Swallow Falls and White Church.

Extension Homemakers is an educational, family-oriented organization open to any interested adult, that also provides leadership and social opportunities to its members. And although no one, including Homemakers, is certain what the future holds, Homemakers have seen where they've been and the progress they have made and believe that is their key to the future.

The mutual beneficial bond between Extension agents and Homemakers that was established in the early years continues today. Homemakers hope that through the cooperation of everyone involved, their organization will thrive another 50 years.

Delays In Filing For SS Benefits May Be Costly

People who delay applying for Social Security retirement or survivor benefits for some time after they become eligible may miss out on some checks, Elaine Watson, district manager of the Cumberland Social Security office said recently.

This is because the number of months for which back payments can made is limited.

In general, people who apply for retirement or survivor benefits after they reach 65 can get back benefits for up to six months before the month they apply, but not before the month of their 65th birthday, she said.

People who apply for benefits because they are disabled can get benefits for up to 12 months before the month they apply if they are eligible in all other ways.

People can save time when they do apply for benefits if they have the necessary documents ready. This includes Social Security card or record of the number, birth or baptismal certificate, W-2 forms or self-employment tax return for the past year, and marriage and death certificates, if appropriate.

A person who wishes to appeal a decision on a Social Security or supplemental security income (SSI) claim should make certain that the request is submitted within the specified time limits.

If a request for a review is not submitted before the end of the time limit, the person may lose the right to that review and may not be eligible for the next step in the review process.

When the last day of a time limit falls on a Sat., Sun., or national holiday the time is extended to the next workday.

A person may not want to take advantage of all the review steps. Anyone who wants to do so must follow them in order.

Additional information about filing for Social Security, supplemental security income, or the appeals process can be obtained from the Cumberland Social Security office.

Ms. Watson said people should remember that requests for free pamphlets as well as most Social Security business can be handled by telephone. For faster and more convenient service people are urged to call (301) 729-3232. The office will accept long-distance station-to-station collect calls.

The Cumberland Social Security office is open from 8:45 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, to serve Allegany, Garrett and Mineral counties.

Mail can be sent to: Social Security Administration, P.O. Box 5545, Cumberland, 21502.

SHS Students Among Auto Mechanic Trouble Shooters

Four senior auto mechanics students of Southern High School, recently participated in the 1988 Plymouth-AAA Trouble Shooting Contest, which involves the best automotive students from high schools nationwide. Contestants vie for scholarships, prizes, and a trip to Washington, D.C. for the national finals. Instructed by Tom Powers, the local students who participated were Bruce Cassidy, Jeff Lewis, Bryan Davis and John Friend.

The contest is divided into two areas of competition: a written examination and a "hands-on" competition. The two highest scoring students from schools qualifying for the "hands-on" contest constitute the team representing that school. Qualifying teams compete against each other in diagnosing and correcting identical malfunctions deliberately installed in the electrical, starting, ignition, charging, fuel, emission control systems and body hardware of a Plymouth automobile. Workmanship, speed, accuracy and the written examination test results are applied as factors in the judging process.

Since the main goal of the Plymouth-AAA Trouble Shooting Contest is to prepare and recruit students for rewarding careers in the autmobile service field, emphasis is placed on the importance of a thorough knowledge of the automobile, including both theory and practical application.

Two Southern students, Bruce Cassidy and Jeff Lewis, traveled to Hagerstown Junior College on Tuesday for voluntary testing to earn certification as automotive technicians by the National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence (ASE). When students pass one or more tests, and have completed the required two years of related work experience, they join the ranks of over 400,000 proven professionals.

Powers said successful completion of the three-year auto mechanics program at Southern satisfies one year of the two years required work experience.

Named Scholastic All-American

The United States Achievement Academy announced recently that Patricia Shahan has been named a Collegiate Scholastic All-American.

The USAA has established the Scholastic All-American Collegiate Award Program in order to offer deserved recognition to superior students who excel in the academic disciplines. The Scholastic All-American Collegiate Scholars must earn a 3.30 or better grade point average. They are also eligible for other awards given by the USAA.

Mrs. Shahan, who attends Alderson-Broaddus College, was nominated for this award by Dr. Kenneth Yount.

Her name will appear in the Scholastic All-American Collegiate Directory, which is published nationally.

Mrs. Shahan is the wife of John Shahan and the daughter of Weldon and Yvonne Nicholas, Deer Park.

Swimming Pool Certification Course Offered

The Garrett County Health Department will conduct a certification course for public swimming pool operators on Monday, May 16. The course will be held from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. in room 159 of the learning center at Garrett Community College, McHenry. A sufficient break will be provided for lunch.

Maryland Department of Health Regulation (COMAR) 10.17.04 requires that all public swimming pools be under the direct supervision of a certified operator. Successful completion of this course will provide this necessary certification. There will be no charge for this course although a pool operation manual may be purchased for a $15 fee. Topics covered in the course will include spa and swimming pool equipment design and maintenance, pool water chemistry regulations and inventions in the industry.

Individuals obtaining certification for the first time are encouraged to attend a two-day course to be conducted at Allegany Community College on May 17 and 18. Registration can be made for that course by contacting Jane Paulson at 301-724-7700, ext. 121. Every effort is urged to have one or more individuals in charge of operation of any public swimming pool in Garrett County attend one of these two courses. Failure to have a certified operator in charge of a public pool may result in the suspension of the operating license for that facility. Individuals interested in the proper operation of their private pool or hot tub are also welcome to attend.

For more information, interested persons may contact Environmental Health Services at 334-8980.

State Police are conducting Operation G.R.A.D. (Graduates Refusing Alcohol and Drugs) "Make It To Your Future," in cooperation with the Maryland Department of Education. The public awareness program is aimed at high school students who will be attending parties and celebrations associated with the graduation season. State Police are providing the Department of Education with information packets to be distributed to each of the nearly 50,000 high school seniors in Maryland.

The packet will include a letter to high school students from State Police Superintendent Colonel Elmer H. Tippett. Tippett congratulates the students and reminds them of the importance of making the right decisions about their future. He tells the students, "You represent our state and our state's future. The Maryland State Police would like to see your plans for the future realized. Use your common sense and employ good, safe driving habits. Don't drink or use drugs and always use your safety belts. Make it to your future."

The packet will also contain a brochure detailing the hazards of drug and alcohol use, especially when combined with driving. A sticker will be included to identify the student as being a part of Operation G.R.A.D. and to help promote positive peer pressure among the students.

Tippett has notified school officials throughout Maryland that state troopers will be available during the graduation season to speak to high school students about the deadly combination of alcohol, drugs and driving. He has ordered State Police barrack commanders to respond immediately to high school principals requesting speakers or additional help to promote the lifesaving message of Operation G.R.A.D.

Operation G.R.A.D. is a proactive effort to warn high school students of the consequences drugs and alcohol can bring before they choose to use those substances. However, thousands of young people make deadly choices each year, especially during the graduation season, Tippett said. State troopers will also be on the alert for students who choose not to heed their warnings. As part of Operation G.R.A.D., Tippett has ordered state troopers to be on aggressive patrol for teenagers driving under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs. Troopers will time their efforts to coincide with graduations and the parties that follow. Troopers hope to locate teenaged drunk drivers and remove them from Maryland roads before they kill or injure themselves or someone else, Tippett said.

"We hope the message of Operation G.R.A.D. will help all Maryland high school students make it to their future," he concluded.

CAHEC Notes Health Program For Older Adults

A new program designed to encourage the development of healthy lifestyles by older adults has been announced by the Cumberland Area Health Education Center (Cumberland AHEC). The Center plans to conduct the educational program, called "Healthy Older People", in Washington, Allegany, and Garrett counties as part of a special initiatives grant awarded by the Department of Health and Human Services, Bureau of Health Professions. Susan Davis, M.Ed., serves as the project director and Susan Coyle, RN, MS, is the project's health education consultant.

"Many chronic illnesses are a direct result of people's behavior," Coyle stated. "We plan to provide the information which will show older adults how to improve their health by adopting healthy behaviors." Eating right, exercising, taking medication safely, quitting smoking, and preventing injuries are the behaviors emphasized by this program.

"Studies show older adults are eager to learn how to stay healthy, but do not have enough information on adopting a healthy lifestyle. This program will increase older adults' awareness of health problems and teach them how they can be avoided," Davis said.

The Cumberland AHEC will distribute informational brochures and other materials to individuals and organizations that work with older adults in the community. Program staff are available to make formal presentations to all interested community groups.

"We will be informing older adults about healthy behaviors through short newspaper columns, radio public service announcements, and television and radio programming," said Coyle. "There are many agencies in these three counties that offer programs to help citizens develop healthier lifestyles. One of our goals is to increase peoples' awareness of what is available in their own community to help them stay healthy.

Beef Producers Vote In Checkoff Referendum

On May 9 in Preston County, W.Va., and May 10 in Garrett County a special referendum was held on whether to continue the Beef Checkoff, which has been in effect since October 1, 1986. Since that time every producer and importer has paid $1 per head each time cattle were sold.

MAY IS Beef MONTH

Votes were taken in county Extension offices and will be counted in county ASCS offices on May 24. In Preston County, 73 beef producers voted. In Garrett County, 23 voted and two absentee ballots were turned in. At 2:30 the afternoon of May 27, the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture will make an official report on the vote.

Decisions about how the checkoff program is run are made by a 113-member Beef Board. The Board consists of representatives from all segments of the beef industry. There is also a strong element of local control. Up to half of every dollar invested is controlled by state beef councils. Most importantly, administrative costs are strictly limited. No more than five percent of the total funds collected can be spent for Beef Board administration, such as offices, staff or travel.

ASCS Director Lists Available ACP Practices

Farmers who have determined conservation needs on their land may want to review the list of available practices under the Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP).

Garrett County ASCS Director Michael R. Kozier says now is a good time to consider applying needed long-term conservation practices on acreage conservation reserve or idled cropland.

The ACP is designed to meet critical conservation needs and shares the cost of applying necessary conservation practices with the farmer. Kozier says cost-share funds are available under the program to help farmers correct severe soil, water and pollution problems on their land.

There is a new three-year long-term program for the intensive grazing system. This will assist producers who are interested in rotational grazing for their animals.

Also, there is a long-term agreement for forestry work needed on eligible woodlands.

All interested persons should contact the Garrett County ASCS Office at 334-1901.

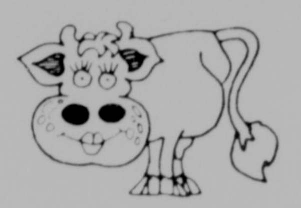
Nominate Your Favorite Cow To Be Featured During Dairy Month



"Milk — A Gold Medal Winner" is the theme for the 1988 celebration of June Dairy Month. The Republican Newspaper would like to recognize cows belonging to area dairymen who are "gold medal winners" in the eyes of their owners.

To nominate your favorite cow, send the following information to The Republican, c/o Bernice Kepple, farm editor, P.O. Box 326, Oakland, MD 21550. Information needed includes the cow's name, production record, reason for nomination, owners' name and address and phone number.

All nominations must be producing dairy cows, however, high-producing cows will not be the only ones picked to be featured. Your reasons for nomination may be that the cow was the first heifer calf born on your farm, or your child's pet cow, or a cow with unusual markings, or a variety of other reasons.

The owners of the cows chosen will be contacted and an appointment made for a photo to be taken. That photo and information about the cow and her owners will be used in The Republican's farm section sometime during the month of June. A 5" by 7" black and white copy of the photo used in the newspaper will be mailed to the owners of the cow as a keepsake.

Cows to be featured will be chosen by The Republican's editorial staff. All nominations should be mailed to The Republican by June 15.

All dairymen in Garrett and the surrounding West Virginia counties are invited to give their "gold medal" cows some recognition. Mail your nomination today.

Farmers Urge Omnibus Trade Bill Passage

The state's largest farm organization has urged Maryland's congressional delegation to write a trade bill President Reagan will sign, and to do it quickly. In a letter to members of the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives, Maryland Farm Bureau stressed the tremendous stake that agriculture has in the omnibus trade Bill (HR-3).

"Although Farm Bureau opposed the plant closing provision, we regret that this non-trade issue may prevent enactment of legislation that is so vital to this nation," the letter said.

President Reagan is expected to veto the trade bill passed by Congress because it contains a provision requiring corporations to give workers advance notice when they plan to close a plant.

HR-3 contains provisions that strengthen the United States' ability to counter unfair trade practices by other countries, without becoming protectionist. It also includes extended funding for agriculture's Export Enhancement Program, and new export promotion efforts under the Foreign Agricultural Service. "All of these provisions will help increase our markets, and keep American agriculture competitive," said MFB President Robert Wilson.

The bill also requires the Secretary of Health and Human Services to monitor pesticide use in countries which export food to the United States. That information would be available to state agencies which monitor imported food for pesticide residues, according to Wilson.

Maryland Farm Bureau is a non-profit trade association of farmers in the state. Its members represent every region and agricultural commodity grown in Maryland.

J. Marshall Porter, Friend To Area Farmers And Writer, Dies

J. Marshall Porter, known to many dairy farmers in Garrett and Allegany counties as a Surge equipment dealer, a salesman for Marietta concrete stave silos and Clay silo unloaders, died at the age of 89 on April 22.

Porter, who grew up in the Frostburg area, was a freelance writer for many farm magazines, including "Farm Shine," "Lancaster Farming," "Delmarva Farmer," and "Pennsylvania Farmer."

He is remembered by the farmers he served as "more than just an equipment dealer — he was a friend." He was a member of the Cresaptown United Methodist Church, and taught the youth Sunday school class for 59 years. Close friends say that he lived his life as his beliefs dictated, and was a real inspiration to all who knew him.

Porter wrote and published six books on local history, growing up on the farm, family history and poetry. He was also the owner of a large collection of Indian artifacts, which he gathered both locally and on trips around the country.

A poem he wrote, one of his favorites, is printed below and describes the rural life he loved so much.

I love these hilly fields that gently slope
And lay in folds toward the rising sun.
Here in my early childhood dreams and hope
And early springtime of my life begun
I love the rugged hills far up above
Where lazy clouds would drift about and play.
The sad laments of mating mourning doves
That were close by, but sounded far away.

In days of youth I watched the setting sun
Go down behind the ridge tops in the west;
And wondered of the world that lay beyond
As lowing cattle bedded down to rest.
In autumn life I journeyed near and far
From hills to plains, to ocean waves and foam,
And found no spot beneath the sun or star
That I would trade for these old fields of home.

Potomac Horse Fever Symposium Planned By MDA

Maryland's Department of Agriculture will host the Second Annual Symposium on Potomac Horse Fever, to be held on Tuesday, May 24, and Wednesday, May 25, at the club house of Laurel Race Course, courtesy of the Laurel Racing Association.

Thirty four researchers have been invited to submit papers to be presented at one or more of four sessions to be held for the benefit of members of the scientific and academic community, the veterinary profession, and horse owners.

Meetings will be held on the following schedule: Scientific and Research Symposium, Tuesday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Wednesday, 9 a.m. to noon; Seminar for Veterinarians, Wednesday, 2 p.m. to 6 p.m., registration fee $35; Seminar for Horse Owners, Wednesday, 8 p.m. to 10 p.m., registration fee $10.

Registration information and forms for reserving a copy of the proceedings are available from the Animal Health Section, Maryland Department of Agriculture at 301-841-5810. Information regarding subject matter can be obtained at that number or from Dr. Jean Sessions at 301-963-4664.

Crop Reporting Deadlines Set

Now that the signup period for the 1988 Acreage Reduction Programs has ended, William F. DeWitt, Garrett County ASC chairperson, says farmers who enrolled should be preparing to report their crop acres.

Farmers have until June 1 to report their wheat and barley, June 15 to report spring oats and July 15 to report corn, "set aside acres" (ACR) and other crops. Crops that are not reported to ASCS by these deadlines will be ineligible for program benefits.

DeWitt says acreage reports are used to determine compliance with farm programs and also for history purposes. The reports contain crops and acreages planted, the uses to be made of these crops and cropland acres to be devoted to the Acreage Conservation Reserve (ACR).

To verify the acreage reports are accurate, ASCS randomly checks farms and provides aerial photographs to farmers to identify their fields. Farmers who report their crop acreages will be eligible for price support loans, deficiency payments and other program benefits.

Rain Delays Spring Planting

During the week ended May 8 rains fell on the entire state and moisture was increased, and in many areas spring work was delayed. The number of days suitable for fieldwork averaged 3.2 days across Maryland. Farmers had prepared 80 percent of their acreage for spring planting, equal to the normal pace and last year. Topsoil moisture was 70 percent adequate and 30 percent surplus. Most of the surplus moisture reported was in Central Maryland. Subsoil moisture was 80 percent adequate and 20 percent short, according to Maryland Agricultural Statistics Service. Cool weather had slowed the emergence of many crops, including corn. Light frost on May 2 injured some vegetables and peach trees.

Farmers had planted 40 percent of the corn, 10 percent below normal. The planting of soybeans had begun. Wheat, oats, barley and rye remained in good condition overall. Wheat was five percent headed, five percent below 1987. Powdery mildew was present in wheat on the Eastern Shore. Barley was 60 percent headed, 10 percent below normal. Alfalfa weevils had infested hay in virtually every county except the lower Eastern Shore, where aphids were reported. The first cutting of hay had begun, but was delayed by the rain.

Weather

Maryland weather for the week ended May 6 was cool and wet. Temperatures averaged 54.1 degrees, 5.1 degrees below the normal of 59.2 degrees. Minimum temperatures were mostly in the upper 30s to low 40s except in extreme Western Maryland where minimums were in the mid 20s to low 30s. Maximum temperatures reached the mid to upper 60s range. Precipitation averaged 1.54 inches, ranging from 0.56 at Salisbury to 2.92 inches at Oakland.

MARYLAND STATE NATIONAL OFFICER TOUR — Approximately 60 Garrett County FFA members from North Garrett and Oakland Chapters gathered at Northern High School Monday for a leadership workshop with National FFA Vice President Mickey McCall and the Maryland state officer team. McCall, who represents the Eastern Region of the United States spent this week visiting every region in Maryland, traveling from Region I (Garrett and Allegany counties) Monday morning to Region II (Washington County) that afternoon and the rest of the state on consecutive days. At Northern High School, McCall gave a short presentation, then, with the help of the state officer team, led a leadership workshop made up of three separate sessions: "Duties and Responsibilities of Office," "FFA Image," and "Achieving Various FFA Degrees." The state officer team is pictured below with McCall. In the front row, left to right, they are: Gregory Stull, Walkersville, reporter; Brenda Irwin, Gamber, president; Mickey McCall, national vice president, South Carolina; Dana Gates, Thurmont, secretary; and Stephen Derlunas, Joppa, sentinel. In the back row, same order, are: Steven Staley, Hagerstown, chaplain; Charles DeBerry, Oakland, treasurer; and Scott Isanogle, Frederick, vice president. Both Garrett FFA Chapters will be holding their spring awards banquets — North Garrett Chapter's banquet will be this Friday night, May 13, and Oakland Chapter's banquet will follow on May 20.

Mt. Fresh Produce Meeting Set For Tonight

The Mountain Fresh Produce Association will hold an organizational meeting tonight beginning at 7:30 at the Garrett County Extension Office in Oakland.

The agenda will include the election of a board of directors and reviewing the present status of the project.

According to Garrett County Extension Agent Jim Simms, there is a large market demand in the area for fresh fruits and vegetables, and at this point, there are not enough producers to fill the market needs.

All Garrett and Preston county farmers and gardeners are urged to attend the meeting and learn more about membership in the Mt. Fresh Produce Association.

SSCC Holds April Meeting

The State Soil Conservation Committee (SSCC) was briefed on elements of Maryland's draft Chesapeake Bay Nutrient Reduction Strategy at its regular meeting April 21. Gould Charshee, Maryland Department of the Environment (MDE), explained Maryland's plan to achieve a 40 percent reduction in the amount of nutrients entering the Bay by the year 2000. The strategy outlines three phases of program implementation for both point and nonpoint sources of pollution.

Pearlie Reed, state conservationist, noted that "Agriculture needs to be given credit for current program implementation efforts, such as the Food Security Act Conservation Compliance."

"We've been working with technical staff from Maryland's agricultural agencies to obtain the best data available, but we may need to consider additional information," noted Charshee. He also acknowledged the need for a more comprehensive database that would include farmers who install best management practices without government program assistance.

Charshee suggested that agricultural representatives could meet with MDE staff for an in-depth briefing on the technical rationale for the proposed Nutrient Reduction Strategy.

The State Committee also discussed implications of House Bill 414, which related to sewage sludge permits. The bill requires the Maryland Department of the Environment to provide copies of sewage sludge utilization permits or notices of opening agency action on a specific permit to both local health departments and local soil conservation districts in the appropriate county.

SSCC members discussed the need for developing consistent statewide record keeping procedures for use in each soil conservation district office. Floyd Allred Jr., SSCC chairman, appointed a subcommittee to develop recommendations for soil conservation districts' record keeping on sewage sludge activities.

Richard Wright, president of the Maryland Association of Soil Conservation Districts, noted that, "the fact that districts are being given this responsibility is testimony to the confidence and respect the public and the agricultural community have for soil conservation districts and their role in protecting and conserving natural resources."

State Committee members also discussed recent legislation which will provide liability protection to soil conservation district supervisors and employees. Members expressed their gratitude to Delegate Flanagan, State Treasurer Lucille Maurer, the Maryland Association of Soil Conservation Districts, the Maryland Department of Agriculture and all the individual SCD supervisors whose support made the bill's passage possible.

The State Soil Conservation Committee meets the third Thursday of each month at the Maryland Department of Agriculture.

YOUR NAME AT THE TONE!

Can you imagine buying a home from a recorded message? Listen to this imaginary conversation: "I'm sorry but we are not at home to sell you our home at this time. At the tone, please leave your name, the price you are willing to pay and a deposit of $1,000.00. Our answering machine will call you back with our acceptance as soon as we return."

Sounds crazy, doesn't it? Yet, many home sellers attempt such a sale each year without utilizing the knowledge and expertise of a real estate professional. Oh, sure, they place an ad in the newspaper and a sign in the front yard, both of which are important steps to locating a buyer. But what happens next?

Serious home buyers are ready buyers, which means they want information about various homes, and lots of it. They want their questions answered accurately and quickly. In short, they are ready to act (to buy a home) and any delays are a definite "turn-off." As a result, a "no-answer" or "recorded message" gets no second chance.

A home which is listed with a professional real estate agent is sure to get wide exposure and will be made available to the public at all hours. Phones are answered by qualified, helpful agents, and at virtually all hours of the day, so there are no missed calls. Serious buyers are given immediate attention. Your home listed with a successful agent can yield "peace-of-mind" and a quick sale at top price.

If you're planning to sell your home soon and would like information on its current value, give us a call at 387-5303, or come by our office located at McHenry Plaza.

ALFALFA WEEVIL

You had better be keeping an eye on your alfalfa for weevil. Activity off the mountain continues at higher than normal levels. Many etomologists feel that weevil populations may be cycling back to levels that were typical of the 1960s. As a general rule, treatment is recommended when 50% to 75% of the alfalfa tips are showing feeding injury and there are 2 to 3 larvae per stem. You may have to look very close because the larvae may be rolled tightly in the bud. The following insecticides are approved for Alfalfa Weevil control: Furadan 4F, Lorsban 4E, Supracide 2ED, Lannate L, Methorychlor EC plus Malathion EC combination, Penncap-M, and Imidan 50% WP. Be sure to read the label carefully. Some of these insecticides can only be used once a year.

CORN SEED MAGGOT

There is not much to say at this time because of delays in corn planting. Keep in mind that the cool weather this spring has resulted in delayed seed germination and thus the seed corn maggot has had a greater chance to attack seed. I would suggest that you treat the seed. If you are treating for Corn Rootworm, in all likelihood you will be protected from the maggot.

SMALL GRAIN HAYLAGE — CLOSE TO HARVEST

You had better check your maturity of small grains if you plan to harvest them for haylage. Rye is starting to head. Once headed, the nutritional value goes down hill very quickly. Wheat and Barley takes a little longer to head. Ideally, cut at the boot stage. Hope the weatherman gives you a break.

BREEDING SEASON BASICS

Breeding season for spring calving is at hand, now is the time while spring calving cows are open to innoculate them against the diseases that they should be vaccinated against such as IBR, PI3, BVD, 5 strains of Lepto and Vibriosis. Make sure you put sound bulls in the breeding pasture. You should have them evaluated and semen checked by your veterinarian ahead of breeding season. You ought to observe them after they go into the breeding pasture to be sure they are servicing cows. You need to set the date on your calendar when bulls come out of the breeding pasture. A short breeding season of 60 days and certainly no more than 90 days should be the goal. Get your calendar out, write those dates to start and end the breeding season on it. When the breeding season is over, take the bulls out and put them in the bull lot where they can start their period of R & R.

USDA Reassures Farmers About Highly Erodible Land Provisions

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has reassured farmers that the final rule published in February for the highly erodible provision of the 1985 Farm Bill allows for flexibility in developing conservation plans.

Those plans must be developed by December 31, 1989, and implemented by December 31, 1994, if farmers want to retain USDA program benefits.

Pearlie Reed, head of USDA's Soil Conservation Service in Maryland said there are misconceptions about the soil erosion reduction level needed under the conservation compliance provision. "We are not following a rigid standard," he said. "Our procedure is to base conservation plans on the local SCS field office technical guide. The guide contains acceptable conservation systems that will achieve substantial soil loss reductions based on the local resource conditions."

Reed said SCS technicians will help farmers develop conservation plans that are technically and economically feasible and contain "a good dose of common sense." Those plans will meet erosion reduction levels developed in coordination with local conservation districts and other agricultural and related conservation groups.

Reed said that the level of erosion reduction required under the sodbuster provision for land converted from native vegetation to cropland is more stringent than that for highly erodible land. "Sodbusted land must be farmed to attain or approximate the soil loss tolerance level," he said.

About 23 percent of the estimated 322,000 acres of highly erodible land have conservation plans completed. Reed said that the goal is to have 75 percent of the highly erodible land planned by the end of September 1988 and the remainder by the end of September 1989.

"We want everyone who needs a conservation plan to have one to retain eligibility for farm program benefits. But they have to take the initiative and ask for it," Reed said. "I hope no one is holding back because they're expecting the deadline to change or they're afraid of what will be required. They'd be better off to at least find out what they need to do to comply with the law than to miss the deadline altogether."

New Herbicide Receives Emergency Exemption In Four-State Area

Pea, snap bean and lima bean growers in Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey and Pennsylvania can protect their crops this season with new "Pursuit" herbicide, according to the agricultural division of Cyanamid. The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) granted an emergency exemption for using "Pursuit" in these states to control common lambsquarters, smooth pigweed, nightshade, common purslane and other major weeds.

"'Pursuit' fills the weed control gap created when dinoseb was banned," says Dr. Jim Conroy, Cyanamid product manager. "Growers can expect excellent protection of their crops from these serious weed infestations."

For control of weeds covered in the exemption, pea, lima bean and snap bean growers should make soil applications of "Pursuit" at two ounces per acre, and should consult the label for specific application information.

Growers interested in using "Pursuit" for controlling the weeds under Section 18 Emergency Exemption should contact their local Extension agent, "AgriCenter" dealer or Cyanamid sales representative for more information.

Hotline Opened By MDA For Ag Information

Want to know where to buy locally-grown produce, how to grow certified seed to be sold to other growers, how to sell soft crabs in Germany? These questions and many others concerning the programs carried out by Maryland's Department of Agriculture (MDA) can now be answered through a new service.

As part of Governor Schaefer's continuing effort to provide better service to Maryland's citizens, MDA has installed a consumer-assistance hotline. Anyone in Maryland can call the statewide toll-free line at 1-800-638-2209 to get answers about any subject dealt with by MDA programs, from Weights and Measures to Seafood Marketing. The hotline will be answered during normal business hours by an MDA employee and at all other times by recording. Questions may be recorded and will be answered on the next working day.

According to Wayne A. Cawley Jr., Maryland's secretary of agriculture, "I've heard people complain about getting a run-around in government. We plan to provide the caller with the right contact the first time they call. I want people to know this service is available, and to use it a lot," he concluded.

For specific or general information concerning all MDA program areas, call hotline number, 1-800-638-2209.

NOW ON DISPLAY at the Ruth Enlow Library of Garrett County, Oakland, are dolls with complete wardrobes crocheted by Alice Riley, McHenry. Riley has been crocheting since she was 12 years old. Her hobby began when she made a dress for her daughter's "Crissy" doll (a growing hair doll) in 1968. She started buying the dolls at yard sales, and adjusted her crochet patterns to fit them. Riley entered the dolls in the Maple Festival in Meyersdale, Pa. last year and won first place in the hobby category.

Panel Addressing Issue Of Student Loan Defaults

A balanced package of student aid including increased funding for college grants is required to stem a growing number of defaults by students from low-income families, according to the State Board for Higher Education.

An SBHE panel, which has been studying rising default costs in the Guaranteed Student Loan program, has found that the average family income of Maryland defaulters is $10,732 as compared to $36,227 for all borrowers.

In addition to the funding increase, the SBHE adopted the panel's recommendations for a statewide default prevention program, a "get tough" policy on defaulters, and a program to improve student understanding of the responsibilities of borrowing funds.

The task force, which was chaired by SBHE board member Wiliam Brogan, chairman and chief executive officer of Talbot Bank, reported that the growing number of loan defaults by low income students is attributable to several factors. These include the lack of significant increases in the size of Pell grants and funding for campus-based financial aid, increased eligibility restrictions in the GSL program, and rising overall costs for postsecondary education.

The panel found that the increased number of defaults is because of more students borrowing more money. The percentage of defaulters has not risen correspondingly in recent years.

Postsecondary institutions with high default rates have borrowers with low-average family incomes, while institutions with low default rates have higher income borrowers. This indicates that institutions, without increased grant resources, may have a limited ability to reduce their default rate.

Dr. Sheldon Knorr, Maryland Commissioner of Higher Education, stated, "Until recently, state aid for student grants has not been keeping pace with college tuition and other costs which have been going up steadily. I am pleased that the Governor and Legislature have provided increased funding for scholarships and other State aid in the reorganization bill. These funds will help to provide a better mix of grants and loans for poor students."

Charles Macintosh, a British chemist and inventor, was best known as the inventor of waterproof fabrics. The mackintosh, a waterproof outer garment, is named after him.

Sexual Abuse To Be Course Topic For Professionals

Area professionals will have the opportunity to focus their attention on major clinical and legal issues involved in the evaluation and treatment of sexually abused children on May 20, from 9 a.m. to 4:15 p.m.

The Center for Continuing Education of Allegany Community College, Cumberland, will provide this course for area psychiatrists, psychologists, counselors, and other professionals, including lawyers and private practice physicians, who work with sexually abused children. The course is approved for six hours continuing education (Category A) credit for Maryland and West Virginia psychologists, and also for National Board Certified Counselors.

According to an ACC spokesman, the course will not be a general overview. Instead, it will provide new information and skills to professionals already involved with sexually abused children. Specific topics will include interviewing children to determine credibility; the use of other diagnostic procedures; abuse allegations in child custody disputes; individual, group, and family therapy for victims and their families; treatment of the offender; and legal issues including providing expert testimony in court.

Instructor for the course is Dr. Anthony Mannarino, PhD, who is author of an extensive list of articles, reviews, papers, and book chapters and is a frequent participant in professional conferences. Besides maintaining a private practice in Pittsburgh, Dr. Mannarino is currently working at Western Psychiatric Institute there as assistant professor of child psychiatry and psychology, and as program director for assessment and for Outpatient Treatment Services. He is also a consultant to the Allegheny County (Pennsylvania) District Attorney's Office and to Allegheny County Children & Youth Services.

Fees include all course materials, refreshment breaks, a catered lunch, and approved CEU's. For more information, persons may call Jane Paulson at The Center for Continuing Education, (301) 724-7700, extension 121.

A&A Represented At Convention In New Orleans

A number of sales representatives from A&A Realty and Mountaineer Log and Siding Company, both located in McHenry, recently attended the Better Homes and Gardens Real Estate Service 10th Anniversary National Convention held in New Orleans.

"Exploring new opportunities directly affecting bottom-line performance was the overall theme for the four days of speakers, workshops and seminars," said Karen Spiker, president and broker of A&A. "And the entertainment provided by The Lettermen and Pete Fountain was spectacular."

Nationally-recognized industry speakers, along with Better Homes and Gardens Real Estate Service Staff, addressed a comprehensive range of current real estate issues, focusing on growing a real estate company during the convention. The workshops and seminars covered topics such as: competitive advantages, growth through acquisition and merger, and implementing the Better Homes and Gardens Home Marketing System.

Over the past 10 years in business, Better Homes and Gardens has grown to become one of the nation's largest real estate networks with 556 members in all 50 states, over 1,290 offices and locations, and represented by 25,400 sales associates. Bob Dettinburn represented Mountaineer Log & Siding. Dettinburn was 1987's top salesperson for the log home manufacturing company.

The sales staff was joined on the trip by several spouses and quests.

State, County Jobless Rates Drop In March

Maryland's estimated jobless rate of 4.6 percent for March 1988 is the lowest statewide March rate since 1974, according to statistics released by the Maryland Department of Economic and Employment Development.

Dropping below the 5.1 percent estimated for February 1988, the statewide decline of 0.5 percentage points is greater than the national drop from 6.2 percent in February to 5.9 percent in March.

"The decline in the state's employment rate is certainly encouraging," stated J. Randall Evans, Maryland Secretary of Economic and Employment Development. "The state's ability to rebound so effectively from its normal cold weather slump is further indication that we are continuing to enjoy a strong economy."

Garrett County's rate also dropped from 13.4 percent in February to 12.2 percent in March. The March 1987 rate was also 12.2 percent.

Responding to springtime hiring activity, jobseekers increased the statewide labor force to 2,405,073 in March, from February's count of 2,398,903 persons. An estimated 17,479 additional people found employment during March, of whom 11,309 were on the unemployment rolls. As a result, the number of persons employed rose to 2,293,753 and the number of persons unemployed dropped to 111,320.

Of the more than 21,400 jobseekers who have entered the statewide force since March 1987, nearly 98 percent has found employment.

Through March 1988, the number of jobs on the statewide industrial payrolls increased by 11,400. Seasonal recalls in construction resulted in gains of an estimated 4,400 jobs. In addition, state and local government, particularly education facilities, as well as eating and drinking places, amusement and recreation services, agribusiness, and trade establishments that sell building materials, garden supplies and hardware had noticeably hiring increases.

Western Maryland's jobless rate dropped significantly to 9.1 percent in March from February's estimate of 10.8 percent, reflecting a reduction of 1,804 persons from that area's unemployment count. However, Western Maryland's estimated unemployment rate is still the highest of the state's four regions.

Recalls in education and seasonal hiring in construction and services in the Balance of State contributed to the decline in that region's jobless rate from 7.9 in February to 6.9 in March, with only Wicomico County's unemployment rate remaining steady at 6.1 percent.

Statewide, unemployment rates for the local jurisdictions ranged from a low of 2.1 percent in Howard County to a high of 14.1 percent in Somerset County.

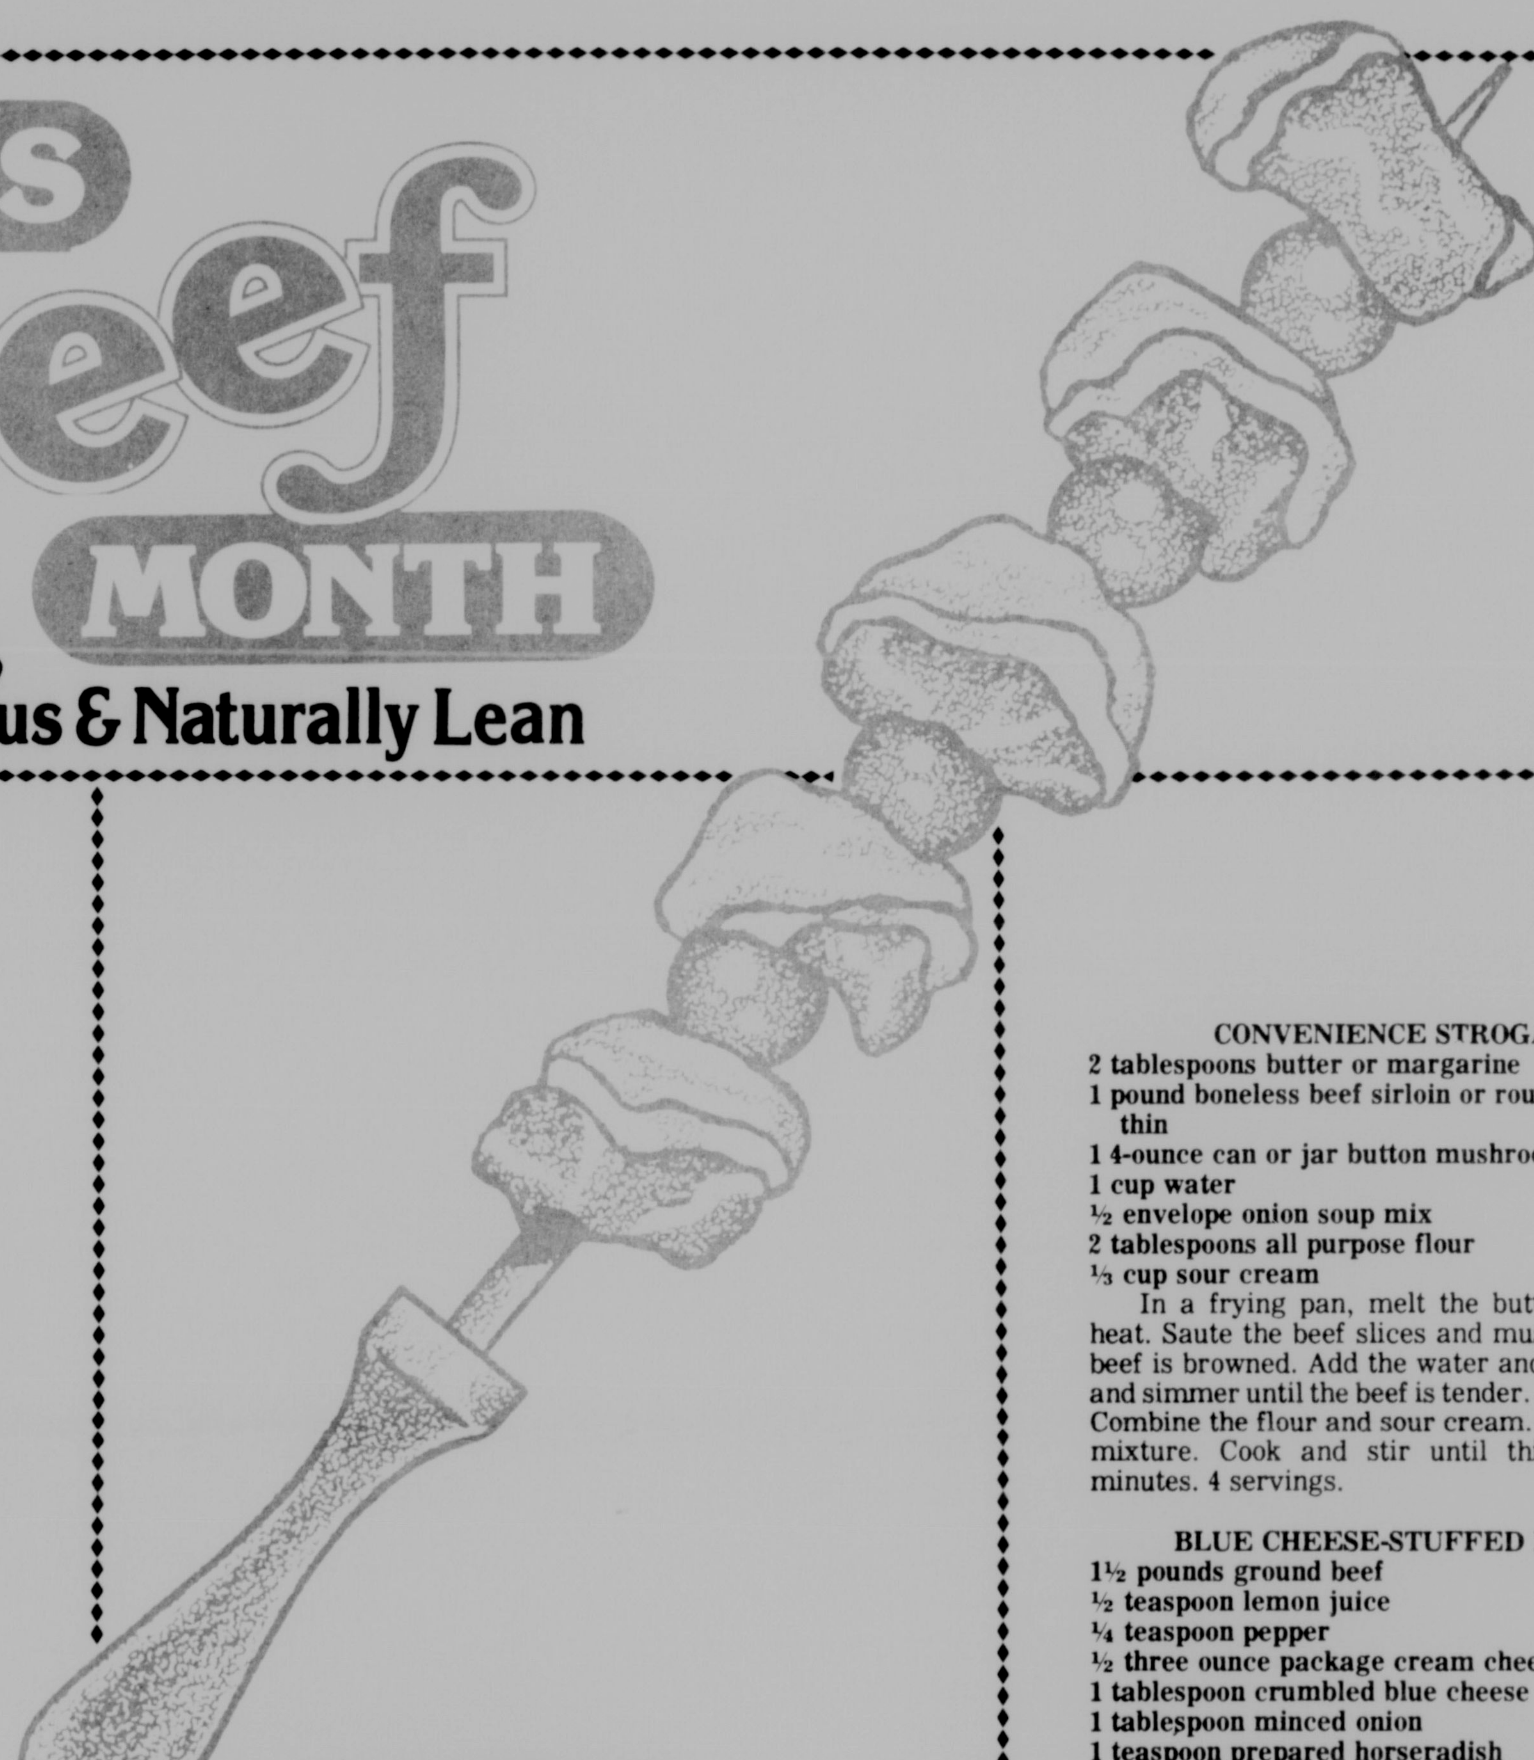
Good Food and how to prepare it!

MAY IS Beef MONTH

Nutritious, Delicious & Naturally Lean



BEEF TENDERLOIN WITH MADEIRA SAUCE

2 garlic cloves
2 tablespoons unsalted butter, softened
1 tablespoon chopped fresh thyme
1 4-to 5-pound beef tender loin
½ cup Madeira
1 cup beef stock or broth
2 tablespoons all purpose flour, blended with 2 tablespoons softened unsalted butter
Salt and freshly ground black pepper

Preheat the oven to 400°F. Crush or finely mince the garlic and blend well with the butter and thyme. Rub the mixture all over the meat. Folding the thin end of the fillet under, place the beef in a roasting pan, and roast for 20 to 35 minutes, or until a meat thermometer registers 120°F. for rare or higher for more well-done meat. Remove the beef to a platter and cover with aluminum foil to keep it warm. Place the roasting pan on the stove top and add the Madeira and beef stock. Deglaze the pan over moderately high heat, scraping up the brown bits that cling to the bottom, and cook until the sauce is reduced by half, 6 to 8 minutes. Turn the heat to moderately low, stir in the flour and butter mixture to thicken the sauce, and simmer for 8 to 10 minutes to cook the flour. Taste and season with salt and pepper. Serve the sauce over warm sliced beef. Serves 12 to 16.

DIJON BEEFBURGERS

1 pound lean ground beef round
2 tablespoons prepared (Dijon-style) mustard
2 or 3 tablspoons white wine (or water)
1 tablespoon light soy sauce
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce

Gently shape meat into quarter-pound burgers. (DON'T press or squeeze). Arrange on a broiler tray. Stir remaining ingredients together and brush over burgers. Broil 3 to 4 minutes. Turn, baste and continue to broil to desired doneness, about 3 to 4 minutes more for medium rare, depending on thickness. Makes 4 burgers.

OVEN-BRAISED BIFTECK AU DIABLE

1½ pounds beef round steak
3 tablespoons prepared (Dijon-style) mustard
Meat tenderizer, plain or seasoned
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce

Spread meat with mustard on both sides and sprinkle with tenderizer (add no salt). Puncture meat in several places with a fork or use a multi-pronged angel cake cutter or meat-tenderizing device (available in cookware shops). Spray a non-stick pan with cooking spray and add the steak. Sprinkle lightly with Worcestershire. Place uncovered pan on top shelf of a cold oven. Set temperature 225 degrees and bake undisturbed for 1 hour. (This recipe calls for slow cooking at a very low temperature). Turn meat, cover pan with foil and continue baking until fork-tender approximately 1 hour or more depending on thickness of meat. Makes 6 servings.

ONION-BEEF STIR-FRY

2 Medium (8 to 10 ozs. each) Sweet Spanish Onions
1 pound flank steak or top round steak
¼ cup soy sauce, divided
2 tablespoons sherry wine
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 clove garlic, minced
1 teaspoon grated fresh ginger or ¼ teaspoon powdered ginger
5 tablespoons vegetable oil
1 green pepper, cut into strips
½ cup sliced water chestnuts

Peel and thinly slice onions. Separate into rings. Should measure 5 to 6 cups. Thinly slice beef on the diagonal. (If beef is partially frozen, it slices easier). Mix 2 tablespoons soy sauce, sherry, cornstarch, garlic and ginger. Pour over beef and marinate 15 minutes. Heat 2 tablespoons oil in wok or deep-sided skillet. Add beef and stir-fry quickly until redness disappears. Remove from pan. Add remaining 3 tablespoons oil and heat. Add onions and green peppers. Stir-fry 2 minutes. Add beef, water chestnuts and remaining soy sauce. Continue to stir-fry 1 to 2 minutes. Serve with steamed rice. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

STEAK KABOBS

⅓ cup dark corn syrup
¼ cup corn oil
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons Dijon mustard
2 cloves garlic, minced or pressed
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 pound top round steak, cut in 24 cubes
1 large green pepper, cut in 16 squares
4 small onions, each cut in 4 wedges
8 cherry tomatoes

In large bowl mix corn syrup, corn oil, Worcestershire sauce, lemon juice, mustard, garlic and pepper until well blended. Add steak; toss to coat well. Cover, let stand at room temperature 1 hour or refrigerate several hours overnight. Remove steak from marinade. On each of 8 (10-inch) skewers, alternately thread green pepper, steak and onions. Grill 6 inches from heat, turning and brushing frequently with marinade, 8 minutes or until desired doneness. During last 1 or 2 minutes of cooking, thread a cherry tomato onto end of each skewer. Makes 8.

SPINACH-STUFFED ROAST

1¼ pound beef eye round roast
1 pound small new potatoes
¼ cup soft whole wheat bread crumbs
10 ounces spinach (or one package frozen, thawed, drained spinach)
¼ cup chopped beef salami (1 ounce)
¼ cup finely chopped onion
1/8 teaspoon cayenne pepper
1 tablespoon red wine vinegar
1 tablespoon chopped parsley

Parboil potatoes (do not pare) in boiling water for 10 minutes, drain and reserve. Cut roast lengthwise but not quite through. Make another cut on each side of cut so that meat will lay flat. Pound roast to ½-inch thickness. Cook spinach, covered, in large frying pan 3 to 5 minutes or until wilted, drain well. Combine spinach, salami, onion, bread crumbs, salt and cayenne pepper. Spread mixture evenly over cut side of roast. Roll up jelly-roll fashion to enclose filling. Tie roast securely with string. Place roast on rack in open roasting pan. Do not add water. Do not cover. Roast in a slow oven (325 degrees) 15 minutes. Place potatoes around roast and continue roasting about 45 minutes (beef will be rare). Romove roast and let "stand" at least 15 minutes before carving. Cut potatoes in half, spoon vinegar and parsley over potatoes, stirring lightly to coat. Carve roast into 8 slices. 4 servings.

CONVENIENCE STROGANOFF

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 pound boneless beef sirloin or round steak, sliced thin
1 4-ounce can or jar button mushrooms, drained
1 cup water
½ envelope onion soup mix
2 tablespoons all purpose flour
⅓ cup sour cream

In a frying pan, melt the butter over medium heat. Saute the beef slices and mushrooms until the beef is browned. Add the water and soup mix, cover and simmer until the beef is tender. About 20 minutes. Combine the flour and sour cream. Add it to the beef mixture. Cook and stir until thickened, about 5 minutes. 4 servings.

BLUE CHEESE-STUFFED BURGERS

1½ pounds ground beef
½ teaspoon lemon juice
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ three ounce package cream cheese
1 tablespoon crumbled blue cheese
1 tablespoon minced onion
1 teaspoon prepared horseradish

Sprinkle lemon juice and pepper over ground beef, mix lightly but thoroughly. Divide meat into eight equal portions and form into patties four inches in diameter. Combine cream cheese, blue cheese, onion and horseradish. Place one tablespoon of mix in center of four patties. Top with remaining patties. Press edges together securely to seal. Place on grill over ash-covered coals so burgers are five to six inches from coals. Broil five to six minutes on first side, turn and broil five to six minutes, to doneness desired. Makes four servings.

Under 200 Calorie Steak in Under 20 Minutes

Quick, easy and low in calories. That's what today's busy Americans want. Seasoned Steak and Mushrooms is one recipe that can help ease that transition from the hectic workplace world to the equally busy "at home" environment.

This convenient recipe for two contains just eight ingredients and can be on the table in about 20 minutes. Just season a beef eye round steak with a mashed garlic, salt, thyme and pepper paste. Then panbroil the steak and cook the sliced mushrooms, seasoning with parsley and thyme. Carve the cooked steak into thin slices and serve with the mushrooms.

Quick, easy, elegant and low in calories describes Seasoned Steak and Mushrooms.

Seasoned Steak and Mushrooms

Preparation time: 10 minutes
Cooking time: 8 to 10 minutes

1 beef eye round steak, cut 1 inch thick (7 to 8 ounces)
1 clove garlic, minced
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon dried thyme leaves, divided
1/4 teaspoon cracked black pepper
1 cup sliced mushrooms
1 teaspoon butter
1 teaspoon snipped parsley

Mash garlic and salt together to form paste. Combine paste with 1/4 teaspoon thyme and pepper. Press mixture into both sides of steak. Heat medium frying pan over medium heat. Brush pan lightly with oil. Add steak and panbroil 8 to 10 minutes, turning once. Move steak to one side; add mushrooms and cook in butter during last 2 to 3 minutes. Stir in parsley and remaining thyme. Carve steak across the grain into thin slices. Serve sliced steak with mushrooms. 2 servings. 186 calories per serving.

Seasoned Steak and Mushrooms is a winner in terms of calories, too. The total calorie content is kept to under 200 calories. Convenient and low in calories—that's what today's cooks can expect from Seasoned Steak and Mushrooms.

A Matter of Degree

Doctor? Lawyer? Accountant? Already Amy's parents are planning her future. They're saving to give her the best education obtainable, because they want her to be happy and successful. . . a daughter to be proud of.

It would be splendid if a good education automatically led to happiness and success, but unfortunately it doesn't. Many well-educated men and women have failed utterly when it came to living a stable and worthwhile life, because they lacked the strength of character that would have sustained them.

There is no better training ground for the building of character than God's house. There children are encouraged to follow a way of life that will not fail them.

Give your child every chance to succeed. Make sure that his or her education includes a thorough knowledge of the time-tested religious truths.

EVERYDAY SHOULD BE MOTHER'S DAY

We see enough Moms to know they watch and care after their family's health. They are totally dedicated even to the sometime neglect of their own health. And so, we feel that one official day a year is not nearly enough to honor Mother.

We hope everyone will join with us in proclaiming the rest of this year as "Mother's Year" and we promise to do everything in our pharmacy that we possibly can to make her job easier. From prompt dependable service to complete stocks of every health need, Mom can depend on us.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

A MUTUAL-STIRRING SOCIETY

May 15, 1988

Background Scripture: Hebrews 10:19 through 11:40.
Devotional Reading: Psalms 40:1-10.

During the past year, the church on whose staff I serve, First United Methodist Church of Dallas, Texas, has gone through a great and devastating tragedy that has rocked both the church and the community. If I had come across such a plot in a novel, I would have called it "bad fiction." But, unfortunately, it has not been fiction.

The news media have devoted enormous amounts of space and time to a series of events involving a member of our ministerial staff and his family. What the news media has consistently failed to report, however, is that the congregation has not only survived this tragedy, but is stronger in faith and love than ever before. In many ways, to paraphrase Winston Churchill's famous World War II remark, these days of tragedy have been our church's "finest hour"!

STIR UP ONE ANOTHER

It was out of this context, then, that I read those familiar words of the writer of the Epistle to the Hebrews: "let us consider how to stir up one another to love and good works" (10:24). In many ways, that's a description of the church when it is at its best: a mutual-stirring society. That's what it has meant to be a part of our church during the past year. After the initial shock and sorrow, our people have devoted time and effort in a stirring one another "to love and good works." And just about everyone has been part of that stirring process: clergy and laity alike have stirred each other to new congregational and personal levels of faith. As never before the members of this church have felt a need for worship, prayer and congregational sharing. This has given new meaning to Hebrews' admonition: "...not neglecting to meet together, as is the habit of some, but encouraging one another..." (10:25).

We have also come to an enhanced understanding of faith. As a congregation we had been living pretty much by "sight," rather than by "faith." Ours was a strong (one of the strongest in Methodism) and growing church and we took satisfaction in what we could see of our prosperity. During the past twelve months, however, we have come to a fresh experience of the definition of faith which we find in Hebrews: "Now faith is the assurance of things hoped for, the conviction of things not seen" (11:1). Thus, we have learned once again what it means to live by "faith," instead of "sight."

THINGS NOT SEEN

What that faith means, as Hebrews 11 illustrates, is not an assurance that we will be spared pain, suffering or misfortune, but that regardless of what comes, God will be with us to ease the pain, make bearable the suffering, and help us survive the misfortune. It means doing in faith what we can and must do, leaving the end result to God. It means living confidently, even though the circumstances around us do not inspire confidence.

This was the kind of faith by which so many of the patriarchs lived: Enoch, Abraham, Sarah, Isaac, Jacob, Joseph, Moses and many more. This was not an easy "just believe" kind of faith. Much more than believing in something, this was a matter of trusting Someone and living by the power of that trust.

That's really what the church is meant to be, a mutual-stirring society that encourages the kind of faith resulting in love and good works. My prayer is that you may be similarly "stirred-up."

'Hill Street' actor's problem occurred many years ago

By Toni D'Amato

Is it true that Daniel J. Travanti of "Hill Street Blues" once had a drinking problem? My husband says he did, but I've never read anything about it. – P.B., Owatonna, Minn.

Daniel J. Travanti

It has been reported that Travanti did have a battle with the bottle, but that was long before he landed the role of Capt. Frank Furillo on "Hill Street Blues."

In 1973 Travanti had a breakdown which reportedly led to a realization that he had a problem with alcohol. He recovered, and in the mid-1970s could be seen in guest-starring roles on TV series such as "Gunsmoke." He even did a six-month stint on "General Hospital" in 1979. His big break came in 1981 when he won the part on "Hill Street Blues." That work earned him Emmy awards in 1981 and '82 for Best Actor in a Drama Series.

I'd like to know something about the late Judy Holliday, including when and how she died and how many movies she was in. – W.D., Penticton, British Columbia, Canada.

Holliday died in 1965 from cancer. She was 43. She made 11 films, starting in 1944 with "Greenwich Village" and including "Adam's Rib" (1949) and "The Solid Gold Cadillac" (1956). She won an Academy Award for Best Actress for 1950's "Born Yesterday." Holliday had been a last-minute replacement for Jean Arthur in the stage version, and Columbia reportedly wanted Rita Hayworth for the film version. But Holliday landed the role and made it into a classic. Her last film was "Bells Are Ringing" (1960).

I know Wink Martindale hosted another game show besides "High Rollers," but I can't remember the name. Can you help? – A.L. Blakeslee, Pa.

He hosted "Can You Top This?" in 1969 and "Tic Tac Dough" from 1978 to 1985.

Martindale started his career as a D.J., then became a record promoter and even had a hit record of his own – a narrative titled "Deck of Cards."

Famous singer's daughter is a soap opera actress

By Kimberly Redmond

Does Nicolette Goulet play Meredith Reade on "Guiding Light"? Is she Robert Goulet's daughter? Did she appear on another soap opera? – M.M., Paterson, N.J.

Nicolette Goulet

Nicolette Goulet does play Meredith Reade, and she is indeed the daughter of singer Robert Goulet. She has also appeared on "Search for Tomorrow" as Kathy Phillips and on "Ryan's Hope" as Mary Ryan.

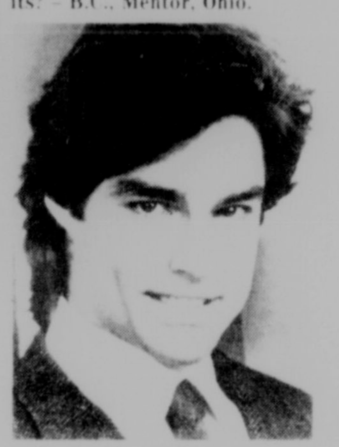
I'd like to buy a cape like the one that Shannon O'Hara (Margaret Reed) wears on "As the World Turns." Where can I get one? – I.I., Elcampo, Texas.

For that information, write to the "ATWT" costume designer, Carr Garnett, c/o "ATWT," CBS-TV, 51 W. 52nd St., New York, NY 10019.

Some time ago I saw a photo of Andrea Evans (Tina Roberts on "One Life to Live") holding two babies. The caption said they were her real children and that they take turns portraying her on-screen baby. Is that true? – M.W., Perryton, Texas.

Evans has two little dogs that she has been photographed with several times, but she doesn't have any children. Al Roberts is played by twins Frankie and Nickie Navarro.

Can you list some of Ronn Moss's (Ridge Forrester on "The Bold and the Beautiful") credits? – B.C., Mentor, Ohio.



Ronn Moss

Before joining "B&B," Moss starred in the films "Hearts and Armour" and "Hard Ticket to Hawaii." He also guest-starred on CBS's "Trapper John, M.D."

(Have a question about soap operas? Write Kimberly Redmond at 200 Park Ave., Room 602, New York, NY 10166. Questions cannot be answered personally but those of general interest will be answered in future columns.)

Stefanie Powers stars as Beryl Markham, the aviatrix who flew solo across the Atlantic in 1936, in CBS's "Beryl Markham: A Shadow on the Sun." Part one of the miniseries airs Sunday, May 15; part two, Tuesday, May 17.

Producer says that comedy awards are serious business

By Frank Lovece

Two producers are walking down the street. One says, "Boy, aren't all these awards shows getting out of hand? You've got the Oscars and the Emmys and the Tonys and everything else. Enough already with the awards!" And the other producer says, "I'm packaging the American Comedy Awards. You interested?" The first producer says, "You kidding? Let's do it!" Which only goes to show that with comedy, awards shows are serious business.

George Schlatter

"The Second Annual American Comedy Awards" air Tuesday, May 17 on ABC, and George Schlatter, the show's producer, is a regular cheerleader for all things funny. "On the first awards show last year," he remembers, "we had 200 comics. That's a lot of comics. I'm really proud of that. And I believe the impact of the Comedy Awards forced the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences to include cable shows in next year's Emmys. Not to consider 'Robin Williams at the Met' as a joke just because it was on cable."

Schlatter knows whereof he speaks. A winner of three Emmy Awards and 12 additional nominations, he broke TV-comedy ground as co-creator of "Rowan & Martin's Laugh-In." He went on to produce specials for Cher, Liza Minnelli, Frank Sinatra and others – along with a series he's still proud of no matter what anybody says – "Real People." Nowadays, he also has the syndicated "George Schlatter's Comedy Club," a sort of Reader's Digest of stand-up comedy.

One problem with the American Comedy Awards is that the only official force behind them is Schlatter himself. Unlike the Oscars, the American Comedy Awards have no national academy to make policy. Schlatter describes the awards process as a survey of "millions" of comedy-club patrons and suggestions from over 2500 industry leaders, with voting by about a thousand performers. But should Schlatter bow out, that's it – unless another producer declares himself the awards-master.

"The voting bloc makes it official," Schlatter insists. In any case, he says, it all comes down to one important question: "Who do the comedians think is funny?"

Mariette Hartley: A movie Suzanne Somers: Lecturing

By Cindy Adams

Remember that forgotten CBS "Morning Show"? The one with Mariette Hartley? Well, she's moving to make it immortal. Mariette and a pack of outtakes will be choreographed into a one-woman show, which she is now working on. Stunning Mariette, who sings and does monologues, will also be seen in "1969," a movie about a small town, co-starring Kiefer Sutherland – she plays his ma – and Bruce Dern – she plays his wife. "It's for the kids' market," says Mariette, adding: "It will give me a visibility that I never had."

Mariette Hartley

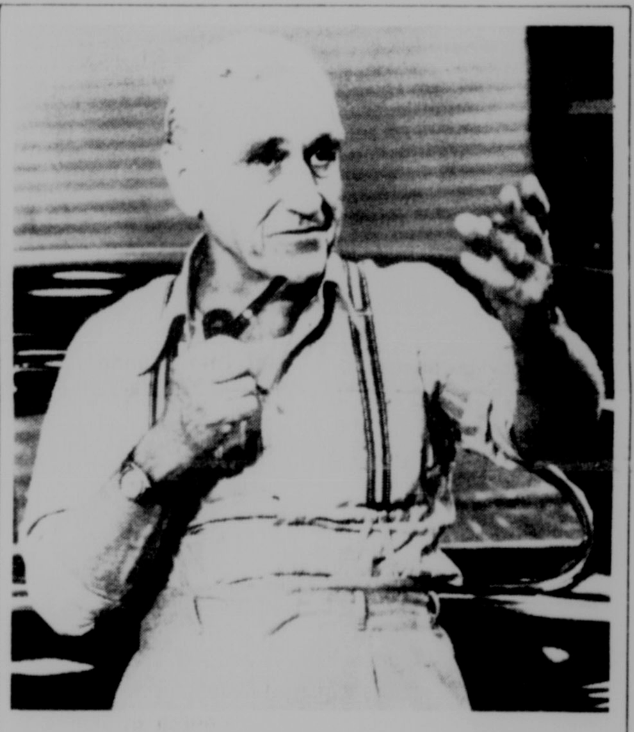
Milan, Italy's Channel 5 will pay large lira for Jessica Hahn to come over and tell her story. In English. Two guys from the station flew here, met Jessica, guaranteed all expenses, all the pasta she can eat, big fee and big publicity. Being the home of Il Papa, Italy is super religioso. Nothing they like better than a minister getting his.

What's a film star spend his salary on? Lukas Haas, of Vista's "Lady in White," bought baseball cards and drums. Also a dog, hamster, cat and rabbits. Not exactly Elizabeth Taylor's shopping list, but then, Lukas is 11.

Suzanne Somers

The Suzanne Somers best seller "Keeping Secrets," the story of her life as the child of an alcoholic, has led to the lecture platform. There are 25 million children of alcoholics in this country. Suzanne will lecture to medical facilities plus garden-variety clubs. The presentation will include film clips of "Three's Company," with a correlation between how Americans viewed her at her TV height and how this glitter masked a trunkful of demons.

PBS



James Whitmore stars in the "American Playhouse" presentation of Arthur Miller's "All My Sons." It airs Wednesday, May 18, on PBS. (Check local listings.)

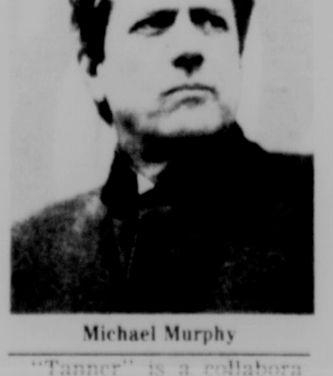
CABLE LOG

HBO's 'Tanner': More telling than real campaign doings

By Connie Passalacqua

Unfortunately, we don't have the chance to review individual episodes of what's turning out to be the hottest cable series of the year – HBO's "Tanner '88." But we can say that "Tanner" is the timely 10-episode chronicle of the run for the Democratic presidential nomination by former Michigan congressman Jack Tanner (Michael Murphy). Tanner is a fictional character, but his experiences on the campaign trail have been a lot more entertaining – and telling – than anything served up so far this election year.



Michael Murphy

"Tanner" is a collaboration between Doonesbury cartoonist Garry Trudeau and filmmaker Robert Altman. Altman has had lots of bombs since "Nashville" (1975), but his trademark cinema-verite style works well here. "Tanner" is a mix of the everyday absurdities that happen in a political campaign and a collection of quirky character studies.

Tanner himself is a former history professor who marched in Selma and is trying to reconcile the idealism of the '60s with the political realities of the '80s. Tanner is consumed with self-doubt, which disappears the minute he puts on his public personality. Do Michael Dukakis or George Bush stay up nights examining their consciences?

Tanner is surrounded by equally introspective campaign workers. Two young journalists, both more ambitious than the politicians, continually debate the ethics of fair writing versus going for the jugular. Pamela Reed ("The Right Stuff") does a fine job playing Tanner's campaign manager, who finds the sewer of politics easy compared with the sewer of single life. There are human beings with feelings in politics!

"Tanner" is filmed on location, and you really get a good feel for life on the road – from interminable New Hampshire town meetings to endless motel rooms. It's so gritty you can almost taste the rubber chicken.

In the latest episode, "Bagels with Bruce" (airing May 16th), Tanner confers with former candidate Bruce Babbitt. Babbitt is only one of the real politicos who make appearances on the series, which will continue through the Democratic convention in July.

Rev. Beckman Appointed To Post At Burlington

Gary K. Wilson, administrator of Burlington, W. Va., United Methodist Home, has announced the appointment of Rev. I. Lynn Beckman to the position of development officer with the Home. Rev. Beckman will serve at the Home under special appointment by William Boyd Grove, Bishop of the West Virginia Annual Conference of the United Methodist Church, and he began his duties May 2.

As the new development officer, Rev. Beckman will work closely with the Home's board of directors and administrator in directing and implementing the financial development and church/public relations efforts of the Burlington Home.

"I believe I bring experience, maturity, dedication, commitment to the Home and a sense of calling to this position," Beckman said. "I believe that much of my experience does directly relate and has been fertile soil in preparing me for this task. I like a challenge and new opportunities for achievement, and the possibilities of opening this new and helpful office are exciting to me. Further, I consider the ongoing work of Burlington in caring for youth as ministry in every sense, and I believe this office fits into my overall sense of ministerial calling and values as a pastor."

Since 1977, Rev. Beckman has served a number of appointments in the West Virginia United Methodist Conference, including the South Branch, Franklin, New Creek, and Rees-Janes charges. He was ordained an elder of the United Methodist Church in June 1985. He served on the Home's board of directors for several years, serving as president in 1987.

A Garrett County native, Rev. Beckman is a graduate of Southern High School; Catherman's Business School, Cumberland; Potomac State College, Keyser, with an AA degree in journalism; West Virginia University with a bachelor's degree in liberal arts; and Eastern Mennonite Seminary, Harrisonburg, Va., with a master of divinity degree.

Prior to being called into the full-time ministry, Beckman worked as the assistant vice president and director of marketing for the First National Bank of Oakland. Other positions he has held included executive director for the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotional Council, Inc.; assistant manager and on-air announcer for WCST Radio in Berkeley Springs, W. Va., and news director and on-air announcer for WMSG Radio, Oakland.

Rev. Beckman, his wife, Rev. Mary Virginia, and sons, Keith and Timothy, currently reside in New Creek, W. Va. Another son, Richard, works and resides in the Oakland area with his wife, Joanna, and infant son, Gregory. Rev. Mary Beckman serves the Fairview-Laurel Dale Charge in Mineral County.

Rev. Lynn Beckman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin E. Beckman, Swanton.

BUS CONTRACTORS ATTEND MEETING — Among the persons who attended the annual meeting of the Maryland School Bus Contractors Association in Ocean City recently were Shirley Sines, left, Oakland, and Lawrence Sines, treasurer of the Garrett County Contractors Association, also of Oakland. Pictured center is Irene Johnson, Westminster, vice president of the Western Region of the Association. Among the new state laws supported by the Association and slated to take effect July 1 is one which requires that the owner of any vehicle which passes a stopped school bus with its lights flashing receives a warning when the bus driver reports the license plate number. If the bus driver is able to identify the driver of the vehicle as well as the license plate number, the driver will be subject to a fine of $250 plus two points. Of the 5,000 buses in Maryland, approximately 3,000 are privately owned and contracted. At the two-day annual meeting, distributors demonstrate the latest in school bus transportation equipment, and a formal business meeting is held to discuss common problems and solutions.

Boat Registrations Now Performed At Deep Creek Lake

Boat registrations and transfers will now be performed at the Deep Creek Lake Management Office, located at Deep Creek Lake State Park, according to a release from the Department of Natural Resources.

This service will begin Friday, May 27, and will continue each Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. until Labor Day. Personnel from the DNR Regional Service Center in Cumberland will be available at the Lake Management Office to handle the registration.

It is DNR's hope that this service will make it more convenient for Deep Creek Lake users to register their boats at a location in the county rather than having to travel to Cumberland, a DNR spokesman said.

For more details concerning this service, persons may contact the Lake Management Office at 387-4111 or the DRN Regional Service Center in Cumberland at 777-2134.

Gospel Echoes To Perform At Maple Glen

The Gospel Echoes Team Association, which has offices in Goshen, Ind. and Hawkesville, Ontario, present the Gospel message to more than 500 prisons and churches throughout the United States and Canada each year.

The group consists of three teams, which minister in song and testimony, as well as through multi-media, skits, seminars and Bible study correspondence courses.

The public is invited to attend the program.

EPA Sponsors Youth Awards Competition

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) is holding its second annual Presidential Youth Awards Competition. Winners, who will be announced in November, will receive an all expense-paid trip to Washington, D.C., where they will be awarded certificates signed by the President, tour the Capitol Building and White House and discuss environmental issues with top government officials.

Young people in grades K-12 are eligible to compete in this national competition, based on their participation in environmental projects. Environmental projects can include activities which improve the environment or public education efforts aimed at increasing public awareness of environmental issues. Examples of qualifying environmental projects include: performing environmental science experiments, collecting litter along roadways and beaches, cleaning rivers of garbage and debris, planting trees, raising funds for environmental issues, designing and implementing public education campaigns about environmental issues, building nature trails and others. Participants in the program are encouraged to be innovative and resourceful in their approach to environmental protection projects.

"It is particularly important for people to begin learning about the environment at an early age," said James M. Seif, EPA Region III administrator. "As the future leaders of America, they will be able to make intelligent decisions about protecting the environment by learning more about it."

To receive application forms and for more information about the President's Environmental Youth Awards Program, persons may write or call the: U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, 841 Chestnut Building, Philadelphia, Pa. 19107, (215) 597-0798. Project applications must be received by August 31.

Adventist Delegates To Give Report On Triennial Session

Members of the Mountaintop Seventh-day Adventist Church, Oakland, who were delegates to the sixth triennial session of the Mountain View Conference of Adventists held Sunday, May 1, in Charleston, will report this week to their church on actions taken there.

The local delegates were: Don and Edie Sines, Linda Robinette, Barbara Visniski, and Kathy Ridder, all of Oakland, and John and Renata Rodeheaver, Deer Park. They participated with some 180 other delegates in decisions affecting Adventist churches in West Virginia and Western Maryland for the next triennium.

Returned to office for the next triennium were Herbert Broeckel, president, and Kenneth Wright Jr., secretary–treasurer of the Mountain View Conference, with headquarters in Parkersburg. Delegates also re-elected the conference departmental staff.

In other actions, funding for Christian education was increased to assist the 12 churches currently operating elementary schools. Minor changes in the conference constitution were made and members selected for the Executive Committee and Board of Education.

To increase Christian stewardship, a resolution was voted "to be even more faithful to the Lord in our giving and encourage our own churches to do the same."

The 33 churches comprising the Mountain View Conference have a total of some 2400 members. The Seventh-day Adventist denomination now numbers over five million members worldwide.

Veterans Offered Insurance Info. Via The Telephone

Veterans and dependents with questions about government life insurance policies can phone a Veterans Administration insurance specialist toll–free from throughout the United States.

VA Administrator Thomas K. Turnage has announced that most insurance holders and beneficiaries now can obtain immediate service on address or policy changes, dividend information, and other actions by dialing 1-800-422-8079 during normal business hours, 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., EDT.

Those callers whose records may not be readily available will receive a return call or written response.

The phone service is made available through modern telecommunications that provide insurance specialists with instant computer access to premium data.

Dividends for VA policyholders are paid automatically to those who continue to pay premiums, usually on the anniversary date of the policy. No application is needed. More than three million veterans this year are sharing in the 1988 dividend distribution.

The Mona Lisa, now valued at $100 million, sold for $330,000 ten years after it was painted.

SPRING MEETING OPENS NATIONAL HOMEMAKERS WEEK — The Garrett County Extension Homemakers held their annual spring meeting at GCC May 3. Seventy-eight people attended, enjoying a special program on "Mushrooms and Edible Plants" presented by Kendrick Y. Hodgdon, the author of numerous articles on birds and plants, pictured below. Special guests included Kathryn Nicodemus, MEHC president; Beula Crawford, Allegany County Council president; Jane Wagner, Allegany County Extension agent; and Edith Brock, librarian, Ruth Enlow Library. Jane Gibson Williams, above right, was presented a hand-made quilt, pictured in the background, as a surprise gift from county Homemakers Council President Fran Stieringer, left, on behalf of the Homemakers clubs which have worked on it for the past few months. Hallie Snyder, past Council president, was presented a pin for her service. Refreshments were served, and everyone had a chance to socialize and celebrate the 50th anniversary of the Maryland Extension Homemakers Council of which Garrett County Homemakers have been a part of since its inception.

Maryland Extension Homemakers

The history of the Maryland Extension Homemakers began in 1913. Among the first pioneers of the Homemakers Clubs was Venia M. Kellar, who came from Nebraska as home demonstration agent to Dorchester County in 1917. One year later, she began work at the University of Maryland as state leader of home demonstration agents.

Miss Kellar's code for home demonstration agents was: "You don't smoke, you don't drink, you don't go without hose, and you don't get married." The University of Maryland Extension program was developed so that today there is an agent in every county of the state.

In 1917, Frances Gerber was home demonstration agent for Garrett County. From that time to the present, there have been a total of 13 Extension agents for home economics, excluding part-time and temporary agents, in the county.

In 1923, the Rural Women's Short Course was originated. Expert demonstrators, lecturers, and specialists were on hand to teach a variety of courses for one week at the University of Maryland. It was held in June between college sessions.

In that same year, Maryland had 5,955 organized Extension Homemakers Clubs. Garrett County had six clubs with 49 members by then. Early Extension workers encouraged neighboring homemakers to get together to study improved methods of homemaking. In addition, this also offered opportunities for socializing that were rare in the lives of most farm women at that time.

Following is a brief history of the Garrett County Extension Homemakers taken from records of the individual clubs.

Grantsville Homemakers

Known as "The Ladies Sewing Club" and organized in 1916, this club met once a week during World War I to sew and knit for soldiers. The club reorganized in 1917 with Mollie Dorsey as president. In 1948, it was decided to change the name to "Grantsville Homemakers Club". This group is the oldest organized Homemakers Club in the county.

Friendsville Homemakers

Following Grantsville in 1918 was the "Friendsville Homemakers Club." After a few years the members gradually lost interest and discontinued the meetings. They reorganized in 1922 and again in 1943, and is still active in the county today.

Mtn. Lake Park-Loch Lynn Homemakers

The necessity for proper foods was stressed during 1926. At this same time the pressure cooker was introduced to the county. Friendsville, Grantsville, Mtn. Lake-Loch Lynn, and Accident clubs were among the first to receive a home demonstration on use of the pressure cooker. Two members from the Mtn. Lake-Loch Lynn Club were recorded to actually have purchased one that year.

Accident Homemakers

The earliest records of the Accident Homemakers Club date back to 1924. The members participate in such activities as

Rabid Skunk Is Second Case Of Year In County

Garrett County's second case of rabies for the year has been confirmed this week by the Health Department. The rabid animal was a skunk, the first skunk to be found rabid in the county in several years, according to Rodney Glotfelty, Health Department official.

The skunk was found in the Finzel area, the same part of the county that the first case of the year was discovered, proving the theory that rabies epizootics run in cycles. The northeast section of Garrett County, along with the Gorman area, was the first area where rabies first surfaced in 1983.

A skunk was seen on the property of Debbie Crowe on the Sampson Rock Road near Finzel before dawn the morning of May 12. It had apparently entered a wire-fenced pen where two dogs were being kept, fought with the dogs, then left the site.

Later that day, friends of Crowe found a skunk in the area acting strangely, shot it and submitted it to the Health Department. Lab tests proved positive on May 13. It is assumed that this was the same skunk, but officials cannot be sure.

One of Crowe's dogs had a rabies vaccination and one did not. The vaccinated animal was given a booster shot and will be observed closely for 90 days. On May 16, Crowe decided to have the other dog destroyed, and that decision was carried out.

Statewide, skunks amount to 3.7% of all positive rabies cases, followed by cats and bats. The prime rabies carriers are raccoons, which have accounted for 96 confirmed cases in the state this year, or 88.1% of all cases; seven foxes (6.4%) have been confirmed; four skunks, one cat and one bat this year.

Frederick County leads the state with 21 positive cases this year, followed by Baltimore County with 16, and Montgomery County with 14. In Western Maryland, Allegany County has reported six cases and Garrett has had two this year.

The Garrett County Health Department has scheduled a series of rabies clinics. A complete immunization clinic schedule can be found elsewhere in The Republican.

Local Man Gets Three-Year Term For Sex Offense

A Swanton man was sentenced to three years in the Garrett County Jail for a third degree sex offense charge during a trial held last Thursday in Garrett County Circuit Court.

William Joseph Burns, 22, was placed on one year supervised probation after Chief Judge Fred A. Thayer suspended one year of the jail term. Credit was given for jail time already served.

The judge had ordered a presentence investigation for Burns in March after he pled guilty to the charge. Charges of fourth degree sex offense and assault and battery were not prosecuted by the court

The charges stemmed from a December 2, 1987 incident at Burns' residence involving a 13-year old female juvenile, according to court reports. A second female juvenile witnessed the incident. The two girls were allegedly runaways.

In another circuit court case, Judge Thayer ordered a presentence investigation for Joseph M. DeWitt, 25, Oakland, after he pled guilty to a charge of breaking and entering. DeWitt's bail was revoked.

Charges of theft and conspiracy will not be prosecuted by the court. The charges were filed following a December 11, 1987 incident at the Oak Grove Tavern, near Crellin.

THE ANNUAL GARRETT COUNTY SPECIAL OLYMPICS are indeed a special event. This year, the fourth annual olympic games attracted 75 athletes and a large number of volunteers. The games were held at Garrett Community College, Friday, May 13, sponsored by Proctor Kildow American Legion Post 71. The olympians competed in track and field events, softball, wheelchair races and the standing long jump. Athletes who were finalists are eligible to go to the Maryland State Competition in Towson on June 10 and 11. Above, Eric Lewis wheels to first place in the 100-meter race for 12 to 15-year olds, surrounded by several of the many volunteers who served in many capacities during the event. A complete listing of olympic winners and additional photo coverage will appear in next week's issue of The Republican.

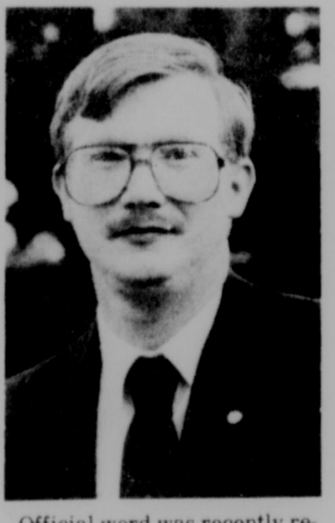
Lowell Leitzel To Be Fulbright Exchange Teacher



Official word was recently received from the United States Information Agency (USIA) that Lowell Leitzel, French teacher at Southern High School, has been awarded a Fulbright teacher exchange scholarship. This significant award will allow Leitzel to exchange teaching assignments with a counterpart from France for the school year 1988-89. Exchanging with him will be Madamoiselle Anne-Marie Gouhier of Bourges, France.

Leitzel has been employed by the Garrett County Board of Education since 1978 and, according to a Board spokesman, has been instrumental, along with other foreign language teachers in Garrett County schools, in actively engaging students in numerous exchanges with students from both France and Germany. A magna cum laude graduate of Susquehanna University in Selinsgrove, Pa., Leitzel is the son of the Reverend and Mrs.

Trailer Destroyed By Blaze Of Suspicious Origin

A trailer and a wood frame addition, located along Garrett Road just east of Loch Lynn, were destroyed Sunday evening by fire, the origin of which has been labled as suspicious by local fire investigator Guy Carola.

Firefighters from Oakland and Deer Park were called to the scene at 7:57 p.m. by the Garrett County Office of Emergency Management and, upon arrival, found much of the structure fully involved in flames. The trailer was owned by the James H. Weeks Jr. family, however no member of the family was home at the time of the blaze.

Carola said that the fire appeared to have started in the living room area of the trailer. The blaze destroyed about one-half of the structure and nearly all of the contents. He estimated the loss to be at least $10,000.

Firemen remained on the scene until about 10 p.m. Also responding was the Southern Rescue Squad. There were no injuries reported.

Oakland and Deer Park VFDs, along with Southern Rescue, were also summoned Friday evening just after 7 p.m. to the residence of Welton and Joy Lane in the 100 block of G Street, Mtn. Lake Park, after fire broke out in the basement of the large three-story house.

Mr. and Mrs. Lane and their three children were not home when the fire began, but Mr. Lane discovered it upon his arrival, as he observed heavy smoke coming out of the basement. Firefighters entered the basement and quickly extinguished the blaze, which was confined to about a five-by-five-foot space. Sawdust, trash, and other small items were burned, however damage was minimal. The cause of the fire is undetermined.

Firemen remained on the scene until about 8 p.m.

Duckworth Coal Company Receives National Honor For Reclamation

The John Duckworth Coal Company, a Maryland surface coal mining company, was one of only five in the entire nation to capture top honors in the second annual Excellence in Surface Coal Mining Reclamation National Competition, sponsored by the U.S. Interior Department's Office of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement. The winners were announced by Assistant Mining Congress Convention in Chicago on April 27.

In addition to a plaque, Duckworth Coal Company received a letter signed by President Ronald Reagan. The letter said, in part, "Your dedication to restoring the land after it is mined for coal exemplifies a spirit of commitment to resource stewardship in which all Americans can take pride. Your efforts prove that industry and government cooperation can and will continue to achieve needed energy production while maintaining necessary environmental safeguards.

"The outstanding reclamation you have achieved shows how successfully that goal can be met through innovation and creativity. Your special accomplishments in reclamation excellence help guarantee that our natural resource base remains for continued productive use as well as for the enjoyment of all Americans."

The reclamation award winners also received a message from Secretary of the Interior Donald P. Hodel. Hodel's letter stated, "... with the conferring of honors in the second annual Excellence in Surface Mining Awards Program, we are giving some official recognition to those who represent 'the best of the best' in this important field. You have gone far beyond minimum requirements,

National Award Is Presented To Dr. Herman

The National Council on Student Development has named Dr. Stephen Herman, president of Garrett Community College, the 1987-1988 recipient of its Outstanding Service Award. Dr. Herman was presented with a plaque at the annual business meeting at the National Council, held this year in Las Vegas, Nevada.

The National Council on Student Development is a professional association comprised of junior college student personnel professionals. The organization has over 500 members in the United States and Canada.

Dr. Herman has served the organization in several capacities. He was the New England regional representative for three years; the Echo Newsletter editor; Council Secretary; and most recently the Council Treasurer.

The annual business meeting is held in conjunction with the annual convention of the American Association of Community and Junior Colleges. This year conferees heard a keynote address from Senator Mark Hatfield, who received the Harry S. Truman award for outstanding service to higher education. Dr. Herman was one of over 4,000 educators from all over the world who attended the four day conference.

Board of Education Seeking Additional $1,900,000 For 1988-89

The Garrett County Board of Education presented their FY 1989 Operating Budget request to the Garrett County Commissioners on Tuesday following unanimous approval by board members last week. The budget seeks nearly $1,900,000 more than the 1988 budget.

William M. Goldsborough, board president, explained the budget request, noting that total anticipated expenditures for FY 1989 have been budgeted at $18,573,826.

A total of $7,856,670 was requested from the local government, with $315,000 for the architectural design work for the renovation of Southern High School. The remaining $881,670 requested would be used, together with state funds, to fully fund an increased expenditure request.

The total expenditure for FY 1989 represents an 11.2 increase over the FY 1988 budget, or a total of $1,871,466.

The bulk of the increase would be for a seven percent in-

GCC Finances In Good Shape, Says Comptroller

The financial picture at Garrett Community College is good and continues an upward swing after some rough times a few years ago, according to a report given to the Board of Trustees Tuesday night by Comptroller John Culp.

Culp projected a cash balance of $62,000. With expected revenues and the fact that cash flow was in the red last year, Culp noted about a $100,000 turnaround from the previous fiscal year.

The comptroller attributed more tuition dollars, intensified accounts receivable efforts, increased miscellaneous income and investments to the brighter financial picture.

"Now that we are able to pay our bills on time," he stated, "we are in a better credit position and we can take advantage of discounts."

Those two percent discounts allowed for bills paid within 10 days have added between $2,000 to $4,000 to the operating budget this year, said Culp.

The college has expended 79 percent of its budget. Culp said that 83.3 percent would have indicated even spending. The college is once again below even spending.

Earlier in the day, Culp, along with Dr. Stephen Herman, president, and Wayne Hamilton, board chairman, presented their proposed budget and funding request to the Board of Garrett County Commissioners for the coming fiscal year. They noted that the commissioners viewed their "modest" request favorably.

In recent months, the commissioners have commended college officials for their efforts in turning the financial forecast of GCC into a positive one.

SGA Officers

New Student Government Association officers for the coming year were announced at Tuesday's meeting. Jeff Early will serve as president, Sonya

County Agencies' Requests Exceed Prior Budget By $6,000,000

While the county operated on a $15,000,000 budget this past fiscal year, budget requests submitted, thus far, to the Board of Garrett County Commissioners indicate that $21,000,000 would be needed for this year if all county agencies would receive their full funding requests.

Of the additional $6,600,000 sought this year, the Board of Education is seeking a total increase of 1.2 million. Included in that total are the architectural fees needed for the Southern High School renovation project.

The commissioners are doubtful that they can meet the education board's request this year. The board did receive its full request last year.

The commissioners also met with Garrett Community College officials Tuesday to review their budget request. They are seeking a five percent increase which would amount to a $55,000 increase.

The county heads felt that the college request was reasonable.

When asked about the hefty increases this year, County Administrator Robert Fousek attributed many of them to "big projects" that have been on the drawing board for years, but are coming to fruition this year.

"More than one agency will have to go back to the drawing board on their budget requests," said Commissioner Elwood Groves II.

The commissioners also stated that the assessable base did not increase substantially this year.

"While there are numerous development projects in the works, the assessable tax base won't feel that much of a boost until next year or even the following year," said Commissioner Ernest Gregg Jr. "In order to fully fund what the various county agencies are seeking, we would have to raise the tax rate by $1.25 per $100 assessed value."

Even though the books would show an increase in the assessable base, the commissioners noted that many of those funds increase a demand in services with increased development — in the form of road improvement, police protection and other services provided by the

Immunization Clinics Scheduled As Rabies Cases Expected To Increase

The Garrett County Health Department recently announced the schedule for the spring series of rabies immunization clinics for dogs and cats to begin the week of May 23. Clinics will be held each day of that week through Saturday, May 28, at various locations throughout Garrett County.

According to Dr. William W. Pope, Garrett County Health Officer, rabies continues to be a problem affecting the wildlife in Garrett County. Thus far in 1988, two confirmed cases of raccoon rabies have been reported in the northeastern portion of the county. Since the current epizootic of rabies began in 1983, rabies has been seen in all major geographical areas of the county and while the number of actual reported cases has diminished, there is no reason to believe that rabies is no longer present in these areas, Pope continued.

In other states and in other areas of Maryland reported cases of rabies appears to follow a cyclic pattern with maximum peaks occurring at five-year intervals. Officials of the Health Department note that it has been five years since rabies was first reported in Garrett County. One of the first cases was reported in the area where the current cases of rabies have been detected. If existing theories concerning rabies are correct, there would be an expected increase in reported cases throughout the rest of 1988 and 1989.

Vaccination of cats and dogs is the most important measure which can be taken to protect the human population from rabies, Pope said. Recognizing this, Governor William Donald Shaffer recently designated May as Dog and Cat Rabies Vaccination month. Through vaccination, an effective barrier is erected between the wildlife population harboring the disease and humans who are often in close contact with their dogs and cats.

Maryland law now requires that all dogs and cats four months of age and older have up to date rabies vaccinations although animals of only three months of age can be properly protected through vaccination at the clinics. Area residents are reminded to check their pet's certification to make sure that the date has not expired indicating the pet is no longer properly protected.

The cost of the vaccination at the May clinics is $3 per animal. Dogs should be brought to the clinic on a leash and under the control of a responsible person. Cats should be brought to the clinic in animal transport cages or tightly secured boxes with air holes provided.

The Garrett County Health Department is also providing rabies pre-exposure immunization shots for humans during the upcoming month. Individuals who work with domestic or wild animals should contact Sara Donley at 334-8111 to schedule the immunizations. Individuals who received immunizations two or more years in the past should also contact the above number to receive advice concerning administration to a booster shot.

The schedule for immunization is as follows:

Monday, May 23, 5-6 p.m., Bloomington Fire Hall; Tuesday, May 24, 5-6 p.m., Friendsville Elementary School; Wednesday, May 25, 5-6 p.m. Crellin Elementary School; Thursday, May 26, 5-6 p.m., Garrett Community College Maintenance Bay; Friday, May 27, 5-6 p.m., Grantsville Elementary School; and Saturday, May 28, 10 a.m. - noon, Broad Ford Elementary School.

Also washing cars were Julie Lewis, of Community Action; John Millican, of Habitat; Cheryl Henderson, president of the Garrett County Teachers Association; Asa McCain, mayor of Oakland; Ed Green, principal of Northern High School; Lisa Thayer, assistant state's attorney for Garrett County; David Turney, mayor of Mtn. Lake Park; and Milford Beckman, president of Garrett National Bank.

Hike And Bike Participants Total 785 Miles Raising Money For GOH

The annual Garrett Organization for the Handicapped (GOH) Hike and Bike was recently held at two county locations — Dennett Road School in Mtn. Lake Park, and St. Ann's Catholic Church in Grantsville.

Honorary Chairperson John Braskey stated, "I am delighted with the large number of entrants in the 1988 Hike and Bike. It is gratifying to see the people of Garrett County helping the handicapped through entering the event and obtaining sponsors. I urge each and every sponsor to honor their pledge so that the GOH organization will raise enough funds to continue their worthwhile program and services to the handicapped citizens of our county. It has truly been an honor to have served as honorary chairperson for this annual event."

A total of 785 miles were biked or hiked by entrants, with 63 entrants taking the Northern Route, and 29 taking the Southern Route. Members of VFW Post 10077, Deer Park, inspected 31 bikes this year, as a special service offered during the annual event. Safety tips were offered the participants by Deputy Larry Gnegy at the Southern Route, and by Deputy Jeff Murphy at the Northern Route.

Bikes were not the only vehicle used to raise money for GOH. John Chadderton, of Kitzmiller, rolled his wheelchair in the Dennett Road School Gymn, while his brother, Allan, hiked on the Southern track.

Each entrant was given a gift certificate to either The Big Tee Burger (Southern Route) or Hilltop Delight/Fox's Pizza (Northern Route).

All those who turned their pledge money in by May 16 are eligible for cash prizes, however, pledges will continue to be accepted. The organization hopes all sponsors will honor their pledges. Winners of cash prizes will be announced when all pledge money is turned in to the organizers.

Participants included representatives of Garrett Memorial Hospital, Appalachian Center, Dennett Road School, Southern High School, Hoyes United Methodist Church, Mt. Zion United Methodist Church, Bethesda Youth Group, Northern High School, St. Paul's United Methodist Women, Emmanuel United Methodist Youth, Northern High School Music Department, Grantsville School, and Northern Middle School.

All funds raised are used to provide services to the handicapped citizens of Garrett County. This is GOH's major fund-raiser for the year. Anyone desiring further information about GOH and its activities should contact Dot Leuba, president, or attend the monthly meeting the first Thursday of each month at the Appalachian Center, Third Street, Oakland, at 7 p.m.

Various Topics Discussed By Education Board

Several issues were discussed by the Garrett County Board of Education at their regular monthly meeting last Thursday.

An informational report was made by Albert Ringer, assistant superintendent of curriculum and instruction, about the needs assessment study, which must be completed by August.

Ringer reported that he met with eight principals from smaller elementary schools who expressed concerns in several areas, including time allotment for teaching math and science, new state law and guidelines for the Chapter 1 program, the number of resource people in the school system, and the Gifted and Talented program.

Teachers would like an alternative for students who do not fit into the Chapter 1 or special education category, but still do not belong in a regular classroom because of behavioral problems.

Luther Parrack, director of secondary education, reported that summer school is scheduled for June 15 to July 27. The number of students who will attend is not yet known, but a program has been structured at both middle schools for those students, and at Garrett Community College for the high school level.

The board voted to employ Briggs and Associates for asbestos testing in the local schools.

The testing is necessary due to the Asbestos Hazard Emergency Response Act (AHERA), which requires schools nationally to develop plans to eliminate asbestos in classrooms. A plan of action must be submitted to the state by October.

The company will be responsible for locating the asbestos, developing a plan for removal, and training personnel for the actual removal. The testing will be completed in August.

A report was made on radon testing which was completed in all county elementary schools recently. Testing in the remaining schools will be completed next year.

Of the schools tested, Friendsville Elementary School contained the highest level of radon, but was still well below the danger level. If a dangerous level of radon is found, a ventilation system must be designed to exchange air and ventilate the building.

The proposed budget was presented by Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, Superintendent of Garrett County Schools, and approved by board members (see separate story).

The board also voted to eliminate the second duty day, June 7, for teachers this year, making the final duty day June 6. The final student day is set for June 3.

Several Injured In Mishaps, One Charged For DWI

Several people were injured in motor vehicle accidents during the last week. One accident resulted in a driver being charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol.

A Swanton youth was injured in a motorcycle accident late Tuesday evening.

Mark H. Cosner, 17, was operating a 1981 Suzuki Quad Sport on private property near High Street in Oakland when his hand slipped off the clutch, according to reports filed by the Maryland State Police at the McHenry detachment.

The motorcycle then accelerated rapidly, ejecting the driver.

Cosner was treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital following the 9:30 p.m. accident according to a spokesman there.

Marta L. Turney, 28, Oakland, was charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol following a single-vehicle accident Saturday on Route 495.

According to police reports, Turney was traveling south in a 1986 Chevrolet Nova when she applied the brakes and caused the vehicle to skid. The car crossed the center of the roadway and skidded off the right side into a ditch.

Tfc. G.R. Chaney charged Turney with failing to control the speed of her vehicle and the DWI charge. Turney apparently was not injured in the mishap.

One man was injured in a two-vehicle accident which occurred May 13 on Route 48.

Charles W. Eddy, 25, Waynesburg, Pa., was treated and released from Frostburg Community Hospital after the 1:55 a.m. accident, according to a spokesman there.

Police said Eddy was eastbound in a 1988 Nissan pickup truck when he failed to notice he was gaining on a tractor-trailer operated by Richard L. Christ, 54, Charlotte Hall, also traveling east. Eddy applied the brakes, but skidded into the rear of the truck.

Tfc. G.R. Chaney, who investigated the accident, charged Eddy with failing to control the speed of his vehicle. Christ was charged for traveling on unsafe trailer tires.

Christ was apparently not injured in the mishap.

Two persons were injured in a two-vehcile accident on Route 135 on May 11.

According to police reports, Crystal D. Nolan, 18, Deer Park, was southbound on G Street, Mtn. Lake Park, in a 1984 Ford Escort. Nolan stopped at a stop sign, then pulled into the path of a 1978 Ford Thunderbird operated by Josephine Heckrotte, 59, Oakland, traveling east on Route 135, causing a collision.

Tfc. R.M. Hershberger, who investigated the mishap, reported that a blinding glare from the sun made it difficult to observe traffic. However, Nolan was charged with failing to yield the right of way to an approaching vehicle. She was also charged for a restricted license violation.

Both Heckrotte and a passenger in Nolan's vehicle, Melissa K. Riley, 18, Oakland, were treated and discharged from Garrett Memorial following the accident, according to a spokesman there.

"Dream Comes True" Group Presents First Gift To Local Resident

A dream came true last week for a young Garrett County woman who has good days and no so good days. She dreaded the hot days of summer in her trailer and dreamed of having an air conditioner. The air condition has been installed and is now giving her comfort.

One year ago, a group of concerned Garrett County residents organized a program entitled "Dream Come True," with a mission to fulfill the special wishes of terminally ill Garrett Countians, 18 years and older. The presentation of the air conditioner to the person described above was the first "dream" fulfilled by the program.

In order to allow for contributions to the project to be tax-deductible and make sure they had liability insurance, the "Dream Come True" organizers affiliated with Hospice of Garrett County, although it operates independently of Hospice. Providing much of the financial support have been the Civic Club of Oakland, the Oakland Court of Catholic Daughters of America, and the Oakland Council of the Knights of Columbus.

The original steering committee was composed of the late Haig Jackson, Marin Day, Cleo Johnson, Father Martin Feild, Aloise O'Neill, Diane Thayer, Richard Peake and Richard Stanton, many of whom are still serving, with Mrs. O'Neill as the current chairman.

Michele Atkins, executive director of the "Make a Wish" program in Pittsburgh, attended one of the committee's planning meetings to provide direction and ideas. "The enthusiasm of this delightful lady made May 22, 1987, the beginning of a design for our project," stated Mrs. O'Neill.

Wayne Johnson, executive director of Hospice, Jane Nolan and Patti Blythe were later added to the committee.

All requests to the organization must be submitted in writing by a Hospice worker, physician, or family member and be directed to the Dream Come True Fund, P.O. Box 3076, Swanton, MD 21561. The Dream committee will meet with the referral person and the family to determine if the "dream" can be granted.

The organization is financed primarily by contributions from individuals, organizations, businesses, and through memorials. Persons wishing to make a contribution or find out more about the Dream Come True Fund may write to the above address or contact Mrs. O'Neill by telephone: 387-4884.

Work Begins At Oakland Train Station Site

Work is progressing on the site across from the railroad tracks and by the Youghiogheny River in an effort to beautify the historic B&O Train Station area, according to Dave Taylor, site improvement director.

The Greater Oakland Business Association, under the coordination of Connie Margison, is sponsoring the improvement project which will benefit townspeople and visitors to the area.

Taylor noted that his crew is clearing the bank area, planting trees and shrubs, and placing picnic tables or benches in the area behind the station. There will also be a retaining wall with railroad ties provided by the CSX Corporation.

The Town of Oakland is to provide fill dirt for the area and Mayor Asa McCain, a member of Woodmen of the World, said that organization will provide pine trees.

A planter is also being constructed for the front of the train station. "As more money is donated," stated Taylor, "we plan to do more to the front of the building."

Fundraiser Slated

Margison announced this week that a cocktail party is being planned to raise the needed $1,000 for the first phase of the project.

The party will be held at the Oakland Country Club. Tickets are $25 per person. Tickets may be purchased at Marvin's Men's Wear, Second Street, Oakland.

Local Breaking, Entering Theft Investigated

A breaking and entering theft occurred yesterday around noon at a residence in Mtn. Lake Park.

According to reports filed by the Garrett County Sheriff's Department, someone entered the home of Edward R. Bennett through a locked front door and removed numerous household items and clothing.

Deputy D. Welch, who is investigating the theft, reported that total losses reached $1382.

State Police Investigate Local Thefts

Several local thefts were reported this week, and are under the investigation of the Maryland State Police.

John F. Mellinger reported that a 1988 Suzuki off-road bike was removed from the front yard of his residence on Route 495 last Thursday. Tfc. R.M. Hershberger is investigating the report.

John Perry, Fairmont, W.Va., reported that a paddle boat was removed from his dock near McHenry sometime between May 7 and May 14.

Cpl. D.W. Broadwater, who is investigating the theft, reported that losses reached $300.

Eric A. Raucher, Pittsburgh, Pa., reported that a radio cassette player was removed from his boat which was stored at a summer cottage on Harvey's Peninsula.

The theft occurred between last fall and May 14. Tfc. J.K. Moore is investigating the incident, and reported that there are no suspects at this time.

Rodney Frazee, Friendsville, reported that numerous tools were removed from his garage on the Old Morgantown Road on the morning of May 15. Tfc. L. Rosage is investigating the report.

City Police Report Theft, DWI Arrest

Chief John K. Sines of the Oakland City Police Department this week reported a theft and a DWI arrest.

William L. Stuck, Swanton, reported yesterday that his sailboat was removed from the parking lot of the Midas Muffler Shop, Oakland.

According to police reports, the boat had been parked in the lot for approximately 10 days. It was described as a 14-foot fiberglass "Checkmate" with a red deck and white sides. A heavy metal strip weighing approximately 1000 pounds was inside the boat. The sail was not attached to the boat. Total loss is estimated at $1500.

Also removed from the lot were a set of blue cattle racks valued at $100.

Chief Sines, who is investigating the incident, reported that anyone with information about the theft should call the Oakland City Police Department at 334-2100.

Chief Sines reported that Garry Edward Holland, 30, Oakland, was arrested Saturday for driving while under the influence of alcohol, operating a motor vehicle while his license was revoked, failing to keep to the right of the center line, and failing to stop at a stop sign.

The arrest was made by Sgt. Roger Lewis, who was assisted by Officer Gary Kroll, after observing Holland traveling north on Eighth Street in a pickup truck.

Nature Conservancy Re-Erects Gate To Preserve Crabtree Cave

The Nature Conservancy of Maryland has acquired Crabtree Cave located near the Savage River reservoir and to protect rare wildlife there has constructed a steel gate at the cave's mouth.

Despite posting signs asking visitors to avoid disturbing the site's natural state, the conservancy repeatedly found debris, including chemical pollutants, dumped into the stream of Crabtree Cave.

As was reported earlier, the gate has been vandalized and is being re-gated.

"The animals may seem unimportant, but they are unique," said a Conservancy spokesman. "Increasing, medical, industrial, and agricultural benefits are derived from the study of such unique species. With species becomeing extinct at the rate of one per day globally, the possible benefits of these lifeforms are being lost before we can even study them."

Crabtree Cave boasts two rare, tiny, shrimp-like creatures that live in the cave's stream. Both are very unusual. One is found only in Maryland and the other only in Maryland and parts of Pennsylvania.

The cave is also the largest bat hibernaculum in Maryland. In late 1984, Crabtree Cave was ranked high for ecological value. They purchased the cave in 1985. Their goal was to preserve its ecosystem forever.

For the most part, cave enthusiasts subscribe to the old adage, "take nothing but pictures; leave nothing but footprints." When Conservancy members discovered carbide (used in headlights) and old batteries in the stream, they posted signs. When the signs were ignored, they decided to erect a permanent angle-iron steel gate. That occurred last September.

The Conservancy said that measure was the only way to ensure complete protection of the cave's ecosystem. The gate was not meant to keep people out. When studies are completed, organized trips in to the cave will be available to the general public.

The Conservancy was founded in 1951 and has won protection for over three million acres, 23,766 of which are in Maryland, according to the spokesman.

The Nature Conservancy is sponsoring several field trips in Western Maryland in 1988: June 25, Finzel Swamp, 1 p.m.; June 26, Fort Hill, 10 a.m.; July 9, Finzel Swamp, 1 p.m.; July 10, The Glades, 10 a.m.; and September 17, Cranesville Swamp, noon.

Sue Richards To Perform Harp Concerts At Highland Festival

Ms. Sue Richards, Rockville, will perform a wide variety of Scottish and Celtic harp music at the First Annual McHenry Highland festival on Saturday, June 4, at the Garrett County Fairgrounds in McHenry.

Ms. Richards studied harp at Oberlin College under Lucy Lewis and with Jean Harriman while at Ohio State University. She began playing Celtic harp in Wisconsin, performing with a harp ensemble and with Lughnasa, an Irish band. She also performed with a Scottish band for Scottish country dances and organized the Wisconsin chapter of the Society of Folk Harpers and Craftsmen. She moved to Maryland in 1982 and began performing and teaching and organized the Washington, D.C., chapter of the Society of Folk Harpers and the Scottish Harp Society. She has performed solo and with Karen Ashbrook on the hammered dulcimer as Ceoltoiri, playing only Celtic music, and Peascods Gathering, doing Celtic, English and Scandinavian.

In 1985, Ms. Richards won the American championship of the Scottish Harp Society, the prize being a trip to Scotland to study harp with Alison Kinnaird for a week; while there, she performed at the Edinburgh International Folk Festival. She has judged a number of Scottish games and played concerts at those events; she recently judged the National Competition in Alexandria, Va., in 1986 and 1987. She has given harp workshops and performs frequently in the Washington, D.C. area.

Sue is the author of Music for the Heather Folk, a book of arrangements for the Celtic harp and will be featured on a record with Karen Ashbrook, which will be available this fall.

Festival hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and admission is $3.00 for anyone over 12 years of age. For more information or a free festival brochure, persons should contact the McHenry Highland Festival, Courthouse, Oakland, MD 21550, (301) 334-1948.

W.Va. Man Fined In Local Waste Dumping Case

A Salem, W.Va. contractor was fined and sentenced last week during a U.S. District Court trial for taking 150 barrels of solvents and other flammable or corrosive chemicals to Martin's Junkyard, near Oakland, and sites in West Virginia.

Virgil Cummings was fined $4000 and sentenced to 60 days in a federal halfway house for the charges. Judge R. Hargrove had sentenced Cummings to four years in prison, but suspended all but the 60-day term.

Cummings was convicted in March by a Baltimore Jury for violating the federal Resource Conservation and Recovery Act by taking the hazardous materials to Martin's Junkyard and to property he owned in Salem.

Ernest Martin, owner of the junkyard, was sentenced in April for his part in the hazardous waste dumping.

Take Their Wheels . . .

Last week the U.S. Coast Guard seized a private yacht valued at two and one-half million dollars after a tiny amount of illegal drugs was discovered on board. It was originally reported that the yacht would be sold at auction, but last night it was announced that it would be returned to the owner.

While seizure and sale of the yacht may be justifiable, it seems that it could be considered a bit too severe when compared to enforcement of other laws involving illegal use and possession of drugs and/or alcohol. In our opinion, the same type of action should be taken against drunk drivers, for example.

In just the past month, two more innocent people have died in Garrett County because of alleged drunk drivers. Twenty-seven young folks were killed in Kentucky this week when a drunk driver smashed his pick-up into their bus, causing it to burst into flame. The driver of the pickup had at least one prior DWI conviction.

Stiffer penalties and stronger enforcement of DWI laws are certainly steps in the right direction in the battle against drunk driving; however, we suggest that another effective deterrent would be just what the Coast Guard did with the yacht last week. Automatic confiscation and sale of the drunk driver's automobile just might prevent a significant number of intoxicated persons from getting behind the wheel in the first place. Along with that, we would like to see a mandatory loss of driver's license for, let's say, five years for the first offense and forever for a second conviction.

Too many offenders are permitted to resume operating their automobiles far too soon. Some lose their license, but continue to drive anyway. It would be far more difficult, and expensive, for them to do so if their "wheels" were simply taken away from them.

Weapons are also rather routinely confiscated and sold when they are used illegally, yet far more people die on our highways because of drunk driving than those who die from gunshots.

A license to drive is NOT a right, but a privilege. Such gross abuse of that privilege, which endangers countless innocent people, should result in its swift revocation.

Gov. Schaefer Speaks Out

TREATING AND PREVENTING AIDS

by Governor William Donald Schaefer

During the next few weeks, the federal government will be delivering important information about AIDS to every household in the United States. This is a tremendous undertaking — getting the latest facts on AIDS to more than 107 million homes in every state and community in our country.

It is a difficult and costly project, but I think this effort points up the critical need for accurate, easy-to-understand, and complete information about this disease. Many people are afraid of AIDS. They do not understand it. They are worried about AIDS in their neighborhoods and their communities, in their families.

I have spent a lot of time wrestling with the issue of AIDS, trying to sort out just what I should do as governor, and what the state of Maryland should do, to help protect our citizens. Like you, I have come to appreciate the extent of the problem, and, like you, I have come to realize that there are no easy answers. This is a difficult problem with many nuances, and it is a problem we are going to have to deal with for many years to come.

Between January 1981 and April 1988, a total of 1095 cases of AIDS were reported in Maryland. At the end of April, there were 433 persons with AIDS living in the state. These figures tell only part of the story, however. There are an estimated 54,000 Marylanders infected with the HIV virus which causes AIDS.

We must attack AIDS on a number of fronts. We must help those who already have the disease. We must protect others to keep the disease from spreading. But no matter what the course we take, we must always make prevention and education a priority.

We have been very concerned with the treatment and prevention of AIDS in Maryland. We spent over $2 million on AIDS-related activities in fiscal 1988. We have already increased that commitment substantially. The General Assembly appropriated $8,900,000 for AIDS programs in fiscal 1989. A good portion of this will be used for education and prevention.

I have set up two groups to help me in the area of AIDS. The first, the Governor's Advisory Council on AIDS, is just that, a diverse group of health and education professionals and experts who advise me and keep me up-to-date on the latest information about AIDS. Dr. Edward N. Brandt, chancellor of the University of Maryland at Baltimore, is chairman of the council. These thoughtful men and women have been very helpful to me in thinking through the complex policy issues related to AIDS. They worked very closely with the General Assembly this year to review and evaluate legislation, and I appreciate the many, many hours they have contributed to making Maryland a healthier place to live.

The second group, the AIDS Administration, is charged with the day-to-day administration and management of AIDS public health policy in the state. We created this agency within the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene in July 1987 after it became apparent that the problem was too large and too complex to fit into the existing state structure. The AIDS Administration is the focal point for all our activities to help people who have AIDS or who have questions about AIDS.

We recently established a new Center for AIDS Related Educational Services — "Maryland CARES." That's a wonderful name, and it sums up the role I want the state to play in AIDS care and education. In every program, in every publication, when working with every patient, the message must be "Maryland Cares."

I know that many of you have questions about AIDS. We want to help you get the answers. That goes back to my number one priority — prevention through education. To keep you informed about the newest medical developments, and to help you get the information you need, we have established a Maryland AIDS Hotline staffed seven days a week by caring and informed volunteers. They can provide immediate answers, referral, and reassurance to anyone who calls.

The hotline hours are 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., Monday-Saturday; 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., Sunday. The toll free number is 1-800-638-6252.

As always I want to hear from you. Please write me: Governor William Donald Schaefer, State House, Annapolis, MD 21401.

Federation Speaks

"TEACHER TESTING"

by William C. Hogan

American Federation of Teachers

Right now, only three states require practicing teachers to pass a basic skills test to keep their jobs.

A study was done on the Texas Examination of Current Administrators and Teachers (TECAT) which raised questions as to whether this kind of test helps or hinders the long term goal of school reform.

In a recent issue of Educational Researcher, two members of the study summarized what they learned. Some of their major findings were:

—The total tax-supported costs ended up at $35.5 million, much greater than the estimated cost of $6 million. This reflects the added costs to districts of in-service days and the costs to the state of running workshops, preparing materials, etc.

—Workshop sessions emphasized test format and sample content as much as the actual skills. Only 5 percent of the teachers interviewed thought they had learned new skills.

—Much larger failure rates occurred among vocational teachers, physical education teachers and coaches, and special education teachers. Minority teachers also had problems.

—The test left much bitterness among teachers and seems to have damaged public opinion of the profession. Most felt "degraded" by having to take the test.

Although the testing was designed to get rid of incompetent teachers and raise public esteem of the teaching profession, it, in fact, seems to have done the opposite. Costs were high, few teachers were "weeded out," and many lost their jobs based on test scores when their rapport with students and manual skills may have been more important than their reading and writing abilities.

Letters to the Editor

Editor's note: The following is a letter from Sister Cathy Arata, who spent several years serving Garrett County in various capacities, particularly in being instrumental in the establishment of the House of Hope and the Garrett County Chapter of Habitat for Humanity. She is now serving in the war-torn nation of El Salvador.

Dear friends:

"Christ invites us not to fear persecution because, believe me, sisters and brothers, whoever decides for the poor must endure the same fate as the poor, and in El Salvador we know what the fate of the poor really means: to disappear, to be tortured, to be imprisoned, and to be found dead."

These words of Archbisho Romero took on a new meaning, as did many of the Scripture passages, this Holy Week.

"On the first day of the Feast of Unleavened Bread . . . the disciples asked Jesus, 'Where do you want us to go and get the Passover meal ready?' (Mk. 14:12) We arrived in Salinas, a village of about 60 families. The whole town was waiting for us to celebrate the Holy Thursday Liturgy."

We were a group of seven, one a priest, there at the request of the catechist to accompany the people and to be accompanied by them as we remembered together the events that led to the death and the resurrection of Jesus.

"Did you have to come with swords and clubs to capture me as though I were an outlaw?" (Mk. 14:49) Later that afternoon, we found out that some members of the community who had waited all morning for us were beaten by soldiers. Their crime? Gathering.

"When the hour came, Jesus took his place at the table with the Apostles. He said to them, 'I have wanted so much to eat this Passover Meal with you.'" (Lk. 22:14) About one hundred of us gathered in the church, the full moon and two candles provided light. Each person came at risk because in El Salvador compesinos don't usually meet at night. It's considered subversive and at times illegal.

"Then He took the bread, gave thanks to God, broke it and gave it to them saying, 'This is my body which is given for you. Do this in memory of me.'" (Lk. 22:19) We heard stories from family members whose wives, husbands, and children had been murdered in this people's struggle for freedom."

Our passover meal was shared: 2 fresh chickens just killed, fresh shrimp from the sea and tortillas, always tortillas.

We left Salinas at 7:30 on Good Friday morning. The walk was three hours to Samoran where another community had gathered for the Via Crucis.

"Pilate called together the chief priests, the leaders, and the people, and said to them, 'You brought this man to me and said that He is misleading the people.'" (Lk. 23:13) At the first station we recalled Jesus condemnation to death and we also remembered a 62-year-old catechist who had been captured and tortured in January for 'misleading the people' (preaching the gospel).

"Women of Jerusalem, don't cry for me, but for yourselves and your children." (Lk. 23:28) We remembered all the "madres" who have had sons and daugters disappeared, tortured, and killed.

When we finished the Way of the Cross in Zamoran we began a two-hour walk to El Marillo. On the outskirts of the town we were met by soldiers who questioned us and searched our belongings. We told them that were here to celebrate with the people, in the different communities, the events of Holy Week.

The Lieutenant told us that we could stay today (Friday), but he would have to call his higher superiors about the rest of the trip. We had planned to go to San Juan de Gozo, a small community of fishermen. Recently the army confiscated the boats and has prohibited the people from fishing. Their gardens have also been burned. In military terms, it's known as low-intensity conflict, the object being to isolate the people until they die of hunger or move out.

When we began the Stations, two armed soldiers were in the front of the procession and six held up the rear . . . in between we were about 200 people, mostly women and children and older men.

It was tense. "The chief priests and teachers of the law stepped forward and made strong accusations against Jesus. (Lk. 23)

The soldiers told us that we were in a zone of war . . . the people there are all "trouble makers" and "communist guerillas." I looked around and saw women nursing their babies, children with extended stomachs, old men, naked children and hungry people. The only ones with guns and grenades were the soldiers.

After the Way of the Cross we gathered for communion in an open air type of structure. As we began to sing we were encircled by armed soldiers and the Lieut. sent for the spokesperson of the group. He told us that he had spoken to his superior and that we had two options: 1) to leave immediately (by this time it was 4:00 and leaving immediately meant a three-hour walk back to the bridge which closes at 6:00; or 2) to be arrested and detained over night and go to the Sixth Brigade in the morning. (The crime was that we were in a conflictive zone without permission . . . of course, no one told us that permission was needed.

As a group we discussed our options and for a number of reasons decided on the first. I'm not sure that we should have allowed ourselves to be bullied in this way, however, I was glad we opted for this choice because I am in the process of applying for temporary residency and having been arrested could be grounds for deportation.

It's been three months since I arrived in El Salvador and stories like this one happen all the time. The human dimension always makes the statistics, the cold facts come alive.

In these newsletters, which I hope to send periodically, be assured that I am not endangering the life of anyone. What I relate is public information which needs to be known.

This was not meant to be a depressing letter. On the contrary, in the midst of all this the vibrant and strong faith life of the Salvadoran people — a people who know what it is to suffer — and a people who believe that God is calling them to freedom, and this God is a faithful God who is leading and accompanying them as they bring about God's reign of peace and justice in this tiny country.

In closing, I want to thank you for your letters and messages. When one is so far from home, mail means a lot.

Let us be united to one another through our prayer and memory.

Peace,

To the Editor:

As a fellow member of the Garrett County Public School Food Service Task Force Committee, you know that parents have voiced concerns regarding school lunches.

The committee has worked hard to develop a survey to collect information about the present lunch program as well as asking for suggestions for possible changes. A sampling of students, parents and school staff will be asked to participate by completing the survey. Surveys will be distributed May 24 and 25.

Survey results will be compiled by the committee and the information obtained will be used to guide members in future decision making. Committee members include parents, students, faculty, food service staff, Board of Education members and Health Department staff.

Please join with me in urging parents, students and staff to participate by completing and returning the food service surveys. This is the opportunity to express comments and concerns.

Sincerely,
Mikal M. Moomau

To the Editor:

This is in response to your response to our letter about our concerns on how merit pay would be handled and of the many shortcomings of any such plan. You indicated you'd favor across-the-board raises for all teachers if we had a way to remove ineffective, incompetent teachers. You note that a protection device called tenure makes getting rid of bad teachers virtually impossible. You also note that while some protection for the teacher is worthy and justified, tenure also encourages mediocracy and has a negative effect on incentive and morale of the best teacher.

Teachers should "bust their tails" because that's what they're paid to do. Whether some colleague doesn't bust a tail doesn't make it right for others not to. To argue that there's no incentive to be a good teacher because there are bad teachers who get paid the same doesn't make any sense. Should we accept that logic then there's hardly any reason for anyone to do a good job because invariably there are others in the same job making the same money but not doing a good job.

Surely your readers know that every worker deserves to be justly treated and in the public service there is a definite need for job protection against political considerations. Tenure is simply the granting of job protection for teachers after a two year probationary period. For two years, new teachers are subject to non-renewal of their teaching contracts without reason. Once that two year period comes, teachers and other professional educational employees cannot be dismissed unless for cause. These causes are misconduct in office, incompetency, wilful neglect of duty, immorality, and insubordination.

A charged educator has due process of law protections providing that any charge must be in writing, a hearing provided upon request, and an opportunity to be heard by the employing board with the right of appeal. Surely we shouldn't deny our educators these rights. As for the difficulty of removing a teacher being virtually impossible, we submit that such action surely shouldn't be easy. After all, teachers have four to six years of education and training to be able to teach and two years probationary period to go through before tenure is provided them. Hopefully, no one would suggest that these protections be watered down or taken away. If it is a fact that removing a teacher from the job is virtually impossible then those administrative and supervisory professional educators whose job it is to evaluate teachers must be at fault. Remember we teachers have no right or power to hire, promote, or fire anyone in the school system. By law, other management employees of our school system have that responsibility to recommend such action to an elected school board. It is the Board that hires, promotes, suspends and dismisses school employees.

If there's anyone to blame for bad teachers who don't "bust their tails" to be outstanding teachers, please don't place any blame on teachers. Since we're not granted the legal right to determine who comes into teaching, set the standards for practicing teachers, or determine who stays, teachers can't be held accountable for the competence of their colleagues.

We certainly hope that you and the public can understand our position in this matter. Hopefully, some day teachers will receive the status they richly deserve. After all, we teach the future.

Sincerely,
Tom Shaffer

To the Editor:

We so often take things for granted, expecting them to be as they have always been. For instance, the weekly church service listings found in The Republican Newspaper.

We are taking this opportunity to say "thank you" to the advertisers and let them know that we appreciate this worthy service rendered to the people of the Mt. Top area.

Thank you,

If drugs were legalized— two scenarios

EASTON, Md.—I figure probably the best way to get run out of Maryland on a rail so fast my head would spin would be to either a) propose a ban on alcoholic beverages and bars, or b) advocate the decriminalization of drugs.

Now I'm not for doing either of these things, since I know where my bread gets buttered. But every once in a while (usually after watching the Baltimore 11 p.m. "Crime Update"), I seriously begin to wonder what would happen to all those Colombian cocaine overlords and seamy crack dealers and Panamanian strongmen if the government were to suddenly legalize their product, regulate it for safety and then allow it to be sold like any other drug down at the corner store (sales tax included, of course).

My first scenario is that everybody would immediately become serious drug addicts, quit their jobs, stop going to church on Sunday and start using terms such as "Oh wow, man!" Most of the country would end up on welfare and nothing would get done and then the Russians would step in to pick up the rubble etc., etc.

My second scenario is that the addictive, self-destructive types in society would continue to be addictive, self-destructive types (only now they wouldn't have to rob my color TV to support their habit), most people's lives would remain completely unchanged, there would suddenly be a surplus of empty jail cells, about $40 billion a year would stay in the U.S. economy and places like Colombia would basically go bankrupt.

I'm sure organized crime wouldn't think much of this plan, since we're talking about dissolving what is for them a multi-billion dollar industry that's totally tax free. And I sort of doubt the alcohol industry would think a whole lot of it either, since right now they pretty much corner the market in authorized anesthesia.

But still, I've got some reservations about suddenly legalizing drugs. Not only would such a thing be very confusing to my hard-won sense of moral biases, but "Miami Vice" would probably get canceled, and it's one of my favorite TV shows. No more Ferraris, Porshes, wild women or fast boats. No more million dollar drug deals. I'd be stuck watching "Aaron's Way."

So I say let's just stick with the status quo, and let the dealers and cops and Mafiosos fight the drug war out with each other, while we sit back and relax and have a few legal beers, watching it all unfold in dazzling insanity on the 11 p.m. news.

Developing Habitat For Wildlife Is Demonstrated At Field Day

A Forest Wildlife Habitat Field Day was held May 14 at Charles "Sonny" and Pat Newhall's Brittany's 'N' Birds Tree Farm near Oakland with approximately 41 persons attending. Participants traveled to the field day from as far away as Walkersville, Gaithersburg, Bellsville, Timonium, Brunswick, Catonsville and Hagerstown.

Special guests present included Ed Golden, Western regional wildlife biologist; Bob Webster, Western Maryland regional forester; Brad Bortner, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service woodcock specialist; and Marshall and Cindy Stacy, 1986 Maryland and Mid-Atlantic Tree Farmers of the Year.

The Newhalls hosted the field day which was sponsored by the Allegheny Mountain Chapter of The Ruffed Grouse Society and included speakers and a walking tour of their wildlife habitat management project which helped them win the titles of 1987 Maryland and Mid-Atlantic Tree Farmers of the Year.

Opening the program was Chuck Sauer, Western Mid-Atlantic states representative of The Ruffed Grouse Society. He explained that The Ruffed Grouse Society was formed 27 years ago in Virginia, and has grown into an international nonprofit society with thousands of members in dozens of chapters throughout the United States and Canada, with membership set at $15 per year.

Much interest was shown in the Vermont Coverts Project, explained by Sauer and Newhall. The goal of the project is to provide sheltering habitat for wildlife. They stressed that the term forest management in the past has been used as a synonym for timber management, but added that with extra planning and effort, timber management can have a substantially positive effect on wildlife as well.

Project Forester Ernest Metz explained to the group that his office provides technical assistance to landowners, and added that 75-80% of the landowners he works with are absentee landowners. "In timber management," he said, "the dollar — what the timber on the forestland was worth — used to be the top priority. Today more emphasis is on wildlife and recreation use."

The next speaker, Al Bourgeois, wildlife biologist, added "If you manage your woodland right, you can get both timber money and wildlife. You're not going to get instant results. It takes time for vegetation and practices to develop results. It takes time and effort on the landowner's part."

Mike Rhodes of the Western Maryland Fur Trappers' Association addressed those attending, saying "The landowner is our hope." He said that trappers are trying to get legislation passed to require a trapper's license in Maryland, as they have no idea how many trappers there are." He says the organization is working to provide educational material about trapping to young people, trappers and landowners, as well.

A walking tour through the woodlands of "Brittany's 'N' Birds" acquainted the group with several of the projects the Newhalls are undertaking. One of the first things Newhall, Metz, Bourgeois and Sauer called the group's attention to were the roadways. "This is the first and most important key to forest management," the foresters said. They explained that the roads provide fire access, management access and recreation such as hunting, training areas for hunting dogs, skiing, horseback riding, and much more.

Newhall told the group that the roadways are also a "cafeteria for wildlife," providing grass and insects for turkey and deer. The insects provide necessary protein for young birds. For this reason, Newhall says he delays mowing the roadways until the end of June or July when all the hatchlings are grown.

Newhall also uses the roadways to create dusting areas for the birds, and they're used by birds of all sizes. He added that the roads green-up about two weeks before other vegetation, and deer and birds congregate on the road system. "It's like walking through a zoo," Newhall said.

In answer to several questions, Newhall said he had sold timber when he began his thinning and management project, however, he stated that a timber sale is a "once in a lifetime thing," and can cause some problems, too. Roadways and streambeds may be damaged by logging trucks, and the foresters reminded those attending that the permitting system has become more complicated (a spinoff of the clean up the bay laws), and that it now takes a minimum of three months to get a waterway crossing permit. "The Chesapeake Bay Initiatives are impacting very hard on the forest industry today," they said.

As the walking tour continued, the group viewed areas where trees had been girdled to kill the leaves and let sunlight penetrate to allow growth of underbrush, which is so important to wildlife habitat. They also viewed a one-half-acre area being cleared to regenerate an old stand of aspens, and an area where Newhall provides squirrel nests made from old tires.

At the conclusion of the walking tour, the group viewed a video on woodcock habitat management and door prizes were awarded.

Newhall stated that "the people seemed really interested in providing wildlife habitat, and that two or three landowners who attended are planning to manage their forest property for wildlife."

Man, Juvenile Arrested For McHenry Theft

A joint operation by the Garrett County Sheriff's Department and the Maryland State Police has led to the arrest of an local man and a juvenile in connection with a breaking and entering theft which occurred last year at a residence on Lakeshore Drive, McHenry.

Garden Club To Organize Locally

A garden club is being organized in Garrett County for the purpose of broadening the scope of gardening knowledge, according to one of the founders, Kathie Smith.

Members of a garden club are non-profit, educational, conservationist volunteers. They are concerned with all aspects of gardening and landscaping as well as beautification of homes, communities, industrial areas and roadsides, said Mrs. Smith.

She noted that members are also concerned with the wise use and protection of natural resources, preservation and restoration. "It is also the purpose of a garden club to encourage and increase the skill of amateur gardeners in flower arranging and gardening," she stated.

In order to become affiliated with the Federated Garden Clubs of Maryland, Inc., the local club will be sponsored by the Garden Club of Cumberland whose president is Dorothy Mason.

An organization meeting will be held Sunday, May 22, at Garrett Community College in the Student Center. At that meeting a presentation about the purpose of a garden club will be given, materials displayed, questions answered and interim officers elected.

"Creativity of programs and projects for a local garden club can be limitless," said Mrs. Smith. "Areas of interest can focus on conservation of natural resources, energy conservation, reclamation and recycling, pollution and litter control, civic development projects to improve local communities as well as horticultural areas such as energy gardens, indigenous plants, indoor gardens, organic gardening and landscape design."

Decorative arrangements will also be a part of the focus.

Persons interested in more information who are unable to attend the organizational meeting may call Mrs. Smith at 334-3249.

Special thanks to all concerned during our bereavement for the cards, flowers, food, memorials and all the individual help and support many of you have given us.

We wish to extend our appreciation for the professionalism and kindnesses of Mark Durst and the Durst Funeral Home staff.

To Father Michael Pumphrey, we thank God for your support.

Graham, a loving son, husband and father, will be deeply missed by many. He leaves a legacy in the community of the many kindnesses and caring ways he showed others.

TODAY

We know nothing of tomorrow, of its pleasures, joys, or pain.
Yesterday is gone forever, never to be lived again.
We live today, only today, and should live it carefully,
That all we do, and all we say should kind and loving be.
Have a smile for each sad mortal, today you chance to meet,
And always have a cheerful word, for each distressed soul to greet.
Don't let today forever end without some good you've done,
Today ask our Heavenly Father to bless us, everyone.
Mary Eleanor Pitney

God bless you all from Bess, Mary Ann, Mike, Sharon and Merle.

In Loving Memory Of

JOHN H. BURNS, SR.

Your gentle face and patient smile, with sadness we recall.
You had a kindly word for each, and died beloved by all.
The voice is mute and stilled, the heart that loved us well and true,
Ah, bitter was the trial to part from one so good as you.
You are not forgotten, Dad, nor will you ever be,
As long as life and memory last, we will remember thee.
We miss you now, our hearts are sore,
As time goes by we miss you more.
Your loving eyes, your gentle face,
No one can fill your vacant place.

Remember by all his Children:

Rams Upset By Campers, Take Two From Huskies, Prepare For Playoffs

Despite being upset by visiting Allegany this past week, the Southern Rams remained number one in area high school baseball standings this week, as they swept two games from arch foe Northern and concluded their regular season with a 17-2 record. The Rams are also seeded number one in the Region I Class B rankings and thus will have the homefield advantage when playoffs begin this Saturday.

Coach Jim Bosley's team had all it could handle last Thursday afternoon against John Helmick's Northern Huskies, who came to Oakland intending to halt the Rams' 14-game win streak. It was a two-run homer in the bottom of the seventh inning by Southern's J.R. Bosley that broke an 8-8 tie and give the Rams a 10-8 win.

Northern took a 1-0 lead in the first inning, but the Rams came back for three runs behind a two-run homer by Bo Butler, his first of two on the afternoon.

The Huskies took a 6-5 advantage in the top of the fifth, but the Rams came back for three runs in the bottom of that frame, again behind a two-run shot by Butler.

Northern knotted the score at eight apiece in the top of the sixth, setting the stage for Bosley's two-run winning blast, which followed a single by Butler.

Butler was four-for-four on the afternoon, with his two homers and a pair of singles, while Doug Nesselrodt finished with three singles and Bobby Horner tripled and singled.

Pacing Northern's eight-hit effort were Rod Lipscomb, who had three singles, and Sean Jones, who rapped a two-run homer, a single and a sacrifice fly. Aaron Zumpano added three RBIs.

Zack Gibson pitched for Southern until he was relieved by Jason Park in the sixth, while the Huskies used six different pitchers.

The Rams' 15-game streak came to an end on Friday, however, also at home, as they were stopped by Allegany, 8-6.

A SUCCESSFUL STEAL by an unidentified Northern Husky was recorded Monday afternoon when the ball thrown to Southern's Jamie Colaw was bobbled. Pictured at left is Shawn Nesselrodt, also of Southern. The Rams won the contest, 15-7, to complete a season sweep of the Huskies. Northern finished the season at 9-6, while the 17-2 Rams will host Middletown this Saturday at 3 p.m. in an opening round of the Class B Region I playoffs. Photo by Craig Phillips

The Campers out-hit the Rams, 11-8, and took advantage of three Southern errors to conclude their season with four straight wins and an 11-8 mark.

Allegany scored first when Troy Cubbage rapped a two-out home run to left center in the second inning.

The Rams came back to tie in the bottom of that frame when Brent Sanders walked and came home on a single by Jason Park.

Shawn Cessnick singled home a run for the Campers in top of the third to give them a 2-1 lead, but the Rams went on top 4-2 in the bottom of the third on a two-run homer by Bosley and triples by Doug Nesselrodt and Park.

Three runs by the Campers in the fourth put them on top for good. Shawn Ricker led off with a single and then scored on an infield error. Mike Harman and Chris Brode followed with RBI singles.

Singles by Mike Hancox, Cessnick and Todd Mower gave Allegany another run in the fifth to make the score 6-4.

Hartman smacked another single in the sixth and scored on an infield error before Hancox singled and came home later on a sacrifice fly by Ricker, to complete the Campers' scoring.

The Rams attempted to rally in the sixth as Sanders led off with a double and Park followed with a two-run homer off starting Camper pitcher Shawn Ricker. Brode then took the mound and retired the last six batters to preserve Allegany's win. Brode struck out Butler and Bosley for the final two outs.

Park led the Rams' offense with his homer, a triple and a single, which plated a total of four runs. Bosley added a single to his home run.

The second contest against Northern, played Monday at the Cove, was not the close contest that was played between the two teams last Thursday, as the Rams recorded 14 hits on the day and overwhelmed the Huskies in the later innings, 15-7.

Bo Butler not only recorded another win on the mound, but aided his own cause by driving in four runs with two homers and a pair of singles.

The Huskies held a 5-4 lead after three innings, but Jamie Colaw's two-run homer in the top of the fourth put the Rams on top for good.

Shawn Nesselrodt led a three-run fifth inning with a two-run double and J.R. Bosley rapped a solo shot in the seventh.

Nesselrodt also hit two singles for the Rams.

Leading Northern's six-hit performance were Todd Wagner, who had a single and a two-run homer in the fifth, David Yoder with a double and a single, and Danny Sines with a two-run blast.

The loss dropped the Huskies to 9-6.

PLAYOFF PICTURE

The Rams will most likely host Middletown this Saturday at 3 p.m. in the first round of the Class B Region I playoffs, a team that is currently 12-3.

Middletown is the team that halted the Rams in Oakland last year, 8-4, and with six of those nine starters back this year, Coach Jim Bosley is anticipating a difficult challenge for his team.

"Not only do they have six players back from last year's team, which finished number two in the state, but they come from an area where baseball is really strong," Bosley said. "Plus, the players there are required to play Legion baseball in the summer months, so those kids are used to playing on the same team all year round."

The other teams in the regional playoffs are Walkersville, seeded number two, and Catonsville, the third seed. Bosley said he believes Walkersville is probably the strongest of the top four teams, but also noted that Catonsville has a 6-7 senior pitcher who has been awarded a full scholarship to North Carolina State.

"The keys to our winning will be that Bo Butler will have to do what he is capable of on the mound, not making any costly errors, making the key hits when we need them, and keeping the score as low as possible," Bosley said. "The last thing we want is to get into a slugfest with anyone, because it will be tough for us to win if we do."

If the Rams are victorious on Saturday, they will host the winner of the Catonsville/Walkersville game on Tuesday.

wishes to thank the community for their help during the illness and following the death of our beloved Larry. The care and professionalism of Dr. Joseph Alvarez, Dr. C.W. Fedde and Dr. Robert Goralski kept Larry comfortable in and out of the hospital until he left us. The nursing staff of Garrett County Memorial Hospital also helped on his comfort while he was in the hospital. With the help of the Garrett County Home Health Agency, I was able to keep Larry at home where he wanted to spend his last moments, and for their help I am greatly indebted. All of the calls, cards, prayers, food and flowers from friends, neighbors, and associates have made our loss a more bearable pain. The funeral arrangements were completed in such a personal manner that they became an encouragement to our faith. For these things, I thank Mark Durst and Pastor Allen. May God richly bless and comfort each of you even more than we have been comforted. Thank you.

NEW STATE RECORD — This yellow perch caught at Deep Creek Lake on April 2 is the largest yellow perch on record for the state of Maryland. Denver Beitzel, Accident, reeled in the two-pound, four-ounce perch, which was 16 and one-quarter inches long. The previous record was held by Anthony J. Alois, Bryans Road, whose catch weighed one more ounce than Beitzel's, but was 16 and one-eighth inches long. Alois caught his record-setting perch at Allens Fresh in 1971.

Huskies Whip Black Knights Behind Grand Slam By Rodney Lipscomb

The Northern Huskies dropped a pair of contests to arch rival Southern this past week (see separate story), but sandwiched in between was a 7-2 victory over the Valley Black Knights, one of only two teams to defeat Southern this season.

Played Friday on the Huskies' diamond, the game was highlighted by a fourth-inning grand slam by senior Rod Lipscomb.

Aaron Zumpano led off the Husky first inning by rapping a single, stealing second and third, and scoring on a wild pitch.

Dave Yoder and John Sherbin expanded Northern's lead to 3-0 in the second inning by smacking solo homers over the left field fence.

The Black Knights responded with two runs in the top of the third, as Chris Wilson recorded a two-run shot over the fence. However, Lipscomb's grand slam in the bottom of the fourth sealed the Northern win and concluded the day's scoring, as Todd Wagner, who went the distance on the mound for the Huskies, held Valley scoreless over the final four innings.

Sherbin led off the Husky fourth with a single and Wagner reached when he was hit by a pitch. Kirby King followed with a bunt force play and Zumpano walked to load the bases. Lipscomb then hit a 2-2 pitch over the left-center fence.

Wagner allowed six hits on the afternoon, while Miller went the distance for the Knights, giving up seven hits. It was the sixth straight loss for Valley, who dropped to 6-11 on the season.

who left us one year ago, May 20.

Dear Lord, take this message to our loved one up above,
Hold your loving arms around her and give her all our love.
Tell her that there is not one day goes by that she is not in our thoughts.
A million times we would have liked to talk to her and a million times we cry.
If she could just be with us on a special day, to hear her voice and see her smile.

We're Hear To Help
by Pamela A. Martin, CCCA

HEARING DAMAGE IN STEREO

Now that nearly every walker, jogger, bicycler, and teenager is wearing a set of stereo headphones, there is more interest in their effect on hearing. Generally speaking, even at half volume, these portable music machines can cause both short and long term hearing damage. Hearing loss can occur when exposures surpass ninety decibels for a few hours at a time. Some portable cassette players can deliver in excess of one hundred decibels even at half volume. Because many children and adolescents cannot be expected to regulate their listening habits, parents should make themselves heard. If they can hear the sound coming from their children's headsets from a distance of three feet, it is too loud.

When one's sense of hearing is diminished, it affects the way we live and respond to the world around us. Let ALLEGANY HEARING & SPEECH ASSOCIATES help you regain the hearing you may have lost with a modern hearing device. We will help you select the instrument for your individual needs and will assist in its fitting.

Try to limit cassette ear phone use to two hours a day at half volume.

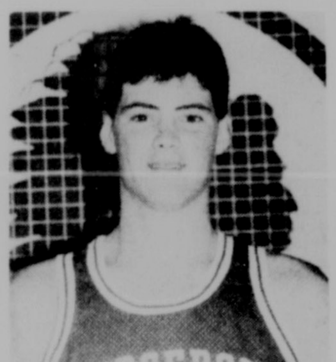
Southern Girls Finish Eighth In Area Track Meet

The Southern High School girls' track team finished a disappointing eighth in the nine-team Girls' Area Track and Field Meet, held Monday in Cumberland.

The Rams, coached by Bob Quick, recorded 14 points in the event, which was won by Fort Hill with 128 points. Frankfort was second with 101, followed by Keyser, 100; Beall, 68; Allegany, 57; Mount Savage, 27; Hampshire, 23 and one-half; Southern; and Valley, eight and one-half points.

The best finishes on the day for Southern were fourth places by Tonya Shreve in the 200-meter dash and the long jump.

Standout For Bridgeport To Play For Lakers



Todd Montgomery, of Bridgeport High School, Bridgeport, W. Va., has signed a letter of intent to attend and play basketball at Garrett Community College.

A 6-7, 205-pound center, Montgomery averaged seven points, six rebounds and three blocked shots per game for Coach Bill Kern's state tournament team.

"Todd is the type of player we are always looking for, his greatest asset being his potential," stated Laker Basketball Coach Dennis Gibson. "He runs the floor well and has a good outside shooting touch. It helps us greatly to know that he was well coached in high school and that he has a great desire to improve.

The Lakers were 21-12 this past season, as Gibson has set the career wins mark at Garrett in just three seasons as head coach with an overall mark of 64 wins and 31 losses. His teams have produced a JUCO All-American and a half dozen Region XX all stars.

Montgomery is the son of William and Sharon Montgomery, Bridgeport, W. Va. He is also a member of the Key Club, Yearbook Staff and the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. He has maintained a 2.94 grade point average in college prep courses and plans to major in business/banking at Garrett.

Southern Jayvees Split With Valley

The Southern jayvee baseball team concluded its season Saturday by splitting a doubleheader with Valley, winning the first game behind a strong pitching performance by Marshall Pike, but losing the nightcap, 9-5. The Rams finished with a 6-4 record.

Pike allowed only three hits while striking out three batters and walking six in the opener. Kevin Green smacked a home run and a single, while John Stem and Scott Moon each contributed a double and a single.

Larry McKenzie doubled for the Black Knights.

Shawn Shockey led an 11-hit attack for Valley in the second game, as he hit two singles, one of which scored a pair of runs. Fred Pritts added an RBI double for the Knights, while Stem doubled and singled and James Bateman hit two singles for the Rams.

crease in salary and wages to employees, for a total of $974,188. The remaining dollars would be split up over the Southern High School project, costs for new staff members, increased costs for social security and health insurance, and other instructional costs, mainly for the purchase of classroom equipment.

The total budgeted amount would be divided as follows: $775,604 for administration, $9,425,853 for instructional salaries, $846,593 for other instructional costs, $126,630 for pupil services, $3,100 for health costs, $1,914,197 for transportation, $1,547,530 for operations, $499,006 for maintenance, $1,770,530 for fixed charges, $5,900 for food service, $390,000 for capital outlay, and $1,268,883 for special education.

Besides the monies requested from the commissioners, the estimated revenues to pay for the budget would come from the following sources: $170,000 from miscellaneous monies generated locally but not on a county level, $10,207,156 from the state, and $340,000 from projected excess revenues from the current budget.

The monies from the state level would cover basic education costs, transportation, driver education, vocational education, compensatory education, special education, and evening high school.

The commissioners reported that discussion of budget requests would begin this week, and they hope to reach a decision by the first week of June.

During the summer of 1987 he was chosen as a scholarship recipient to study in Avignon, France, with the American Association of Teachers of French.

Leitzel also serves at Southern High School as the National Honor Society Advisor and is a past-president, executive board member, and building representative of the Garrett County Teachers Association. He is a member of St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland, where he is the current president of the church council and serves as a Sunday School teacher, lay preacher, lector, and member of the choir. Accreditation Review

Dr. Herman informed the board Tuesday that the accreditation team had indicated a positive review of GCC in its preliminary findings.

The actual results of that study will be forthcoming in June, said Dr. Herman. "I will say that we are no longer in a state of emergency," he said.

Summer Session

Dr. Lillian Mitchell, dean of academic affairs, told the board that two summer sessions are being offered this year. The first began on May 9 in which 73 students are participating. That represents 8.7 FTE's.

The second summer session is slated to begin June 13.

Dr. Mitchell also reviewed the Joint Professional Development Day held at the college on April 22. She said it was a positive experience for all involved.

The dean also reported on DACUM and commencement exercises held May 7. She commended George McDowell for his composition of the GCC Alma Mater.

Other Board News

Other topics discussed at Tuesday's meeting included procedural policies, policy on part-time status of employees, the evaluation of college supervisors, salary adjustments and student services.

Highlanders Legion Bagpipe Band To Perform At McHenry Festival

The West Virginia Highlanders Legion Pipe Band of Elkins, W. Va., will perform bagpipe concerts during the first McHenry Highland Festival at the Garrett County Fairgrounds, McHenry, on June 4.

The band was organized in 1947 and the tartan of MacLeod of Lewis was chosen as the uniform pattern because the MacLeods had as their personal pipers the MacCrimmons, who were among the most famous in all the Highlands, and the colors of the tartan correspond most closely with the American Legion colors. The Highlanders first out-of-town appearance was in 1948 at the Huntington, W. Va., Dept. of W. Va. American Legion Convention, where they tied for first place. The band has been recognized by such notables as Dame Flora MacLeod, past chief of the MacLeods from Dunevagan, Scotland, and they have performed in numerous concerts and parades.

The Highlanders now perform under the direction of Pipe Major Tom McLaughlin, and the band is composed of more than 20 members. In addition to the playing members, a colorguard of six men is also attached to the organization. Since it is customary to have flags precede an American Legion unit in a parade, the colorguard carries the flags of the U.S., the Legion, the 40 and 8, and the State of West Virginia. The music focuses on bagpipies, while bass, tenor and snare drums set the military pace.

Some of the Highlanders most notable recent appearances include the 1982 Vietnam Veterans Memorial Parade in Washington, D.C.; the 1984 Feast of the Flowering Moon Festival, Chillicothe, Ohio; 1985 & 1986 Pro Football Hall of Fame Parade, Canton, Ohio; and Charleston, W. Va.'s 1987 first Evening in Ireland celebration. The band performs annually in the Mountain State Forest Festival Parade in Elkins and in the Autumn Glory Festival Grand Feature Parade in Oakland, where they have won first place in their category for the past three years.

Festival hours are from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and admission is $3.00 for anyone over 12 years of age. For more information or a free brochure, persons may contact the McHenry Highland Festival, Courthouse, Oakland, MD 21550; (301) 334-1948.

county.

When asked if the constant yield rate was an impossibility, Commissioner Gregg stated, "It's a goal to work toward."

All the commissioners agreed that this year's budget will be one of the toughest challenges they have faced in the past six years, especially in light of the fact that there are no new significant revenues this year.

The newly-instated accommodations tax would realize about $150,000. "That's like spitting in the wind. It's nothing when you're talking about a $15,000,000 plus budget," said Fousek.

Other Commissioner News

During their regular meeting day Tuesday, the commissioners also met with Kathleen Vogt, Western Maryland representative from U.S. Senator Barbara Mikulski's office.

Vogt offered her assistance in any problems or concerns the county may have with the federal government.

The commissioners took the opportunity to voice their concerns about the power of the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC).

The commissioners also met with Dr. William Pope for an update on the performance of the Garrett County Health Department.

Finally, the commissioners met with the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland and Wendell Beitzel, Sanitary Commission administrator, to discuss alternatives regarding the formation of sanitary districts.

The town has the authority to set up districts with their tax structure, but still feel the need for expert advice from Beitzel. Beitzel did agree to assist the town.

The mayor and town council also expressed their approval of a truck re-routing system around the city limits of Oakland.

Opthalmic Services At GCMH Make Cataract Surgery A "Breeze"

Meet Mrs. Freda Brown. She is just one of a number of people who has recently had cataract surgery through the new ophthalmic services at the Garrett County Memorial Hosptial.

Mrs. Brown, a retired cook at Southern High School, now spends her days at the nursing home with her husband. She consented to being interviewed and photographed during the procedure.

Four years ago, she went to her optometrist, Dr. Jim Jones, Oakland, to obtain new glasses and was told that her blurred vision was, in part, because of cataracts. When the normally clear lens within the eye becomes cloudy and opaque, it is called a cataract. Cataracts vary from an extremely mild cloudiness to large cloudy areas that cause a noticeable loss of vision.

The exact cause of cataracts in unknown. It is known that a chemical change occurs within the lens, causing it to become cloudy. This may be simply because of advancing age, or it may be a result of heredity, an injury, or a disease. Cataracts usually develop in both eyes, but often at different rates.

Mrs. Brown was advised that, when she got to the point that her daily activities were affected, she would be referred to an eye surgeon. For the last three or four months, her vision was so blurred that she could not read the paper or a telephone book. She was referred to Dr. Stephen Powell, and to her satisfaction found she should have the surgery on an outpatient basis at Garrett County Memorial Hopsital. Patients have previously traveled up to several hours for this service.

Dr. Powell recently joined the staff at the Garrett County Memorial ophthalmic surgery, and has an office in Thayer Center, Oakland. In addition, Dr. Powell has a practice in Morgantown, W. Va., and serves as a part-time clinical instructor in ophthalmolgy at WVU Medical Center.

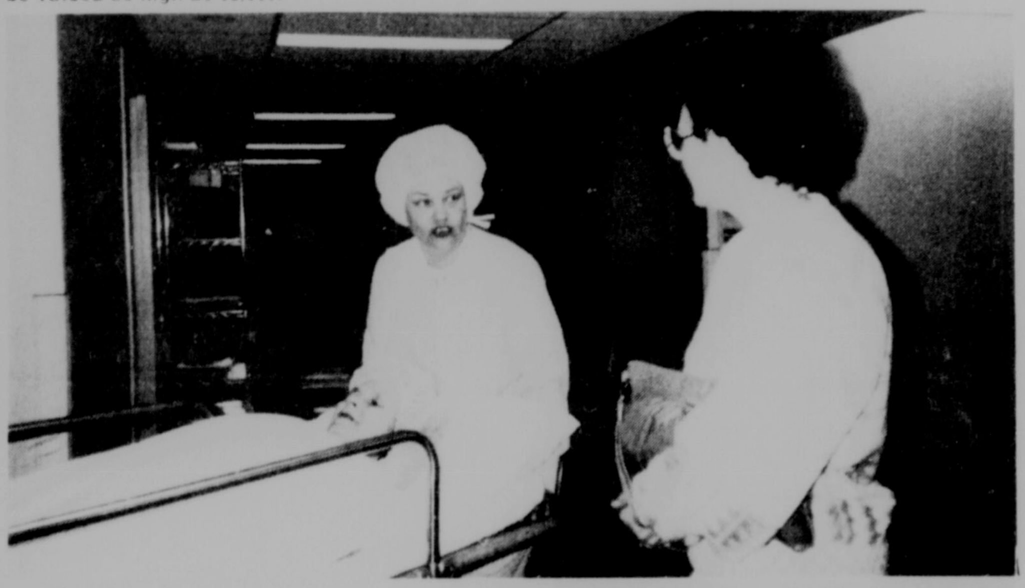
Ophthalmology is a branch of medical science dealing with the structure, functions and diseases of the eye. In addition to cataract surgery, other ophthalmic surgeries are available at Garrett Memorial on an out-patient basis including surgery for glaucoma, eyelid disorders and other diseases of the eye.

Just as with Mrs. Freda Brown, patients are seen the next day for a post-surgical checkup. The eye patch is removed and the eye examined. Vision continues to improve over the next four to six weeks. Drops are used to help the eye heal. Occasionally a laser surgery may be required to obtain the best vision possible. Most patients tolerate the surgery well and recover with only minor discomfort.

As with any surgery, there are associated risks. The decision to operate needs to be an informed one, understanding the visual needs of the individual and possible risks, expectations, and benefits. The goal of modern cataract surgery is to improve quality of vision and quality of life with the least possible risk.

Mrs. Brown arrived at the hospital at 8 a.m. and was immediately checked in at the outpatient desk. Rhoda Keefer, RN, administers drops to dilate the pupil of the eye. In addition to the drops, Mrs. Brown received local anesthetic to numb the area around the eye. Through an IV in her arm, medications were given to completely relax her before the injections. When asked if she was nervous, Freda responded, "I've been through too many things to let a little thing like this bother me."

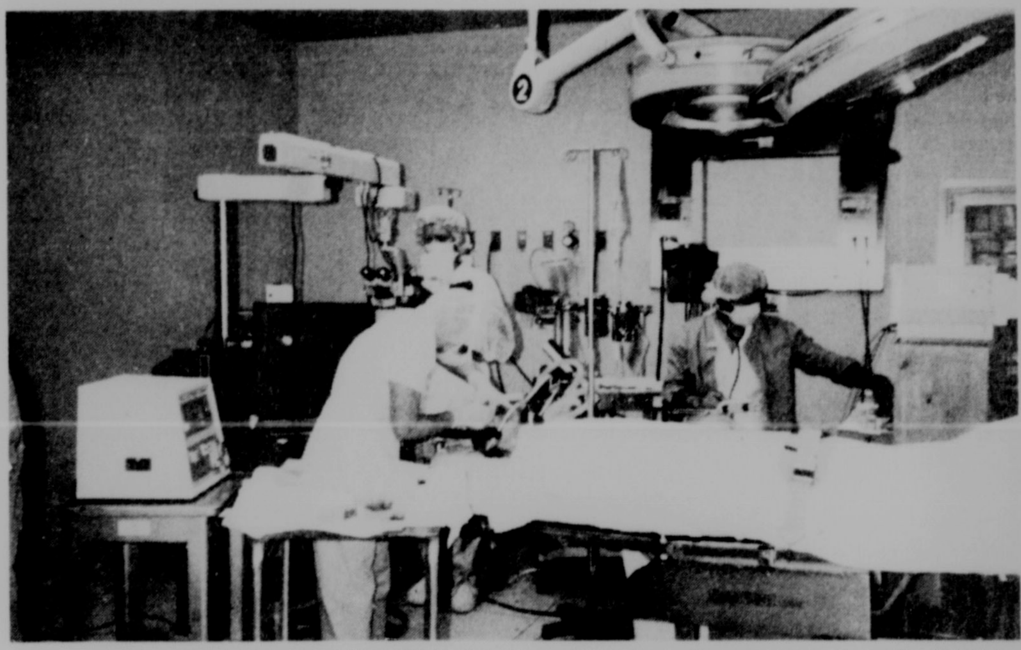
Dave Terlizzi, Central Supply supervisor, prepares the instruments for surgery. Ophthalmic instruments are "microsurgical" which means they are designed for use under a powerful microscope. The tips are extremely delicate and require careful attention. Because of the time and skill involved in the production of microsurgical instruments, the average basic ophthalmic tray may be valued as high as $8,000.



Mrs. Brown is taken to the operating room at 9:20 a.m. by Janet Hinebaugh, OR tech. Mrs. Brown's daughter, Alice Wilt, will wait to take her home. Mrs. Wilt said, "Dr. Powell has explained the whole procedure very thoroughly to us. We are fortunate to have him here to do this kind of surgery."

10 a.m. — Dr. Powell adjusts the wrist rest to support his hands during surgery. Cataract surgery has changed drastically in recent years. Patients used to come into the hospital for a week, with sand bags around their heads after surgery. With microscopic techniques and equipment, they can now check in to Garrett Memorial, have the surgery, eat lunch, and go home three to four hours after arriving.

10:48 a.m. — The operation is just ending. The eye is clearly visible on the monitor for the OR staff to view the cataract removal and lens implant procedure. The sutures are so tiny they cannot be seen in the palm of a hand.



10:10 a.m. — The OR team at Garrett Memorial providing a sterile environment and the latest in ophthalmic equipment is essential for the best possible outcome. Pictured are: Debbie Stratton, RN, OR/RR head nurse; Jo Janes, RN; Tom Peterson, CRNA; and Geri Baumann, OR tech.

Noon — After a short nap, Mrs. Brown was ready for lunch. The patch was placed over the eye for protection and because the eyelids won't function properly until the anesthesia wears off. How did Freda feel during the operation? "I wasn't nervous or scared," she said afterwards. Mrs. Brown visited Dr. Powell's office at the Thayer Center for a check-up the following morning.

Higher Education Opportunities Week Planned To Assist Students, Parents

by Dr. Lillian R. Mitchell
Dean of Academic Affairs
Garrett Community College

Within the next two weeks, the senior classes will be graduated from Northern and Southern high schools. Commencement is a joyous event, culminating 12 years of educational study and learning. But what happens after graudation? How can students be prepared to make decisions about jobs, careers, colleges, and the world of work?

Although there are no simple answers to these questions, Higher Education Opportunities Week has been planned to assist students and parents in becoming aware of the post-secondary education options and opportunities available to students of Garrett County. Programs will be presented at Southern High School on Monday, May 23 and at Northern High School on Wednesday, May 25, addressing the following topics: "Why College"?; "Planning for The College Experience"; "Financial Planning for College"; and "Using Computer Resources in College Planning."

Opening comments will be presented at 7 p.m. by Dr. Stephen Herman, president of Garrett Community College, Dr. Herb Reinhard, president of Frostburg State University, and Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, superintendent of Garrett County Schools. Students and parents may then select three of the group presentations from the four topics listed above. There will be opportunities for questions and personalized information within each group presentation.

All interested persons within the community are invited to attend. Special announcements have been distributed to students, grades eight through 11, and their parents. For additional information, persons may contact the guidance office at Northern High School at 826-8668 or Southern High School at 334-9447.

Who Attends GCC?

Dr. Steve Herman
President
Garrett Community College

The average student at GCC is 33 years old. What are these students doing at GCC; why are they attending; what is motivating them?

Higher educators like to refer to adult students as nontraditiional students. Ten years ago, when adult students represented a small minority among college students, the term made sense. Today, all across the country, they represent the majority of the community college population. This fact startles many people who think that college students are 18-year-olds right out of high school. Nothing could be further from the truth.

A casual observer walking down the hall at GCC will see a surprising mix of students. Adults attend GCC for a variety of reasons. More adult women are coming to college than ever before. In fact, GCC's student population has more women than men, and this, too, is a national trend. Women choose to attend the College for a number of reasons. Some are young mothers. They want to prepare for a future while their children are attending school. Some want a diversion from the daily routine of caring for children and household. Others seek personal development and enrichment, and still others want to augment the family income.

The number of single parents is growing in our society. Often, young single mothers face hard choices. Although they may wish to be home with their children during early childhood, they may have to work in order to support the family. On the other hand, young single mothers may not have the skills to earn enough income to support their families even at a minimal level. For these reasons a number of single mothers seek state assistance through the Aid to Dependent Children program. Many elect to attend GCC at the same time because they can take classes while their children are in Head Start classes or receiving child care. They can usually obtain financial aid to cover the full cost of their education without jeopardizing their ADC support to their families.

Most adult men enroll at GCC to seek career advancement. Some are already employed and want to qualify for promotional or advancement opportunities. Others are dissatisfied with their current line of work or job situation, and they would like to prepare for a more challenging or better paying job. Some adult men are seeking their first real career preparation. Others, usually men who have already established themselves in careers, attend GCC for the sheer enjoyment of intellectual challenge.

Another growing catagory of adults attending GCC is the senior citizen, any person over 60 years of age. Seniors attend GCC because they want to keep their minds stiumlated and exercised, and they want the company and conversation a college setting affords. They also enroll because Maryland senior citizens take classes completely free of tuition charges. In addition, seniors as well as other students have the option of taking courses as auditors. This means they can take courses without earning college credit and without taking tests. They simply participate and enjoy the learning environment.

As you can see, the reasons that adults attend GCC are many. Partly because the College has a majority of adults among its student population, it has developed a style responsive to adults needs. Adults find GCC's teaching staff to be understanding of adult needs and prepared to work with adults who have work and family responsiblities. The college has flexible scheduling. Students can be full- or part-time, and they can attend days or evenings. Most day classes meet only twice a week for an hour and a half each session. Many evening classes meet only once a week for three hours. The college also participates in College of the Air, which allows students to take college courses at home during times convenient to them.

GCC is proud of its adult student population. Adults are serious and motivated students who value their education. They bring experience to the classroom, and they are typically very open and expressive about their lives and about their hopes for the future. Their presence enriches the education we provide our younger students.

Final Lecture On Ethics To Be Monday At GCC

The fourth and final presentation in the series of Ethics in Business lectures by Dr. Ralph W. Clark, professor of philosophy at West Virginia Univeristy, will be given in Room 159 of Garrett Community College on Monday, May 23, at 7:30 p.m. The topic of the lecture, which is sponsored by the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival is "Basic Prinicples of Ethics."

Dr. Clark will discuss two different kinds of moral principles: those embedded in laws and customs that provide a structure of framework for moral lives and serve the purpose of protecting individual freedom: and those outside of laws and customs that have to do with the content of life — choices, and enjoying persons to respect the intrinsic value of the lives of everyone.

In discussing the two major types of moral philosophies, the "freedom philosophies" and the "good will philosophies," Dr. Clark will argue that it is not necessary to make a choice between these, but rather that no choice is necessary because both are essentially correct and "the best society is a free society."

Clark will then explain the most important moral principles — the principles of rights, justice, the common good, and self-interest. He will give examples of how the principle of rights deals primarily with freedom and how a free society must protect the basic rights to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

He will then discuss examples of the other three principles from business ethics, medical ethics, and other areas, and show possible conflicts among these. In response to the popular idea of "Looking Out for Number One," he will argue that a moral person should devote approximately one-half of his efforts to self-interest, and one-half to helping others.

The lecture will be followed by a question and answer period. It is open to the public with no admission charge and is made possible through funding by the Maryland Humanities Council, an affilite of the National Endowment for Humanities.

The motto, "In God We Trust," first appeared on U.S. coins in 1864.

THE SPECIAL OLYMPICS GET UNDER WAY — The torch lighting marks the opening of all olympic games, and this year, Shane DeWitt, assisted by his father, Chris DeWitt, lighted the torch which opened the Fourth Annual Garrett County Special Olympic Games, held at Garrett Community College on Friday, May 13. Many local organizations assisted and provided services to make the annual games a success for the 75 athletes who competed.

Environmental Issues On Tap For College Days

Environmental issues will be addressed at the College Day's "Get Fit for Life" program, June 7-9, at the University of Maryland, Baltimore County campus, Catonsville.

Approximately 70 different "Fitness" courses will be offered during this three-day period in the areas of: environmental fitness, financial fitness, personal fitness, leadership fitness and family fitness.

The environmental courses will include topics such as: water conservation, how to test drinking water, identifying and reducing hazardous household products, alternatives to hazardous products and the effects of water problems in Maryland.

College Days is sponsored by the Maryland Cooperative Extension Service and courses will be taught by University of Maryland faculty members. Adults may register for any or all of the three days and/or evenings of courses.

Continuing education units (CEU) will be offered for select courses. Registration fees vary from $5 for one evening of classes and up to $33 for three full days of classes. The registration deadline is May 20. Meals and overnight accommodations will be available for an additional fee.

A complete list of courses and registration information is available at the Garrett County Extension Office, Third Street, Oakland. The number is 334-1990.

Sign Donated To Western Maryland Railway Museum

A part of local history has been preserved with the donation of the sign from a former Western Maryland Railway building in Thomas, W.Va., to the Western Maryland Railway Historical Society Museum, located in Union Bridge, Md.

For many years, the metal sign proudly identified the railroad's brick building with the words, Western Maryland Railway Company Mineral and Timberlands Department. It will now be added to the museum's collection of Western Maryland history, memorabilia and artifacts.

The preservation of this piece of railroad history has been made possible through the assistance and cooperation of H. Preston Henshaw, president of Western Pocahontas Properties Limited Partnership, and Ms. Jane Burch, of Power Construction and Maintenance, former and present building owners, respectively.

Western Maryland Railway Historical Society members Ron Bair and Douglas Nichols first inquired about the sign last fall and, upon receiving approval from the current owners of the building, removed the sign in November. The sign was officially presented to the museum at theSociety's 7th annual convention, held at Columbus, Ohio, this past weekend.

Duckworth Coal

achieving truly outstanding on-the-ground results and proving in the most positive way possible that you sincerely 'take pride in America.'"

In a separate statement, Hodel said, "The nominees and winners of this year's competition are the result of the extremely high standards set by the coal industry for safeguarding the environment and reclaiming the land. Everyone concerned about coal mining should take pride in these efforts of protecting public health and safety. They express a strong commitment to restoring mined lands for productive use."

John Duckworth Coal Company was nominated by the Maryland Department of Natural Resources' Bureau of Mines "for continuing overall excellence in achieving reclamation and post-mining land use compatible with both the spirit and intent of the federal surface mining law prior to, and since, its enactment in 1977."

The company has mined in Maryland since 1974. The Maryland Bureau of Mines said that the company "has consistently exceeded environmental performance standards in mining and reclamation."

The Maryland Bureau of Mines nominated John Duckworth Coal Company following the recommendation of the State Land Reclamation Committee. The 13-member committee, whose members include representatives of the State Departments of Natural Resources and Environment, Allegany and Garrett counties; Garrett and Allegany Soil Conservation Districts; citizen environmental interests; and the coal mining industry, reviewed the track record and accomplishments of every company currently or recently mining coal in Maryland.

Last year, Maryland's nomination for the first annual awards — Buffalo Coal Company — was selected as one of the four top recipients of the award. Maryland and Ohio were the only states with repeat winners.

John Duckworth Coal Company was formed in 1974 with two employees and two pieces of equipment. Since that time, Duckworth has expanded to 11 employees and 16 pieces of equipment. From 1974 to 1986, the company has produced an average of 44,748 tons of coal per year from its permits. The company has held seven mining permits and has also mined, as a contract miner, on six permits issued to other companies. Additionally, Duckworth has bid and been awarded nine abandoned mine reclamation and bond forfeiture projects through the Maryland Bureau of Mines.

Duckworth has remined areas adversely impacted by previous surface and deep mines, resulting in the reclamation of approximately 40 acres of abandoned surface mines and the daylighting of abandoned deep mines and reclamation of overlying land surfaces degraded by subsidence.

The other top award winners were: R&F Coal Company, Harrison County Home Mine, Harrison County, Ohio; Western Fuels-Utah Inc., Deserado Mine, Rio Blanco County, Colorado; Arch of Illinois Inc., Captain Mine, Perry County, Illinois; and Peabody Coal Company, Sinclair/Homestead Mines, Ohio County, Kentucky.

THE POPPY — In the spring of 1919, amidst complete devastation, the poppies bloomed in abundance on the battlefields of France where so many of our men had fallen in battle. A replica of this poppy has become the memorial flower of the American Legion and the American Legion Auxiliary. The American Legion adopted the poppy in 1920 and the Auxiliary adopted it in 1921. At that time they pledged the profits from the poppy sales to welfare relief for servicemen and women and their families. The poppies are made by disabled veterans and then distributed by the Auxiliary by approximately 125,000 volunteers. During the next two weeks, citizens will be seeing Mildred Savage, Poppy chairman, left, and Hazel Meyers, right, and other members of the Auxiliary, Proctor Kildow Post 71, at various locations around the area. They will be giving the citizens the opportunity to help the work of the Legion and its Auxiliary, as well as pay tribute to all who died in service to the United States of America by wearing a poppy on Poppy Day.

What's Become Of Our Junior Miss?

by Esther Bender

One of Garrett County's former Junior Misses, Ellen Hershberger, long gone to the city of Washington, D.C., has quietly returned, unnoticed. Furthermore, her return has already left an indelible imprint on our county and no one's cried, "Look!"

Ellen's face was a familiar picture in this newspaper in the late '60s and early '70s. She was a cheerleader for six years at Northern High, Autumn Glory Princess, and Garrett County Junior Miss, 1972.

Does she still look like a Junior Miss or has she gone soft and pudgy? Meeting Ellen is more of a treat than ever. Her dark eyes twinkle. The curls that frame her face bounce free (no stiff mousse 'do). Her figure, after two children, is capable of a fashionable slouch (she works out at Brenda's Body Shop). But Ellen's no slouch.

All these things one notices when meeting her. But it's "presence" that makes her special — you sense she's focusing all her attention on you. And openness. And a warm, friendly smile.

Ellen is married to Sam Housley, a Certified Financial Planner with offices in Grantsville. The daughter of Margaret Brenneman Hershberger of Hershberger Insurance in Grantsville, and the late Don Hershberger of Goodfellow Agency, Ellen and her husband returned to live on the Brenneman family property near Bittinger. That property, with its beautifully-maintained sugar maple grove surrounded by rail fence, is well-known to those who travel Rock Lodge road.

So what was our Junior Miss doing in the city? Designing interiors.

Ellen graduated from the University of Maryland in 1976 with a 3.3 grade point average and a B.S. in interior design. For the next seven years, she planned residential interiors in the Washington, D.C. area. She was first a designer in the showroom of Tryina Ltd. in White Flint Mall in Rockville, then Chase Furniture Design Studio in both Chevy Chase and D.C. locations. She attended numerous national design shows in New York and Chicago.

The next three years, she worked as a commercial designer with Lucas Design Group, Baltimore. In her position as a senior project designer, she designed Steelcase Systems — the movable walls that divide office space in commercial buildings. She attended special workstation, space planning seminars in Grand Rapids, MI, and at the D.C. Design Center.

While working for Lucas Design, Ellen designed some prestigious interiors: the newsroom of the Baltimore Sun; the data processing building at U.S.F. & G. Mt. Washington corporate headquarters, Baltimore; Citicorp's Towson headquarters (including the president's office); Citicorp's Greenspring station; the Telemarketing offices; Chestnut Ridge Country Club; and the P.R.C. complex in McLean, VA.

Ellen's portfolio testifies to her meticulous work — residental layouts of furniture placement drawn as carefully as architectural blueprints, presentation boards with finish schedules for each room, commercial layouts with interiors containing more than 200 office cubicles.

Now back to her imprint on Garrett County — she designed the recent renovation of the Hershberger Agency and A&A Realty Building on Grantsville's Main Street. That narrow graceless building squeezed back in a side-lawn suddenly emerged in a soft beige brick exterior, lovely as a colonial Frederick townhouse. This renovation has been so admired that Brad Otto of Otto Brick and Tile declares there has been a run on that kind of brick at his company.

Working as a free lance designer between caring for two-year-old Brent and eight-year-old Michelle, Ellen has designed the window treatment for Silver Tree Inn, helped with the layout of Brenda's Body Shop, planned the renovation of the Bavarian Room at the Wisp, as well as numerous residential interiors.

Her most recent project has been the designing of Casselman Lumber's new showroom. She recently attended a training school in kitchen design sponsored by Woodmode Cabinetry, is enrolled in a European design seminar sponsored by Alno Cabinetry, a German import line, and recently completed the Woodmode's Advanced Design Seminar. Although agreeing to handle designs for Casselman Lumber clients, Ellen is quick to affirm her independent status.

When asked what an interior designer does, Ellen winced, then said, "I was afraid you were going to call me a decorator. A decorator just adds to the surface. I'm a designer. I plan interiors that work. Most people think I do things like making slipcovers and drapes and putting up pictures and curtain rods. I don't. I plan everything that goes toward making a space liveable and beautiful."

Later, as I looked at a layout of electrical outlets in her portfolio, I remembered the confusion of deciding where outlets were needed in our new house. Yes, I could have used a designer!

So our Junior Miss is home again, working in her quiet way to make Garrett County more attractive. As for the Junior Miss program, once sponsored by the Grantsville Jaycees, it died as quiet a death as that of its sponsoring organization. If the Junior Miss program attracts teens such as Ellen, if it develops confidence and adds status to the resumes of our most talented youth, especially if they return to us as Ellen has, perhaps it's worth reviving.

FORMER JUNIOR MISS TURNED DESIGNER — Ellen Hershberger, a former Garrett County Junior Miss, Northern High School cheerleader, and Autumn Glory Princess, has returned to Garrett County after spending over 10 years as a top interior designer in the Washington, D.C., area. She and her husband, Sam Housley, a certified financial planner, and their two children recently moved to the Brenneman family property near Bittinger and already she has completed a number of design projects for local businesses.

Commissioners Seeking Comments On Possible CDBG Program Funds

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners is considering submittal of an application for funding from Maryland's FY88 Small Cities Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) Program. Public comment is being sought by the commissioners before submitting an application.

The CDBG Program is a federally-funded program designed to assist units of general local government with activities directed toward neighborhood and housing revitalization, economic development and improved community facilities and services.

A public hearing to obtain the views of the citizens on such a program will be held Tuesday, May 24, at 9 a.m. in the commissioners meeting room in the Courthouse.

Copies of the Maryland Small Cities CDBG Program design are available from the County Planning and Zoning Office, Room 307, Old Courthouse, Oakland.

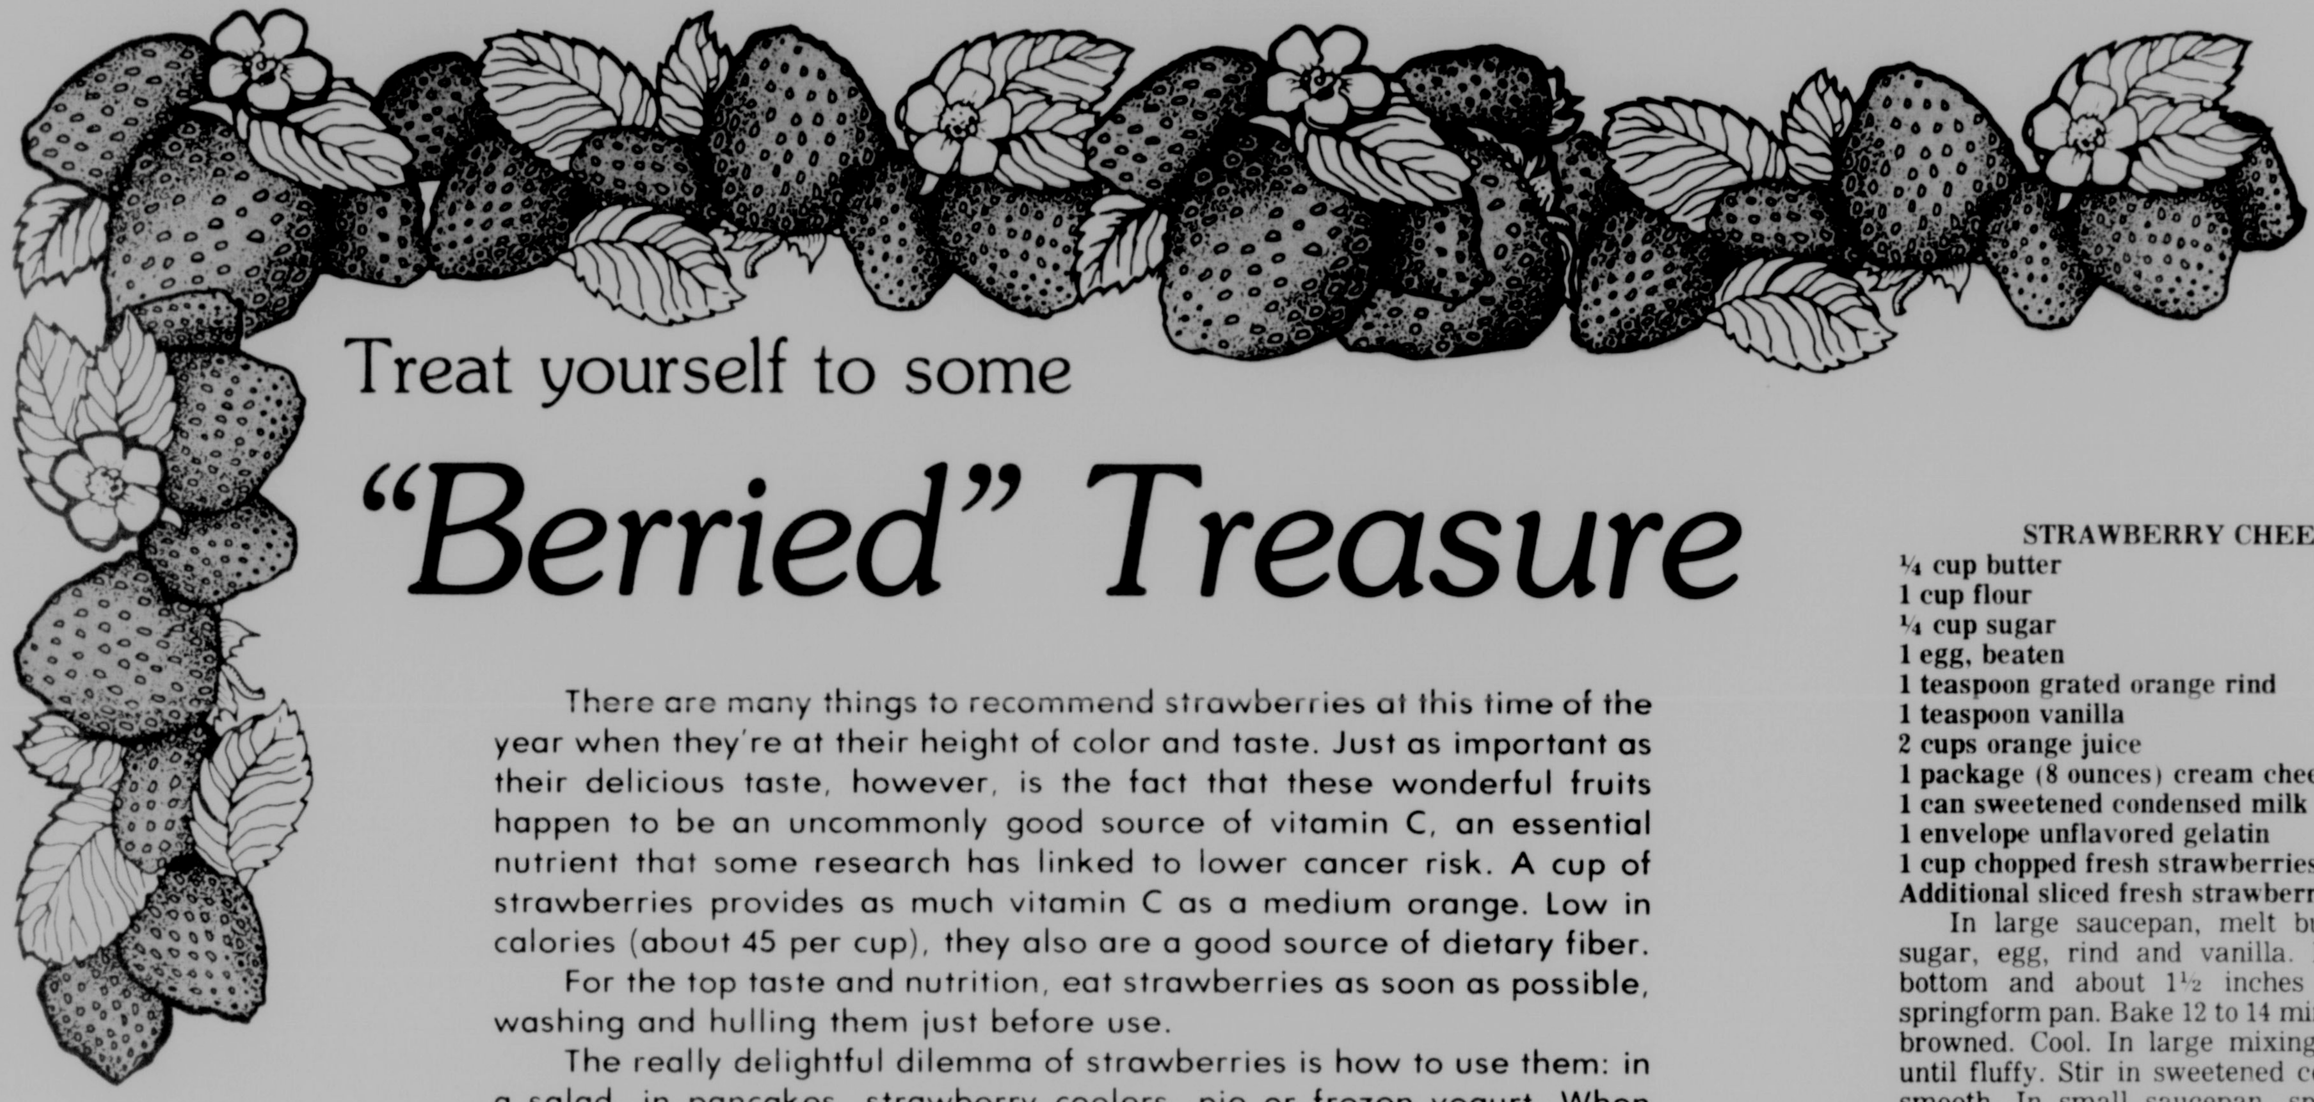
Good Food and how to prepare it!



Treat yourself to some "Berried" Treasure

There are many things to recommend strawberries at this time of the year when they're at their height of color and taste. Just as important as their delicious taste, however, is the fact that these wonderful fruits happen to be an uncommonly good source of vitamin C, an essential nutrient that some research has linked to lower cancer risk. A cup of strawberries provides as much vitamin C as a medium orange. Low in calories (about 45 per cup), they also are a good source of dietary fiber.

For the top taste and nutrition, eat strawberries as soon as possible, washing and hulling them just before use.

The really delightful dilemma of strawberries is how to use them: in a salad, in pancakes, strawberry coolers, pie or frozen yogurt. When they're at their peak, just eat them plain!

GREAT-GRANDMOTHER'S STRAWBERRY CAKE

½ cup butter
1½ cups sugar
3 eggs, separated
2¼ cups flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
¾ cup milk
Extra large berries or toasted coconut for garnish

Preheat oven to 325°F. In large bowl cream butter and sugar, beat in egg yolks. Combine flour and baking powder and add alternately with milk to creamed mixture. Beat egg whites until stiff, fold into batter. Grease and flour two 8-inch layer cake pans. Pour batter in pans and bake 30 minutes or until top springs back when touched. Cool in pan 5 minutes before turning out onto rack to cool completely. When cool, spread Strawberry Filling between layers and over top. Garnish with large plump berries.

Strawberry Filling:
1 cup strawberries, crushed
1 cup sugar
1 egg white, beaten

Beat all together until mixture thickens. Variation: proceed as above but bake in 10-inch tube pan instead of layer cake pans. Bake for 40 minutes or until top springs back when touched. Cool in pan 5 minutes before turning out onto rack to cool completely. When cool, frost top and sides with Strawberries and Cream Frosting and garnish with toasted coconut.

Strawberries and Cream Frosting:
1 cup heavy cream
1 tablespoon sugar
½ cup strawberries, crushed

Whip cream until stiff and fold in sugar and strawberries.

CLOVE-SCENTED RHUBARB PUNCH WITH STRAWBERRIES

1 pound rhubarb stalks, washed, ends trimmed, cut into 1-inch lengths
4 whole cloves
2 cups water
¼ cup sugar, or to taste
Ice cubes
1 cup sliced strawberries
Ginger Ale, well chilled (optional)

Combine the rhubarb, 2 of the cloves and water in a saucepan. Heat to boiling. Cover and simmer until the rhubarb is very soft, about 25 minutes. Strain the rhubarb through a fine sieve, press on the pulp with the back of a spoon to extract as much juice and flavor as possible. Add the sugar to the hot juice, stirring to dissolve. Add the remaining 2 cloves. Cool to room temperature. Refrigerate until ready to serve. Half-fill a large pitcher with ice cubes, add strawberries. Add rhubarb juice and stir well. Top pitcher with ginger ale to taste, if desired. Yield: About 4 10-ounce servings, or 1 quart.

STRAWBERRIES WITH RASPBERRY SAUCE

1 pint strawberries
1 orange
2 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons water
½ pint raspberries

Place strawberries in a colander, wash and hull them, and slice into a bowl. Squeeze in juice of orange. Place a small saucepan over medium heat, add sugar and water, and heat to boiling. Stir in rasberries and cook over low heat 5 to 6 minutes. Place raspberries in blender and puree. Drain strawberries. Pour raspberry sauce over them and serve.

SHAKER STRAWBERRY SAUCE

1 egg white
1 cup fresh strawberries, mashed
1 cup powdered sugar
4 tablespoons butter, at room temperature

In a large mixing bowl, beat the egg white until very stiff. Add the crushed berries and beat until light and fluffy. Gradually add the sugar and beat until the mixture stands in peaks, about 5 minutes. Beat in the butter until it is worked into the foam. Serve immediately. Makes about 6 servings.

STRAWBERRIES MELBA

2 tablespoons strawberry jam
2 tablespoons kirsch
1 pint strawberries
1 pint vanilla ice cream
1 cup whipped cream (optional)
¼ cup slivered almonds or crushed hazelnuts
4 glass dessert dishes or champagne glasses

Over low heat, stir the jam with the kirsch, just until it melts. Wash and wipe the strawberries dry. Remove the stems. Divide the ice cream among the serving dishes. Cover with strawberries, a dollop of whipped cream (if desired), and liquefied jam. Finish by sprinkling with slivered almonds or crushed hazelnuts.

STRAWBERRY ICE CREAM PIE

Toppers:
½ cup heavy cream
2 tablespoons sifted confectioners' sugar

Whip cream, stir in sugar. Place heaping spoonfuls on chilled baking sheet. Freeze firm. Serves 6.

STRAWBERRY CHEESE FLAN

¼ cup butter
1 cup flour
¼ cup sugar
1 egg, beaten
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups orange juice
1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese, softened
1 can sweetened condensed milk
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1 cup chopped fresh strawberries
Additional sliced fresh strawberries

In large saucepan, melt butter, stir in flour, sugar, egg, rind and vanilla. Mix well. Pat into bottom and about 1½ inches up side of 9-inch springform pan. Bake 12 to 14 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool. In large mixing bowl, beat cheese until fluffy. Stir in sweetened condensed milk until smooth. In small saucepan, sprinkle gelatin over orange juice, let stand 1 minute. Over low heat, cook and stir until gelatin dissolves, about 5 minutes. Add to cream cheese mixture, mix well. Stir in strawberries. Pour into prepared pan. Chill 4 hours or until set. Garnish with sliced strawberries. Serves 10-12.

STRAWBERRY GRANITE

2½ cups strawberries, hulled
4½ tablespoons sugar
1½ tablespoons lemon juice
¾ cup water

In a blender or food processor, puree the strawberries with other ingredients until smooth. Pour into an ice cube tray and freeze until solid. When frozen, remove the cubes from tray and place in a blender or food processor again. Process until cubes are completely crushed and smooth, and a grainy mixture is produced. Spoon into dishes to serve. Frozen strawberries may also be used, but if they are frozen in syrup, omit the added sugar in this recipe. For a variation on the usual flavor, substitute orange juice for the water or substitute 2 tablespoons orange liqueur for an equal portion of the water. This recipe yields four ¾ cup servings.

LEMON-STRAWBERRY PIE

¾cup (1½ sticks) plus 5 tablespoons unsalted butter
1 cup crushed graham crackers
¾ cup sugar
Grated zest (colored part of peel) of 1 lemon and 1 lime
5 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
3 tablespoons fresh lime juice
6 large egg yolks, lightly beaten
½ cup heavy cream
1 pint strawberries, hulled, sliced

Microwave 5 tablespoons butter in 9-inch microwave-safe pie plate on HIGH power until melted, about 1 minute. Stir in cracker crumbs until evenly coated with butter. Using hands, press crumbs evenly against bottom and side of plate to form pie shell. Microvave shell uncovered on HIGH 2 minutes, turning dish halfway around after 1 minute. Let cool to room temperature on wire rack, about 15 minutes. Meanwhile, combine remaining ¾ cup butter, the sugar and citrus zest and juices in 1-quart microwave-safe measure or bowl. Cover with plastic wrap leaving one corner open for vent. Microwave on HIGH 4 minutes, stirring after each minute. Whisk one-third of the citrus mixture into egg yolks in small bowl, then return to remaining citrus mixture and whisk until completely blended. Microwave uncovered 4 minutes, stirring once. Whisk vigorously until cooled and smooth, about 2 minutes. Let cool to room temperature, then refrigerate. Just before serving, whip cream to stiff peaks. Fold cream into citrus mixture and spread in pie shell. Arrange sliced strawberries on top and serve at once.

STRAWBERRY MOUSSE

1 cup nonfat Yogurt
1 package (4-serving size) strawberry Jello
¾ cup boiling water
1 cup ice cubes
1 cup cleaned and halved strawberries
6 fresh strawberries for garnish (optional)

Pour boiling water into a blender. Add Jello mix and blend at low speed until completely dissolved (about 1 minute). Add ice cubes and stir until ice is partially melted. Add strawberries and yogurt. Blend at high speed 30 seconds or until smooth. Pour into small dessert dishes or goblets. Chill until set, at least 30 minutes. Garnish each with a fresh strawberry. Makes six ½-cup servings.

"AND THE BEAT GOES ON"

Undetected high blood pressure is a silent killer and there is now a virtual war going on to search it out and control it. Everybody's taking part in the hunt, not just your physician. Today, dentists, nurses, optometrists and many others are taking blood pressures as a matter of routine.

Don't be caught "high." If you have not had your blood pressure checked recently, you should make arrangements to do so soon. There are many places you can have it taken free. Of course, if the reading is above normal, you will be referred to your physician.

On To Maturity

The writer of Hebrews' phrase, "let us . . . go on to maturity" (Hebs. 6:1) has meaning for all people, especially that longsuffering group of people known as parents. I'm convinced Mark Twain put his finger on what causes parents to suffer when he said,

> "When I was fourteen I thought my dad was the most ignorant man in the world. But when I became twenty-one I was amazed how much the old man had learned in seven short years."

That reality of such an experience not only causes pain in parents, it also produces maturity, because maturity comes from being able to survive some of the frustrations that come from parenting children, especially during teenage years.

Yet, when the children follow Hebrews' advice and "go on to maturity," then the parents experience a growing maturity that comes precisely because they have hung-with the growing children.

And both children and parents ultimately come to know the joy of being family; of being "maturing family."

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THE ROLE MODEL

May 22, 1988

Background Scripture: Hebrews 12.
Devotional Reading: Philippians 4:7-16.

Discipline—who wants it? That's easy: no one. Who needs it? That's just as easy: everyone.

My own personal position on discipline is that I think it is very necessary—for other people! In some of my most lucid moments I may even admit that I need it, but that doesn't mean that I want it. In fact, if I run true-to-form, I will probably avoid it, resist it and run away from it if I possibly can. My progress in trying to escape it may be hindered only by those, who—like yourself—are also running away from it.

In retrospect, we are usually able to see that discipline has been good for us. There is hardly anything that we have learned or gained that did not require discipline—either that imposed by others or ourselves. As the writer of Hebrews so aptly observes: "For the moment all discipline seems painful rather than pleasant" (12:11). I can't ever remember rejoicing when my parents disciplined me. As a youth, I never celebrated the daily hour of practicing at the piano, nor the afternoons of drudgery on the high school football field. I never thanked the school principal for giving me detention (and he was never surprised that I didn't!).

LOOKING BACK

Yet, looking back I realize that without these experiences of discipline, there is much that I would not have learned and later enjoyed. So, I can agree about discipline with Hebrews: "later it yields the peaceful fruit of righteousness to those who have been trained by it." It is possible to learn without discipline, but for most of us it is not very probable.

Closely akin to discipline is something else we need, but resist: commitment. Actually, it is commitment that provides the basis for self-discipline. We have to commit ourselves to the learning, growing process and stick to it for the sake of the rewards we hope to win. My parents made me practice the piano every day when I was a child. Not liking it, I gave it up as soon as they would permit me to do so. Later, while in high school, I decided that I really wanted to learn to play the piano and so I committed myself to the discipline of study and practice. Along the way there were times when I didn't want to take the time to practice, but I stuck to my commitment.

That's the way it is in life, we've found. Life requires both discipline and commitment and we cannot accomplish much of anything without them. Still, we struggle to avoid them as much as possible. We live in an era marked by a reluctance to make commitments. Some people call it "hanging loose," but it is resistance against commitment because often commitment means discipline, standing fast in a situation that gives us short-term discomfort, pain, or limitation.

TEMPORARY REWARDS

I guess that's the key, isn't it—the choice between short-run pleasure and long-term satisfaction, between temporary rewards and ultimate prizes. It's like the old Aesop's fable of "The Tortoise and the Hare." The hare took his enjoyment all along the way, while the plodding tortoise kept his mind and heart set on the goal of winning the race. The hare's satisfaction was short-lived, while that of the tortoise was long-lasting.

Hebrews reminds us that we have a petect role model in Jesus, "the pioneer and perfecter of our faith, who for the joy that was set before him endured the cross, despising the shame, and is seated at the right hand of the throne of God" (12:2).

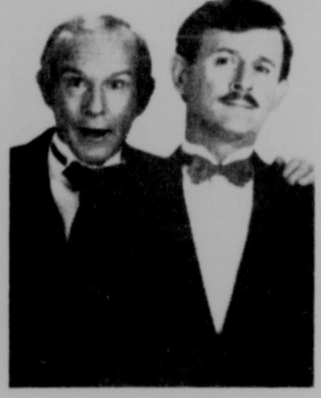
Smothers Brothers uphold their tradition of comedy

By Frank Lovece

On Wednesday, May 25, the Smothers Brothers wrap up the last of their nine shows on CBS. Their comedy-variety series, revived after 19 years, stands a good chance of returning in the fall. Even if it doesn't, the exposure has done wonders for the duo's career.



Tom and Dick Smothers

Yet the whole show almost collapsed when The Writers Guild went on strike.

Luckily, The Guild granted the Smothers one of only two exemptions. As Tom Smothers relates, "We knew that during the last strike, they gave waivers to production companies that adjusted to the provisions they wanted. We just agreed with whatever it was."

"And also, the day after we got our waiver," Dick jokes, "the Kuwaiti hostages were released from that airplane."

"I don't know if we're allowed to talk about that, Dick."

"Tom's right," Dick says. "We're not allowed to discuss the terms of the waiver. I can just say we had a few writers on that plane, and we had to get them off. We were going to do some Middle East humor..."

"...Except they don't have any," Tom jumps in.

The Smothers Brothers comeback started with a CBS special this past March. It turned out so well that the network brought the duo back for more. It's quite ironic, since it was CBS that canceled them in 1969, after battles over political and artistic censorship.

History came around to the Smothers' side, and so, eventually, did CBS. "The network does encourage us to do political humor," Tom asserts. So far it's been mild, almost expected jabs at such topics as U.S. Central American policy, or lack thereof. "They want us to be a little dangerous, to take risks," Tom adds. Whether this means satirical pokes at Ed Meese, Oliver North and other targets that can fire back remains to be seen.

The Smothers, for their part, are taking it slowly. "When we did the special," says Dick, "we said that we were going to continue as if nothing had happened. Your lifestyle has to react to changing circumstances, but we're not taking anything for granted. So far, everything is positive."

HBO's look at death row packs a horrifying punch

By Connie Passalacqua

"Execution: Fourteen Days in May," airing May 23, is another episode of HBO's "America Undercover." This documentary series is the ultimate in grim: It deals with gut-wrenching human tragedies such as drunk driving and mercy killing. The subject matter is always so chilling and disturbing it's usually easier to turn the TV off.

Edward Johnson

This episode, focusing on capital punishment, provides more footage for your nightmares. It focuses on the last 14 days in the life of 26-year-old black Mississippi death-row convict Edward Johnson. In 1979, Johnson was convicted of killing a police marshal who had intervened when Johnson assaulted a white woman. Johnson signed a confession, but maintained that he was physically coerced by the police to do so. Many people, including New York Times columnist Tom Wicker, who narrates the episode, feel there were racial motivations in his trial and sentencing. Johnson was the first man to die after the Supreme Court ruling that even a demonstrable pattern of racial discrimination does not make the death penalty unconstitutional.

This episode pretty much puts race and legal questions aside and focuses on one thing: death. And, no matter how you feel idealistically, whether you think capital punishment is right or wrong, Johnson's last few days can't fail to turn your stomach. A week before the execution, officials of the prison decided to test the electric chair by killing some rabbits. With their eyes open, the rabbits jerk around violently and die in front of the cameras. Horrifying is not a strong enough word for what it looks like – or for the thought of what's to come.

In contrast, Johnson remains calm almost up to the last minute. He's seen meeting with lawyers and relatives, almost peacefully going into his fate. He doesn't even get emotional when his last stays of executions are turned down.

Johnson's cellmates and guards seem to have the most emotional reaction to his execution. Says one convict in tears, "They say we're the ones who are violent and cruel. But I've never seen anything more violent and cruel than this."

Reigning Miss Universe Cecilia Bolocco prepares to give up her crown to this year's winner during "The 1988 Miss Universe Pageant." It airs Monday, May 23, on CBS.

Glenda Jackson: Bad talk JFK Jr.: Gentlemanly talk

By Cindy Adams

Everybody is talking about how Glenda Jackson and "Macbeth" co-star Christopher Plummer aren't talking. Well, kiddies, everybody doesn't know what anybody is talking about. Glenda and Chris are talking. What nobody is talking about is that Miss Jackson and the latest of "Macbeth" 's directors, Zoe Caldwell, aren't talking. Zoe, who was imported by the producers, directed the company – but not Glenda. Glenda would not take Zoe's direction. Glenda calls Zoe bad things. Zoe calls Glenda worse things. And you thought Mr. and Mrs. Macbeth were having problems.

Glenda Jackson

Larry Bergreen, the writer, and Viking, the publisher, bring us an unauthorized Irving Berlin bio in '89. Mr. Berlin, who refuses to sing "There's no business like book business," is not cooperating and is not thrilled.

Barbara Cook, who quit that incoming troubled show "Carrie": "I felt like I was on the Titanic."... When Phylicia Rashad stepped "Into the Woods," husband Ahmad Rashad sent nine dozen roses. Her dressing room couldn't hold more.

John Kennedy Jr.

John Kennedy Jr. and I shared an aisle at the opening of "Mail," which critics treated almost as badly as they do the Post Office. Kennedy first nighters are usually mama Jackie or Auntie Pat. I asked John what brought him to this. The devout theatergoer had the perfect answer: "I was invited." He introduced me to his host, the show's costumer, William Ivey Long. John Jr. was very gentlemanly. When folks came to shake his hand, he stood politely. His mom can be proud.

ASK ME ABOUT TV

Durning ignored advice and finally became an actor

By Toni D'Amato

I know that Charles Durning has been in movies, but my husband says he's also starred in TV shows. Can you tell us the names of some of them? – B.F., Mercedes, Texas

Charles Durning

Durning enlisted in the Army after high school and ended up in Korea. He was wounded three times and awarded the Silver Star. After the Army he attended the American Academy of Dramatic Arts, where a teacher said he should find other work because he had no talent. Durning turned to such jobs as taxi driver and elevator operator, but he still wanted to act.

In 1962 he became a member of a theatrical touring company. He soon graduated to TV and films.

From 1975 to '76 he starred in the TV sitcom "The Cop and the Kid." Other credits include playing Big Ed Healey in "Captains and the Kings" in 1976.

Durning received an Emmy nomination for his work in the TV special "Queen of the Stardust Ballroom." He recently starred in the TV movie "Case Closed" and will appear in the upcoming TV movie "Unholy Matrimony." He also starred in such films as "The Sting" (1973) and "Tootsie" (1982).

I say there were several remakes of "Beau Geste," one of which starred Robert Preston. Am I right? – A.W., Mechanic Falls, Maine.

In 1926, a silent version of this film starred Ronald Coleman. The 1939 version starred Gary Cooper, Ray Milland, Robert Preston and Brian Donlevy. The 1966 remake starred Telly Savalas, Guy Stockwell, Doug McClure and Leslie Nielsen.

Was Jack Lemmon in the service? If so, what branch? – M.H., Middleburgh, N.Y.

Lemmon served in the Navy. When he left Harvard University in 1945, he was an ensign in the Naval Reserve. He went on to serve as a communications officer aboard the aircraft carrier USS Lake Champlain.

SOAP OPERA WEEK

'DOOL' actress originally planned to be a dancer

By Kimberly Redmond

Please give me some facts about Melissa Brennan, who plays Jennifer Horton on "Days of Our Lives." I think she's a good actress. – C.R., Cottage Grove, Minn.

Melissa Brennan

Brennan joined the cast of "DOOL" in October, 1985, when she was 18. Previously, she had played the role of Jade Perkins on "Santa Barbara."

Brennan has been appearing in commercials since she was 15. She originally had plans to become a dancer until she started becoming successful in commercials. She also studied acting at the Lee Strasberg Institute in New York City.

Brennan's other credits include HBO's "Somewhere Tomorrow" and the "Afterschool Special" "The Lakeside High Experiment."

I served in the Navy with John Beradino, who plays Steve Hardy on "General Hospital." Can you give me an address where I can write to him? – D.R., Santa Cruz, Calif.

Write to Beradino c/o "General Hospital," ABC-TV, 4151 Prospect Ave., Hollywood, CA 90067.

Recently I wrote to CBS and requested a photo of Rod Arrants, who plays Steven Lassiter on "The Young and the Restless." They said that they couldn't fulfill my request. How can I get a photo of Arrants? – H.C., Willoughby, Ohio

Rod Arrants

You should write directly to Arrants c/o "Y&R," CBS-TV, 7800 Beverly Blvd., Los Angeles, CA 90036. Not all actors send photos upon request, but give it a try.

Fellowship hour will start at 5 p.m., followed by a class picture at 5:45 and dinner at 6. The price is $15.00 per person, and reservations should be sent to Mrs. Ruth Jackson, 233 North Second Street, Oakland. The reservation deadline is June 1.

Local Ministries To Show Movie And Serve Pizza

A fast-paced, modern-day allegory, akin to the familiar Bible story, "The Prodigal," a World Wide Pictures Presentation, will be shown May 21, 7 p.m., at Southern High School Cafetorium.

Set in contemporary urban framework and intimately examining the gradual spiritual and emotional status of an American family as each member searches for his identity, "The Prodigal," was filmed entirely on location in Seattle and various other spectacular sites throughout the state of Washington.

Heading the cast are John Hammond, Hope Lange and John Cullum. Hammond, who portrays the title role of the wayward son caught up in the netherworld web of drugs and sex, was recently starred in the hit mini-series "The Blue and the Gray." Award-winning actress Hope Lange stars as his confused and bewildered mother, while noted Broadway Tony Award winner, John Cullum, essays the role of his single-minded, career-consumed father.

World Wide Pictures, producers of such award-winning films as "The Hiding Place" and "Joni," is the film organization of the Billy Graham Association, and the internationally-known evangelist has a cameo role in the picture.

The campus ministry of Mt. Top Youth for Christ-Campus Life, along with the Loch Lynn Evangelical Free Church and the Pleasant View Baptist Church, extend an invitation to all seventh through 12th grade students to attend this showing. It will be accompanied with a "Pizza Bash" starting at 7 p.m. During this time students will be charged $2.00 for all the pizza they can eat.

This is the first of several special events planned cooperatively by local churches and Mt. Top Youth for Christ. For details persons may call 334-9244.

Above right, Andy Kahl, seated, and Jason VanSickle learn from carpenter Richard Tressler, while below, Debra Sisler and Troy Garlitz listen to beautician Judy Lininger. Other professionals participating were: Dorothy Spaid, educator; Phyllis Vitez and Mary Suter, postal employees; Linda Bosley, respiratory therapist; Karmen Carey, banker, and Richard Kline, computer operator. March Motor Fuel Use Exceeds 200 Million Gallons

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein says motor fuel consumption totaled 204.2 million gallons during March, 1988. "This is the first March we have ever recorded more than 200 million gallons of fuel use," Goldstein said, attributing the increase to the relatively mild weather and the ever growing number of vehicles using Maryland roadways.

Motor fuel tax revenue for April, 1988, based on March sales, amounted to $39,988,833, up 40.8% from the $28,394,247 collected during the same month of the prior year.

For the first ten months of fiscal year 1988, motor fuel tax collections totaled $381,665,880, a 38.3% increase over the $276,020,317 received during the identical period of fiscal year 1987.

Most motor fuel tax revenue is deposited in the transportation trust fund, administered by the Maryland Department of Transportation. Part of that revenue is further shared with local subdivisions.

Sarbanes Calls For "Year Of Young Readers"

In the recognition that "a joy of reading and an understanding of its importance is one of the finest gifts we can offer our children," Senator Paul Sarbanes has joined in introducing a resolution which would designate 1989 as "The Year of the Young Reader."

"It has long been my view that young people are our nation's greatest resource. Books and reading are critical elements in providing useful nourishment for growing minds." Sarbanes said. "As we confront a world that is increasingly complex both technologically and economically, it becomes even more important to do all we can to stimulate a love of reading and an appreciation of the importance of books and literature in today's youth. It is also the best way to ensure that the United States continues to have the kind of literate and informed populace to a democratic society."

Plans for "The Year of the Young Reader" are already underway. The centerpiece of the program is a joint effort by the Library of Congress Children's Literature Center and the Center for the Book. Other participating organizations include the American Library Association, The Children's Book Council, Reading is Fundamental, Inc. and the International Reading Association. "Together, they will wolrk to reverse the decline in book readership among young people in recent years by encouraging programs aimed at parents, educators, librarians and the children themselves," Sarbanes said.

"Our nation's young readers who develop an interest in the ability to understand and apply the vast sum of knowledge and information available in books are likely to enter our society as productive and contributing adults," Sarbanes noted.

Md. AMVETS Honor Rep. Byron

AMVETS, Department of Maryland, has announced that the second annual "Free State Award of Excellence" will be presented to U.S. Representative Beverly Byron.

The award was presented at a luncheon, hosted by the Maryland AMVETS, on Saturday, May 14, at the Turf Valley Country Club in Ellicott City.

The AMVETS announcement recognizes Byron for "her forthright contributions to her community, state and nation, as citizen, legislator and humanitarian, her integrity and responsibility in government leadership and her intense dedication to the cherished ideals of American freedom."

"I am delighted to receive this recognition," stated the fifth-term Representative, "I take my responsibilities to America's veterans very seriously and am pleased to see that my efforts are appreciated."

Byron chairs the House Armed Services Subcommittee on Military Personnel and Compensation and was active in the passage of the Veterans Benefits and Services Act of 1988, one of the most comprehensive veterans' bills ever passed by Congress. Last year's award winner was Governor William Donald Schaefer.

Pair Of Local Students Honored By McDonald's

Two Garrett County students have been named recipients of the Ray A. Kroc Youth Achievement Awards in recognition of their outstanding accomplishments. They are Jennifer C. Golden, of Northern High School, and Todd S. Welch, of Southern High School.

The Ray A. Kroc Youth Achievement Award is a program created in honor of the late founder of McDonald's Restaurants. It is designed to honor a high school senior who demonstrates exceptional citizenship, leadership, and scholarship in keeping with the philosophy of the man who helped make McDonald's the nation's largest employer of young people.

The award recipients are chosen by a special selection committee at each local school based on their performance in the areas chosen to honor the ideals and principles of the late Mr. Kroc.

They have been placed in competition with Ray A. Kroc Youth Achievement Award winners from Maryland, Washington, D.C., and West Virginia for ten $1,000 scholarships offered by McDonald's Corporation.

The Garrett County students are also among 12 local recipients of the Ray A. Kroc Award who will be in competition for three scholarships created by area McDonald's owner/operators Al and Robert Boxley.

Scholarships in the amounts of $1,000, $500 and $250 will be given to the top three students selected by a special committee consisting of Adrienne Ottaviani, member of the Allegany County Board of Education; Mineral County Board of Education President, Robert Bess, M.D.; and Mikal Moomau of the Garrett County Board of Education.

Jennifer Golden is a student page for the Maryland General Assembly, a member of the National Honor Society and vice president of the Grantsville 4-H Club. She is also a cheerleader and was Homecoming Queen and Autumn Glory Queen.

Todd Welch is a member of the Army DEP program at Southern and was a cast member in the senior class play. He is also active in the community as a member of the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad.

Bill Introduced To Protect Md. Nat'l Battlefield

U.S. Representative Beverly Byron this week introduced legislation that would allow the National Park Service to acquire additional land within the boundaries of Antietam National Battlefield.

Antietam, once the scene of the bloodiest single day of the Civil War, has come under increasing pressure as development expands into Washington County.

"There are about 1200 acres of unprotected land within the boundaries of Antietam National Park," noted Byron. "Should they be offered for sale by land owners or even offered for donation, under current law the Battlefield would be unable to acquire them."

The legislation would allow Antietam Battlefield to acquire land from willing sellers or donors within the park's boundaries. "This is the first step that is necessary to protect the integrity of this hallowed national landmark. Antietam is one of the best preserved of the remaining Civil War Battlefields," Byron said. "Keeping the grounds within Antietam's boundaries intact, for present and future generations to enjoy, should certainly be a national priority."

The bill is expected to be referred to the House Interior Subcommittee on Parks and Public Lands, of which Byron is a member. Companion legislation is being drafted in the United States Senate.

Serving the area since 1977.

Wilburn Named Manager Of Deep Creek Lake Park

Former assistant manager James O. Wilburn has been named manager of Deep Creek Lake State Park by Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service Director Donald E. MacLauchlan. He assumes the position following the December retirement of Ward Ashby, who had 42 years of service with the state's Department of Natural Resources.

Wilburn, a native of Hoyes, began his state career as a conservation worker for the former Game Department. After ten years with that department, he successfully completed ranger and law enforcement schools and served as a ranger at New Germany State Park. For nearly 16 years, Wilburn was assistant manager at Deep Creek and he became acting manager with Ashby's retirement.

In addition to his state service, Wilburn is a charter and active member of the Northern Rescue Squad and is also a member of the Department of Natural Resources winter rescue team.

Wilburn's new assistant manager is David Baker, who comes to the 1,755-acre state park from Washington Monument State Park in Frederick County. Baker has been a ranger at New Germany prior to his service at Washington Monument.

Office Outlines Control Methods For Gypsy Moths

The Garrett County Extension service reported this week that, even if trees are not aerial-sprayed for gypsy moths, burlap binding can reduce defoliation by as much as 50 percent if applied to trees between mid-May and mid-July.

The process takes advantage of the fact that in most gypsy moth populations, fourth-stage caterpillars spend each night feeding on the leaves in the tops of trees. During the day, they crawl down the trees to hide in the ground or crevices in tree bark.

Tying strips of burlap around the tree trunks provides a shelter for migrating caterpillars. A simple band consists of a burlap strip 12 to 20 inches wide which is tied in the middle to allow a flap to hang down for the caterpillars to hide in.

Each day in the late afternoon, the caterpillars can be removed and destroyed by either squashing or drowning in kerosene or bleach. Gloves should be worn when handling the caterpillars to avoid irritation from their hairs.

Egg masses found in the burlap should not be allowed to fall to the ground, but must also be destroyed.

Anyone wishing more information on coping with the gypsy moth problem should call the Garrett County Extension Service at 334-1990. Free pamphlets entitled, "The Gypsy Moth and the Homeowners" and "Controlling Gypsy Moth Caterpillars with Barrier Bands" are also available.

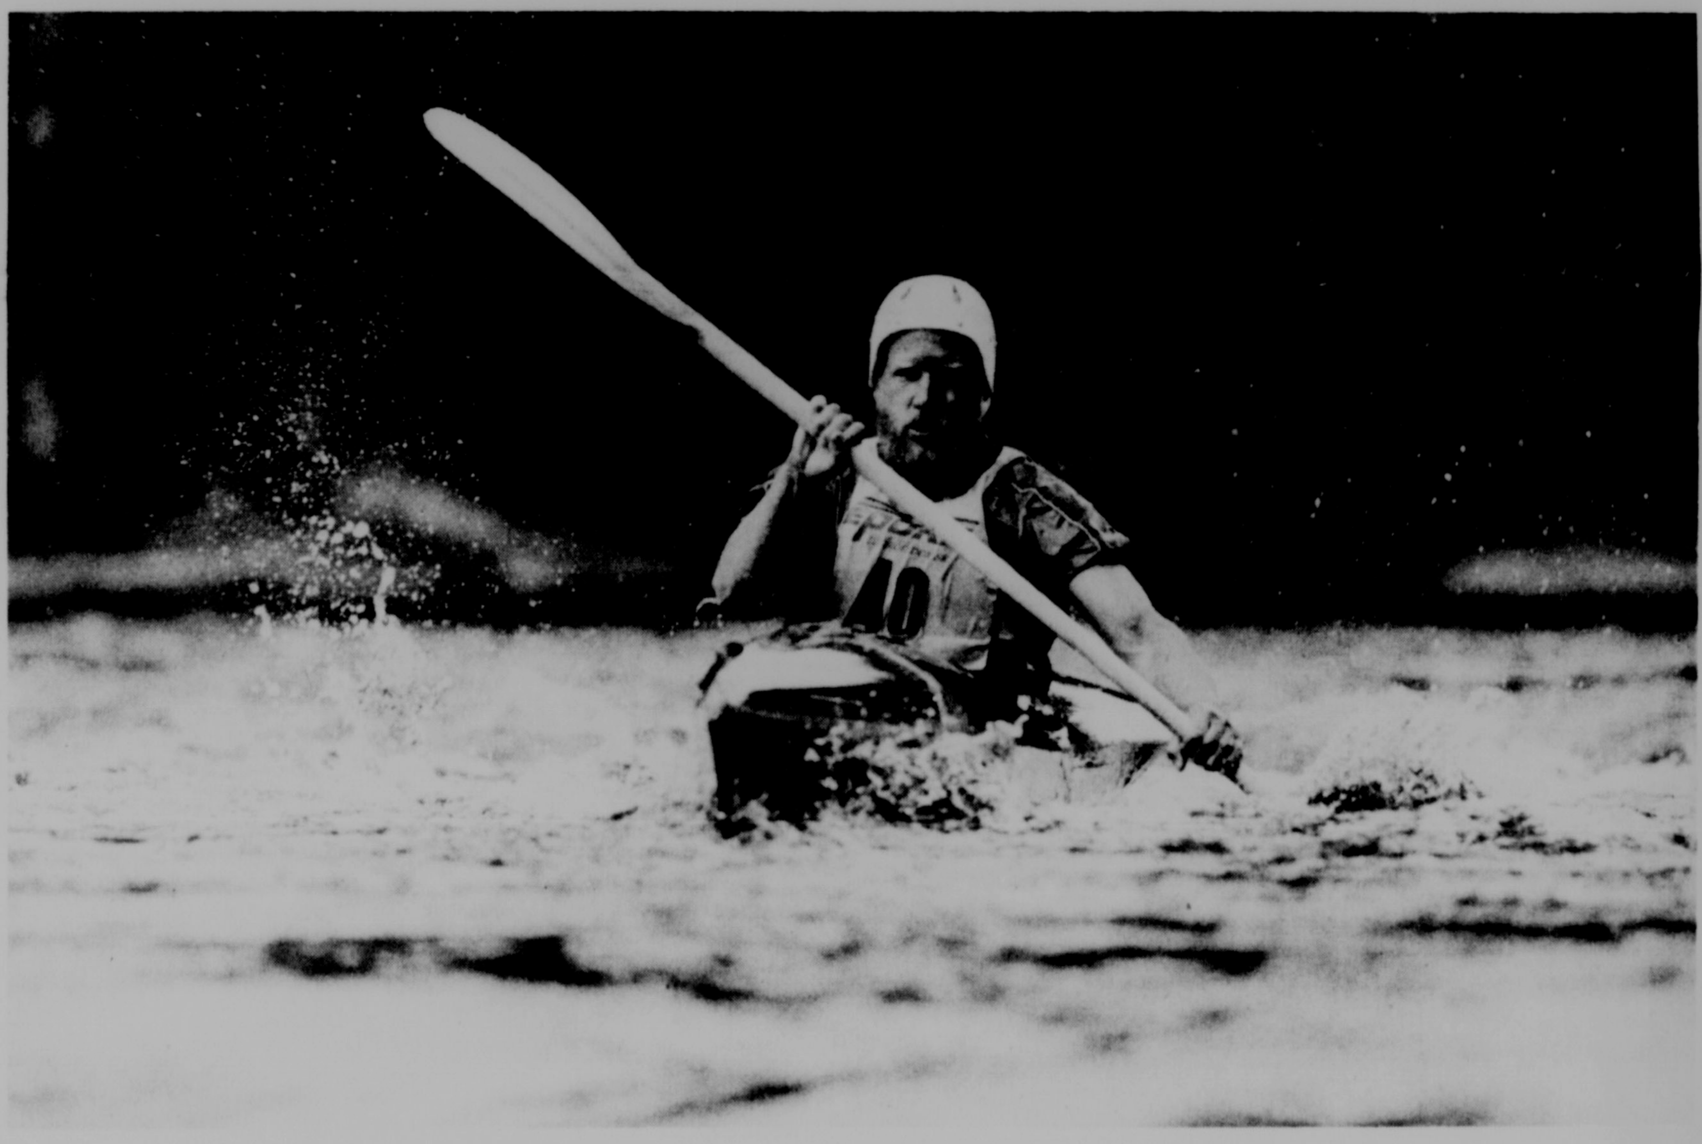
Another World-Class Athlete From Garrett County!



ROGER ZBEL
MEMBER — U.S. WILDWATER TEAM

Not only will Garrett County be hosting the Pre-World Whitewater Championships next month on the Savage River, but among the six-man wildwater team representing the United States in the competition will be a Garrett County resident. He is Roger Zbel, Friendsville, co-owner of Precision Rafting Company, who qualified for a spot on the national team during trials last month in Wisconsin.

Roger's racing career includes winning six out of seven races on the Upper Youghiogheny, one of the toughest race courses in the United States. The U.S. Team coach said that Roger has more potential than anyone at the trials this year. After the Pre-Worlds, Roger will travel to the Ocoee River in Tennessee for the National Competition in August and will train next winter in Montana with the U.S. coach in hopes of making the four-person U.S.A. World team, which will compete in the World Championships next June on the Savage.

Like Garrett County Olympic hopeful in the modern pentathlon, John McIntee, Roger holds a full-time job and must make time in the early mornings and evenings to continue a rigorous, regimented training schedule. Also as with McIntee, Roger must spend several thousand dollars of his own money in order to continue his training and purchase necessary equipment, which will place a great financial burden upon him.

Therefore, Roger is seeking assistance from fellow Garrett Countians, who are willing to back him with their TAX-DEDUCTIBLE contributions to the U.S. Team Fund on his behalf.

The response to the fund drive for John McIntee has been overwhelming and we at The Republican Newspaper think it is absolutely fantastic that Garrett County now has not one, but two current world-class athletes, who have the opportunity to represent our nation in world competition. We hope that all those who have been so generous toward John McIntee will respond likewise to Roger Zbel, by simply filling in the coupon below and mailing it with their checks made out to U.S. Team Fund.

YES! I want to help Roger represent Garrett County, Maryland, and the United States in wildwater competition. So here is my check, made out to the U.S. Team Fund.

Send your checks to Terry Peterson, P.O. Box 143, Friendsville, Md. 21531.

Pa. Bruderhof To Host Conference

A conference entitled "A New Testament Church in the 21st Century: Searching for Answers in a Troubled World" will be hosted by the Hutterian Brethren New Meadow Run Bruderhof, Farmington, Pa., June 24 to 26.

The Hutterian Brethren live in Christian communities, known as Bruderhofs, which contain from 100 to 400 people. Each Bruderhof shares work and property in common, practices nonviolence and brotherly admonition, and seeks to live out Christ's teachings unconditionally like the early Christian churches. Their Anabaptist history, similar to that of the Mennonites, Brethren and Amish, goes back 450 years.

Participants in the conference will join Bruderhof host families in work, worship, meals and recreation. The conference will seek the root causes of the problems of today in the context of the witness of the early Christian church.

Proposed workshops will deal with responsibility to hunger and homelessness, family life issues, church unity, discipline, forgiveness, nonviolence, and the separation of church and state.

Conference co-sponsors include Dale Aukerman, Brethren Peace Fellowship; Jim Forest, International Fellowship of Reconciliation; Georgetown University Center for Peace Studies; Ernest Gordon of CREED; David Hostetler of "Christian Living Magazine"; Jubilee Partners; Congressman Matthew McHugh; Mennonite Central Committee U.S. Peace Section; National Urban League; Arthur Simon of Bread for the World; and Mendenhall Ministries.

Anyone wishing further information about the conference should write the Hutterian Brethren, Farmingtown, Pa. 15437, or call (412) 329-8573. The group asks that registration be made by June 1. There is no registration fee, but donations are welcome.

Walters Gallery Program Set At Senior Center

Walters Art Gallery of Baltimore will present "Time Sanctified: The Book of Hours" for the artistic appreciation of the people of Garrett County. A representative from the Walters Art Gallery will be at the Oakland Senior Citizens' Center, located in the Center Street School, this Friday, May 20, at 1 p.m. to give a slide presentation on a particular type of rare books.

For 250 years, from the late 13th century to the early 16th, in the period of history preceding the invention of the printing press, more Books of Hours were produced than any other type of book, including the Bible. The Books of Hours were prayer books, intended not for the religious, but for ordinary men and women.

According to a Gallary spokesman, what makes them unique is the magnificant art work, providing illustrations that are at once artistic, colorful and fascinating, and at the same time reminiscent of the stained glass windows of the Gothic cathedrals. "The richly painted portraits follow a tradition inherited from classical antiquity of placing an author's picture at the beginning of the text," the spokesman said. "The luxurious miniatures marked the beginning of each Hour, thus functioning as bookmarks, but they were also an aid for medication since the devotee would gaze upon them while praying."

Major funding for "Time Sanctified: The Book of Hours" is provided by the National Endowment for the Humanities, a federal agency, and by a grant from the Marion I. and Henry J. Knott Foundation of Baltimore. A donation from Bruce Ferrini and Michael Greenberg Rare Books of Akron, Ohio, also made this project possible.

The public is invited to attend.

VA Changes Payment Policy For Pensioners

The Veterans Administration has amended its regulations to allow pension beneficiaries to receive monthly payments if less-frequent payments cause loss of other federal benefits.

As an efficiency measure, the VA makes pension paymens on a monthly basis only if the amount of the annual benefit is more than $228. But for lesser amounts the payment is less frequent. VA pension checks are sent quarterly if the annual amount is $144 to $228, semi-annually if the amount is $72 to $144, and annually if the amount is less than $72.

An unintended result of the consolidated payments, however, has been the denial of other federal benefits based on income, such as Medicaid, for the month the VA payment is received.

To avoid this result, the VA on March 11 changed its regulations to allow pension beneficiaries to request monthly payments if less frequent payments cause them to lose eligibility for other federal benefits. The request must be renewed each year and also must indicate which federal benefit eligibiltiy is in jeopardy.

Pension recipients who wish to receive payment monthly should contact the nearest VA Regional Office.

VA pensions are paid to wartime veterans with limited incomes who are totally disabled, or age 65 or older, and to survivors of veterans who meet eligibility requirements. The amount of pension is based on income, and changes in marital or dependecny status.

Turney Sentences Oakland Man For Battery Charge

Judge Jack Turney sentenced an Oakland man to one year in the Garrett County Jail for a battery charge and 60 days for a charge of violating a court order during a Garrett County District Court trial held last week.

Russell Welch, Oakland, was fined $25 for the two charges. Judge Turney then suspended the sentences, placing Welch on 18 months supervised probation for each.

The judge had ordered a presentence investigation for Welch in February after finding him guilty of the charges, which were filed by Patricia Welch, also of Oakland, following several incidents in January in Mtn. Lake Park.

In another case, Dana L. Chapman, 20, Kitzmiller, was sentenced to one year in the Garrett County Jail for a charge of battery. Chapman was placed on 12 months supervised probation after the judge suspended her sentence.

The battery charge was filed by Diane M. Boyce, Mtn. Lake Park, after a February 12 incident at her residence.

Chapman was represented by John R. Toston, Public Defender.

Judge Turney sentenced several people in related cases involving charges which stemmed from a continuing family argument, according to court documents.

Marvin R. Sines Jr., 23; Bonnie S. Sines, 39; Merle E. Sines, 50; and Sheila Sines, all of Friendsville, were each fined $25 and sentenced to six months in the Garrett County Jail for battery charges. Merle Sines was also fined and sentenced for a charge of assault.

The judge then suspended the sentences, and placed each person on 12 months supervised probation. Marvin and Bonnie Sines were represented by Robert E. Watson, while Toston represented Merle and Sheila Sines.

In another case, the judge ordered a pre-sentence investigation for Don DeBerry, Oakland, after finding him guilty of charges of battery and destruction of property.

The charges, filed by Dave Vitez, Oakland, stemmed from an April 8 incident in Accident. DeBerry was represented by Watson.

Judge Turney ordered probation before judgement for Nita A. Strawser, 31, Mtn. Lake Park, for a bad check charge and a theft charge. She was then placed on six months unsupervised probation for each charge. The terms will run consecutively.

The charges were filed by Heck's, Inc. following a November 28, 1987 incident involving a check for $92.76. According to court records, the check was refused because Strawser's account was closed.

David D. Vitez, 29, Oakland, was found not guilty of a charge of battery filed by Donald W. DeBerry, Oakland.

The judge found Ferris R. Maule, 32, Oakland, Charles W. Moats, 30, Mtn. Lake Park, and Gladys M. Stewart, 51, Oakland, to be innocent of assault charges filed by Robert McRobie, Oakland. Maule and Stewart were represented by Toston.

Richard Rinker, Oakland, was found to be not guilty of a charge of trespassing filed by Clarence Keefer, also of Oakland.

Stet Docket Cases

A charge of harassment against Donna Ahern, 49, Oakland, was placed on the stet docket. The charge was filed by Martha Masters, Oakland, following recurring incidents over the last year and six months.

Ahern was represented by Thomas B. Dabney Jr.

Charges of harassment and trespassing against David Sisler Jr. and David Sisler Sr., both of Oakland, were placed on the stet docket at the request of the complainant, Tamala C. Michaels, also of Oakland.

Both men were represented by Toston.

Also placed on the stet docket were two bad check charges and two counts of theft against Connie D. Glotfelty, Mtn. Lake Park.

The charges were filed by Arrowhead Grocery and Deli after two checks were returned because the account was closed, according to court documents.

A battery charge against Thomas E. Bowman, 32, Oakland, was also placed on the stet docket. The charge, filed by Tfc. R.C. Resh of the Maryland State Police, stemmed from a January 9 incident in Oakland.

Bowman's attorney was Watson.

The world today averages 93 people a square mile.

AND THE RAIN MUST FALL — The roof on this barn near Crellin was repaired just in time to shed this week's heavy rains. Egg Production Up 4%

Egg production in Maryland totaled 926 million eggs, up four percent from the 1986 total of 890 million eggs. The average price per dozen was 58.0 cents per dozen, down seven cents from 1986. Total value of production was 44.8 million dollars compared to 48.2 million dollars in 1986.

The U.S. value of egg production in 1987 was $3.18 billion, down nine percent from the $3.51 billion in 1986. In 1987, eggs averaged 54.9 cents per dozen, compared with 61.6 cents in 1986.

Dairy Month Ad Campaign Now In Progress

Individuals, dairy farmers and area businesses can show their support for the dairy industry and the way of life it represents by buying an ad in The Republican newspaper during June Dairy Month for the special price of $7. The Republican's staff will add appropriate art work to your business or farm name, family's names, and a message of your choice, such as: "Drink Milk And Have A Good Day," "Drink Milk — It's Udderly Fantastic," "Have You Had Your Glass Of Milk Today?" You choose the message or slogan, and the ad will run one week during June.

Larger ads are also available at a reduced rate as part of the annual Dairy Month campaign, which is a cooperative project of the newspaper and the current Garrett/Allegany Dairy Princess.

Anyone who would like to show their support in this way during the month of June should call to place their ad now. To buy a Dairy Month ad, call 1987-88 Garrett/Allegany Dairy Princess Elaine Cummings at 334-9114, Garrett/Allegany Dairy Princess Contest Chairman Nancy Savage at 895-5952, or Bernice Kepple, farm editor, at 334-3963.

Mountain Fresh Produce Members Elect Directors

The new Mountain Fresh Produce Association met last Thursday evening to elect a seven-member board of directors. Elected to serve on that board were: Elmer Maust, Garrett County; Ed Grose Preston County; Jim Fearer, Garrett County; Hubert Custer, Garrett County; Bob Cooper, Tucker County; Gloria Salazar, Garrett County; and Bernice Kepple, Garrett County. Maust was delegated to serve as temporary chairman, but the board will meet in the near future to elect officers. Board members will serve two-year terms which will be staggered and run with the calendar year.

The duties of the board will be to develop a constitution, bylaws, rules and regulations, and to begin organizational work by forming committees.

Garrett County Extension Agent Jim Simms opened the meeting with introductions and a review of the association's goals for the 17 members attending.

Garrett County Development Director Tom Jones brought the group up to date on the areas being considered for tail-gate markets. Those possibilities include the Garrett County Fairgrounds in McHenry; the Oakland town parking lot; two already in existence in Terra Alta and Kingwood, and the Canaan Valley resort area of Tucker County.

Preston County Extension Agent Tom McConnell stated that one day each week may not be enough in each area to allow growers to sell produce at its best, and suggested that a two or three-day market in Oakland and on Deep Creek Lake might be possible. McConnell also suggested that a consumer map of producers be prepared to alert consumers where pick-your-own operations are located.

The group discussed pooling resources in the future, such as custom planters, coolers, and group purchases. Further plans will be made at future meetings.

Broiler Production Up Slightly In 1987

Maryland's broiler growers produced 264.2 million meat-type chickens in 1987, up slightly from the 263.9 million produced in 1986. The total pounds produced was 1,162.5 million pounds, up two percent from 1986.

Farming In Maryland

Bernice Kepple, Farm Editor

Farm Children Are At Risk

Safety on the farm is often times taken for granted. Children who grow up around everyday dangers, especially tend to ignore safety measures and must be constantly reminded, for farm children are definitely at risk.

The following article is reprinted from the January 1988 issue of "Successful Farming" magazine.

"For years, we've believed that the farm is a great place to raise children. In many ways, this is true. But during the past decade, concern about the growing number of safety hazards which farm people take for granted has increased.

"Now a new study by Mayo Clinic researchers says economic times are increasing the dangers because more children are replacing hired help.

"The researchers report that 300 children die and thousands more are injured each year in farm accidents.

"The study was based on 87 farm children ages 16 and younger who were admitted to St. Mary's Hospital in Rochester, Minnesota, from November 1974 through July 1985. In the study, two children died and 36 were permanently disabled. Eleven more children had more than one surgery. Fifteen kids lost a body part, 13 suffered infections and four developed nerve problems.

"We parents would never send our children to work alone in a manufacturing plant. But we ask them to work around dangerous farm equipment, such as augers, PTOs, grain bins and tractors. Many young children can master the mechanics of driving a tractor and operating machinery. But they don't have the mature judgment to make a split-second adjustment."

SAMPLING FOR ALFALFA WEEVIL

The Alfalfa Weevil are becoming more numerous with the warmer weather. You had better be checking your fields at least every three days. Randomly walk through the field in a "W" or zigzag pattern and collect one entire stem from 30 locations. Place these stems top first in a bucket. After collecting the stems from all 30 locations, separate them into three or four bundles and beat them against the inside of the bucket to dislodge the larvae from the stems. Count the larvae. If you have 60 or more larvae I suggest that you give me a call so we can determine the economics of your spraying. I am sure most of you have seen the alfalfa larvae and adult. Just in case you have not, you will be looking now for the larvae which are cream colored with a shiny black head. As it matures, its body becomes light green and it develops one pronounced white stripe down its back. The adult weevil, which will occur later, is tan with a broad dark stripe that may become brown to almost black as it ages.

BE ON THE LOOKOUT FOR SLUGS IN CORN

Slugs favor cool, moist conditions. They can severely damage a corn field. Up until this year you could use Mesurol for control. No more, it has been stopped for use on corn. Last year, Paul Gunther, county agent in Queen Anne's County found out that a treatment of nitrogen would kill the slugs. A treatment of 30% urea-based nitrogen, applied at 20 gallons per acre during the night when the slugs were active did the job. By the way, check corn at night. The material burns the plants a little but it's better than replanting. If you have a problem, give me a call.

Nominate Your Favorite Cow To Be Featured During Dairy Month

"Milk — A Gold Medal Winner" is the theme for the 1988 celebration of June Dairy Month. The Republican Newspaper would like to recognize cows belonging to area dairymen who are "gold medal winners" in the eyes of their owners.

To nominate your favorite cow, send the following information to The Republican, c/o Bernice Kepple, farm editor, P.O. Box 326, Oakland, MD 21550. Information needed includes the cow's name, production record, reason for nomination, owners' name and address and phone number.

All nominations must be producing dairy cows, however, high-producing cows will not be the only ones picked to be featured. Your reasons for nomination may be that the cow was the first heifer calf born on your farm, or your child's pet cow, or a cow with unusual markings, or a variety of other reasons.

The owners of the cows chosen will be contacted and an appointment made for a photo to be taken. That photo and information about the cow and her owners will be used in The Republican's farm section sometime during the month of June. A 5" by 7" black and white copy of the photo used in the newspaper will be mailed to the owners of the cow as a keepsake.

Cows to be featured will be chosen by The Republican's editorial staff. All nominations should be mailed to The Republican by June 15.

All dairymen in Garrett and the surrounding West Virginia counties are invited to give their "gold medal" cows some recognition. Mail your nomination today.

Maryland Tree Farmers Growing Benefits for You

DOES MONEY GROW ON TREES?

by T.W. Clark Chairman
Maryland Forest, Park & Wildlife Service

It is often said that money doesn't grow on trees. In a literal sense, this statement is correct. Money does not grow on trees, but growing trees in a properly managed forest can produce monetary returns for the landowner, as well as other financial benefits. This year, 1988, marks the 40th anniversary of the American Tree Farm System in Maryland, which was established to encourage private landowners to agressively manage their woodlands.

The 2.5 million acres of timberland in Maryland contribute $440 million to the state's economy each year. This land is subdivided into over 95,000 ownerships with 25 acres being the average size. Even small tree farms contribute and landowners should not underestimate the productive capabilities of their woodlots.

The most obvious method of earning income from tree farming is through harvesting trees which have grown to a merchantable size. In an immature stand, trees of poor quality are harvested, leaving more sunlight, water, and nutrients for those which are left to grow. This treatment, known as a timber stand improvement (TSI) cut, is comparable to thinning plants in a vegetable garden.

If markets exist, the wood removed is often sold as pulpwood (perhaps winding up as school books in Maryland classrooms) or as fuel for wood stoves and fireplaces. A Washington County tree farmer is heating his entire ranchstyle home with a cleverly designed wood stove installed in his basement. He has been able to pocket the money he would have otherwise paid to the power company for electric heat.

Should no market for pulpwood or fuel wood be available, the landowner will obviously incur some out-of-pocket expense. The costs involved in TSI cuts can be reimbursed to the landowner at a rate of 65 percent through the federally-sponsored Agriculture Conservation Program (ACP). The amount not reimbursed by ACP is deductible from Maryland state income tax.

The greatest monetary return occurs when the forest is mature and ready for a regeneration harvest — around 45 years of age for loblolly pine, or 80 years in case of hardwoods. The treatment can net thousands of dollars per acre, especially if the forest was groomed by TSI cuts into a condition of high quality early in its life. To assure the highest returns possible when harvesting a mature stand of timber, it is essential that landowners sell the designated trees in an organized fashion through the bid system. A Washington County tree farmer recently earned more from a five-acre harvest than he paid for his entire 22-acre ownership. Earnings of this magnitude can help send a son or daughter to college. Another tree farmer in Garrett County reserved some of his hemlock and pine from a harvest and had the trees sawed into lumber which he then used to construct additional outbuildings on his farm. He was able to save substantially by using lumber derived from his own forest rather than using purchased lumber.

Following harvest, steps must be taken to assure that the next crop of trees will be as good or better than the previous crop. With hardwoods, new trees sprout up from the stumps, so opening the area to full sunlight is usually all that is needed. Regeneration of pine stands often requires preparing the site and planting seedlings. Again, 65 percent of the associated costs can be reimbursed through ACP, and the remainder is Maryland state income tax deductible.

Another common product of the tree farm is a beautifully shaped Christmas tree. A Christmas tree plantation is a very intensive business venture that can be highly profitable if there are nearby markets and if the trees are properly pruned. The costs of establishing the plantation and the intermediate costs of pruning, mowing, and controlling insects and disease can be substantial. These expenses are not eligible for ACP cost-share funding and must be borne by the landowner. They need not be carried for long, however, since most pine species will reach merchantable Christmas tree size in six to eight years. Many tree farmers have earned extra revenues by selling their pruning by-products as wreaths and greenery.

A knowledgeable tree farmer may take wildlife into consideration when making his management decisions since tree farming and wildlife management are inescapably linked. A particular forest management practices may result in habitat which is beneficial to some wildlife species while being detrimental to others. For example, cutting timber generally increases the local populations olf deer, rabbit, and grouse, while decreasing the populations of squirrel. Some tree farmers have been able to offset expenses by charging a fee for hunting on his property only if the hunter contributes a specified number of hours assisting with some forest management work. By allowing hunting on his property, the owner can keep wildlife populations from reaching destructive levels.

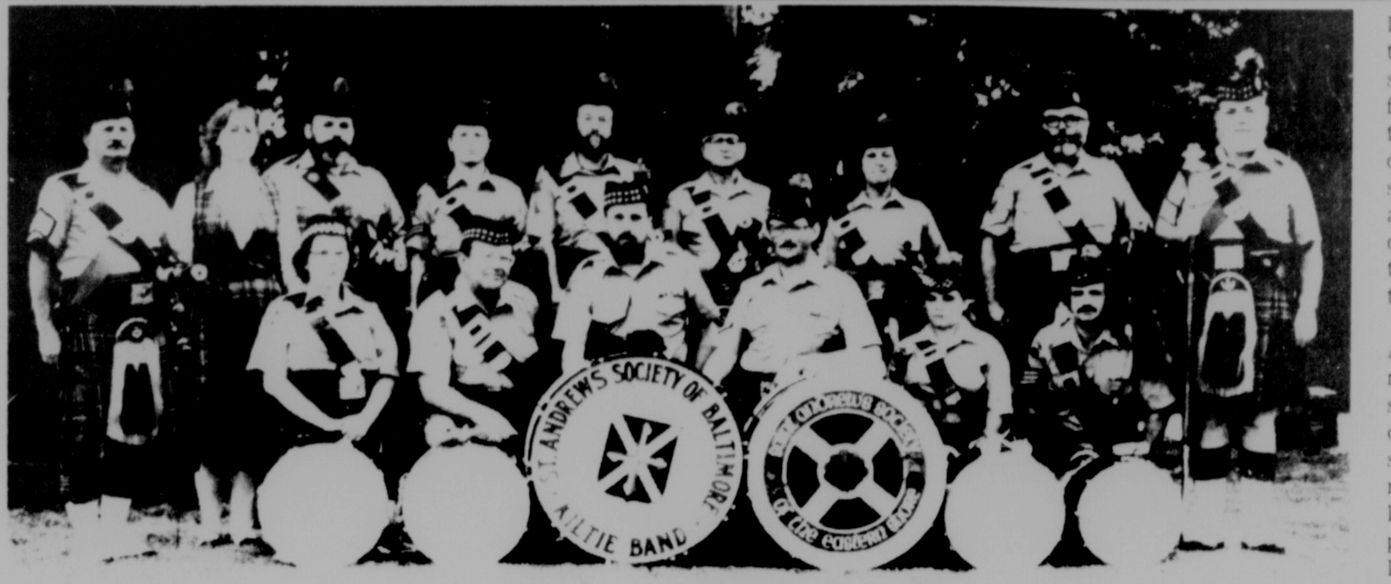
Kiltie Band To Perform During Highland Fest



The Kiltie Band of York, Pa., will perform during the first annual McHenry Highland Festival on Saturday, June 4, at the Garrett County Fairgrounds.

Forming a band was first considered by Col. Richard F. Yost, a military police sergeant with the American 3rd Army in Genoa, Italy, in 1918, who first heard the skirl of pipes when a band was on its way to entertain troops in a convalescent hospital. When the White Rose Post of the VFW, of which Col. Yost was a member, lost its drum corps, he proposed forming a bagpipe band. The band marched in its first parade on Armistice Day, November 11, 1928, then in a parade in Wilmington, Del., a man named Jack Craig fell in step with the band; he became their instructor.

In the fall of 1930, Col. Yost led the band at the National Convention of the VFW parade in Baltimore, and in 1936, the band was adopted as the official band of the St. Andrew's Society of Baltimore; the band plays annually at the Society's Annual Dinner, the Tartan Ball, the Family Picnic and other functions. Their association with the St. Andrew's Society is unique, because it began with a handshake in the 1930's and has continued ever since, being renewed annually in the same manner.

The band has also been named the official band of the City of York, Pa., the St. Andrew's Society of the Easttern Shore, the St. Andrew's Society of Harford County, and the Susquehanna Scots.

The Kiltie Band of York has played at the Chicago, New York and San Francisco World's Fairs, and, in 1938, won the Band Championship in Gettysburg, Pa., at the 75th Blue and Grey Reunion. They have played in most major cities in the U.S., and recent participation includes the 1974 Canadian Exposition in Toronto, Ontario; the Grandfather Mountain Highland Games in 1967; annual appearances at the July 4th parade in Towson, and many more. Their most noteworthy and memorable appearances were at the White House in 1938 and 1978.

Col. Yost was president of the band until his death in 1966. The band is presently under the direction of Pipe Major Donald T. Crawford, only the fifth pipe major in the band's history.

Festival hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and admission is $3.00 for anyone 12 and over. For more information or a free festival brochure, persons should contact the McHenry Highland Festival, Courthouse, Oakland, MD 21550, (301) 334-1948.

Majority Of Legal Inquiries Do Not Require Attorney

Approximately 65% of the consumers contacting the Maryland State Bar Association's Lawyer Referral Service in search of an attorney discover that they do not need one, according to a release from the MSBA.

Through this public service, MSBA screens the intitial consumer call to determine if the inquiry is a legal matter requiring an attorney, based on the information provided. If an attorney is not needed, MSBA makes a referral to the appropriate state or local government agency, community resource or structured program so that the consumer may find help. If an attorney is needed to resolve the consumer matter, MSBA recommends an attorney in the legal area of expertise who is convenient, geographically, to the consumer.

If a consumer is faced with a problem, is uncertain whether it is a legal matter requiring an attorney, and doesn't know who to contact, help may be found by calling the MSBA Lawyer Referral Service's toll-free number, 1-800-492-1993. This is a public educational program, advising consumers as to when they need an attorney and when they don't. It also saves the cost of an initial visit to an attorney to discover one is not needed.

As an added public service when a referral is made, the Lawyer Referral Service attorney will consult with the consumer for up to one-half hour for not more than $20. Often, this initial visit may answer questions and enable the consumer to handle the problem. If additional services are required, it is the consumer's option to retain the referred attorney.

The Maryland State Bar Association is a professional, non-profit, voluntary membership association comprised of over 13,000 attorneys across the state of Maryland, which monitors judicial and legislative issues in the state and promotes leadership within the legal profession.

NOTICE

Of Passage of Ordinance Approving Assignment of Cable TV Franchise from Laurel Highlands Cable TV, Inc. to Charter Cable Systems, Inc.

The regular session of the Mayor and Council of the Town of Friendsville on May 2, 1988, an Ordinance was enacted approving amendments to a certain Cable TV Franchise Agreement for the Town of Friendsville, dated June 22, 1978. The Ordinance stated as follows:

WHEREAS, the Council (the "Council") of the Town of Friendsville (the "Town") did heretofore by Agreement dated June 22, 1978 (the "Agreement"), grant to R. Richer Belisle, t/d/b/a Yough Cable TV, a franchise to operate television transmission and distribution facilities for the purpose of transmission and distribution of C.A.T.V. programs in the Town; and

WHEREAS, R. Richer Belisle assigned all his rights under the Agreement to Laurel Highlands Cable TV, Inc., (the "Operator"), said assignment having been approved by the Council by Resolution dated September 1, 1986; and

WHEREAS, Charter Cable Systems, Inc., an Ohio corporation (the "Charter") and Operator have agreed to sell substantially all of the right, title and interest in the assets of Operator to Charter; and

WHEREAS, at the request of Operator, and in the best interests of the Town, it is deemed that the franchise, together with the related systems facilities of Operator be assigned and transferred (the "Transfer") to Charter, and it is therefore desired to amend the Agreement to reflect such Transfer.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE TOWN OF FRIENDSVILLE:

Section 1. That the Agreement (which is in full force and effect), which granted to the Operator and its predecessor the right and franchise to erect, maintain, and operate a C.A.T.V. system in, under, over, along, across, and upon the streets, avenues, sidewalks, alleys, bridges and highways and other public places in the Town for the purpose of transmission and distribution by wire or cable C.A.T.V. programs, various communications, and other electronic services for sale to the inhabitants of the Town, be amended by deleting the name of "Laurel Highlands Cable TV, Inc.," wherever that name appears in the title and enabling sections of the Agreement and substituting in lieu thereof, as the grantee of the rights under the Agreement, "Charter Cable Systems, Inc., an Ohio Corporation," and that the Transfer be hereby ratified and approved in all respects.

Section 2. That Charter may, upon prior written notification to the Town, assign the franchise and its rights under the Agreement to an affiliated entity or oltherwise grant a security interest in and lien upon any of the rights, title and interest granted to it under this ordinance as security for any financing obtained by Charter (including any financing provided by Operator or any of its affiliates or stockholders) in connection with its acquisition of the rights, title and interests in substantially all of the assets of Operator.

Section 3. That this ordinance shall become effective and valid and be a binding contract between the Town and Charter when Charter files written acceptance of this ordinance and the franchise herein granted, agreeing that it will comply with all of the provisions and conditions hereof, the Agreement, the provisions of the Federal Communications Commission, and the provisions of the Cable Communications Policy Act of 1984, and that it will refrain from doing all of the things prohibited by this ordinance, the Agreement and the afore-mentioned legislation. If written acceptance of this ordinance is not filed with the Town within 90 days after passage of this ordinance, then this ordinance shall be void.

Police Report Vehicle Mishaps, Several Injured

Several people were injured in motor vehicle accidents during the last week, according to the Maryland State Police at McHenry.

A two-vehicle accident occurred May 19 at the intersection of Route 135 and G Street in Mtn. Lake Park.

According to police reports, Allen L. Bowman, 46, Oakland, was operating a 1980 Oldsmobile Omega which was stopped at the intersection and attempting to make a left turn.

An unidentified vehicle was directly behind Bowman's car, blocking it from the view of Barbara E. Holler, who was traveling behind the unidentified vehicle in a 1984 Datsun Maxima. Police said the unidentified vehicle turned right onto G Street, causing Holler's vehicle to strike the Bowman car in the left rear.

Tfc. R.T. Wilson investigated the incident, and charged Holler with failing to control the speed of her vehicle.

The Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad responded to the acccident. Both Bowman and a passenger in his vehicle, Linda L. Bowman, 40, Oakland, were treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital following the mishap, according to a spokesman there.

An Oakland woman was injured in a single-vehicle accident Monday on the Herrington Manor Road.

Lisa J. Butscher, 17, Oakland, was northbound in a 1988 Mercury Taurus when she swerved to avoid striking a dog in the road, police said. The brakes locked up, causing the car to leave the right side of the road, strike an embankment, and overturn.

Tpr. J.K. Moore investigated the mishap. Butscher was treated and released from Garrett Memorial following the mishap, according to a spokesman there.

A Stafford, Va., man was injured Saturday in a four-wheeler accident on private property near the Loch Lynn-Gortner Road.

Police said Calvin K. Stinson, 27, was operating the vehicle on a trail when he came to a fence

EARLY SPRING 1888? — This photo could be mistaken for one which was taken 100 years ago if not for the pickup truck parked behind the team of horses. The scene, captured by Craig Phillips, shows Gerald Glotfelty of McHenry planting oats with his work team. He is being helped by his young grandson, Toby Glotfelty, pictured standing on the back of the drill watching Grandpa pour in the seed oats. The picture was taken before the monsoon season began two weeks ago, and no oats nor corn has been planted nor hay made since. Today, the sun is shining, promising to dry up the ground so Glotfelty and other area farmers can get on with their spring planting.

Lake Clean-Up Called "Success"

The annual Deep Creek Lake Clean-Up was held last weekend and assorted debris and an estimated 400 old barrels were hauled to the county landfill, according to Eric Schwaab, lake manager.

Landowners around the lake worked on Saturday to clean-up trash and debris from the lake shoreline. Those that were unable to transport debris to the landfill placed it along designated roads where it was picked up by volunteers and Department of Natural Resources Personnel. Garrett County Roads Department personnel were on hand to compact the barrels and transport them to the landfill. Once again, Milford Beckman and the Garrett National Bank provided the use of their property as the central collection point.

The Deep Creek Lake Management Office, along with the Property Owners' Association and the Businessman's Association noted their appreciation to all those who participated in the clean-up. "This continues to be a great effort where the whole community pitches in to retain the natural beauty of Deep Creek Lake," Schwaab said. "Only a combined effort of all those involved could accomplish the overall task."

The Garrett County Commissioners and Paul Shockey and Terry Spear of the Garrett County Roads Department were "instrumental" in the effort, according to Schwaab. From the central collection point, county roads personnel crushed barrels and hauled over a dozen loads to the landfill on Sunday. Roads Department employees involved included Jeff Friend, Joe Tichinel, Larry Cosner, Ron Bray, Dave Pysell, Alvin Beeman, Sheridan Rishell and Clyde Welch. The county landfill aided the effort by extending weekend hours and making special arrangements for receiving barrels on Saturday and Sunday, Schwaab said.

Volunteers who donated their time and trucks for the Sunday pickup included Ed King, Del Carpenter, Bart Simpson, Bill Walton and James Kennell.

Deep Creek Lake State Park and the Lake Management Office provided two dump trucks for pickup as well. Department of Natural Resources employees who participated included Dave Beckman, William Shiflett, Ken Meyers, Richard Sines and Schwaab.

Mill Run Woman Assaulted By Intruder Friday

Maryland State Police at McHenry are investigating the alleged assault of a Mill Run woman early Friday morning.

According to police reports, a male subject forced his way into the woman's home while she was asleep at approximately 3 a.m. The intruder then assaulted the woman, intending to rape her, police said.

The man then removed a small amount of money and fled from the residence. Police said the woman received minor injuries and was treated by her personal physician.

The incident is being investigated by Sgt. D.P. Moore.

CDBG Program Hearing Held, County Agencies Request Funding

Three local governmental agencies were represented Tuesday at a public hearing conducted by the Board of Garrett County Commissioners regarding a possible application for funding from Maryland's FY1988 Small Cities Community Development Block Grant Program. Also attending the hearing were Planning and Zoning Administrator John Nelson and administrative assistant Peggy Jamison.

Seeking funds for their agencies were William Aspinall from Appalachian Crossroads, Wendell Beitzel from the Sanitary Commission on behalf of the town of Crellin, and Duane Yoder, executive director of Community Action.

Aspinall told the commissioners that the Appalachian Parent Association is in need of a day habilitation service center. He hopes to develop a grounds maintenance operation which could employ as many as 15 persons. He said that Community Action could also use the space for various programs.

Although he had no concrete figures Tuesday, he did indicate that APA had considered the possibility of moving in the Southern Garrett Industrial Park if that was feasible.

Aspinall is also seeking funds for greater assessibility for the handicapped to intersections and sidewalks.

Beitzel inquired about the possibility of utilizing some of the funds to do an engineering study for the town of Crellin to create a Sanitary District and to construct a new water system. He noted that the old water tank is in dire need of repairs.

Jamison indicated that Beitzel's request may fall under a planning grant rather than a development grant. She said that when actual construction began, a development grant may apply.

Garrett Leads In Record State Turkey Harvest

Although there were three fewer turkeys harvested in Garrett County during the 1988 spring hunting season compared to last season's count, a record number — 1,020 — was bagged in the state, despite unfavorable weather conditions. There were 960 taken during the 1987 season.

Garrett County still led the state with a total of 271 kills, followed by Allegany County with 258, Washington with 242, Frederick with 133, Calvert with 53, Montgomery with 48, Worcester with 11, and Harford with four.

The Department of Natural Resources reported that the growing numbers of turkeys are a result of the state-operated "trap and transplant" program with native birds.

The Forest, Park and Wildlife Service has established standard, annual dates for spring turkey season in Maryland — April 18 through May 16, excluding Sundays.

William White To Perform Scottish Fiddling Concerts During Festival

William E. White will perform a variety of Scottish fiddle music at the first annual McHenry Festival on Saturday, June 4, at the Garrett County Fairgrounds in McHenry.

White is the director of the Company of Colonial Performers in the division of Historic Area Programs and Operations at the Colonial Williamsburg Foundation, where he oversees all programs of performers, including character interpreters, women's history tours, Black history presentations, 18th-century plays, colonial dancers, music teachers, militia and Powder Magazine garrison.

He began his work at Colonial Williamsburg as a young member of its Fife and Drum Corps in 1965 and rose through the ranks from recruit to fife sergeant to sergeant major, and finally to drum major of the Senior Corps. He was promoted to music assistant in 1971 and four years later to assistant music maker, for which his responsibilities included instruction of corps members, arranging music, and research on 18th-century music and military life. At that time, White was also named coordinator for the Company of Colonial Performers, the foundation department, which develops, initiates and administers period living history activities in the Historic Area. In 1984, he became assistant director of that department where he coordinated schedules and programs of a wide range of military, musical, theatrical and dance events at Colonial Williamsburg. His experience and skill in management, performing and interpretive work in that department made him a natural choice of its directorship.

Among his other accomplishments, White has compiled The Tin Whistle Tune Book, which is published by the Colonial Williamsburg Foundation, and he is a proficient performer of the fife, baroque flute, recorder and Scottish fiddle.

Festival hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and admission is $3.00 for anyone 12 years of age and over. For more information, persons may contact the McHenry Highland Festival, Courthouse, Oakland, Md. 21550; (301) 334-1948.

MSP Plans Strict Enforcement Of Traffic Laws During Holiday Weekend

Maryland State Police Superintendent Colonel Elmer H. Tippett is warning motorists that enforcement of Maryland's highway safety laws will be strict during the long Memorial Day holiday weekend.

The holiday officially begins at 6 p.m., Friday, May 27, and continues through midnight on Monday, May 30. Colonel Tippett is calling on the motoring public to "renew a spirit of co-operation with law enforcement agencies around the state who have joined together in an effort to make our highways safer."

"We need the individual commitment of every driver to help us reduce the unnecessary carnage on our highways," said Tippett. "Extra troopers will be on patrol in Maryland in search of the speeding or drunk and drugged drivers during this holiday weekend." Troopers will focus special attention on the interstate highway system with Operation C.A.R.E., Combined Accident Reduction Effort. Operation C.A.R.E. is a concentrated enforcement effort aimed at reducing accidents associated with increased holiday travel.

During the 1987 Memorial Day holiday weekend, Maryland State Police investigated 10 fatal accidents. Three of five drivers who died could have survived the crashes if they had been wearing their safety belts, according to State Police accident investigators.

Operation C.A.R.E. will also feature extra teams of troopers from the Special Traffic Enforcement Unit, Bus and Truck (BAT) Patrol, and Motorcycle Enforcement Unit. Some of these troopers will be on patrol as part of Governor William Donald Schaefer's Reach the Beach program, a transportation initiative designed to improve travel to and from Maryland's Eastern Shore. Troopers will be available to assist disabled motorists. Assistance will be provided as quickly as possible to keep traffic flowing smoothly. The Maryland Department of Transportation is providing traffic information for motorists using roads leading to and from the Eastern Shore. The toll free number for travelers information is 1-800-541-9595.

The Maryland State Police will monitor citizen band radio channel 9 and provide emergency assistance. State Police hope Maryland motorists will obey all traffic laws so that everyone traveling in Maryland will have a safer and enjoyable Memorial Day holiday weekend.

According to police reports, Friend was found passed out behind the wheel of a car on the White Rock Road. A search revealed drug paraphernalia and suspected marijuana. Friend has been incarcerated in the Garrett County Jail on $1000 bond.

The purpose of the Swim Marathon is to help support the Garrett County Red Cross water, instructional swimming and swim team programs.

Marathon participants must be able to swim one length of the pool non-stop and are limited to 140 laps (two miles). Prizes will be awarded to top money-raisers.

Emergency medical technicians and certified Red Cross lifeguards will be on duty during the entire swim marathon.

NO STOPPING BRYAN! — Bryan Barnard, son of William and Debbie Barnard, Swanton, practices T-ball even though he is afflicted with asthma. His condition is controlled enough that he can play ball, run, jump and swim and do all the things other kids do. Through maintenance drug therapy and the use of a Nebulizer machine, Bryan is not limited at all in his activities. He will be among the children who attend the Asthma Day Camp at Frostburg State University this summer. The camp provides activities and education for children (six-10) with the disease. See story for details.

Governor Schaefer Signs Historic Handgun Bill At Special Ceremonies

Governor William Donald Schaefer has signed into law the first state legislation in the United States which outlaws low quality handguns commonly referred to as "Saturday Night Specials".

Ceremonies were held Monday, May 23, on the west steps of the State House on State Circle in Annapolis.

Sarah Brady, wife of James Brady, the Presidential Press Secretary who was shot and seriously injured in the 1981 assassination attempt on President Ronald Reagan, participated in the ceremony and delivered the major address. Mrs. Brady, who represents Handgun Control, Inc., a national citizens organization that works for stronger gun control laws, testified for passage of the legislation during the last session of the General Assembly.

The signing ceremony attracted a large number of federal, state and local law enforcement and public officials from Maryland and neighboring states. Uniformed police officers from these jurisdictions also marched down Rowe Boulevard from the Navy–Marine Corps Memorial Stadium to the State House in a show of support of this historic effort to curb handgun violence, which accounts for the death of more than 20,000 Americans each year, including one child a day under age 14.

Maryland Attorney General J. Joseph Curran, Bishop L. Robinson, Maryland Secretary of Public Safety and Correctional Services, and Colonel Elmer H. Tippett, Superintendent, Maryland State Police, all joined Governor Schaefer for the bill signing ceremony.

A large contingency of Maryland legislators and public safety experts who worked for passage of the bill, which prohibits the manufacture, sale or distribution of cheap, unreliable and inaccurate handguns, also attended.

"The signing of this legislation represents a significant step toward curbing the excessive handgun violence not only in Maryland, but nationwide," added Governor Schaefer.

ALA To Conduct Asthma Day Camp For Children

The American Lung Association of Maryland is sponsoring an Asthma Day Camp at Camp Bobcat, Frostburg State University, on July 11-15 from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. each day.

Asthmatic children between the ages of six and 10 may attend the camp during which time they will learn about asthma by expressing their feelings, sharing their experiences and by making decisions about their condition.

In addition to the educational component, children participate in games, sports, swimming and arts and crafts.

Asthmatic campers are supervised by trained counselors and volunteers from the medical community. Emergency medical support and equipment is readily available.

The asthma program is made possible through contributions by Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, and the American Lung Association. Other contributors are the Civic Club of Oakland and the Woman's Civic Club of Cumberland, Inc.

The cost of the day camp is $40 per child. Registration is limited to 20 children. The cost included transportation from the Garrett County Health Department and other locations in the county. Buses will be staffed with respiratory therapy personnel from Garrett County Memorial Hospital. Each child provides a sack lunch.

The deadline for registration is June 20. Scholarship monies are available. Persons desiring additional information about the camp may call the Health Department at 334-8111 or 895-3111.

Camp registrations may be obtained by writing to the American Lung Association of Maryland, 170 Rollins Avenue, Rockville, Md., 20852; or by calling 1-800-445-6016.

A Good Reminder . . .

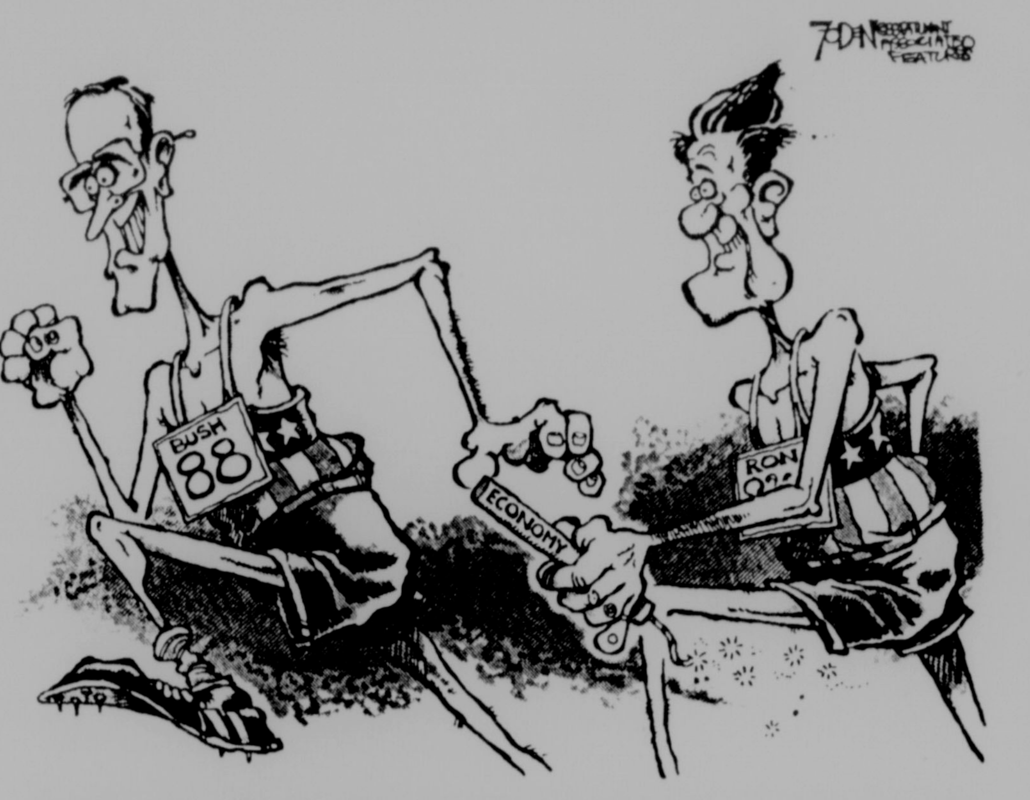
The sounds of major war involving American soldiers have been absent for several years now. Vietnam, Korea, and World War II are slipping further and further into history, and only a handful of our World War I veterans remain among the living.

As the time between conflict grows, so often does our taking-for-granted the spoils of those wars, which can be captured in a single word — freedom.

Fortunately, we have holidays such as Memorial Day, which help us reflect upon, remember, and appreciate the supreme sacrifice made by so many to preserve our precious liberty. Because others made the sacrifice, most of us will not have to do so. Yet, somehow, it seems each of us should help pay the price of freedom and make certain that the deaths of those we honor were not in vain.

We help pay the price by being good citizens, in utilizing our freedoms, and getting involved in those things which make our towns, counties, states and nation stronger. We do it by voting, and speaking out, and working to eliminate injustice. We do it by being the best we can be at our jobs. We do it by being honest in all our dealings, and treating others the way we wish to be treated. We do it by being good parents and grandparents of the next generations, setting fine examples for them to follow. We do it by showing respect and reverence toward our flag.

Memorial Day serves as a good reminder, not only of the sacrifice of those gone before us, but also of the things we should be doing every day of the year to preserve and make better our way of life in these United States.



Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Local residents be aware! The local American Heart Association Office has received complaints of a sound-alike organization called the American Heart Disease Prevention Foundation (AHDPF), requesting a donation and offering lottery prizes of $1,000 to 10 cents.

The American Heart Association has absolutely no connection with this organization nor did we write the educational information attributed to the American Heart Association in this lottery offering.

Anyone wishing information on the American Heart Association's guidelines regarding prevention of heart disease, safe cholesterol levels, dietary and exercise recommendations should call the local Office at (301) 724-4011 between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

The American Heart Association is a national organization and is the largest voluntary health organization dedicated solely to one mission — to reduce premature death and disability from cardiovascular diseases and stroke.

To the Editor:

On a recent visit to Broad Ford School the children were practicing for their concert "All American-A Star Spangled Revere" which was dedicated to the memory of a classmate who passed away this year.

It's good to remember friends, but let us also remember those who gave and are still giving freely and willingly. Women gave of their sons, husbands or other family members to keep this land we call America, the home of the free and the brave.

As we approach Memorial Day, let us take just two hours out of the busy day to remember these brave men and women.

Some people say why go to something like this they don't know you are there. No! they don't know, but some member of their family may know. How would you feel if they had said no, we won't go? We would not be the home of the free and the home of the brave. Hope to see you at the parade.

To the Editor:

They say it is not unusual for a person my age (50+) to experience flash backs, and to indulge one-self in adolescent nostalgia. One week after the tragedy on Inter-state 71 in Kentucky, as I planted flowers here and there on my church lawn, I suffered one of these bazaar reminiscences. I was a youngster again, involved somehow in the School Safe Driving Poster Contest. It isn't clear in my mind whether I was a spectator, artist, or judge. There were people, but no identities. The halls and walls were mirky; impressions, rather than precise composition. All seemed out of focus background in contrast to the vivid and grim grade school drawings surrounding me.

The first was a close-up of the front of a pickup truck noticeably damaged and with the twisted body of a young child embedded in the windshield. Blood was splattered lavishly about and the tasseled haired head and arm of a second partially consumed victim was visible from under the oversized left front tire. In the middle of the bumper was a license plate with a beer can on it. In bold black letters beside the brew were the words: IT'S MURDER TIME.

The second poster that caught my eye was a picture of the Coliseum in Rome. In the center of the large arena was a bus and a truck pile-up. The bus was blackened and large black billows spewed from it. Under the Coliseum scene was an unrolled scroll which simply read: LIQUOR INDUSTRY, 27, CHRISTIANS, 0.

The third poster showed a cutaway of a city hall business meeting. There were several seated at an oval table intensely listening to a gentleman with a pointer, overhead projector, and lecture stand about him. The cut-away drawing showed a large crowd standing in a hallway outside the discussion chambers. Placards were visible reading: Mothers Against Drunk Driving, Women's Temperance League, Students for a Drug Free America. Some carried Bibles, others petitions. All were pressing forward. On the overhead was some sort of a revenue graph. The man in charge was pounding on the desk and pointing to the graph at the same time. The artist had drawn a bubble coming out of the speaker's mouth and inside the bubble, in bold print were the words: JUST SAY NO.

A fourth poster was a beautiful mountain scene complete with camp fire, moored boat and two buddies cooking some fresh-caught fish. A third companion is standing at the water's edge beside his pickup looking at the placid lake and the setting sun. Protruding from the water are 27 tombstones silhouetted by the sun. The man by the truck is holding a revolver to his temple. At the bottom of the poster is the caption: "Guys, it just doesn't get any worse than this."

I understand that getting old has its adjustments, but flashbacks as I have just described are traumatic.

To the Editor:

The members of Union Ambulance Service would like to express their sincere gratitude to all the people who helped make the recent blood drive for Kathy Moats a huge success. A total of 111 pints of blood was received from the over 160 donors.

According to the West Virginia University Blood Bank representatives, this is the largest collection the blood mobile has ever done. Without the overwhelming response from the community and surrounding communities, we would not have been able to collect the 111 units of blood for Kathy. We certainly appreciate everyone who had to stand in line for several hours waiting to donate. This showed us you cared enough to be there.

A special thank you goes to the WVU Blood Bank staff for their time and energy. They had to work long, hard hours without a break to accommodate the large number of donors.

Everyone is being asked to remember our next blood mobile visit, which will be August 20, at the Aurora School auditorium. Help make it an even bigger success. This time our goal will be 200 pints.

To the Editor:

As the former land acquisition and construction attorney for the Massachusetts Department of Natural Resources, I am aware of the tremendous time, money and effort which goes into the acquisition of state forest and state parks.

In-as-much as the county and state governments are trying to increase the tourism within Garrett County, it would be inconsistent to sell off any forest lands that could be used to acconmodate tourists.

Once sold to private interests, these forest lands will be forever gone and will never be of benefit to future generations of Garrett Countians and to the tourist industry here.

In summary, I say let no lands be sold which could be used to accommodate present or future tourists in Garrett County.

A 15TH ANNIVERSARY of Maryland's state-wide emergency system is being celebrated by the Maryland Emergency Medical Services System. Locally, the Garrett County Commissioners recently signed a proclamation declaring Shock-Trauma Systems Day in Maryland and the month of May as National Trauma Awareness Month. Present for the signing was Dave Ramsey, Region I director of MIEMSS. Another event was the Shock Trauma Gala, held in Baltimore, which raised $200,000 to benefit the Shock Trauma Endowment Fund. The Fund provides additional monies, not provided by the state budget, for enhancements to the regional trauma facilities. In the photo below, left to right, are: Bishop L. Robinson, head of the Department of Public Safety and Correctional Services and Gala emcee; his wife, Rhonda Robinson; Frederick Miltenberger, M.D., Region I EMS medical director; R Adams Cowley, M.D., founder and director of Shock Trauma; Mary Miltenberger, wife of Dr. Miltenberger; Sara Ramsey and her husband, Dave. The National Shock Trauma Center is the first of its kind in the world. Its umbrella organization, MIEMSS, is recognized as a unique pioneering emergency medical service system. Founded in 1962 by Dr. Cowley and directed by him since that time, the Shock Trauma System is the nation's only comprehensive organization embracing every type of emergency medical service program, ranging from injury prevention to treatment, research, education and rehabilitation. The state-wide system, 70 percent of which is composed of volunteers, consists of 450 fire companies and rescue squads, 11 trauma centers, 21 specialty referral centers, seven helicopter sections, six cardiac consult centers, 24 central alarms, the Maryland Regional Neonatal Program, and 27,000 certified pre-hospital responders (EMTs and CRTs). In 1987, the Maryland Shock Trauma system treated more than 6,100 critically injured or critically ill patients, with nearly 90 percent of them surviving. A recent study has indicated that the adoption of the Maryland system on a nationwide basis could be translated into the saving of approximately 25,000 lives per year.

Our Turn

Field Trips
by Pam Ashby

What could be more synonymous with late spring than the ever-popular school field trips? What can be more harrowing than to ride a school bus with 30-plus children for over four hours with only one bathroom break?

"Charlie, we just stopped 15 minutes ago! What did you do at the rest area?" the chaperone inquires.

"I got a large Coke," he says wincingly while squirming in his seat.

Most parents do their duty and volunteer to chaperone at least one field trip. Others (let's call us . . . er . . . them masochists) volunteer for several trips per year — or their children volunteer them.

After about an hour of saying, "Get back on your seat," and "For the hundreth time, Ralph, I'm not sure how much further," the excitement of the trip tends to dissipate somewhat.

No offense intended, but the worst field trip known to modern-day man is the one to Annapolis for fourth grade students in the county, sponsored by the Board of Ed. The long bus ride would almost be worth it except for the actual tour (and I use the term loosely) which was not the highlight of the day. The tour guide, who must be a marathon runner when not conducting tours, ran us through the streets of the state capital so fast the kids couldn't even keep up.

"Mrs. Ashby," Johnny wails, "this is torture. My feet hurt and I'm so far behind that I haven't heard a word that lady said."

"Just keep up with the group, Johnny. Keep off the grass, please. We have rules to follow, you know. Stop punching Stanley. Get off my heels. I don't make the rules but I'm here to see that you follow them. Get off the grass! I don't have any Band-aids for your blisters. Get off the grass or I'll make you go sit on the bus," I spout continuously along the misguided tour.

A gleam appears in Johnny's eye as he defiantly jumps into the grass and does pirouettes. At this point I'm wishing someone would send me back to the bus as I mutter, "The entire Board of Ed should be forced to chaperone this trip next year."

Lunch time at Sandy Point Park was likely the best part of the day. A cool bay breeze soothed our hot, tired bodies as we teachers and chaperones watched our little darlings playing and just being kids. What we failed to realize was that most of those angels were not eating those brown bag lunches that didn't fare the the long trip as well as we had. Oily peanut butter sandwiches, smashed Twinkies and scores of warm, limp fruits were tossed into trash cans. I just shrugged my shoulders and drank my room-temperature yogurt and said, "They'll eat when they are hungry."

Those hunger pangs hit about 15 minutes after we got back on the bus for the long trip home and with McDonald's at least two hours away.

"Mrs. Ashby," Johnny cries, "I'm hungry. When do we get to stop?"

"Johnny, did you eat your lunch at the park?" I ask sweetly with clenched teeth.

"You saw my lunch," he grumbles. "Would you have eaten that rotten garbage?" (He had a point.)

Do you know what evil thoughts can enter the mind of a once-normal mother when for two hours at five-minute intervals someone inquires, "When do we get to stop? I'm hungry and I have to GO."

After McDonald's and Johnny not going to the bathroom and again consuming a 32-ounce glass of Coke, the only course of action is to feign sleep and ignore Johnny's threats of flooding the bus.

When we finally arrive home that night, my ever-sensitive son picked me up at the school, took one look at my Coke-stained skirt, my wind-blown mangled mess of what was once hair and the footprints all over my back and put his arm around me. "Come on, mom," he whispered in a knowing way. "I'll take you home. You've had enough."

Building Trades Open House Set

Classes at Southern High School, under the direction of James Koon, have completed a home building project started in October. The result of the project is a 24-foot, two-bedroom home with living room, kitchen and bath. The home is constructed like a modular home, in that it splits in half for moving and the roof system hinges for transport.

An open house for parents and the public will be held on Tuesday, May 31, from 5 to 8 p.m.

Approximately 50 students took part in the construction, with all interior work, such as kitchen cabinets, vanities and mouldngs being done by the students also. The home has been purchased by Leif Piper and Earl George.

The fire was started accidentally by 15-year-old Tom Meyers, who reportedly was smoking while working with some gasoline in the second floor of the structure. Ashes from the cigarette ignited gasoline, which caused first and second degree burns on Meyers' feet and legs. He was transported to the Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where he was treated and released. The fire was brought under control quickly, and damage on the second floor was termed "moderate." Firemen remained on the scene for about 90 minutes.

WATERCOLOR DISPLAY — The watercolors of local artist Jim NcNeil are currently on display at the Ruth Enlow Library. McNeil, who has a permanent home in Columbia, Md., spends his summers and most of autumn in the county. A realistic painter, most of his landscapes and seascapes are based on identifiable locales. He noted their purpose is not primarily to describe a scene. He believes the more important aims are to engage the sensibilities of the viewer in a special way. McNeil received his bachelor and master of art degrees in English from the University of Ilinois. He taught literature and composition at the University of Alabama for five years and presented writing courses for the federal government for 20 years. He enrolled in art classes at various institutions and studied with William B. Lawrence, Laurel; and Tony Couch, Stone Mountain, Ga. His wife, Nelda, mats and frames his works. Aside from two showings at the Oakland library, McNeil has exhibited at the Snowbird Gallery, Canaan Valley; Slayton House Gallery, Columbia; "Maryland's Best" exhibit, Rockland Art Center; Alpine Visual Arts, Davis, W.Va.; the Garrett Community College art gallery; the National Bank of Keyser, W.Va. and a small exhibit at the Framer's Gallery in Keyser. The display at the libray will continue through May.

Walkersville And Wind Erase Rams' Hopes For Maryland Class B Title

Not only did the Southern Rams have to compete against the Walkersville Lions in yesterday's Region I Class B championship game in Oakland, but they also had to battle Mother Nature, whose strong wind kept what would have otherwise been Southern home run balls in the park. The Lions and Ms. Nature came out on top, 1-0, which ended the Rams' 1988 campaign at 18-3. Southern earned a spot in the finals by edging Middletown on Saturday, 2-1.

Wayne Persinger of Walkersville was the only hitter of the day who managed to use the wind to his advantage, as his second-inning shot to right field was pushed along, rather than inhibited, by the strong gusts.

The game was primarily a superb pitching duel between Southern's ace Bo Butler and Gary Dewees of the Lions.

Butler limited the Lions, who came into the contest with an average of over 10 runs per game, to just three hits and none after the second inning. After Persinger's homer, Butler retired 14 straight, and 18 of the final 19 batters, the only exception being Derek Shackelford, who reached base in the sixth inning on an error. In the two playoff games, Butler allowed only one earned run, walked just five batters and struck out 13 in 14 innings.

Dewees had a similar performance yesterday, as he, too, gave up just three hits and needed only 72 pitches in his complete game. Entering the game with a 6-1 record and a 2.50 ERA, Dewees used only six pitches to get out of the first inning, seven in the fifth, and eight in the third. He struck out two and allowed two walks, as only one Southern base runner made it as far as second base.

The two blasts that under normal conditions would have gone over the fence were by Southern's Shawn Nesselrodt in the fifth inning and by J.R. Bosley in the seventh. Nesselrodt's shot to center field was caught at the fence by Persinger.

Bosley's seventh inning blast went deep to left field, but the wind held it in the park and Walkersville outfielder Todd Crum made an outstanding diving back-handed catch on the ball, which would have fallen in for at least a double.

The next batter was Nesselrodt, who singled up the middle, which would have scored Bosley and tied the game, had it not been for Crum's grab.

The win gave the Lions a 15-3-1 mark and the opportunity to play in the state tournament this Saturday.

It was another long ball by J.R. Bosley on Saturday that did clear the fence and win the game for the Rams, who had trailed the Middletown Knights until the bottom of the fifth inning.

The Rams managed just three hits of Middletown pitcher Greg Moser, but played outstanding defense, led by catcher Bobby Bernard, to chalk up their 18th victory.

Butler struck out seven batters and allowed five hits, two of which were in the first inning. Eric Sobrist smacked a single to right on the first pitch of the game and advanced to second on a wild pitch. Brooks Ahalt then lined a single to left, but Doug Nesselrodt fielded the ball and fired to Zack Gibson, who relayed a perfect throw to Bernard at the plate to tag Sobrist.

Middletown recorded its only run of the day in the fourth when Ahalt singled, moved to second on an errant pickoff attempt by Butler, and came home on a ground-out by Rob Ambrose.

The Rams tied it in the fifth when Shawn Nesselrodt singled up the middle, Jamie Colaw and Jason Park followed with walks to load the bases, and Scott Damon smacked a fly to the left-field fence, which was caught by Kurt Zobrist, but Nesselrodt had plenty of time to tag at third and come home.

Another key defensive play occurred in the top of the sixth, after Paul Borawski walked with two outs, went to second on a wild pitch and tried to advance to third on another pitch that went into the dirt. Bernard blocked the ball, however, and fired to third for the tag.

Two other top defensive plays by the Rams were another tag at home plate when Shawn Nesselrodt threw to Bernard on a ground-out, plus a diving catch by right fielder Bobby Horner in the second inning.

Bosley then won the game in the bottom of the sixth when he blasted a 2-0 pitch over the left field fence. It was his seventh home run of the season.

Butler then followed with two strike outs in the seventh and forced the final batter to hit into a ground out.

The Knights came into the game averaging nearly eight runs per contest.

Moser's game included seven strike-outs and three walks, who came in with a 3-1 record and the lowest ERA (0.24) in the Frederick area.

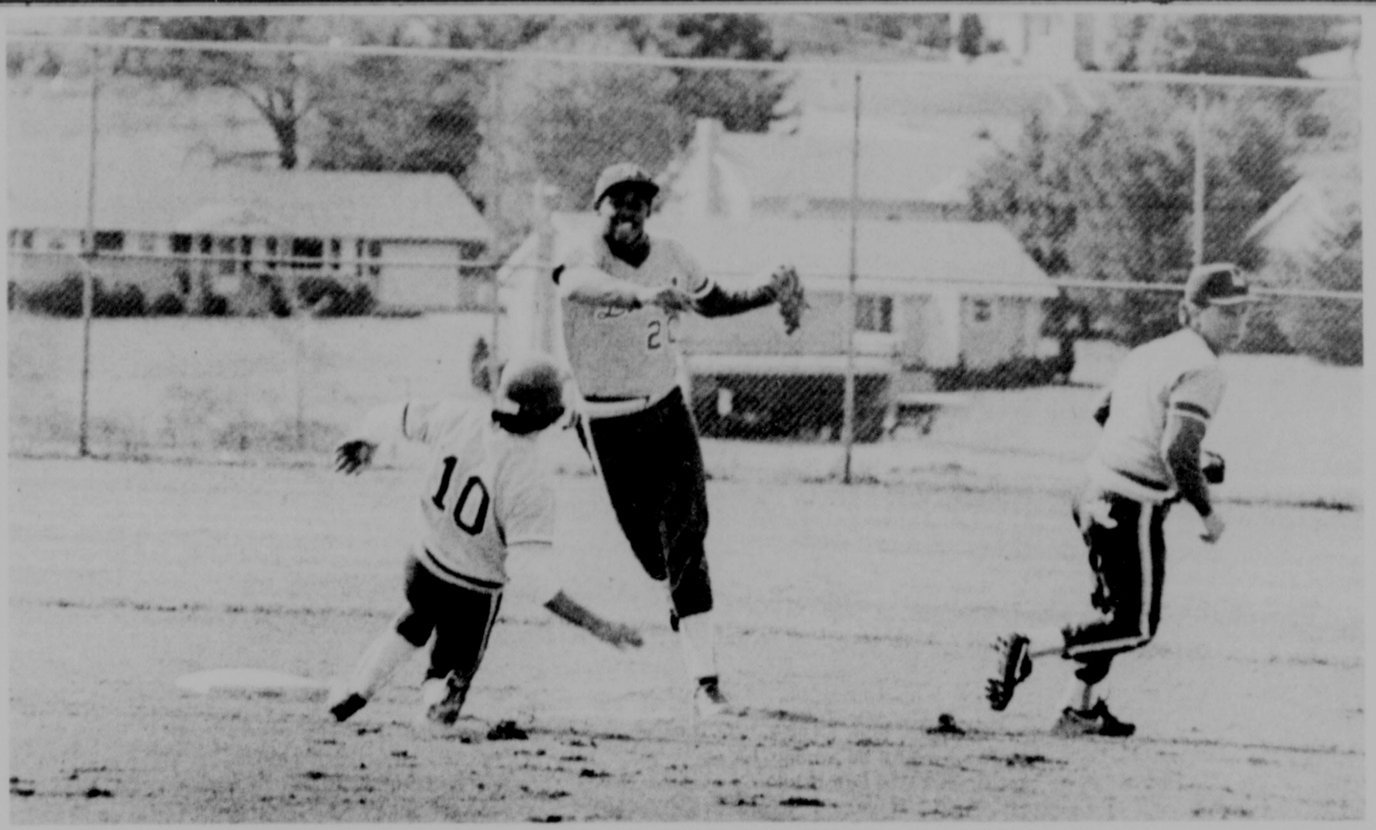
Number One in the Area

Despite the loss to Walkersville, the Southern Rams concluded their season as the number one ranked team in area standings for the second straight year.

Coach Jim Bosley had lost five starters from last season's championship team and began this season without one of his two full-time starters (J.R. Bosley who had broken his hand during basketball season).

The Rams finished the regular season with a team batting average of .330, as nine of the 14 players hit .300 or better.

Southern has won 78 of its last 100 games and Bosley has compiled a record of 118-49 as head coach. Since the Rams became a Class B school, they have won 52 of 62 games to give Bosley a .883 winning percentage over the past three seasons.



WORKING A DOUBLE PLAY are the Walkersville Lions, who came to Oakland yesterday and nipped the Southern Rams, 1-0, in the Region I Class B championship game. The Ram just thrown out at second base in the above photo is Doug Nesselrodt. High winds kept two Southern home run balls from going over the fence, while Wayne Persinger of Walkersville used the gusts to his advantage, as his homer won the game for the Lions. The Rams finished as the area's number one ranked team for the second year in a row.

Fishing contest winners are named weekly and each receives a citation and patch. Sponsored by Johnny's Bait House and the Promotion Council, the contest started the first week of May with this listing being the first winners.

All fish must be registered at Johnny's Bait House along U.S. Route 219 at Deep Creek Lake.

Holtschneider Wins Slingers Tournament

Cecil Holtschneider was the winner of the May 15 horse shoe pitching contest, held at the Garrett County Fairgrounds in McHenry by the Mt. Top Ringer Slingers.

Sam Wakefield Jr. finished second in the singles tourney, followed by Joe Lewis.

The next tournament will be held May 29, beginning at 12:30 p.m., at the Fairgrounds.

Southern's Gary Long Signs With Shepherd Rams

Gary Long, who was a 6-2, 206-pound senior lineman on the championship Southern High School football team this past season, is among the recruits for the 1988 team at Shepherd College, Shepherdstown, W.Va.

Monte Cater, head coach at Shepherd, announced the signing of Long and several other recruits this past week.

Long played four years under Southern Coach Tom Woods and was named to the All-PVC and All-Area teams. He is also one of the Rams' most outstanding tennis players.

"We plan to look at Gary on the offensive line," Coach Cater said. "We feel that his best opportunity will be on offense because of the number of linemen we lost last year due to graduation."

The son of Katherine Long, Mtn. Lake Park, Long plans to major in biology at Shepherd.

Softball Event To Benefit Sweitzer

There will be a one-pitch, double-elimination softball tournament June 18-19 at the Deer Park and American Burger fields, with all proceeds going to Jim "Bubble Gum" Sweitzer to help cover medical expenses.

The entry fee for the tournament is $50 per team and two softballs. All Mt. Top League, Old Timers League, and pick-up teams are invited to participate. Players may play on more than one team. The drawing will be held June 16 at the American Burger Center at 8:30 p.m.

Persons desiring more information may contact Larry Hardesty at 453-3275.

Dailey Awarded Volleyball MVP At York Campus

Jennifer Dailey, former member of the Northern High School state championship volleyball team and daughter of Dr. and Mrs. George Dailey, McHenry, was awarded the Most Valuable Player trophy in women's volleyball at the annual Student Awards banquet held at the York Campus of Pennsylvania State University. She was also selected as a member of the CCAC All-Conference team.

Jennifer co-captained the team to the Eastern League Conference title this past fall. The York team is coached by Dr. Sharon Cessna of Cresaptown.

Dailey also received a Scholar-Athlete Award given to varsity players who maintain a GPA of 3.5 or better.

Jennifer plans to return to Penn State/York in the fall to continue her studies in accounting.

Southern Girls Advance To State Track Tourney

While the Southern High School boys' track team finished a disappointing 10th place in the Maryland Class B, Region I championship on Saturday, the Southern girls' team captured sixth place in the 10-team event and several of the Lady Rams qualified to participate in the Maryland State Track and Field Championships this Saturday at Catonsville Community College.

The best finishes on the day for the Southern boys were a fifth place in the 400-meter relay and a sixth in the 800 relay.

Tonya Shreve won second place in the long jump for the Southern girls with a jump of 15 feet, five and one-quarter inches, and also finished fourth in the 200-meter dash. Debbie Blamble took a fourth in the 400-meter dash, while Shreve, Christie Browning, Tab Sliger and Robin Johnson took fourth in the 400-meter relay.

All top-four finishers in the Regional event are entitled to compete in the state finals.

Taking fifth places for the Southern girls were Regina Crews in the shot put, the 3,200-meter relay team of Michelle Reams, Christa Updyke, Jennifer Terry, and Blamble; and the 800 relay team of Browning, Updyke, Sliger and Johnson.

Finishing sixth for the Southern girls were Sliger in the high jump, Kelly Mahoney in the 300-meter hurdles, Johnson in the triple jump, Heather Hamilton in the 1,600-meter run, and Shreve in the 100-meter dash.

Allegany won the boys' regional title and Middletown captured the girls' championship.

NHS Girls Fail To Williamsport In C Playoffs

The 1988 season came to an end for the successful Northern High School girls' softball team Tuesday afternoon when the Huskies were edged 5-3 by Williamsport in the semi-finals of the Region I, Class C playoffs at Williamsport.

The game was a real pitchers' duel between Northern's Regina VanSickle and Amy Ferruccio of Williamsport, as neither team scored during the first four innings. Williamsport broke the ice with a single run in the bottom of the fifth when Stacy Williams led off with a bunt single, moved to second on a walk, advanced to third on a fielder's choice, and came home on a wild pitch.

The Huskies came back in the top of the sixth to take a 3-1 lead. Tina Lashbaugh walked, Kim McClintock reached on an error, Susie Bowser walked to load the bases, and Diane Fike followed with a two-run double to plate Lashbaugh and McClintock. Bowser then came home on a wild pitch.

Williamsport won the game in the bottom of the sixth, as Ferruccio scored on a bases-loaded walk, followed by runs by a two-run double by Dawn Reid, which scored Julie Turner and Williams. Kris Pike added an insurance run on a fielder's choice.

Ferruccio gave up only two hits on the afternoon, struck out 15 batters and yielded six walks, while VanSickle allowed eight hits, fanned six batters and walked six.

The loss left Coach Bob Yunker's Huskies with an 8-3 overall record.

Williamsport will now face Smithsburg for the Class C Region I title.

The fourth annual Garrett County Special Olympic games, sponsored by the Proctor Kildow Post 71, was held at Garrett Community College on Friday, May 13.

This year, 75 athletes from Appalachian Cross Roads Adult Program, Dennett Road Elementary School, Southern High School, Northern High School and Northern Middle School competed in track and field events, softball, wheelchair races and the standing long jump. The finalists are eligible to go on to the Maryland State Competition which will be held in Towson on June 10 and 11.

Paul McCloud, of WXIE radio, served as master of ceremonies for the opening program. Manning Smith, director of student affairs, gave the invocation and opening remarks. Local olympic hopeful, John McIntee, was the guest speaker, and Carolyn Ebling, from the Special Olympics Office gave a briefing on the Special Olympic Program. Lunches were prepared and served by the Disabled American Veterans staff under funds to add a multi-service center at Center Street School when Communtiy Action moves operations into that building. He said such a center would provide space for senior citizen programs and child development programs. He also noted that need for a housing project office within Community Action.

The director further requested funds for the upgrading of outdoor recreational facilities at the center. Finally, Yoder expressed a need for additional sheltered housing such as the existing one at Truesdell Heights.

The commissioners and Planning and Development officials will study the requests and a second hearing will be held June 21 for the purpose of formal proposals for funding. The deadline to file for the block grant is July 1.

The CDBG Program is a federally-sponsored program designed to promote community and economic development in the state's small counties, cities and towns.

Garrett County is eligible for up to $500,000 apart from feasibility study grant funds, according to Nelson.

The purpose of the block grant funding is to stimulate and expand jobs, promote business opportunities and boost local economy; to improve and conserve the quality, affordability and availability of permanent housing, especially for persons of low or moderate income; to provide facilities that address or eliminate conditions which are detrimental to public health and safety; to assure that at least 60 percent of the total funding will be used for low and moderate income persons; and to encourage public-private partnerships to generate more public and private resources to accomplish local projects.

The state of Maryland's estimated amount of federal funds for fiscal year 1988 is $6,771,000. That allocation is divided into the following program categories and percentage of funding: state administration, $135,420, two percent; special projects, including imminent threat grants, $677,100, 10 percent; economic development, $2,572,980, 38 percent; and community development, $3,385,500, 50 percent.

Ali Ghan Highlanders To Be Host Band For First McHenry Festival

The Ali Ghan Highlanders Bagpipe Band will be the host band and will also perform during the first McHenry Highland Festival at the Garrett County Fairgrounds in McHenry, on Saturday, June 4.

For more than 12 years, the Highlanders Unit of Ali Ghan Shrine Temple, Cumberland, have entertained audiences with their bagpipe and drum music. Whether playing in a parade or in competition, the Highlanders are dressed in authentic Scottish uniforms, wearing the ancient Red Ross tartan with special permission from David A. Ross, chieftain of Clan Ross of Scotland. This particular tartan was selected because of its association with John Ross, a pioneer of the Masonic fraternity in Maryland, and husband of Betsy Ross, creator of the "Stars and Stripes."

In September 1986, Ali Ghan was honored to be named host band for the Williamsburg, Va., Highland Games and personal pipe band to Clan Chief Ross, who came from Scotland to preside over the North American meeting of Clan Ross and to be honorary chief of the Williamsburg Games.

In 1985, the Highlanders placed second in the International Competiton at the Imperial Shrine Convention in Boston. Over 56 temples from the U.S., Mexico, Canada and Puerto Rico were eligible to compete. At the Mid-Atlantic Shrine Convention, involving temples from Connecticut to Virginia, the Highlanders have placed first for two consecutive years, second twice and third another year. They have marched in the St. Patrick's Day parade in Washington, D.C., appeared at Baltimore's Inner Harbor, in Philadephia, Pittsburgh, and numerous other cities and towns throughout the area.

The Highlanders played for both the inaugural and closing ceremonies of the Cumberland Bicentennial and were active throughout the yearlong celebration. They also played for a combined St. Andrew's Day service sponsored by three of the largest Protestant churches in Cumberland.

The band is under the direction of Pipe Major Fred A Thayer, Clan Chief is Dr. Norman L. Barger and the Drum Major is Raymond H. Lapp.

Festival hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and admission is $3.00 for anyone 12 years of age and over. For more information or a free festival brochure, persons should contact the McHenry Highland Festival, Courthouse, Oakland; telephone (301) 334-1948.

AURORA SCHOOL NEWS

Honor Society Initiation

The Junior Honor Society of Aurora School accepted the following new members into their unit on Thursday, May 5: Sheri Adams, Kevin Corbin, Ralph Cummings, Daniel Fint, Cynthia Parks and Billy Moore.

To attain membership into the society, a student must have a 92% grade average along with a high degree of leadership, service, and character in all of their scheduled subjects. This in turn must be approved by each of their teachers.

The Honor Society has been active during this school year by displaying signs on each floor promoting good citizenship, cleanliness and friendliness among the student body. The membership assisted with seating the student body in assemblies, dismissal of school in the evenings, assembling of report cards, and offered their services in tutoring and teaching classes.

Officers of the Aurora Junior Honor Society this year were president, Emily Lewis; vice presicent, Tonya Beckman; secretary, Tammy Cassidy, and treasurer, Christy Schmidt. Their sponsor is Richard Travis.

We're Hear To Help
by Pamela A. Martin, CCCA

MEASURABLE LOSS

Standardized hearing tests allow the hearing specialist to measure a hearing loss in terms of decibels. Using an audiometer, the hearing specialist introduces pure tones to each ear of the person being tested. Each tone is amplified, decibel by decibel, until the person indicates that he can hear the sound at that particular frequency. In this way, hearing ability is tested for a whole range of frequencies. If the normal hearing standard for a particular frequency must be raised ten decibels for a tested person to hear it, that person is said to have a 10 decibel hearing loss for that frequency. A 30 decibel loss often indicates that a hearing aid is necessary so that normal conversation may be heard clearly.

To enjoy the sounds of normal conversation and the world around you let ALLEGANY HEARING & SPEECH ASSOCIATES provide you with the hearing instrument that will make the difference. The correct device, properly fitted can return an enjoyable lifestyle to you. Come in and hear what we mean.

A loss of hearing over 50 decibels makes telephone conversation very difficult.

Buckle Up America Week Will Include Memorial Day Weekend

Maryland Governor William Donald Schaefer has issued a proclamation declaring May 23 to 30 as Buckle Up America Week in Maryland. The week coincides with the Memorial Day holiday, and urges drivers to "Start a Habit for Life" and buckle up.

State troopers will be on the look-out for safety belt law violations, and enforcement of the law and the child safety seat laws will be strict.

In connection with Buckle Up America Week, the National Center for Statistics and Analysis has released a fact sheet dealing with safety belt effectiveness and how the laws have contributed to improving the safety of motorists.

According to the fact sheet, safety belts saved an estimated 2,400 lives in 1987 among front seat passengers, and prevented approximately 29,000 moderate to critical injuries.

Among children under four, child safety seats prevented about 28,000 injuries and saved about 200 lives in 1987.

The fact sheet notes that a child should never be held on a passenger's lap while traveling by vehicle. Even in a minor crash, the child would be torn from the person's arms. The sheet notes that "In a low speed 30-mph crash, even a tiny 10-lb. infant would be ripped from your arms with a force of almost 300 lbs. and crushed between your body and the windshield and dash."

The fact sheet notes that the safest place for a child is in the rear seat, buckled into a child safety seat, or in a safety belt if they have outgrown the seat. A safety seat that has been involved in a crash must be replaced.

Anyone wishing more information about child safety seats may call the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration's auto safety hotline toll-free at 1-800-424-9393.

Pittsburgh Opera Theater Slates Events At WVU

MORGANTOWN, W. VA. — The month of June will be alive with activity in the West Virginia University Creative Arts Center as the College of Creative Arts Division of Music plays host to the Pittsburgh Opera Theater in residency.

The company was founded by Mildred Miller Posvar in 1978 with three goals in mind. First, she wanted to provide an opportunity for young professionals to perform leading roles in major operas, thus helping to bridge the gap between conservatories and leading opera companies. Second, Posvar hoped to build opera audiences in outlying tri-state areas where opportunities to see live performances were limited. Finally, she hoped to develop an appreciation of opera in children by presenting works geared to them. All goals have been accomplished.

The company presents approximately 20 performances each year as well as numerous performances in elementary schools. In its current repertoire are five full-length productions, three chamber opera programs, two concert-style programs, three shows for young audiences, as well as master classes and lectures.

Posvar, who also serves as artistic director, was featured artist for 23 years at the Metropolitan Opera, and has appeared with every major opera company in the United States and Europe.

As a recording artist she holds the Grand Prix du Disque for Bruno Walter's only recording of Mahler's "Songs of a Wayfarer". She is a star on film, radio and television and, early in her career, was a regular on the Bell Telephone Hour and Voice of Firestone.

She has given recitals in 48 of the 50 states and in the Far East, Asia and Europe. She gave a one-woman performance at the Nixon White House, has been featured in a number of special recitals in New York City and has won special acclaim for her lieder singing.

In addition to her work with Pittsburgh Opera Theater, she headed the opera program at Carnegie-Mellon University in Pittsburgh for several years.

In addtion to their traditional schedule of performances at WVU, the Theater will be offering master classes for interested persons. (For information on master classes, persons may phone Robert Thieme at 304-293-5511).

The productions being showcased this year "An Evening of Cole Porter" on June 11, Mozart's "The Marriage of Figaro" on June 18 and Puccini's "Madame Butterfly" on June 25.

The Cole Porter presentation will be highlighted by songs from "Anything Goes", "DuBarry Was a Lady", "Can Can", "Born to Dance", "Silk Stockings," "The Pirate", "Jubilee", "Gay Divorcee" and "Kiss Me Kate."

James Benner, professor emeritus in the WVU Division of Music, will conduct.

A children's opera, "Sweet Betsy From Pike," is also scheduled for June 7 and 9 at 1:30 p.m. and 7 p.m. in the CAC Studio Theater. Cost for admission is $2 for the general public and $1 for children under 12.

The three Concert Theatre performances on June 11, 18, and 25 are at 7 p.m. Subscriptions are available for the three at a cost of $25 for general public; $22 for WVU faculty, staff and graduate students and $18 for full-time undergraduate students and senior citizens.

Cost of an individual performance is $10 for general public, $8.50 for WVU faculty, staff and graduate students and $7 for undergraduate students and senior citizens.

Box Office hours are 11 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. weekdays. For reservations or further information, persons may phone 304-293-3020.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

Marine Pfc. Cynthia A. Bray, daughter of Lonnie S. Bray Sr., Star Route 1, Kitzmiller, was meritoriously promoted to her present rank upon graduation from recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot Parris Island, S.C.

Bray received the accelerated promotion for superior performance during the eight-weeks of training, which emphasized teamwork and self-discipline.

She participated in an active physical conditioning program and was introduced to the typical daily routine that she will experience during her initial enlistment. She studied the personal and professional standards traditionally exhibited by Marines and gained basic proficiency in a variety of military skills including first aid and close order drill.

A 1984 graduate of Fort Hill High School, Cumberland, she joined the Marine Corps in December 1987.

1 tablespoon soy sauce
⅓ cup brown sugar
⅓ cup catsup
1 can (31 oz.) baked beans

Saute green pepper and onion in margarine. Cook wieners separately 15 minutes in a little water, drain. Drain pineapple before adding to above ingredients. Mix well. Either bring slowly to boiling point or bake 30 minutes in 350° oven.

TAILGATE BEANS

Elva (Bowman) Wilburn
Barnesboro, Pa.

8 ounces bacon, (diced)
½ cup brown sugar, (packed)
1 teaspoon garlic powder
½ teaspoon salt
2 medium onions, (chopped)
½ cup vinegar
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 sixteen ounce can baked beans
1 sixteen ounce kidney beans (drained)
1 sixteen ounce garbanzo beans or chick peas
1 sixteen ounce green lima beans
1 sixteen ounce can butter beans

Fry bacon and onions over medium heat for about 5 minutes, stir in brown sugar, vinegar, garlic powder, dry mustard and salt (if desired). Simmer twenty minutes. Mix all beans, spoon over bacon mixture. Bake 1 hour.

CARTWHEEL PASTA SALAD

½ cup whole natural almonds
2 cups cartwheel pasta*
Boiling salted water
1 cup sliced fresh green beans
½ cup almond or olive oil
3 tablespoons red wine vinegar
2 cloves garlic, crushed
1 teaspoon sweet basil
Fresh ground black pepper
½ cup grated Parmesan or Romano cheese
2 cups sliced cooked ham
½ cup halved, pitted ripe olives
1 jar (7 oz.) roasted, sweet red peppers, chopped
⅓ cup chopped green onions

Spread almonds in a single layer in shallow pan. Toast at 350°F for 10 to 12 minutes, until golden, cool. Cook pasta in boiling water until just tender, approximately 10 minutes. Cook green beans in lightly salted water until tender-crisp. Meanwhile, blend almond oil, vinegar, garlic, sweet basil, pepper and Parmesan in a large bowl. Drain pasta and beans. Toss both immediately with cheese mixture. Allow to cool to room temperature. Add ham, olives, roasted peppers, onions and almonds. Toss lightly to coat with dressing. Serve at once, or if refrigerated, allow to return to room temperature before serving. Pass additional Parmesan, if desired. Makes 4 servings.

*Or use small shells, corkscrew pasta or elbow macaroni.

BABY BACK RIBS WITH BOURBON-HONEY GLAZE

3½ pounds baby back ribs
¼ cup bourbon
3 tablespoons honey
1 tablespoon peanut oil
1 tablespoon soy sauce
1 small clove garlic, minced
Salt and freshly ground pepper

Place the ribs in a shallow glass pan. Combine the rest of the ingredients in a bowl and mix well. Brush the ribs with the bourbon and honey mixture, making sure that all sides are well coated. Let them stand at cool room temperature for 1 to 2 hours. Build a fire of ⅔ mesquite charcoal mixed with ⅓ hickory chunks. When the flames are low and the coals are red-hot, divide them in half and push them to opposite sides of the grill. Place an aluminum drip pan in the center. Sprinkle the ribs with salt and pepper to taste, and place them on the grill directly over the drip pan. Cover and cook for 15 minutes. Turn, baste with the bourbon mixture, and cook another 15 minutes. Turn, baste again, and cook for 5 to 10 minutes longer, or until the ribs are crispy on the outside and the juices run yellow when the thickest part of the meat is pricked with a fork. Remove the ribs from the grill and let them rest for 10 minutes before carving into individual servings. Delicious as is or sprinkled with a few drops of Down East Moppin' and Soppin' Sauce. Serves 4.

DOWN-EAST MOPPIN' AND SOPPIN' SAUCE

1 cup cider vinegar
2 teaspoons ground red pepper
1 teaspoon ground black pepper
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon safflower oil

Combine all the ingredients in a bowl and mix well. Pour into a shaker bottle. Keeps indefinitely. Makes 1 cup.

CHINESE-STYLE JAPANESE NOODLE SALAD

1 cup clear chicken broth
¼ to ⅓ cup soy sauce
3 tablespoons sesame oil
3 tablespoons rice vinegar
1 tablespoon Sake (optional)
½ teaspoon minced, peeled fresh ginger root
4 eggs
1 tablespoon sugar
Generous dash salt
2 packages (about 5 ounces each) Japanese dried noodles, cooked
2 cups shredded cucumbers or bean sprouts, or blanched asparagus or snow peas
2 medium tomatoes, thinly sliced
½ pound shredded ham, chicken or pork
¼ pound cooked shrimp

About four hours before serving: To make sauce, in medium bowl, combine chicken broth, soy sauce, sesame oil, vinegar, Sake and ginger. Mix well, refrigerate at least two hours. In small bowl, combine eggs, sugar and salt. In greased 8-inch skillet, over medium-high heat, scramble egg mixture until just cooked. For each serving, divide noodles evenly and arrange on four salad plates. Arrange vegetables, meats, shrimp and eggs over noodles. Cover, refrigerate at least two hours. Serve with sauce. Makes 1½ cups sauce or four servings.

ROSY HAM AND POTATO SALAD

Ham Layer:
1 cup (4 oz.) shredded Swiss cheese at room temperature
¼ cup milk
¼ teaspoon seasoned salt
12 slices boiled ham
2 cups madrilene consumme
1 teaspoon unflavored gelatin
Potato Salad Layer:
2 cups cooked peeled cubed potatoes
¼ cup creamy French salad dressing
1 cup dairy sour cream
½ cup chopped celery
2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
1 tablespoon grated onion
1 tablespoon chopped dill pickle
1 tablespoon chopped pimiento
2 teaspoons prepared mustard
½ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
½ cup milk
Lettuce

For ham layer, combine cheese, milk and seasoned salt to make a paste. Place 2 slices of ham one on top of the other; spread with a rounded tablespoon of cheese mixture. Roll up jelly roll fashion, beginning with short end. Repeat with remaining ham and cheese mixture, forming 6 ham rolls. Place ham rolls in bottom of a 9x5-inch loaf pan. Sprinkle gelatin over consomme to soften. Heat over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin is dissolved. Pour consomme over ham rolls in pan. Refrigerate until almost set. Meanwhile, for potato salad layer, combine potatoes and French dressing, refrigerate 30 minutes. Stir in sour cream, celery, eggs, onion, pickle, pimiento, mustard, salt and pepper. Sprinkle gelatin over milk to soften. Heat over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin is dissolved. Stir milk into potato mixture. Spoon potato mixture over ham roll layer. Refrigerate several hours or overnight. To serve, unmold onto lettuce lined plate. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Barbequed Hamburger

May is National Barbeque Month. This recipe is easy to make and serve in quantity. For that all-outdoors taste, simmer the last 5 minutes wrapped in heavy-duty foil on your grill.

1 pound	lean ground beef	1 tsp.	prepared mustard
1	onion, diced	1 tsp.	vinegar
1/2 cup	catsup	1 tsp.	sugar
2 tbsp.	chili sauce

Brown meat and onions in a large skillet. Pour off the fat that accumulates.

Add all other ingredients, mixing well, and simmer 20 to 30 minutes, uncovered.

Spoon into hamburger buns.

Barbeque tip: To prevent flare-ups when grilling meat and poultry, place a drip pan under the grill grid and directly beneath the meat. Always make sure the drip pan doesn't rest on the burning briquets, but rather is surrounded by the hot coals.

Yield: 6 One-Half Cup Servings

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

ON ENTERTAINING ANGELS

May 29, 1988

Background Scripture: Hebrews 13.
Devotional Reading: I Peter 4:7-11.

The other day I had to pay a brief visit to the local Texas Parole Board office. The waiting room was overcrowded with people, mostly young men, with hopelessness written across their faces. The parole officers and clerical staff were harried and overworked. There was a grim atmosphere hanging over this office like a dark grey cloud.

"Is it always like this?" I asked an officer. "No," he replied, "sometimes it's worse." He went on to tell me that, because the jails are overcrowded, non-violent prisoners were being released to the Parole Board in overwhelming numbers. "The halfway houses are full," he said, "most of these people have nowhere to go when they get out and they can't get jobs. If they do and their employer learns that they've done time, they'll probably be fired."

BACK IN JAIL

I came away feeling overwhelmed by their hopelessness. Soon, many of them will have given up their brief experiments with "going straight" and find themselves back in jail. This will occasion more newspaper stories on "rampant crime" and public outcries against "the criminal element."

If, at this moment, you are thinking that this is simply a secular social problem and not a matter for Christian faith, let the writer of Hebrews remind you about the Christian's responsibility to the "misfits" of society: "Do not neglect to show hospitality...remember those who are in prison, as though in prison with them; and those who are ill-treated" (13:2,3). He goes on to say: "Do not neglect to do good and to share what you have, for such sacrifices are pleasing to God" (13:16).

IF WE BELIEVE

There are lots of people in desperate need today, but in this brief column, I want to concentrate upon the prisoners in and out of our jails. There is probably no field of human need and opportunity for Christian witness and service so generally ignored by the Christian churches. A few churches here and there have Sunday services in local jails and occasionally there is a Bible class offered. There is also Charles Coulson's prison ministry. But that is about all and it is a pitifully small drop in a very, very great ocean of human need.

Is there nothing that Christians can do to help solve these problems? My own observation is that there is a great deal that the churches and individual Christians could do—if we really believed in the transforming power of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. But, for the most part, we're not even trying. Providing Bibles and worship services for prisoners is fine, but it means little if we cannot give these people some support when they get out. Churches could start halfway houses, provide counselling, and try to help parolees find work and perhaps even train for a new vocation. Churches might sponsor parolees in much the same way that we sponsored refugees from Viet Nam and Central America.

And that's just for starters.

The writer of Hebrews says that in ministering to strangers, some Christians "have entertained angels unawares" (13:2). There are a lot of potential "angels unawares" waiting for you and me behind the bars of your local prison and in the waiting room of your closest parole office.

After trying out his luck, an actor returns to 'ATWT'

By Kimberly Redmond

I was a big fan of Scott Bryce, who portrayed Craig Montgomery on "As the World Turns," and I wonder if you can tell me what he's been doing since he left the soap last May. – G.L., Memphis, Tenn.

Scott Bryce

By the time you read this column, Bryce will be back on "ATWT" in his former role of Craig Montgomery. "ATWT" had hoped to entice Bryce back for a long time, but he wanted to try his acting wings in California. Bryce appeared in several episodes of "Facts of Life" this season. He also worked in theater in New York City. Obviously, "ATWT" made Bryce an offer he couldn't refuse.

Can you tell me if "The Young and the Restless" plans to keep Jess Walton in the role of Jill Abbott? I think she's great. – C.N., Las Vegas, Nev.

The powers that be at "Y&R" are happy with Walton and don't have any plans to replace her.

Jess Walton

I'm convinced that Audrey Peters (Sarah Shayne on "Guiding Light") is the same actress who portrayed Joanne "Jo" Tourneur on "Search for Tomorrow," but my friends say that I'm wrong. If Peters didn't portray Jo on "SFT," who did? – J.Y., Carrolltown, Pa.

The role of Joanne "Jo" Tourneur on "SFT" was portrayed by Mary Stuart from the soap's 1951 premiere until its cancellation in 1986.

'M*A*S*H' star's interests are focused on animal rights

By Toni D'Amato

I'd like to know something about Loretta Swit, outside of her acting career. Also, where can I write her? – B.R., Florence, Ala.

Loretta Swit

Swit has long been an advocate of women's rights and is a self-described "animal activist."

"I will drop anything to do some good for animals," she says. "I do a series of documentaries for Audubon gratis."

Swit, 50, is from Passaic, N.J. She and her husband, Dennis Holohan, met on the set of "M*A*S*H" when he appeared as a guest star. She loves adventure, and she and her husband want to visit the Amazon. They went to Egypt on their honeymoon. "We don't bake on a beach during our vacations," she says. When she's not working, Swit enjoys reading, needlepoint, cooking and traveling.

Swit recently traveled to South Korea, becoming the first cast member from "M*A*S*H" to visit that country. She hosts the syndicated documentary "Korean War, The Untold Story," which will air in many markets in June and July. In her latest feature film, "Whoops Apocalypse," she plays the president of the United States.

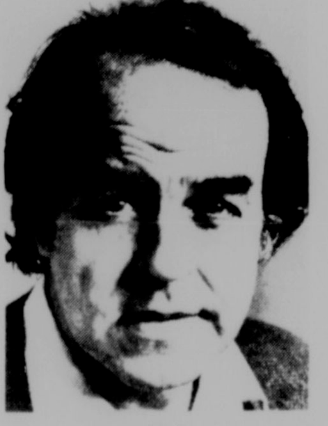
'Night Heat' actor finds that the work comes to him

By Ted Shaw

The world beats a path to the door of Sean McCann's central Toronto home.

McCann, 52, is familiar to television audiences as Lt. Hogan, the tough-nosed superior on CTV's "Night Heat." "Night Heat" is also shown on CBS's late-night series of syndicated programs and films.



Sean McCann

In the last few seasons, McCann, who is originally from Windsor, Ont., has popped up on several American TV productions that were shot in the Toronto area, including "I'll Take Manhattan," "Ghost of a Chance" and "Unnatural Causes."

"I've had more American television work in the last two years by simply staying in Toronto," said McCann, proving that an actor no longer has to rely on the CBC to get television work in this country.

McCann recently appeared as former Prime Minister Mackenzie King in the CBC-TV miniseries "The King Chronicle."

He had two CBC-TV series in the 1960s and '70s, "Sidestreet" and "The Baxters," although much of his work since then has been outside the network.

This month, he begins filming the fourth season of "Night Heat" on the streets of Toronto.

- New lineups for the major Canadian networks are expected to be announced in mid-June, just after the American networks release their fall schedules. CTV and Global will announce theirs June 10, while CBC is expected to follow shortly afterwards.

Canadian networks usually structure their fall programming around the American series they purchase.

In March, CBC's "Street Legal" began filming shows for its third season. The series about three young Toronto lawyers, patterned after "L.A. Law," has been renewed for 20 new episodes. Also back for a new CBC season is "Danger Bay," the half-hour adventure show shot in Vancouver.

"War of the Worlds," the new science-fiction series produced for syndication by Paramount Television, is being shot in Toronto. There will be a two-hour pilot and 22 one-hour episodes.

BEHIND THE SCENES

Producer of 'spectacles' tries his hand at a new form

By Frank Lovece

At 67, with a 46-year career of producing Broadway landmarks, 20 Tony Awards presentations, two Emmy specials, and countless other events, Alexander Cohen is bored. Well, not bored, exactly, but itching to produce something different. Now, after all these years, he's done his first TV movie (well, not exactly a TV movie): "Liza Minnelli in 'Sam Found Out: A Triple Play,'" airing Tuesday, May 31, on ABC.

Alexander Cohen

"Triple Play" casts singer-actress Minnelli in three playlets: one dramatic, one comedic, the third a musical, co-starring, respectively, Ryan O'Neal, Louis Gossett Jr. and John Rubinstein. The writers were each given a premise – four lines of dialogue ending with the phrase, "Sam found out" – and, working independently of each other, took it from there. The writers are Pulitzer Prize-winner Lanford Wilson ("Talley's Folly"), playwrights Terrence McNally and Wendy Wasserstein, and composer John Kander and lyricist Fred Ebb ("Cabaret"). Chances are, the playlets – each one titled "Sam Found Out" – will be gems.

"The idea came to me around 1970, believe it or not," says Cohen, the film's executive producer. "I sold the idea to NBC, and developed it with Fred Ebb and other writers, but it never went anywhere. Eighteen years later, Fred calls and says, 'Remember that thing? Well, Liza has a commitment to do a special. Do you mind if we do this?' So we started it all over except for the musical section, which was written by Kander and Ebb all those years ago and was never performed."

For Cohen, "Triple Play" may help solve a problem one wouldn't expect a producer of his stature to face – typecasting. "This is the first movie I've ever made," he confesses. "Nobody would let me make one before. People only think of me in terms of TV spectacles. My agent would say, 'Let Alex produce a movie,' and," he chuckles, "everybody would laugh!"

For Cohen, "Triple Play" may provide the opportunity to have the last laugh.

PBS

John Malkovich stars in the PBS adaptation of Clifford Odets' play "Rocket to the Moon." The "American Playhouse" presentation airs Wednesday, June 1. (Check local listings).

CINDY SAYS

A Tuneful tribute to Berlin; Mary Wilson keeps writing

By Cindy Adams

The BBC honored Irving Berlin's 100th birthday. The thing is, Britain's tribute to the soul of American music – "God Bless America," "Easter Parade," "There's No Business Like Show Business" – will air no place in darkest America. Tommy Tune, freshly returned from the taping in London, told me: "The problem is, it's a controversial documentary.

Tommy Tune

It explores Mr. Berlin's many 'Mammy' songs and the fact that he's never been south of the Mason-Dixon Line. Actually, he's never been south of New Jersey. Everyone wants this on TV in this country, but so far it doesn't look like it." Adds Tommy: "We did the old songs beginning with the turn of the century. I did 'Puttin' on the Ritz' and "I Love a Piano.' I also narrated the whole program, but the BBC doesn't have TelePrompters. I had to memorize everything. This was the hardest job I ever had."

Guardian Angels Curtis and Lisa Sliwa's next crusade is the movies. "We'll patrol movie scripts," said Curtis. "And check every film before it's made and protest whatever glorifies drugs."

Mary Wilson

Mary Wilson, the one-time Supreme who wrote that killer autobio "Dreamgirl: My Life as a Supreme," wherein she made chopped dreamburgers out of one-time partner Diana Ross, has sold the movie rights. She's also picking up her typewriter again. Mary said: "For a time I worried nobody would know me, but that's changed. People know my name. They recognize me when I walk down the street. So I'm going forward. I'm writing a continuation of my life. Dreamgirls No. 2. I'll start writing soon."

Various Precautions Noted During Lead Poisoning Prevention Week

In proclaiming May 15-21, as "Lead Poisoning Prevention Week", Governor Wm. Donald Schaefer ackowledged that "Maryland's greatest treasure are her children." Indeed, it is the young child, less than 6 years of age, and the unborn fetus that are at greatest risk for lead poisoning, according to the Lead Poisoning Prevention Section of the Maryland Department of Environment.

Preventing Lead Poisoning From Drinking Water

Drinking water is still one of the most common sources of lead exposure, but it is also an easy source of lead to avoid.

Until very recently, most plumbers used lead solder to join copper pipes. When water stands in your plumbing, it can dissolve lead and other metals that are present in the pipes. In general, the longer water stands without use, the more lead it will pick up. Also, the more acid or "soft" the water, the more lead it will pick up. Not everyone with lead solders in plumbing is at risk.

You should be concerned if you think you have lead in you plumbing and:

- your water comes from your own well; most well water in Maryland is very acidic. OR
- your plumbing is less than five years old. If you are on city water, and your water is not corrosive (acidic), a protective film will develop inside the pipes to keep the water from eating away the metal over a period of time — usually within four to five years.

To protect yourself and your children, there are two simple rules:

- Let your water run for at least a minute before taking drinking or cooking water from the tap; this will flush out lead which may accumulate in water which has been standing for an extended time, such as three hours or more.
- Never use water from the hot water tap for drinking or cooking. Heat makes water more corrosive.

In June, 1986, the Maryland plumbing code was amended to bar the use of lead in solder used in plumbing. As local inspectors have started enforcing this regulation, leadfree solder has been included in most new plumbing. Plastic PVC pipes which use glue rather than solder are also more commonly used now. Do it yourselfers must be careful to buy lead free solder. The most common acceptable solder contains 95% tin and 5% antimony. Lead solder is still available for electronics or other uses. People who do rely on well water should also know that they can buy equipment to make their water less corrosive. A range of options includes chemical treatments and acid neutralizer (calcite filter) tanks.

Lead Paint Poisoning - In Spite of Progress, Problems Persist

During the 1950's and 1960's lead was virtually eliminated as an ingredient in house paints. However, there continue to be 800 cases of lead poisoning identified among Maryland children under age six each year, and there are probably a great many unrecognized cases as well. Cases are reported in children from all areas of the state, with a range of family backgrounds.

The most common element in childhood lead poisoning is time spent in older buildings. The most important problem encountered in these buildings is lead dust. Yes, some children do eat paint chips, and a few children chew on painted window sills. But it is very common for children to put dusty hands, dusty toys, or even dusty food in their mouths.

Lead accumulates in house dust as old paint gradually deteriorates. Windows and porches are especially hazardous play areas because paint in these locations is subject to weathering and wear from use.

Young children living in a house that is noticeably deteriorating are at high risk for exposure to lead dust. Indeed, some older homes are almost impossible to keep clean. But even when paint looks to be in good condition, it may be slowly shedding a fine powdery dust.

By far the greatest hazard from lead dust actually comes when old paint is being removed. Sanding procedures produce a great deal of lead dust. So does burning with an open flame propane torch. Many workers as well as children have been poisoned when lead paint was being removed.

If you live in an older home, or if you plan to move into an older home, carefully plan for the removal of lead paint.

- Remove deteriorating wood, such as window frames.
- Cover walls securely with durable materials such as vinyl wall coverings or even new sheetrock.
- Send removable items, such as doors or trim, to a dipping tank.
- Carefully follow an approved method of taking off old paint. For example, you can use an electric heat gun or a caustic paint remover. Be sure to follow the manufacturer's directions carefully.
- Use a high phosphate cleaner (such as Trisodium Phosphate) to damp mop all dust and small debris.
- Above all else, only workers should be allowed in work areas. It is especially important for young children and pregnant woment to stay out of the home until clean-up has been completed.

Preventing Lead Poisoning From Food

With the observance of Maryland Lead Poisoning Week (May 15-21), the Lead Poisoning Prevention Section of the Maryland Department of the Environment takes this opportunity to look at some of the common sources of this very common and toxic metal.

Lead is usually present in only very small amounts in food. For example, trace amounts of lead dust can be found on fresh vegetables. Lead can be added during processing or storage. Lead solder still is used in making some cans. Lead glazes on some imported ceramics can be taken up by food.

Lead, unlike other metals such as iron, zinc or copper, serves no useful purpose in the human body. But the body does easily take in and retain lead. Because there is no clear lower limit for the harmful effects of lead, we must work to reduce or eliminate all sources of exposure.

Most ceramic pottery now sold in this country is lead safe. However, it is best to be careful in selecting dishes from outside of the United States. Among the countries producing ceramics of particular concern are Mexico, Italy, Macao, Pakistan the Peoples Republic of China, and Thailand. Problems are also sometimes found with antiques or with handmade ceramics. The best advice for someone who is concerned about lead in ceramics is to avoid using the dishes in question for food.

Lead in Soil

Maryland Lead Poisoning Prevention Week marks the beginning of a major project involving the United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and the Maryland Department of the Environment (MDE) which will focus on lead contamination in soil. Although this project will concentrate on soil lead in selected nighborhoods in Baltimore City, it is important to recognize that high lead levels can be found in selected locations statewide.

Lead gets into soil from a wide range of sources. Lead paint which has weathered or which has been removed by sanding or scraping falls near old houses, mixing with the soil. Large amounts of lead dust is created with the sandblasting of lead paint from bridges and water towers. Exhaust from cars burning leaded gasoline, has, over the years, settled in dirt along roadways. Heavy industry, particularly smelters, can give off lead fumes in very heavy concentrations which settle in nearby areas.

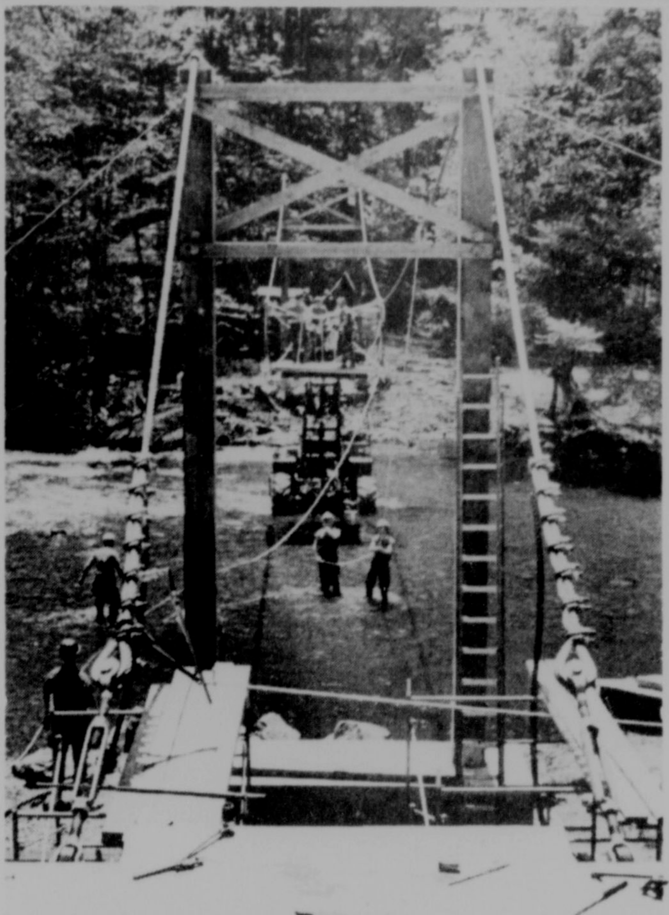
The MDE will be looking at the effectiveness of several approaches to lowering the amount of lead in soil. For example, most of the lead can be buried by turning over the soil with a tiller. By planting grass sod and shrubs, danger of contact with lead should be reduced. In some places, covering with concrete pavement may be appropriate. It is expected that the actual removal of lead contaminated soil will only be required in limited areas with exceptionally heavey levels of lead deposition.

For the home owners, the following suggestions can be made based on our current level of knowledge.

If you have an older home, built before 1960, or if you have other reasons to think lead paint was used on your home, use care in preparing to repaint the outside of your home. Do not sand. If you are removing old paint, use a tarp to keep all debris from mixing with the soil.

If you think, for any reason, that the soil in your yard has high levels of lead, cover it with grass, shrubs, concrete, or other materials. You may wish to provide young children with a clean sandbox as a play area. Keep people from tracking dirt into your house; lead from your yard can mix with your house dust. And, most importantly, help small children keep their hands clean; children should be especially careful to wash before meals and snacks.

For more information about preventing lead poisoning, contact the Lead Poisoning Prevention Section of the Maryland Department of the Environment at (301) 225-5754, or call Elizabeth Rees Gilbert at the Garrett County Health Department at 334-8111 or 895-3111.



BRIDGE PROGRESS — Company "B" of the 121st Engineer Batallion, U.S. Army National Guard from Cumberland continued work on the pedestrian bridges at the Savage River near Bloomingington the past two weeks. The foundations for the bridges were begun by Company "C" of Oakland the latter part of April. The guardsmen are shown using pulley systems to erect the bridge sections that were built this past winter. The briges are part of the site preparation for the Maryland International Canoe/Kayak Classic to be held on the Savage June 23-26. Whitewater Championships, Inc. officials and state officials were treated to a tour of the area last Friday to view the work that has been completed.

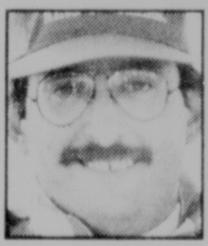
BOBBY RAHAL FOR COLUMBIA GAS:
"THERE'S A SPECIAL ATTITUDE WINNERS HAVE. I SEE IT IN MY TEAM. AND IN COLUMBIA'S."



"In racing, winning is a team effort. It's the same at Columbia Gas. But their wins are counted in delivering natural gas energy to thousands of homes and businesses day after day. Everything they do is aimed at supplying our needs . . . safely, efficiently and economically. You can see it in the way they answer service questions and handle problems. And they are as quick to respond in their way as my team is at the track. The two teams also share something else: the drive to be the best. In racing, that goal is measured in victories. At Columbia, it's measured in service."

Brown Elected Head Of Chamber

Earle Palmer Brown, chairman of the Earle Palmer Brown Companies, was elected chairman of the Maryland Chamber of Commerce last week at the Chamber's Annual Meeting of members in Greenbelt. He is the first business executive from the Washington metropolitan area and the first advertising industry representative to serve in this position. He succeeds J. Henry Butta, vice president C&P Telephone Company of Maryland, who had served as chairman since May, 1987.

As chairman of the 1500 member business association, Brown will guide the Chamber through the 1988-1989 program year, for which he has identified increased membership as his primary goal.

"Mr. Brown's advertising, public relations and marketing expertise comes at an ideal time because we recently reorganized the Chamber to more efficiently develop, promote and deliver services to members," Chamber President Peter J. Lombardi said.

"We look forward to working with a chairman who has a strong presence in the Washington metropolitan area, an area where the Maryland Chamber seeks to attract new members."

Brown, who is a part-time resident of Mtn. Lake Park, formed his own public relations and advertising agency in Washington, D.C. in June, 1953. The Earle Palmer Brown Companies is now headquartered in Bethesda and has grown to 501-person agency billing more than 248 million dollars. It is now the largest agency in the middle Atlantic region and the 33rd largest in the nation.

Brown has lectured on marketing, advertising and public relations at the University of Maryland, American University, Boston University, George Washington University, University of Arizona and Washington and Lee. He currently serves on the Government Relations Committee of the American Association of Advertising Agencies.

Other activities include serving as a director of the First American Bank of Maryland, a trustee of St. Mary's College of Maryland, a member of the advisory committee of the American University School of Business and Washington and Lee's School of Commerce, Economics and Politics.

Politically active, Brown has served as campaign advisor and media consultant to Senators Charles Mathias and J. Glenn Beall, Congressman Steny Hoyer, and other politicians. He is an officer of Strategic Media Services, an international public affairs media buying service.

Brown was born in Manhasset, Long Island, New York. He was graduated from Freeport High School and from Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Va. He resides in Potomac.

Sheepdog Demonstrations To Be Part Of Local Highland Festival

The first annual McHenry Highland Festival, which will be Saturday, June 4, at the Garrett County Fairgrounds, McHenry, will feature a wide variety of activities and entertainment, including bagpipe band concerts, Scottish fiddle, harp and muscial group performances, Scottish country and highland dancing, ethnic foods and more. One of the highlights of the festival will be sheepdog demonstrations by William Crowe of Aylett, Va.

Crowe is noted for working stock dog trials in Virginia, where he has won numerous awards. He is a farmer in King William County, owner of Wingmont Stables, and raises and trains border collies for himself and others. Jock, one of his most famous collies, is the only dog in Virginia to have received the Superior Merit Award for having accumulated 50 working points in trials.

His demonstrations include not only herding sheep with his collies, but also ducks and a pigeon. He dresses as a Scotsman while putting the dogs through their paces with voice commands and a whistle. Border collies are a unique breed of dog which are trained not to bark, but walk slowly up to sheep and control them with "the eye" and style alone. The power to control sheep with "the eye" is a trait possessed by no other dog and a remarkable exhibit of the border collie's versatility.

Festival hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and admission is $3.00 for everyone over 12 years of age. For more information or a free brochure, persons should contact the McHenry Highland Festival, Courthouse, Oakland; telephone (301) 334-1948.

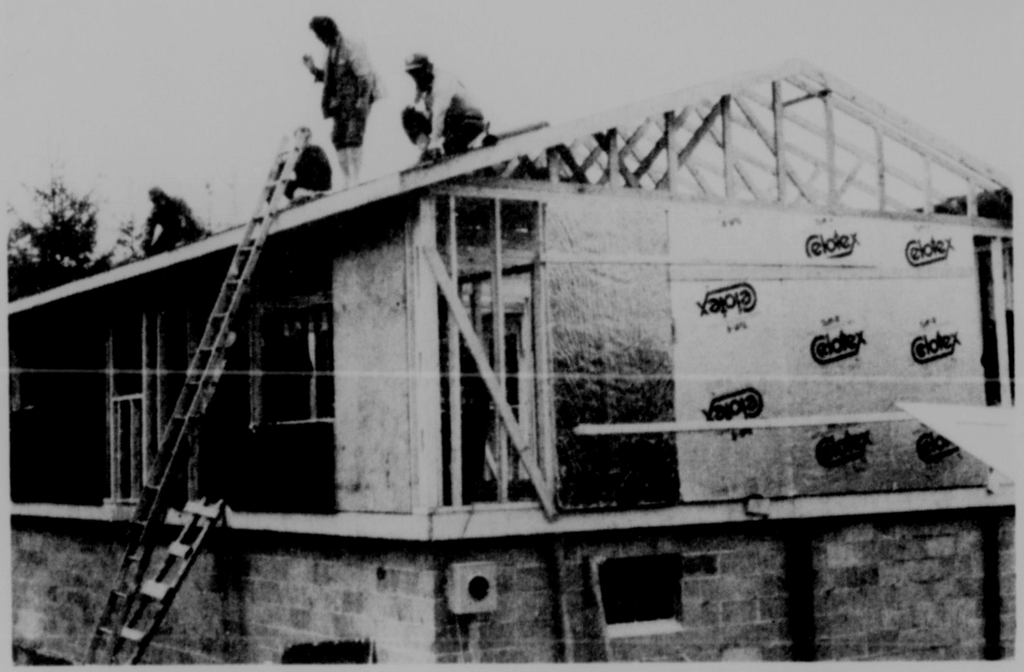
Local Realtors Pitch In To Bring Another Habitat House To Fruition



SELLING HOMES is the primary job of real estate agents, but Garrett County's realtors recently cooperated on a unique volunteer project whereby they constructed a house for the Garrett County Chapter of Habitat for Humanity. Earl George, of Holzshu, Moffett and Welch Agency, pictured above left, suggested the idea to the Garrett County Board of Realtors, which accepted the challenge. Above right, Randy Lewis and William Spear lay the block and below, several volunteer workers begin roof construction.

by Joan B. Crawford

In a county where "Love thy neighbor" is the rule rather than the exception, and where many people volunteer their time and talents to help others, there sometimes occurs an event worthy of special recognition. Such is the case with a new house being built in Accident under the auspices of Habitat for Humanity, in which the Garrett County Board of Realtors and a number of other citizens have been involved.

It all began when Earl George of the Holzshu, Moffett and Welch Agency suggested to the Board that they build a house for Habitat. Everyone agreed, and the project began to take shape. "I suggested it, and the Board took it from there," George stated. "If I can see and hear a problem, I can help with it. There are many people out there who need help."

Anita Teter, of A & A Realty and chairperson of the Community Services Committee of the Board of Realtors, began to organize the volunteers to work in the needed areas for what became known as the "Yes, I will" project.

According to Teter, members of several real estate agencies responded, with A & A Realty having 100% of its people volunteering. "We're giving something back to the community we serve," she stated. "Most of the credit goes to Earl George because it was his idea."

The actual construction began in late April when William Spear laid the foundation block. Earl George, Mike Derato and Les Bittinger of Deep Creek Realty, Vicki Winters of Garrettland, and Dave Hexford then framed the house and got it under roof.

Another group, students in the J.T.P.A. class of Garrett Community College and their instructor, Russell Alexander, Jr., then began working with the project, framing walls and setting windows and doors. Humberson Homes donated the plumbers for the house, electrician Larry Champ volunteered to do the wiring, and Kathy Dugan of Railey Realty volunteered to do painting.

Other members of real estate agencies who have volunteered to help in specific areas are: Kevin Liller, Tim Joseph, Jean King, Goldie Sugars, Mar Jo Lyons and Bill Weissgerber, landscaping; Karen Spiker, Cindy Mason, Judith Anderson, Steve Gnegy, and Cathy Helbig, painting; Tom Ecterly and Danny Bosley, trim carpenters; Wilda Flint, Bob Custer, Ed King, Tom DeBerry, Bill Crawford, Ryan Stemple, Dean Humberson, Dorothy Pritts, and Barbara Duckworth, general helpers.

Even members and friends of the family for whom the house is being built have helped with the construction. With the many hands involved, the anticipated completion date is the end of June, a time that will culminate another Garrett County success story.

Catch-A-Poacher Program Pays Two Informants

The Maryland Natural Resources Police Catch-A-Poacher Program has announced the awarding of $100 each to two individuals whose information resulted in the arrest and conviction of deer poachers.

The first case involved an individual who shot a deer out of season near Dickerson, Montgomery County. The information supplied by the informant resulted in an arrest and conviction with a fine of $500.00.

In the second case, an individual called the CAP toll free number after hearing a shot at 3 a.m. in the Lowertown Creek area of Allegany County. Three poachers were arrested for killing deer at night and were fined $420.00.

The Natural Resources Police Catch-A-Poacher Program is designed to keep the informant anonymous. Anyone wishing to report a game violator should call the toll free number 1-800-635-6124.

Local Teacher's Software Proposal Wins Computer For His School

A Garrett County public school has won an Apple IIGS computer as a result of a teacher's winning entry in a hardware grant program sponsored by Potomac Edison.

Melvin Ross Glotfelty wrote a software proposal titled "Applying Technology in Math and Science" to win the computer for Friendsville Elementary School. Fifth-grade students will use this software to create data bases to manage and analyze data collected in scientific experiments. Glotfelty will also use the computer and software to help students investigate geometric concepts.

In this year's hardware grant contest, 59 teachers submitted entries and 15 were selected as winners for writing software proposals with math and science applications for the classroom. A winning entry entitles the teacher's school to one computer.

Potomac Edison has sponsored the hardware grant program for three years, and this year the contest focused on software programs for kindergarten students through sixth-graders.

"This year, the computer grants will provide a way for young students to cope with a rapidly changing technological society," said Carrie Slaughter, economic development representative.

In three years, 45 computers have been awarded to schools through the program, which is part of the company's economic development activity. Upon completion, these newest software programs will be shared with instructors throughout Potomac Edison's 7,300-square-mile service area, including parts of Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia.

Winners were chosen by a 10-member independent board comprising education and business professionals. Local resident David G. Martin, production planning and control manager of Westvaco Corp., serves on the Computer-Assisted Instruction Advisory board.

Hearing Set On Distribution Of Overcharge Funds

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein says an information packet is available for Western Maryland area individuals and agencies who want to suggest publicly how the State of Maryland should distribute money it has received as a result of continuing settlements between energy companies and the U.S. Department of Energy in overcharge lawsuits.

A public hearing seeking proposals from government agencies, private and non-profit agencies and individuals is scheduled for Tuesday, May 31. The hearing will begin at 2 p.m. in the auditorium of the Washington County Board of Education Building at 820 Commonwealth Avenue in Hagerstown.

Individuals wishing to testify are requested to register in advance and submit 18 copies of written proposals. Individuals and organizations are not required to testify in order to present a proposal. Interested persons may call 974-3145 to receive an information packet.

Goldstein serves as chairman of the Energy Overcharge Restitution Fund which must recomment specific uses for Maryland's share of the overcharge funds.

"Maryland law gives priority to low income residential weatherization programs, however, other eligible programs include institutional weatherization, low income energy assistance, state energy conservation programs or state energy extension services," he said.

A total of five public hearings are being held throughout Maryland by the Energy Overcharge Restitution Trust Fund's Board of Trustees between May 31 and June 17. Proposals must be received by June 30, 1988.

WHOLESALE HOUSING CENTER

ASKS YOU . . . Why would anyone pay twice as much for heating and cooling a new house?

We can't figure it out either, unless they've never read about our Foam Core Panel System.

It's true — our Foam Core Panel System is saving people thousands of dollars in utility costs. Unlike most other wall systems, "ours" needs no air space, it is a closed cell insulating unit.

What all this adds up to, is that there is no heat robbing, syphoning effect. You see, when an insulating material such as fiberglass is used in a floor, wall, or roof, it has to have an air space behind it to keep it from collecting moisture. Within that space, the air is about the same temperature as the outside. When you start warming the inside, the hot air pulls the cold in, and the syphoning effect occurs. At every tiny crevice around receptacles, windows, etc., the cold comes in. Since our panels are a solid core wall, no syphoning occurs.

Come visit our building and we can show you the many advantages of buying a home package from us.

Rotarians Seek Participants For Exchange Program

Rotarians of Rotary International District 735, which includes all Garrett County Rotary Clubs, are seeking five outstanding young business and professional women to visit the Philippines in January and February of 1989, under the Group Study Exchange Program of the Rotary Foundation.

The program strives to improve international understanding by enabling young people from different countries to learn from each other. The exchange involves teams of business and professional persons between 25-35 years of age for four to six-week visits.

While abroad, team members will observe their hosts' way of life as well as study the nation's economic, social and cultural characteristics through travel and discussions within participating Rotary districts. Team members also have the opportunity to meet their professional counterparts.

A team of young women from the Philippines is expected to visit this Rotary District in September and October, 1988, and will probably spend a few days in the Oakland area.

Anyone wishing further information may contact Kenneth E. Ridder, Group Study Exchange Chairman for the Oakland Rotary Club, at 334-3828, or Joseph Lurie, P.O. Box 126, Bedford, Pa., 15522, phone (814) 623-8815. Applications must be submitted to local Rotary Clubs by July 31, 1988.

The Rotary Foundation is supported voluntarily by Rotarians and others in 162 countries and geographical regions in which 23,375 Rotary Clubs are located. The Foundation's objective is to further international understanding and friendly relations among people of different nations through projects of an educational or charitable nature.

Students With Summer Jobs May Owe Taxes

Students with summer jobs or part-time employment should be aware of some very important tax law changes that may affect them, the IRS has announced.

Anyone who can be claimed as a dependent on their parents' or guardians' tax return cannot claim their own personal exemption. Under provisions of the Tax Reform Act of 1986, that exemption can only be claimed on their parents' or guardians' tax return. Therefore, the amount of federal tax being withheld from paychecks should be reviewed. Without that $1,950 personal exemption in 1988, the summertime or part-time employee may owe taxes if his or her income is more than $500 and includes interest, dividends or other unearned income in addition to wages.

In previous years, those with summer jobs could claim their own personal exemption and check "Exempt" on their Form W-4, "Employee's Withholding Allowance Certificate," but only if they had no tax liability the year before and expected none in the current year. With the tax law change, they will most likely owe some taxes in 1988 since, as dependents on their parent's return, they cannot claim their own personal exemption.

Generally, students should claim one allowance on their Form W-4 if they are not exempt from withholding and have only one job. If they wish to have more taxes withheld, they should claim "zero." Students who have summertime jobs should be sure to obtain a Form W-4 from their employer right away, fill it out and give it back to the employer so the proper amount of tax will be withheld from their paychecks.

Further information about federal withholding tax and Form W-4 can be obtained by calling the Internal Revenue Service, toll-free, 1-800-424-1040.

Bring-A-Bike-Day Scheduled At Rainbow Cottage

"Bring-A-Bike-Day" has been scheduled for Friday, May 27 at Rainbow Cottage Day Care Center, Loch Lynn. The event was scheduled to raise money to help St. Jude Children's Research Hospital fight childhood cancer, the leading disease killer of American children. Parents of day-care participants are asked to seek sponsors to back their children with a tax-deductible pledge for the bike ride.

"Bring-A-Bike Day" was scheduled as part of a safety awareness program designed to expose children and their parents to proper safety habits for bicycles, tricycles, and other riding toys.

Jane Pritts, chairman for the event, said, "Bicycle accidents are a major problem among children. With safety stories and special coloring sheets, we are exposing our youngsters to good habits. By asking them to show the safety message to their parents, we hope they stress these habits any time children are permitted to ride."

Pritts said "Bring-A-Bike-Day" is 'like a final exam, with the children practicing on a supervised course we have laid out."

STUDENTS LEARN ABOUT AMERICAN INDIANS — Students at Southern Middle School and The Maryland Salem Children's Trust learned about American Indians from "real" Indians recently when Michael Nephew, a Seneca-Cayuga Indian, and Mona Masoka, a Sioux Indian, visited the middle school and the children's home. The two guest speakers described their cultures and displayed items of traditional clothing while explaining the origin of each piece. At the end of the presentation the children were invited to ask questions and try on the various arm bands, sashes and other items they had been shown. Patty Daniels, a Salem house parent, said, "The children at Salem did not know what to expect of "real" Indians and were very excited at the prospect of having Michael and Mona to themselves for this visit." Michael and Mona, on the other hand, were both impressed with the quality of questions asked by the children. They both agree that the children's questions were designed to make them think before answering. The visit gave some Garrett County children the chance to experience the wonders of the Indian culture on a first-hand basis. Both Michael and Mona are members of The American Indian Inter-Tribal Cultural Organization, Inc. (AIITCO), a non-profit organization of Native Americans and interested non-Native Americans based in the Washington, D.C., area. AIITCO includes members from Maryland and seven other states and Canada. AIITCO's 1988 pow wow is scheduled for July 9 and 10 at the Garrett County Fairgrounds, McHenry. The public is invited to bring their cameras and attend this event. Entry fee will be $4 for adults with children 12 and under admitted free. Parking will also be free.

Charles W. Layman Jr., 19, Bayard, W.Va., was sentenced to one year in the local jail for a battery charge.

Judge Turney then suspended the sentence and placed Layman on one year unsupervised probation and fined him $25.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered for Layman after he was found guilty of the charge in March. The charge was filed by Tammy Friend, Oakland, following a February 7 incident in Hutton.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered for John H. Geroski, 63, Oakland, for a destruction of property charge. The complainant was Charles C. Gregory, Accident. The charge stemmed from an April 9 incident on Route 219 involving a pickup truck.

Judge Turney ordered probation before judgement for Thomas H. Callis, 25, Mtn. Lake Park, for a theft charge. Callis was fined $25 and placed on six months unsupervised probation.
